THE SIGMA BETA AND EN KA DANCE

The Sigma Beta and En Ka Societies gave a dance on Fiday evening in Lyceum hall which was a grand success and welcome home to those members who were home from boarding school as well as to the home members. The hall was prettily decorated by the committee with laurel and Christmas trees, which together with the fresh paint and newly renovated condition of the hall was very attractive. A Jazz band was in attendance and the dancing music was good. The following committee carried out the program: Misses Constance Lane, Thelma Trott, Annette Mason, Katherine Fairfield, Edith Fenno, Rosamond Lefavor, Doris Bowman.

The matrons for the Sigma Beta were: Mrs. Frank Carpenter, Mrs. E. Abbott Bradlee; those for the En Ka were: Mrs. Lillian T. Mason and Mrs. A. T. Martin.

Those attending were:

TOURNAMENT ENDS

Men's Bowling at Calumet Club Over Except the Dinner

With the final match on Tuesday evening the men's bowling tournament at the Calumet Club which opened last fall came ti a close. The only winning team affected by the final matches was P, which won the tournament by one point.

The winners are as follows:

The nine losing teams—those in the last half—will give a dinner to the eight winning teams on Saturday evening, Jan 10th, at which time the prizes will be awarded.

SPRING BOWLING

Calumet to Hold Another Men's Tournament

The Calumet Club is planning to hold another men's bowling tournament—the regular Spring tournament—in response to the popular demand. Cards for entry were issued this week.

Owing to the length and popularity of the mixed tournament, it was not at first thought possible to hold another tournament for the men, although it has been customary to do so. The call for the tournament has been so large, however, that the committee has decided to devote the necessary evenings for the schedule and make up the schedule.

Entries for this tournament will close January 10th, on the date of the dinner given for the recently closed Winter tournament. The tournament games will begin on or about January 22. Five men teams will roll under the usual rules and regulations.

WINCHESTER TO HAVE OWN COUNCIL

The meeting of the Mystic Valley Council, Boy Scouts, called for last Friday evening, resulted in the dissolving of the council and the decision of the men of this town to form their own council. The Mystic Valley Council included the towns of Winchester and Stoneham and the City of Woburn. In disolving the council Winchester voted to apply for a new charter of the second class.

Under the original council a charter of the first class was issued. This required a scout executive, but under the new charter applied for Winchester is not required to have an executive, although it may do so if it wishes.

In organizing under the new charter the following officers have been elected:—

President, Charles A. Gleason; Vice-President, Henry S. Chapman; Secretary-Treasurer, Fred W. Aseltine; Scout Master, Charles F. D. Marsh; Commissioner, Charles Farrar.

Winchester has five troops of Boy Scouts and has been by far the most active town in the Mystic Valley Council. Under the new organization it is expected that scout actvities will increase greatly during the coming months.

ANNUAL G. E. K. CHRISTMAS DANCE

The annual Christmas dance of Eta Geta Chapter of the Gamma Eta Kepa Fraternity was held in Lyceum Hall last Saturday evening. The dance was a real old time G. E. K. affair and all who attended spent a most enjoyable evening. A six piece orchestra furnished very fine music and as an added attraction Miss Pauline Folger, formerly of the Winchester High School, favored those present with some really excellent dancing. Miss Folger, who has danced in Boston before Miss Alice Brady, gave her interpretation in singing and dancing of "Song Patche" and also performed a very artistic Egyptian Dance.

The hall was well decorated with the Fraternity and Chapter banners as well as the two service flags dedicated to those members who saw service in the world war.

The fraternity was indebted to one of its brothers John Soutter for a handsome tray of chocolates, arranged with the fraternity letters, which was set at one end of the hall.

Mrs. Odgen, Mrs. Skinner, and Mrs. Apsey were the matrons.

RAYNOR—PASSANO

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Webster Passano, daughter of Professor and Mrs. L. M. Passano of Brookline, to Mr. Leicester Seymour Raynor of Winchester took place on Saturday evening, December 27, at the Church of the Epiphany, Winchester.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Murray W. Dewart, rector of the Church and late chaplain in the twenty-sixth division, A. E. F., in which the groom also served in France.

The bride, whose gown was of ivory satin, en train, with veil arranged under a headdress of point lace and orange blossoms carried bride roses with shower of white sweet peas. She was attended by her aunt, Mrs. Charles W. Shaw of Baltimore, as matron of honor who wore a gown of turquoise tulle combined with cloth of silver, with hat of the same material, and carrying sweetheart roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Grace Dyer of St. Louis, Miss Gertrude Peck of Scranton, Penn., Miss Katherine Star and Miss Ruth Caldwell, of Winchester, wore gowns and hats of peach georgette with touches of turquoise blue and silver, and carried bouquets of ophelia roses.

Mr Fred Mower of Swampscott acted as groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Clinton Raynor and Mr. Donald Starr of Winchester, Mr. L. M. Passano Jr. of Brookline, Mr. Rodman Seymour of Swampscott, Mr. Ralph Sharpe of Philadelphia, and Mr. Ralph Burchess of Lynn.

Several of the bridesmaids were classmates of the bride at Vassar, and the groom is a graduate (1916) of Pennsylvania State College.

A varied and delightful musical programme was rendered by Mr. J. Albert Wilson, organist of the church.

After the ceremony supper was served for the bridal party and immediate relatives at the home of Mr. C. L. Raynor in Winchester.

The bride and groom after a short honeymoon, will make their home at North Spencer, Mass.

ENUMERATORS APPOINTED

Work of Taking Census Begins Today

Announcement made this week reports that over five census enumerators for Winchester have been appointed for the work which will commence today. Of the number appointed the four from this town are as follows:

Charles H. Flaherty, 3 Cedar St.
Walter F Shaughnessey, 56 Holland St.
Edward W. Drohan, 85 Nelson St.
Frederick P. Lewis, 1 Maxwell Road.

In addition to these four one other enumerator, Frank W. Manning of 44 West Street, Medford, has been appointed.

These enumerators for Winchester were appointed by John J. Sullivan, supervisor of the census for Middlesex County. They begin their work today.

Under the law these census takers have the right to enter every dwelling house within their district to secure the necessary information. These men, however are obliged to maintain the utmost secrecy concerning what is imparted to them and no one need be alarmed at having to tell the census taker all he asks, for the information, whatever it may be, will be regarded as absolutely confidential.

BOWLING DINNER JAN. 10th

The date set for the dinner given by the losing teams to the winning teams in the recently closed bowling tournament at the Calumet Club is Saturday evening, January 10th. At this time the nine losing teams will give a dinner to the eight winning teams. The dinner will be held at the Club and will be furnished by a caterer. It will open at six o'clock. Besides the regular menu there will be an entertainment and the prizes will be awarded the winners.

BIG SCORES ROLLED

Record Strings Made in Calumet—Kernwood Match

Record scores were made on the alleys of the Calumet Club on Monday night in the match with the Kernwood Club of Malden. Calumet first team rolled a total of 1666, one of the highest team figures ever made on the alleys, and its high string of 580 was another high mark. The big scores were not all on the Calumet's side however, for Foster of Kernwood was high man for the evening with a total of 366 on a string of 136, and every Kernwood string was over 500, with a total of 1589.

Calumet first won all four points and the second team lost three, winning the third string only. It lost the total by two pins. Higgins was high for Calumet with 363 on 133. Newman rolled 343 with 122, Stephenson 335 with 126, Gendron 314 with 114 and Berry 311 with 110. Durgin of the visitors got 347 with 125 and Hartley 302 with 114. On the Calumet second team Goldsmith got 329 with 120, S. H. Taylor 327 with 116 and J. H. Taylor 318 with 111. In Bowling Calumet got 5 points to Kernwood's 3.

In billiards Bartlett, Sr., beat Smalley 100 to 95 and Bartlett, Jr., was beaten by Comins 100 to 90, thus giving Calumet the odd point. In three cushion billiards Comins beat Bartlett, Sr., 25 to 23 and in pool Cochell beat Stevens 100 to 99. These matches gave Calumet one point over Kernwood.

The bowling scores were as follows:

Calumet 1st vs. Kernwood 1st

Calumet 1st	1	2	3	Total

WILLIAM FIRTH

Funeral services for William Firth, prominent textile machinery manufacturer and active as an organizer for the relief of the Belgians, a former prominent resident of this town, who died Saturday at his home on Reservoir avenue, Chestnut Hill, Newton, were held Tuesday afternoon at the First Unitarian Church, Suffolk road, Chestnut Hill.

During the war Mr. Firth was active in raising funds for the refugees, and with the aid of his daughter, Mrs. Richard Haworth of Manchester, Eng. distributed food, clothing and money to those in need in England, and organized the Stars and Stripes, a service club for American sailors and soldiers while in England.

Before the Belgian relief committee was permanently formed, Mr. Firth assisted by his wife, collected money and clothing and sent more than 70 tons of clothing to his daughter. He also collected several thousand dollars to be distributed among the wounded and homeless.

Mr. Firth was born in England 62 years ago and came to this country about 30 years ago. He was president and director of the American Moistening Company and president of the William Firth Machine Company, with offices in the John Hancock building.

He was a prominent Mason in England and was a member of the same lodge with which the late King Edward was affiliated, and had been honored with the office of deputy grand master. After moving to Newton he became affiliated with Belhousie lodge of Newtonville and a member of De-Molay commandery.

He was a member of the Country Club in Brookline, the Algonquin Club the Exchange Club and the B. A. A. He is survived by his widow and daughter. Mrs. Haworth was at the bedside of her father, having arrived in this country a month ago when summoned because of the illness of her mother.

HOME WELL REMEMBERED

The Home for Aged People in its twenty-five years of existence has enjoyed many happy Christmas seasons, but through the thoughtfulness and kindness of many friends the Christmas just passed has been one of great happiness to all the members of the institution.

Gifts of money for the personal use of our friends, fruit, confectionery and ice cream, together with the thoughtful and resourceful personality of the matron, Miss Richards, filled the Home with Christmas spirit of appreciation for the blessing of friendship, which found expression in the calls and contributions of so many of the community.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases were reported to the Board of Health for the week ending Dec. 31: Mumps 2, Chicken pox 2.

ENSEMBLE CLUB AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH VESPER SERVICE

One of the most interesting and attractive of the series of vesper services now being held at the First Congregational Church will come next Sunday afternoon when "The Bostor. Ensemble Club" will play. A glance at the personnel of this organization with Hildegarde Brandegee, Violin Marion Hyde, Piano and Marjorie Pattern Friend, Cello; will convince one that it consists of the very finest of talented musicians to be found in this section of the country. They will be assisted by Dr. W. Frank Ames, one of Boston's leading tenors.

Miss Brandegee and Miss Friend have appeared in concert both in Europe and in this country and are artists combining brilliant technique with exquisite musical expression. Marion Hyde is a pianist possessing rare qualities. Her study with Buouamici, Gebhard and Copeland has developed her innate ability, and she has that unusual combination, an expert accompanist and a soloist of distinction and charm. The service will be at 5 o'clock and the public is cordially invited.

MRS. ISAAC LIBBY

Mrs. Dorcas P. Libby, widow of the late Isaac Libby, died at the home of her son, Horace K. Libby, 165 Forest street, Wednesday morning. She was 73 years of age.

Mrs. Libby was a native of North Parsonfield, Me., the daughter of Capt. John and Nancy Keazer. She made her home for many years in Somerville, coming to this town with her son three years ago. She leaves no other relatives. Her death was due to heart trouble which caused a shock.

The funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at 1.30 at the Second Advent Church of Somerville, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. F. E. Banks of Portsmouth, N. H., a former pastor, will officiate. The burial will be in the family lot at East Weymouth.

SIX COMMUNITY CONCERTS

Rev. and Mrs. M. W. Dewart will be host and hostess at a musicale to be given on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 7th, at three o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Johnson, on Highland avenue. There will be a series of six concerts throughout the winter, under the ausnices of the St. Barbara Committee of the Church of the Epiphany, to further the community spirit in all the churches of the town.

The concerts will be given by one of our townspeople, Mr. Phippen, and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

There will be a silver tea where silver contributions will be accepted to be used for community welfare.

Come and bring your friends.

MRS. HELEN RIVERS

Mrs. Helen Rivers, 67 years of age, died at the Home for Aged People on Sunday after a short illness. She had been a cripple from rheumatism for many years and had been at the Home since September, 1918.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Graham of Hemingway street, Boston. She formerly made her home on Brookside avenue.

The funeral services were held at the Home on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. A. B. Gifford of the Methodist church. The burial was at Lynn.

ALUMNI 68 W. H. S. 5

The Alumni won over the W. H. S. on Satrrday afternoon in the ..igh School Gym.

The High School girls were too small to keep the ball away from their opponents and the Alumni had no difficulty in overreaching the smaller girls. Katharine Fairfield played her usual fine game and the High School team felt the need of their star very badly when it came to shooting baskets. Elizabeth Armstrong played a fine game for the Alumni girls and Lillian Gray and Esther Bartlett and Carol Dow showed up well for the High School team. This game is not a regular game and will have no bearing on their standing iin the league.

The Summary:

FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL ENTERTAINS SOLDIERS

Pauline Folger, original dance creator, who has been entertaining Winchester society with dance and song interpretations has the honor of being the first entertainer to welcome returning American soldiers back to the United States.

During the war, Miss Folger entertained at the Army and Navy Canteen on Boston Common. It was while she was acting in this capacity, she was detailed down the harbor upon the submarine patrol "Actus" to welcome home one of the first transports sailing into Boston. As the huge boat approached, crowded with soldiers, wild with enthusiasm, the nava band struck up a popular air and mounting to the deck of the captain's cabin, despite the choppy sea, Miss Folger danced an official City of Boston welcome to the returning men.

This dance was reproduced in motion pictures all over the United States.

In addition to these patriotic services, Miss Folger gave her repertoire in military and naval stations all over New England. Her popularity with the service men admitted her many times in major operation wards usually barred to entertainers.

Recently she has assisted the United States Treasury in the management of the War Savings Children Theatre at the Copley Plaza, as well as appearing on the vaudeville program with theatrical headliners from leading Boston theatres. At present she is assisting in the production of an original musical comedy, "His Dream Maid." This performance is given to benefit the American Legion and will be staged professionally later in the season. Miss Folger has created all dancing numbers and has entire charge of the chorus.

NEW YEAR'S PARTY

The New Year's party held New Year's Eve at the Calumet Club was the most brilliant affair of the winter's program the organization has yet produced. Over 350 members and guests attended. The evening's program included an exceptionally fine vaudeville entertainment, dancing and a spread in the billiard room, and the big crowd found something of pleasure in every minute until the wee small hours of the new year.

The music was by a ten-piece orchestra and was exceptionally good. Christmas decorations prevailed throughout, festoons, streamers and wreaths of laurel being used on the first floor and flags, palms and flowers throughout the upstairs rooms. Large flags draped over the dance hall emptied showers of favors on the dancers during the evening, adding to the fun and noise; balloons, air ships, fancy caps and a myraid of noise makers kept the fun at fever heat.

As the party went to the billiard room for supper, fancy hats were given each lady, while the gentlemen were allowed to adorn themselves with false whiskers and other disguises. At 12 o'clock the New Year was ushered in amid the pealing of bells and a great noise of welcome.

CHILDREN ENTERTAINED

Winchester children who would otherwise not have enjoyed Christmas cheer, were entertained on Friday afternoon at the High School and the Second Congregational Church by the Girl Scouts and teachers of the public schools. The parties were made possible by the contributions made by public spirited citizens to the Overseers of the Poor, aided by the personal efforts of a number of young ladies and Mr. Nathaniel M. Nichols.

Games and music were enjoyed at both parties, with a tree, candy and a gift for each child. Over 40 of the children were State wards, and have neither father nor mother.

DOES NOT FAVOR COOLIDGE

Winchester, December 30, 1919.

Dear Mr. Editor:

A long transcontinental journey inevitably gives one some impression of the national stature of "favorite sons." On returning from the Pacific Coast it is startling to read in our valued local paper the suggestion for the Presidency of the United States of a political pygmie—Calvin Coolidge—by a citizen of the town honored by the residence of a life-size man like ex-Congressman and ex-Governor McCall.

SEAGRAVE—NUTTER

The wedding occurred on Sunday evening of Mr. Harry S. Seagrave and Miss Annie Francis Nutter, at their residence on Alben street. Rev. Murray Dewart of the Episcopal Church of which the bride is a member performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. A pleasant evening followed during which the bridge and groom accompanied Miss Alberta Seagrave—Mr. Seagrave's daughter—to Boston by auto on her way to her home in Montreal, she having come on for the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Seagrave left Monday morning on a trip to Washington. They will reside on Alben street on their return. They were well remembered by their friends with a large number of gifts of silver and cut glass, etc. as both are well known and popular.

PROTEST TWO SESSIONS

Winchester, Mass., Dec. 30, 1919

Editor of the Star,

We the undersigned mothers of children residing in the district known as the (Plains) also desire to protest against the two session or day system in the Wadleigh School. We firmly agree with the mothers of the Winchester Highlands district whose names were signed to the petition printed in the Winchester Star.

Since school opened there has been several stormy nasty days when the children had to come h me at noon, and go back to school, when by all means the gong should have sounded for no school. Then that extra trip of coming home at noon when it is cold, is not very good for the children.

Therefore, we want to be counted as also protesting against the two session a day system.

MRS. CHARLES N. BACON

The death occurred in Arlington on Wednesday, of Mrs. Florence L. widow of the late Charles N. Bacon. The death was from the infirmities of old age, she being eighty-three years old last Thanksgiving day. Mrs. Bacon was born in Winchester and most of her life was spent here. Her husband was a prominent business man and manufacturer here and passed away about two years ago. At the time of her death she was living in Arlington with her daughter, Mrs. Alena Hall. She is survived by five children: Mrs. Alena Hall of Arlington, Mrs. Lillian Smith of Arlington, Charles and Robert of this town and Louis A. of Malden. The funeral will take place at the home of Mr. Charles F. Bacon on Grove street, this—Friday—afternoon at 2.30.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

The housing problem is a pressing one in Winchester as elsewhere. This housing demand is one that interlocks with the growth and development of the town it is a call which Winchester should not ignore nor try to dodge. It will be of interest to Winchester promoters to note what a business syndicate is doing to promote a housing plan which will also be in the way of promoting industrial development. This syndicate is proposing to raise a fund of $2,000,000 subscribed by wealthy manufacturers and by corporate concerns doing business in a large way. The fund is to be handled by an organization known as the St. Louis Home and Housing Association for building groups of houses, well spaced in pleasant environment, and these are to be sold to men engaged in industrial work at actual cost—the cost of each house to be about $1500. As explained, it is not a philanthropy nor yet a profiteering scheme. Those who subscribe to the fund will eventually get back the money advanced, but no more, and they are not to draw interest on the money advanced. The raising of the $2,000,000 fund and the housing development is not in any sense an investment or a dividend—returns enterprise. To this extent it may be regarded as a philanthropy. The thing in aim is to furnish homes at exact cost to the working people. The Spectator believes that something of the kind might be undertaken here in Winchester although of course on a much smaller scale.

The Winchesterite who comes out of the cellar with a sad face has only been putting a shovel of expensive coal in the furnace.

According to statistics, which never fib, the cost of living has dropped in Winchester 1 per cent. However, don't spend the saving foolishly.

With a silly solicitude, we make juvenile courts that wrongdoers of tender years may not be brought in contact with the adult doers of crimes and practices of immorality, in a word that the children may not be in such contaminating presence even for the briefest periods. This solicitude is good as far as it goes; but it is silly when we consider that these children are dismissed to associate afresh and again become exposed to the evil influences which surround them at their play in the streets, and other diversions.

"English," says Associated Advertising, "is the richest language under the sun. No other tongue affords an equal facility for expressing so many shades of thought so exactly and so simply. There is, therefore, no excuse for the use of the word 'spend' in describing the application of funds to judicious advertising." Well said. One who purchases stocks or bonds of conservatively managed corporations engaged in profitable operations from which dividends or interest have regularly been disbursed for a long period is not regarded as having "spent" his money. Money put into sound business activities is not "spent." When money is put to work, with a just and reasonable expectation that it will earn more money, it is never considered as "spent," but as "invested." The funds appropriated for the purpose of advertising in a medium of proved worth like The Star are so used with a view to getting profitable returns, and such an appropriation is always a bonafide investment. The regular user of Star advertising space is an investor because he gets his principle back with interest in the shape of increased profits on increased sales.

According to one philosopher here in Winchester some men depend so much on pull that they can't even pull themselves together.

The Spectator.

WADLEIGH CELEBRATION

The pupils of the Wadleigh School celebrated the coming of the Christmas vacation by appropriate exercises held at the High School Assembly Hall, December 19, 1920.

The entertainment was in the form of a magazine presentation, the particular magazine being "Wadleigh Life," December number. First came the cover page entitled "A Winter Scene," posed by a group of eighth grade pupils. Next came the Music Department, interpreted, for the instrumental numbers by the Wadleigh Orchestra, under the able direction of Miss Mary H. Barr, and, for the vocal numbers, by the pupils of Grade 7, under the direction of Mrs. Annie T. O'Sullivan, teacher of music in Grade 7. This group of pupils sang several Christmas carols, while appropriate pictures were thrown on the screen. The Poetry Section was given by Grade 6. The Children's Department, consisting of two Christmas exercises and a scene from Bird's Christmas Carol, was well given by the pupils of Grade 7 and Grade 6 under the direction of Miss Wing, Miss Barnes and Miss Davenport. Finally came the Advertising Section given by the pupils of Grade 8. They represented various well-known articles used in connection with the holiday season.

Following this entertainment the pupils were excused for their vacation of two weeks, schools opening January 5 1920.

MADGE TO MOLLY

Dear Molly:—

You old dear! Why all these apologies? Don't I know all about moving? I'm not a "newly-wed"—have had my own troubles; but I'm learning not to "trouble trouble till trouble troubles" me.

And this reminds me that Jennie Manchester is going to have a beautiful sealskin bought with her Christmas Club thrift account. She put away five dollars a week and drew her check for $260 the other day. Do you wonder why I'm so enthusiastic about the Winchester National's thrift plan for holiday saving?

I'm about over my rush. We'll soon be to rights.

Goodbye,
Madge

THE PERFECT GUEST

She answered by return of post,
The invitation of her host.
She took the train she said she would,
And changed at junctions as she should.
She took a small and lightish box,
And keys belonging to the locks.
Food rich or rare she did not beg,
But ate the boiled or scrambled egg.
If offered luke warm tea, she drank it.
She did not ask an extra blanket,
Nor extra pillows for her head,
She seemed to like the spare room bed,
She brought her own self-filling pen,
And always went to bed at ten,
She left no little things behind,
But stories new, and gossip kind.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

ANOTHER KNOCK FOR H. C. L.

This isn't a press agent's notice for a Washing Machine—tho' it would make a good one—but only a poor little protest at King H. C. L., or, in other words the "High Cost of Laundry."

How many housekeepers have noticed that we are paying what amounts to a little over "a dollar a dozen" for "flat-work" when it is made up of say, five sheets and seven pillow cases? Such a budnle weighs 12 1-2 lbs. and our Laundry charges $.08 per pound and $.01 besides for each piece. We therefore pay $1.12 for what once cost us $.35 when we paid by the dozen.

Charging us so much a pound may be fair for her who sends a dozen handkerchiefs—but who does?

Isn't it a little unfair to the average housekeeper who sends the same amount of flat work week after week and now finds she must pay 300 per cent more for it.

As for Hubby's shirts and collars—but that is another story?

Caring for Food Chopper.

My food chopper always left two dark, ugly marks on the drainboard when I used it. Finally I resorted to adhesive plaster. I covered the clamps with small strips of the adhesive plaster, and I find that it not only prevents the marks, but stands any amount of washing. — Good Housekeeping.

On Friday night in the semi-final matches the scores ran among the best of the winter. Sewall E. Newman created a record for three strings with his total of 173. His best single string was 147. Team B won three from G, E three from D, and A and C divided honors with two each. Next to Newman high scores were made as follows: Berry 344 with 134, Barrett 326 with 118, Higgins 314 with 116, Pilkington 309 with 111, Comins 306 with 111, Corey 111, Tompkins, Cutter and Murphy 106 each, Morrill 109, Sears 103, Eaton 102 and Taylor and Willey 100 each.

An interesting postponed match was rolled on Saturday night before a large and enthusiastic audience between teams A and I. The interest centered in the fact that if I lost two points it tied E for second place and a loss of three placed it in fifth place. I won three of the four points and got second position. Blanchard was high man with a total of 328 on a high string of 120. Goodale of the same team got 307 with 120, Pilkington got a string of 112, Morrill 105 and Higgins and Baker 103 each.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Members of the Winchester Union are asked to take notice that the annual meeting will be held next week, Friday, January 9, at three o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Daniel Kelley, 4 Dix street, and will take the form of a silver tea in addition to the usual reports and memorial services for the members who have gone from the Union during the year. In connection there will also be a meeting of the committee to arrange for the Victory dinner.

The dinner is to be given in the Congregational Church vestry Thursday, Jan. 15, p. m., and preparations are being made to have it a memorable occasion. Good speaking, good music and good food make a trio that ought to attract every member and her friends. Let us get together to rejoice. There have been many times when condolence seemed to be in order but now we come rejoicing in victory after a well fought fight.

The said story of the Christmas celebrations which resulted in so many deaths because of the criminal cupidity of those who gave wood alcohol to those who asked for whiskey has aroused the nation. Yet year after year there have been many thousands killed as surely if more slowly by the so called "good" alcohol, and the mass of the people has been indifferent. It is to be hoped that everyone at last realizes the deadly character of many substitutes and that the warning will be heeded.

What He Wanted.

Bobby had been given three cents to spend as he and his younger brother saw fit. Having heard much garden talk, and being attracted by a display of garden seeds, he came home with three packages of vegetable seeds, eager to get them planted at once. Hearing something about the proposed planting of some flower seeds, he insisted on planting his, saying to his mother as a final argument: "Mother, we don't want flower seeds; we want eating seeds."

ONE-FOURTH WORLD'S WOMEN IN CHINA

Seventy Per Cent. Employees in Shanghai Cotton Mills Women and Children Working Twelve Hour Shifts.

One-fourth of the women in the world are Chinese—200,000,000 of them. They are going into industry in large numbers to work long hours and for little money.

In Shanghai, for instance, seventy per cent. of the employees in the cotton mills are women and children. Working hours for spinners are from six in the morning until six at night and from six at night until six in the morning. Weavers work from 5:30 in the morning until seven at night and the wages are from ten to twenty cents a day. Hundreds of women are employed in silk filature mills, standing hour after hour washing cocoons in basins of boiling water in the excessively hot rooms necessary for apartments where fine silk is spun. In Canton alone, there are 150,000 women in factories at a maximum wage of forty cents a day for women and of fifteen cents a day for girls.

As part of its program of world service for women the National Young Women's Christian Association is expecting to put on its staff of secretaries in China an expert on industrial conditions who will develop social work in factories, and work to improve conditions for women employees. This work will include the introduction of recreation and social life among the workers and of health lectures and educational classes.

INSIDE PAINTING

Are your ceilings cracked, dusty, and need whitening?

How are your floors? Are they getting dryed out, and need attention? Look around at the window seats and see if they are getting weather worn.

This is the time of year for inside painting, as only the best workmen are kept, and the Master Painter can give his whole attention to your work.

If you have inside work to do don't neglect it. Do it now.

Save the surface and you save all.

MEXICO: A MODERN BABEL

A factor contributing to the disorders and lawlessness in Mexico, such as the kidnapping recently of William O. Jenkins, an American citizen, and his release upon payment of a heavy ransom, is the diversity of races and tongues, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

"From Sonora to Yucatan more than fifty separate dialects are spoken," according to a communication to The Society by Frederick Simpich

"All the inhabitants of the West Coast, however, with the exception of some hill tribes of Indians, can understand Spanish.

"Of these Indians the 8,000 Yaquis, with their crude Bacatete hill forts, their weird ceremonial masque dances and their warlike attitude, are easily most consupicuous. Many are enlisted with the federal army or employed as ranch hands and mine or railroad laborers.

"The Yaquis with the federal troops are termed 'Manzos,' or 'tame' Yaquis; those in the hills, wild and hostile, are the 'Bronchos.' The latter are a vagrant lot, robbing ranches for food and animals, carrying rawhide drums and water gourds, wearing sandals of green cowskin—living by their wits. Pressed by hunger, they subsist as well on burros as beef.

"These burros, 'the short and simple animals of the poor,' thrive by the thousand on the West Coast. Many run wild, like 'the wild asses of Mesopotamia.'

"The Maya Indians, some of whom still carry bows and arrows, inhabit the flat coastal plain south of the Yaqui region along the River Maya. Excellent laborers, peacefully inclined, many of the Mayas are trusted helpers on American ranches and plantations.

"Most of the well-advertised brands of wild men are fairly familiar to the show-going American public. The head-hunter, the Pygmy, the Bushman and his boomerang are all old circuses acquaintances. But within 700 miles of chaste and classic Los Angeles, there dwells a lost tribe of savages whose very name is known to but few of us; for this tribe has never been tamed, 'uplifted,' or even exhibited. Yet it is older, perhaps, than the Aztecs; it may even be the last living fragment of the American aborigines.

"The Seris, these strange people are called, and they inhabit a lonely evil rock called Tiburon (Shark) Island that lifts its hostile head from the hot empty waters of the Gulf of California. And down this coast the name of Tiburon is spoken with a shrug of the shoulders, for these Seris are thieves and killers. It is even whispered that long ago they were cannibals."

TO OUR PATRONS:—

WE are taking this opportunity to thank our many patrons for the great volume of business that has come to us during the past year.

We must also offer this excellent increase in our business as a reason for any delay that may have occurred in the installation of any gas appliances.

We have made many errors but our intent is to give our patrons the best of service.

May we not ask your indulgence when any delay or error occurs in the handling of your order?

We are glad to receive constructive criticisms, complaints or requests for our service assistance but would suggest that these be sent to us in writing in order to avoid any error in their receiving their proper attention.

Thank you.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Some men let dollars slip by while they struggle to save pennies.

The man who is really good often has a sad look that is discouraging.

If a girl has a pretty face, no man on earth can tell you what kind of clothes she has on.

Fewer marriages would prove failures if the contracting parties would act after marriage as considerately as they did before.

It is sometimes better to try and fail than never to have tried at all.

The big rush of Christmas mail was well handled at the Winchester Post Office this year. Notwithstanding the fact that the volume of parcel post and letter mail was by far the largest ever handled by the local Post Office, there was no delay in the delivery or the dispatch of matter. One feature brought out was the decided need of a new office. The congestion before the windows on the few days before the holiday was largely due to the small space available. Postmaster O'Connor and his corps of clerks and carriers deserve credit for their labor and the efficient results. It is said that the bill now pending for an additional appropriation of $22,500 for the proposed Federal building here will be acted upon within a few weeks.

The work of taking the national census begins today (Friday). The census takers will visit every house, manufactory and business place in Winchester in the work of gathering the statistics for the government. Residents should bear in mind that all questions asked are only those required by the government. The enumerator has enough work to do in collecting the necessary information without asking needless or unwaranted questions. Such information as is given is strictly confidential and everyone who answers the list put to him cheerfully and accurately will not only make it easier for the census taker, but for himself as well. The work has to be done, the questions are only those predetermined by the government, and the census taker has power to make it very unpleasant for those who refuse to give the desired information.

K. OF C. ITEMS

The turkey whist given by the D. of I. in aid of the K. of C. Building Fund netted the tidy sum of $105.

The tag day is to take the form of a double flag day to be held Saturday, Jan. 10, and Thursday, Jan. 15. The souvenirs will be small American flags—of the size that can be easily pinned on the coat front. On account of the cold weather at this time of year, the committee in charge of the affair has decided that no child under 15 shall be sent out to sell flags, though many are eager and willing. These flags will be given out at an early hour Saturday morning, January 10, for a house to house and factory distribution. Thursday, January 15, they will be sold on the streets and at all public buildings All wishing to assist in this work may apply to Mr. Luke Glendon, 17 Lake street.

Last Sunday afternoon saw a larger attendance at the minstrel show rehearsal than ever before. In all the cast includes over 100 well-trained dancers and ought to make quite a showing on the "big" night. A good live group of end men, John T. Fitzgerald, Clarence Dunbury, Edward Donovan, Harry Cox, Philip Le Duc and James Boyle—many of them old favorites—seem to be well primed to keep the audience from going to sleep. J. Chris. Sullivan, grand knight of the Council, will act as interlocutor. Some of the leaders of the after-part sketches are, Harry Cox and Leona Noonan, Helen McNally, Helen Reagan, Thomas McKee and Bart Connolly. Next Sunday in the Town Hall there will be a stage rehearsal for the entire cast.

On January 20th, the second degree of the order will be conferred on a class of 50 candidates by District Deputy Henchy, assisted by the local council's degree stac.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard A. Bradley of Black Horse Terrace leave Saturday for a two weeks trip to Cleveland and Cincinnati, Ohio, returning via Philadelphia and New York.

ADVOCATES FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF ROADS

Prof. Charles Zueblin, speaking at the Temple Israel forum Sunday night advocated government ownership of the railroads. He stated his eagerness, however, to see the roads once more revert to private control in order that the people of the nation may have pointed illustration of the contrast between public and private management. The restoration of the roads to the control of their owners, he maintained, will only hasten government ownership.

He defended the Plumb plan, declaring that it would increase the efficiency of the railroad employees by giving them greater responsibility.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The next regular meeting of The Fortnightly will occur January 12. This will be an open meeting to which the public may be admitted by ticket at the door. Peter MacQueen will speak upon "Reconstruction" and his lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon.

Members of the Club are urged to send suggestions for revision of the By-laws to any member of the committee having that work in charge before twelve o'clock, Saturday, January third, as the committee meets again Saturday afternoon. The members appointed by the Chair are Mrs. G. W. Apsey, Mrs. E. E. Thompson, Mrs. G. E. Willey, Miss Ethel Gleason and Miss Susie Guernsey.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosslyn Fenno Caverly, of Wildwood street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Leslie, to Mr. Frank Thornton Olmstead, also of Winchester.

Mr. George A. Barron returns the first of the week from a trip to St. Augustine, Florida. The Misses L. B. and M. D. Winn are also guests at the Sevilla, that city.

We are pleased to record that again we have been remembered by our good friend Wallace F. Flanders of the firm of Dewick & Flanders, insurance, Boston, who again sends us a fine large daily memorandum calendar.

Mr. Henry C. Robinson of Winthrop street, who has been chairman of the railroad terminal efficiency committee, has been reappointed superintendent of the Southern Division of the Boston & Maine Railroad, with headquarters at Concord, N. H.

Mr. Cox is an old time friend of Sir Thomas and he had the sportsman as a guest at a special dinner in New York a few months ago, attended by men prominent in National and State affairs. Sir Thomas has invited Mr. and Mrs. Cox to be his personal guests on his private yacht during the next cup race series.

Sir Thomas J. Lipton Yatchsman and hail fellow, did not forget his friends in this country on the holiday. And it was not by card, but by cable that his greetings came. To Michael H. Cox of this town came the message Christmas morning reading:

"Every good wish to you and yours for Christmas and the coming year.

On January 1st, the sixth Annual New Year's Outing, under the leadership of Dr. Chas. H. Tozier, left Winchester in two private parlor cars for Newport, New Hampshire, and the Austin Corbin Park. This party vis its a new place each year, the entire hotel or clubhouse being given over to them. Four days will be spent in out door sports, including a deer drive in the park. The party, about 60 in number will return by special train late Sunday afternoon.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Trade to be held in White's hall, Tuesday, Jan. 6th, the following matters of interest to the business men and citizens of the town will be taken up: New building laws, space for parking cars in the centre, dangerous condition of roadway on Forest street near Stoneham line and advisability of placing danger sign at the top of the hill. The subject of the extension of Westland avenue will also be considered. Members are invited to present at this meeting other subjects of public interest.

When driving his Chandled roadster on Cambridge street last night at 10 o'clock Isaac S. Hall of 29 Woburn street, West Medford, hit a telegraph pole on the hill at the Langley cottage. The front of the car was badly smashed, but Hall escaped with slight scratches on one side of his face. He was taken to his home by a passing auto. While the wrecked auto was awaiting removal, a Wakefield taxi driven by Frank F. Surrette of that place and containing a lady passenger, mistook the passage and ran into a hydrant on the sidewalk. The taxi was wrecked and nearly went over the stone wall. Neither the driver nor the passenger were injured.

HOME LIFE IN FRANCE

"France no doubt has its weaknesses The immorality of women, however in that great country has been shamefully exaggerated."

Such is the preface to a bulletin of the National Geographic Society dealing with the home life of France, a subject of particular interest because of the varying impressions of that land brought back by returning soldiers.

"Because, before the war, the foreigners seeking sin found it on certain Paris boulevards they concluded that this frank sexual advertising was characteristic of France, whereas the average French girl is as zealously shielded from temptation as was ever the daughter of the Pilgrim father. But to love intensely and passionately is the French girl s hope and desire; and why should it not be?" says the bulletin, which is based on a communication from Carl Holliday.

"The French have long been a shrewd, calculating people who have watched closely every sou. They may seem romantic to foreigners; their passionate protestations of love may seem too frank to us of Puritan descent; but not only in financial affairs, but even in their pleasures, they minutely calculate all items.

"Probably there is not in the world the equal of the French housewife in economy and efficiency. Before the war wages were astonishingly low in France, and there must have been continual squeezing of each franc; but, thanks to the ability of the French wife, who could tell from outside evidence that there was unusual stinting in the average home?

"To see a French woman bargain at the market is to learn much in economics, mathematics—and oratory. She simply refuses to pay the first price quoted; her genius for 'getting what you can' is admirable.

"With such women, is it any marvel that the French home is so admirably united, The family is the primal social fact in France, and the parents are 'the fundamental fact without which the organism (the family) could never have come into being.' Hence there is a reverence for parents equaled probably only by the ancestral worship of China. Indeed, it is very doubtful whether the love between husband and wife equals that existing between parent and child.

"There is constant consultation with parents and relatives by sons and daughters of advanced years—a form of consultation scarcely ever heard of in an American family.

"If a Frenchman of thirty or thirty-five proposes changing his profession, he may consult not only his father and his mother, but the entire family group; the proposed marriage of a daughter or a son is often an occasion for a council of the entire clan, including distant relatives that in America would hardly be included in our family tree.

"The world has been fond of pointing out that the French language has no word for 'home.' It has a word possibly even more tender. What a meaning is in the sound of 'foyer.' It includes the concept of hearthstone and much more. It brings to the French mind and heart all the ideals, activities, and dreams of a close, inner circle where obedience is a joy, respect a willing observance, and love an ever-present radiance.

"The foyer is not for the outside world; only behind the locked doors does it really live and flourish. The father may deal with the outside world of business, but here in the foyer the mother generally rules supreme, and her influence is everywhere seen in it.

"Is it any wonder that when one parent dies the other is immediately taken into the home of the married son or daughter, there to rule as a sort of benevolent enlightened despot?

"Perhaps some youthful American reader of these pages has already asked, How can there be any courtship in so private a home, where everybody within the charmed circle is consulted about all the affairs connected with that circle?

"As a preparatory step toward such a bautiful home life one would think that there should first be a most romantic love affair with moonlight walks and whispered words of adoration and all the other pretty thin found in the sentimental novel.

"Unfortunately or fortunately—as you may view it—these accompaniments of American match-making are frequently totally absent from French courtship. Indeed, in the middle and higher classes of French society there is often very little possibility of love-making before marriage.

"Owing to the family regulations and the fact that there are few coeducational schools in the country, the French girl seldom makes with boys those confident personal friendships so common in America.

"In the main the French mother prefers not to trust her daughter alone with a man; if there is to be any courtship, it is better that it be where she can keep an observant eye on them In spite of such manifest difficulties in the preliminaries, the French girl probably desires marriage more ardently than the American girl confessedly desires it. There is so much supervision of the French lass in her home that her only release seems to lie in marriage.

"Hence a remarkable docility in the matter of the choice of a husband. Some one has said that the French woman marries, not because of love, but with the hope of love afterwards.

"In the better-class families a dowry accompanying th wife will practically be delanded. What does she bring with her? is the not uncommon question of the young man's parents.

"Extremely prudential it all may seem; but one should remember that this dowry is not to be employed by the husband for his personal use, but as a trust fund for the maintenance of the expected children. If the wife dis childless the dowry will, in all probability, revert to her family; the theory of the affair is that such property belongs not to the individual—either husband or wife—but to the family as an institution."

WINCHESTER ALLEY NOTES

A Happy New Year to all the patrons of the Winchester Alleys.

Christmas week saw the biggest rush of business of the season. It was one continual round of bowling from the first to the last.

The bowlers are beginning to find out that they can get service here at a reasonable price and at the same time courteous treatment. As we said before anyone's dide is good here.

We had one ball rolling for three nights before Christmas and suitable prizes were given with no strings tied to them.

Here goes for some live news for all the live bowlers in Winchester, who bowl at Candlepins.

Our old friend Roase and his friend Jack Donaghey are beginning to hit their stride again.

John Goldrich well and popularly known around the square is one of the best on the alleys.

Mr. Glendon of Beggs and Cobb can give any of them a run with the easy ball he throws.

Murphy is still going strong and manages to get two or three high strings each week.

Dan Dineen and Maurice Rechenacker of Beggs and Cobb are frequent visitors and can roll up some good scores. This also applies to Clarence Fairburg of the same place.

Joe Polucci is not bowling as much as formerly and merely says "the first hundred years of married life are the worst."

We expect to lose a promising young bowler shortly as we noticed his marriage intentions in the Star last week. The other young fellows tell him he can kiss bowling good bye.

Well Neg how about that Christmas present you were going to get from Bill and Tom McKee?

Several big scores were made during the week McCall with 152 G. G. 141 and Pete Sears 140 were noticeable.

A prominent business man in the square came in day before Christmas when the noon hour bowlers were at it and offered them his best cigars for every one who could reach 100 or over in a certain time. George Dunberry caught him twice and Hogan once, which only goes to show where you will find the cute bowlers.

The big match of the season is expected Tuesday night when Whitney and Beggs and Cobb meet. The Alleys will not be able to hold the crowd who will want to see it.

We are beginning to see a number of new faces among the bowlers during the last couple of weeks. Well we can take care of them all. We play no favorites here, and if an alley is free they can get it.

Don't fail to read this column every week for all the live news of all the regular bowlers. The real bowlers bowl at these alleys.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

A gas leak in the square caused considerable trouble over the week-end. The STAR building was the one chiefly affected, the escaping gas flooding the cellar and boiler room shortly after Christmas. Plugging up a vent in the cellar wall left for the entrance of telephone wires quickly cleared the building, however, the gas coming in through the ground from a leak in the street near the railroad tracks. The gas company had a difficult time locating the leak under the frozen ground.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

In a letter to the STAR this week, Robert J. McGuinity, a former well known resident now located with the Chevolet Motor Co. at Flint, Mich., says he has received visits from several old Winchester boys recently. Mr. McGuinity is quite pleased that his old friends have taken the trouble to call on him and hopes that others who may be in his vicinity will not neglect him. He has recently been advanced by his firm and is now in charge of the stock for production.

Dr. Charles F. McCarthy of this town was chairman of the committee which gave the big ball at Woburn, New Year's Eve. This is an annual event, given by the Woburn Lodge of Elks, and this year's ball was the largest and most elaborate in the history of the organization. The eleven o'clock toast, a regular feature of the affair, was given by District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts. The special effects at midnight were very magnificent.

GAZA: A BAROMETER OF ANCIENT HISTORY

Churchmen and archaeologists alike were shocked at recent dispatches which tell more fully how Gaza, Palestine, was shell riddled and half destroyed, like a war ravaged city of France, by the fierce fighting which restored the Holy Land to Christian dominion.

"Deep as may be the regret that present day Gaza has been injured, yet there is no indication that the Gaza which once was the Liverpool of Philistia, and later the St. Louis of Palestine, has been damaged," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Modern Gaza is set upon a hill, some 100 feet above the surroundings and dunes and verdant garden spots. It is the hill, and not the present city, which has yielded some of the richest treasures of recent Assyrian study.

"The fortunes of geography laid Gaza open to the misfortunes of war. Not only was the ancient city the focus of all the sea roads of the days when the Mediterranean encompassed the civilized world's commerce, but it was nicknamed 'the port of the desert. It was on the edge of a sea of sand, depot of the freight-laden caravans between Egypt, Babylonia and Arabia; provisioning point, too, for the Bedouins, Captain Kidds of the rolling desert.

"Gaza, in 1914 had about 40,000 people, considerably fewer than it had 2,000 years ago, but the number represented a rapid growth for an eastern city, since it was but a straggling village of 2,000 in 1840, and had but 15,000 a half century ago.

"Its site had been hallowed by the passing of nearly 4,000 years of recorded history, and while 'the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza' may have seemed a considerable journey to Philip, Gaza is but a little farther to the southwest of Jerusalem than Washington is from Baltimore.

"Today the city is three miles removed from the sea, and for a long time it was thought that after its destruction by Alexander Jannaeus, a Jewish Richard III of a cenury before Christ's time, it had been rebuilt at a new site. Researches show it to be more probable that the ancient 'Damascus of the South' extended from the site of the modern city to the sea. No Arnold Bennet lived to make the life of the 'five towns' a Philistine league of cities that included Gaza, vivid to future generations of readers, but Herodotus the Greek Macauley, acclaimed it equal to Sardis.

"Residents in Gaza will show the visitor Samson's tomb. The tradition of his burial there is unfounded, but there is more reason for believing that a bare, isolated knoll to the south of the city, is the hill 'before Hebron' to which the strong man carried the doors of the gate of the city, and the two posts.'

"So important was Gaza during the second millenium before Christ that it then served as a barometer of world history. The nation that dominated the restricted 'world' of that time held Gaza. Consequently Thatmes III reached out for it at about the same date, B. C., that Columbus discovered America, A. D.

"As Egypt passed the apex of her glory, a sturdy people with a higher material culture but none of the moral grandeur of Israel widened their sphere of influence, and for a time Gaza became conspicuous in Philistine history. It was in Samson's time that a sort of guerrilla warfare between the Israelites and the Philistines began, such as that exemplified when he tied the firebrand to the foxes' tails and sent them scurrying, like modern Zeppelins, among the grain fields and vineyards of the enemy.

"The city was under Hezekiah, of Judah, for only a brief time, if at all. With the rise of the Assyrian kingdom attempts were made to subdue Gaza which, for a short time, were resisted, but by the seventh century, B. C., it had become a vassal of that early war lord and art patron, Assurbanipal, and also it is mentioned in the reign of Tiglath-Pileser III, who bolstered his autocracy by a bureaucratic system, and deported conquered peoples as he spread Assyrian 'Kultur' by the sword.

"Gaza's strategic military position is well illustrated by its resistance, for five months, to Alexander the Great. After it was razed by Jannaeus it was more than a century before it was rebuilt, and by the second century, A. D. it had become a Greek city of high rank. It was a stronghold of Neoplatonism, the last of the pagan philosophies to give way before Christianity, which was not accepted officially in Gaza until the fifth century, A. D. For 200 years thereafter Gaza was renowned for its learning. It passed then to Moslem hands, figured only slightly in the Crusades, and finally was captured by the Moslems in 1244, to remain in Turkish possession, except for a slight respite when it was captured by Napoleon in 1799, until General Allenby's victorious entry."

AERIAL HUNTERS

Never has the scientific brain been in such demand as it has been during the recent conflict, and never has human ingenuity so exhibited its powers as it has since that thrilling day of August, 1914, when "the fountains of the great deep were broken up," and the whole world seemed thrown into the melting cauldron of fate. Every day there are occuring without comment things that would have produced universal amazement at any other period of the world's history. There are guns which hurl their projectiles fourscore miles. There are ships which can rest securely on the bottom of the sea for days and instantly rise to the surface when the danger is over. There are shells hurled into the sky which remain aloft for hours, lighting up the battlefields bright as day for many miles around. There are projectiles which in their explosion spread deadly gases around which may destroy whole regiments almost in an instant. Finally we have flying machines which can rise up miles in the air and fly over mountains, seas and rivers with the speed of lightning for hundreds of miles, carrying bombs that will sink a certain number of feet in the water and there explode with deadly violence to any ship in their near neighbourhood. Messages are sent around the world without the use of a wire and whispers have been heard of steering ships at sea and exploding charges many miles away by the use of the wireless current which thus seems to act like an impulse of the mind itself. The aviator has hitherto been most valuable as a range-finder and a dropper of destruction from the skies. He is now regularly employed in carrying mails between city and city, and but yesterday came the report that he is being used as a policeman and a punisher of disorder in distant and not easily approachable places. The Atlas Mountains, now as in ancient times, are the very synonym of distance, obscurity and inaccessability. Situated in the Southern part of the Western Barbary States, they have for ages been the refuge of the wildest outlaws driven from among the more respectable people of the cities and plains. These bands of outlaws have been a thorn in the side of France for ten years past as they have been in the side of other conquerors for ages. To keep order and to introduce civilization called for action. To send an army of occupation was inconvenient since 1914, and so the work was handed over to the Aviation Department. As a result the terrified and amazed Bedouins found their fastnesses on the mountains assailed by gigantic armed birds which sought them out everywhere and brought death whenever resisted. Surprise and superstitious terror produced peace instanter and now there is a regular aviation service from the coast across the Atlas range to the settlements far south.

DO THE WOMEN OF NEW ENGLAND REALLY KNOW HOW TO BUY CLOTHES?

In the home, at the club and in fact wherever women congregate the question of the high cost of clothing is always sure to come in for a goodly amount of comment.

"It isn't possible to secure stylish clothing unless you pay an exorbitant price for it", one woman will say.

Another will chime in and collaborate her sister saying, "It's just terrible the way the stores are boosting up the prices of clothing".

OTHER SIDE OF STORY

But how about the other side of the story? Are all women of the opinion that they cannot secure stylish and serviceable merchandise at a medium cost despite the present high prices? They are not. There are many women—and they are of the sensible type, who are always conceded to be neatly dressed and who in spite of the present high prces have proved by practise that they can secure, by wise buying, stylish and serviceable merchandise at moderate prices.

To prove that it is possible for a woman to dress in these times at a moderate cost the savings division of the Treasury Department through the cooperation of department stores and its many field workers have made a thorough investigation of the problems which confront the woman buyer of clothes in these days of high prices.

The findings of this investigation show that despite the high cost of living, women can, if they use good discretion in selecting their clothing, secure stylish, serviceable merchandise at a moderate cost.

Of course it must be conceded that because of this period of reconstruction a woman will necessarily have to pay more for her clothing than she did before the war. However, it is also brought out in this investigation that one reason for the "real" high prices of some merchandise existing at the present time are the result of the willingness of certain women to pay any price for their clothing regardless of what their income may be.

As an example, the case in Connecticut where girls earning not over $15 a week paid $300 for fur coats fully illustrates the reckless extravagance on the part of certain women.

Teaching Wise Buying

The Savings Division of the Treasury Department is not attempting to discourage sensible buying. It is trying to teach a woman to spend according to her income. Not only will she benefit from such action, but the high prices of certain articles of merchandise will surely decrease if the women refuse to pay such outlandish prices for them.

For the purpose of picturing a striking illustration of the difference between extravagant "speedy spending" and careful, "conscientious buying," the above pictures were posed in a leading Boston department store especially for the savings division, First Federal Reserve District. Neither outfit is exaggerated, both are taken from regular stock and the prices given are correct, and each article can be duplicated at the cost named. Other stores in Boston and elsewhere could make similar comparisons.

Could Tell Difference

No doubt one after a careful study of the pictures could pick out the model attired in the most expensive costume, but after careful consideration would one pay a difference of $422.65 for the higher priced outfit? No sensible woman would.

Frankly, now as never before it pays a woman "to shop" according to many of the buyers of some of New England's leading department stores. Let the woman who is about to purchase wearing apparel or other merchandise make a careful study of her needs, then taking into consideration her income, she can after due deliberation determine just how much money she can afford for such expenditures. The woman who does this will be able to save money despite the present high prices. If she invests these savings in such government securities as War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates she will have invested money for future needs.

NATION TO OBSERVE THRIFT WEEK JAN. 17

Information received at the Savings Division, First Federal Reserve District, from Washington, states that starting January 17 a Thrift Week will be held throughout the country under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of increasing the financial and industrial strength of the nation and for the purpose of teaching the people the benefits derived from steady saving and safe investment. The Savings Division will co-operate with the Y. M. C. A.

WOMEN EXCEED MEN IN JAPANESE FACTORIES

There are more women in industry in Japan than there are men, according to a statement recently made by the War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The world war has brought 850,000 women and girls into the daily grind of industry according to this statement; 30,000 of them little girls under fifteen years of age who work twelve hours at a wage of ten to twenty cents a day, that the world may have silk dresses and munitions.

In Tokyo alone, a city of two and one-half million people, there are 100,000 women employed in sixty-two industries and businesses varying from work as telephone operators, clerks, stenographers and bookkeepers to work in silk and other sorts of factories and domestic work.

Each year thousands of these women go back to their homes in the country, broken in health and victims of tuberculosis because of the poor conditions under which they work and live. They are housed in dormitories in the factory compound. These dormitories are frequently unsanitary. The girls work long hours, have no recreation and on finishing their long day go immediately to bed, often times a bed which a girl who works at night has been sleeping in all day.

As part of its world service for women, the Young Women's Christian Association plans to build dormitories in manufacturing towns where girls may live cheaply under healthful physical and social conditions, to send out secretaries who can introduce recreation into the factory compound and direct games and social life.

This is done with the co-operation of the factories' managers and proprietors. One of the most influential of these is Mrs. Suzuki, the most prominent woman manufacturer in Japan, who is owner and manager of a firm which exported $11,000,000 worth of bean oil to America last year.

Recently Mrs. Suzuki decided to employ one thousand women in her offices. She could not find enough well trained ones so she established a permanent school where Japanese girls may be trained to enter the business world. The greatest danger ahead of Japan, she says, is in its growing materialism, and Japan's greatest need, the development of her women.

NATIONAL FRIENDSHIPS DEPEND UPON WOMANKIND

Japanese Diplomat Says Men Alone Cannot Create International Friendliness.

International friendship between nations depends largely upon the friendly feeling between the women of those nations, according to representatives of the Japanese embassy in Washington.

Their theory is that there can be no firm friendship between two nations unless the women of those two countries know and like one another, as co-operation between nations, as in the state and in the family, is based on co-operation between men and women.

Therefore, if Japan and America are to have a real, lasting friendship, to really know and understand one another, the women of the two nations must learn to play together, to study together and to think together. The Y. W. C. A. is one of the best mediums for bringing about this friendship between the two nations, according to diplomatic representatives of Japan, as that organization is teaching Japanese women recreation, showing them how to enjoy out-of-door life and sports. It is particularly necessary that Japanese women learn to enjoy and appreciate recreation, they say, since the great influx of women into industry and business, as Japanese women, formerly so conservative, are going into business and doing many things which they had never thought of doing before the war.

The Y. W. C. A. has been assured the fullest possible co-operation of the Japanese embassy and the Japanese people in making its "World Service program" for three million dollars to be used for women and girls in the United States, India, China, Japan, South America, Egypt, Siberia, the Near East and Mexico a success.

Y. W. C. A. TRAINS WOMEN.

Young women students from forty-four states and nine countries—China, the Philippine Islands, France, Bulgaria, Holland, Russia, Armenia, Canada and Mexico — are registered in the National Training School of the Young Women's Christian Association in New York.

They are studying methods of Y. W. C. A. work with a view to taking up positions in Y. W. C. A. work either in this country or in other of the countries where the Y. W. C. A. is carrying on, opening and expanding its work.

LAND COURT

To the Inhabitants of the Town of Winchester, a municipal corporation located in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; John M. L. Enman, Thomas Quigley, Ellen L. Murphy, Lena R. Wellington, Addie E. Phippen, Emma G. Rice, Frances D. Pond, Ralph E. Joslin, Trustee, and Charles Zueblin, Trustee, of said Winchester and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by H. T. West Company, a duly existing corporation having an usual place of business in Boston, in the County of Suffolk and said Commonwealth, to register and confirm its title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Winchester, bounded and described as follows:

Northwesterly by Mason Street Extension and land of Ellen L. Murphy two hundred seventy-five and 55-100 (275.55) feet; Northeasterly by land of Lena R. Wellington five hundred eighty-six and 71-100 (586.71) feet; Easterly by land of Addie E. Phippen and Emma G. Rice one hundred eighty and 35-100 (180.35) feet; Southerly by land of Frances D. Pond six hundred forty-one and 54-100 (641.54) feet; Southwesterly by land of Ralph E. Joslin and Charles Zueblin, Trustees, three hundred twenty-four and 91-100 (324.91) feet; containing 217,698 square feet, or five acres.

Petitioner claims as appurtenant to the above described land a right of way for all purposes for which a public street is ordinarily used over a strip of land forty feet wide leading from the northwesterly portion of the above described land to that part of Mason Street Extension which is a public way; said strip of land being a continuation of said Mason Street Extension as shown on the plan hereinafter mentioned.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the twenty-sixth day of January A. D. 1920 at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of December in the year nineteen hundred and nineteen.

IN THEIR LAST LONG SLEEP

Beautiful Spot in Which Have Been Laid American Soldiers Who Died in Liberty's Cause.

On the wooded slope of a steep hill that rises high over a great bend in the River Seine lies a little plot of earth that is as much America as is the national cemetery at Arlington or the hallowed ground of Gettysburg. It is a quiet and peaceful spot, for although Paris is near—the slender pinnacle of the Eiffel tower is in plain view over the trees—the city is separated from the American cemetery at Surnesnes by the green expanse of the Bois de Boulogne. The heart of the city that is the heart of the world is not five miles away; you would think it at least fifty. It is a spot far removed from war, and yet there are enough of the accoutrements of war about it to remind the visitor that the 700 graves here are the graves of soldiers—mostly of soldiers who died of their wounds on the journey in from the front or at one of the hospitals in or near the capital. Further up the slope frown the ramparts of the fort of Mount Valerien, one in the chain of defenses that surround Paris. During hostilities planes flew from field to field, the drone of their motors never so clear as in this quiet countryside. And more warlike still, an occasional cannon shot echoed from a testing ground in the neighborhood. The little cemetery itself, with its well-aligned rows of white wooden crosses, will some day be as green and fair a God's acre as any in France. It is becoming so as fast as the loving hands of the living can convert it into one. Even in these fresh fall days, the graves are all abloom, and hardy shrubs add a touch of somber beauty to the little corners and round points. —Stars and Stripes, Paris.

WAR DEMAND FOR PLATINUM

Is Essential in Production of Sulphuric Acid, Indispensable in Manufacture of Explosives.

Two universally known products—one a rare metal, the other a common acid—have lately assumed importance that is mystifying to the laity. Platinum has become virtually the king of metals, and sulphuric acid the king of chemicals. The reasons for this are most simple. Platinum is obtained chiefly from the Ural mountains. Owing to chaotic conditions in Russia, little of it is being mined. It is absolutely essential in the manufacture of sulphuric acid. Without a small amount of it being present, oxygen, water and sulphur dioxide will not unite chemically. Sulphuric acid, on the other hand, was probably the most indispensable product used in the prosecution of the war. Its tremendous affinity for water made it vitally important in the manufacture of high explosives. For instance, one obtains a fairly harmless liquid by mixing glycerin and nitric acid. If sulphuric acid is added, it combines the two chemically by taking an atom of hydrogen and one of oxygen from the nitric acid, an atom of hydrogen from the glycerin, forming water, and taking it unto itself. One then has nitroglycerin. In a similar manner sulphuric acid is needed for the manufacture of guncotton and TNT. Thus we had the peculiar cycle of circumstances that made it unpatriotic for an American to have in his possession more than an ounce of platinum in the form of jewelry. Incidentally, however, there is said to be good reason for the belief that a very large proportion of the so-called platinum in modern jewelry is composed wholly or at least in part of cheaper metals.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Substitute for Tea.

It is said that there are now on the market as a substitute for tea the leaves of a plant which Niebuhr described as long ago as 1775. The plant is the Catha edulis, or Arabian tea, which is cultivated or grown wild on the East African coast from Abyssinia to Natal, in the Nile valley, and in Arabia. The leaves are called by the natives "kat," and when boiled give off a liquor which is said to be a powerful stimulant. The natives drink this tea before starting on long marches or other strenuous labors. The tea is said to have a pleasant aroma and to be useful against neuralgia, while in many regions the plant is considered to be a protection against plague.

Steamship Engagements

By C. B. LEWIS

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It may have been that in the hurry and confusion of getting away from London the purser of the steamship Bramble got things mixed up. He knew that he had among the passengers no less than three fond American mammas who had been trailing over Europe with marriageable daughters and were coming home with disappointed looks, and he hoped to give one of them a last chance.

However it happened, it was known among the passengers even before the Bramble left her dock that a great man was on board. It was Mr. Julius Smithers of the Chicago beef trust, and his fortune was variously estimated at from ten to fifty million dollars. There were men who at first denied that Smithers was a member of the trust. They could name over every packer who had ever been mentioned in the papers, and the name of Smithers didn't figure in the list. They were about to denounce him as an impostor when a red-headed man suggested that Smithers might have come into the trust on a merger of some sort. There were mergers merging all the time, and what if the beef trust and the tombstone trust had consolidated their interests?

The thing was as good as settled in an hour Mr. Smithers was a man of forty. He was rather rotund and bald-headed. He had just the faintest inclination to be flashy. Mr. Smithers was very democratic for a man worth untold millions. He made acquaintances rapidly, and the steamer had not made a hundred miles to the westward when he started a game of poker in the smoking room and had for companions a drummer, a cattleman, a ward politician and the inventor of the sausage stuffing machine. He was given a seat at the captain's table. It was afterward said that this was a mistake, and that he had taken the place assigned to a bishop. If he hadn't been worth millions upon millions his table manners would have been open to criticism.

"Well, I Guess Yes!"

There was much to overlook in Mr. Julius Smithers, or there would have been under any other circumstances. He was about the only one who didn't know it, and he was happy.

Within 48 hours those mammas were laying wires. If they had failed to pick up a lord, a duke or count abroad, it wasn't such a bad thing to fall back on one of the Its of the beef trust. Mr. Smithers could not only restore the family beefsteaks to the old-time prices, but he had millions to spend in castles, yachts and diamonds. These mammas had male friends aboard who were instructed to obtain information about Smithers. He met them half-way, and more.

"Say, you take my word for it, it's going to be the biggest success of anything for the last ten years," was his sanguine reply. "You'll hear all about it within a month after we land. Money in it? Well, I guess yes! I expect to make bonfires of fifty-dollar bills."

He was talking about the merger, of course. His replies were reported to the waiting mammas and they were introduced. The said introductions came about in a careless way, as if by mere accident.

The mammas found him hearty and jovial in his speech. He didn't always follow the rules of grammar, and he sometimes caught himself just in time to bite off a cussword, but a man may be forgiven much if he can draw his check for several millions.

It was decided in all these cases that Mr. Smithers would do as a member of the family. When he became a son-in-law they could polish him up a bit and gradually reduce the size of his two watch chains and his diamond pin.

Then the daughters were introduced. This was also carelessly accomplished. That is, while Mr. Smithers was making intervals between his poker games in order to get a breath of ocean air he would suddenly find some one in his path and be compelled to pause and be introduced. He wasn't a man with a grain of suspicion in his composition, as he was the soul of good nature. He gave up his poker to sit down and make himself agreeable to Miss Blank.

"You may have heard of the beef trust?" was his way of starting off the conversation. "It's going to be the biggest thing the United States ever heard of. Gad, but that was a great thought of mine, and I can't help but feel rather swelled up over it. No more bust-ups—no more walking the railroad tracks for Julius Smithers, Esq."

The girls elevated their eyebrows in surprise and perplexity. They had never heard any merger talk before, and it was as Greek to them. They reported to their respective mammas that Mr. Smithers didn't get into college the day he called—that his ways were rather familiar—that he evidently hadn't attended over a thousand high teas and grand receptions, and that it would take a carload of sandpaper to rub him down, but he had a good heart as a foundation to build on. If his conversation wasn't exactly up to the notch, the wind-up was intended to draw applause. He always finished by saying:

"I shall now have to ask you to excuse me, but I will see you again. In fact, I want to see you again. I think I can figure it out before we arrive at Sandy Hook to offer you the best thing of the season, but keep that to yourself."

"Mamma, what did he mean by that?" asked the respective daughters of their respective mothers.

"Why, child, how silly you are!" was the reply. "What could he mean but one thing?"

"But we have known him such a little while."

"You haven't got to know a millionaire over a day or two. They are different from other men. They have the cash."

There were men aboard looking to get into a good thing on the ground floor. They knew that the beef trust was a good thing. They threw out hints to Mr. Smithers, but he laughed and shook his head and replied:

"Not yet, my boy. I've got the dough to start it off, and I want all the plunks there are in it. See me next season."

"Will beef go up?"

"Thunder, no! We expect to knock the price down to fifteen cents a pound."

"Then how will you make your millions out of it?"

Mr. Smithers didn't make a direct answer. He simply winked a long, quivering wink with his left eye and conveyed the impression that there was a coon up the tree. The merger man enjoyed the sunshine of flattery and envy and toadyism for five or six days.

Then Sandy Hook was sighted one morning and he announced to the three scheming mammas that he wanted to hold converse with their three daughters. It was to be private converse. There was agitation. There was perturbation. There was consultations. Mr. Smithers selected a corner of the music room, and to that spot the victims were led in turn. The conversation was about the same in each instance.

"My dear girl," began Mr. Smithers, with paternal blandness, "I told you I had a good thing on hand and would try to arrange to make you an offer. I am about to do so. You have never had any experience on the stage, but you are a mighty good looker."

"Sir!" demanded the maiden, as she retreated a step.

"Oh, I shan't ask you to dress unbecomingly. It's just a plain, straight play called 'The Beef Trust,' and showing how that corporation, by raising the prices, parted two happy lovers and brought grief and death to other householders. Three corking acts and a cast of twelve people. We introduce a drove of cattle, a slaughter house, and a butcher shop among other spectacular effects. Will move right along without a hitch. Papers are bound to give it free columns of advertising. I can put you in the cast at thirty dollars per to begin on. What do you say?"

None of the three said anything—not to Mr. Smithers. Ten minutes after the last interview a murmur swept over the great steamer. That was followed by a growl. After the growl came cries of "Kill him! Throw him overboard!" There was a rush of feet, but Mr. Smithers was pulled into the purser's room and saved from total wreckage, and when the steamer reached her dock the captain lent him a pair of false red whiskers to disguise himself and escape the mob.

What Are You Worth?

Did you ever figure out what you are worth to yourself?

Did you ever think that, as a human being, you have a certain value which can be set down in dollars and cents?

You can reckon it from your wages or salary.

Your annual income represents the interest on a certain amount of capital.

Suppose you receive $1,000 a year. At 4 per cent this is the interest on $25,000. If you could turn yourself into "capital" this would be your value.

Whenever you increase your energy, intelligence or effectiveness in your business you capitalize yourself at a higher figure. When you can pull down $4,000 a year from your services you can set down your personal valuation at $100,000.—Waco (Tex.) News.

In the Woburn court Saturday J. A. Laraway was fined $5 for alterations on the building at the corner of Main and Park streets not in compliance with the building laws. He appealed. In the matter of the garage owned by Mr. Laraway, where certain requirements were made in connection with the fire laws, Chief DeCourcy of the Fire Department has received notice from the State Police that the requirements have been withdrawn.

We are informed that "Mary Ann", Winchester's old steam fire engine, was first used Nov. 9th, 1872, at the great Boston fire, and not at Woburn as reported last week. According to our informant the steamer was sent to Boston, to be turned over to the Town and arrived there the day the fire broke out. It was immediately pressed into service and did valiant work. After the fire the steamer was returned to the Amoskeag works and overhauled and then sent to Winchester.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS

An Unusual Opportunity for Winchester Presents Itself

Editor of the Star:

Never in the history of Winchester was so important a building program planned as is contemplated at the present time. It is reported that there is to be erected here in the not distant future, a Masonic Temple, a Christian Science Church, Methodist Church, Post Office, and a Memorial Building in honor of those who made the supreme sacrifice for freedom's sake in the Great War. There may be other additions to the list. Properly done this will constitute a civic improvement ranking in importance with the building of Manchester Field, the construction of the two bridges on the old Whitney mill site, and the gift of Mr. Preston Pond to the central park system of Winchester. Not only may the new building contemplated be utilitarian and beautiful, it may also constitute an advertisement for Winchester of no small value by attracting to it a most desirable class of citizens who will wish to make their homes here because the already famous beauty of the place will be made still more beautiful. It seems to me that the present unusual opportunity for harmonious improvement of the town should not be overlooked or neglected. Therefore would it not be a good thing for the various building committees who will have charge of this new construction to employ a supervising architect for the purpose of harmoninzing the whole building plan for the good of all concerned and for the beautifying of Winchester? Would it not be a good idea for the town to help by appointing a competent committee to meet with the others and the supervising architect to suggest and help the scheme along? This is a most vital period in the growth of Winchester. With the guiding hand of wisdom the development may be so designed that beauty, harmony and usefulness will be united to the pleasure and satisfaction of all the people. Let all work together. Experts in town construction, artists, architects, and laymen may help. "All the people know more than any one man."

Is this suggestion worth considering?

HUGH DE PAYENS' LADIES NIGHT

Owing to the war and other circumstances the Ladies' Night of Hugh de Payens Commandery, Knight Templars, has een omitted for several years, but Em. Commander Harry E. Dearborn and his staff are making preparations to resume this pominent feature of its social work and this event will occur at Memorial Hall, on Friday evening, January 16.

Invitations have been issued not only to the Sir Knights and their ladies, but also to Masonic fraternity of Melrose and of Woburn, Stoneham Winchester, Reading and Wakefield. Hugh de Payens has membership in all these places.

Rt. Em. Gr. Commander Everett C. Benton and suite are expected to be present and there will be one of the largest Masonic gatherings ever held in Melrose.

The program will consist of a concert by the Harp-Vocal Ensemble, consisting of Misses Ethel Zimmer, Nellie Zimmer and Florence Price, harpist, pianist and violinist; Mrs. Blanche Upham Mason, soprano, Alexander Mason, tenor, and Walter Eccles, entertainer.

Dr. W. C. Macfarlane will conclude with a short organ recital.

There will be a guard drill under Adjt. John D. Nichols. Then the festivities will conclude with a buffet lunch and dancing to the music of Shepherd's Colonial Orchestra.

NEW SERIES OF SUNDAY MORNING SERMONS

First Congregational Church

On Sunday, January 11th, Mr. Chidley will commence a new series of sermons, at the morning worship at 10,30 under the general heading "Some Angels We Meet." The first subject is "The Angel Incognito." Following is the schedule:

Jan. 11—"The Angel Incognito."
Jan. 18—"The Hindering Angel."
Jan. 25—"The Shining Face"—Rev. Fletcher D. Parker. (Mr. Chidley will conduct the worship).
Feb. 1—"The Companion Angel."
Feb. 8—"The Unwelcome Angel."
Feb. 15—"The Angel With the Sandals."
Feb. 22—"The Returning Angels."

WINDOW OF STORE BROKEN

The cold of Sunday night caused the driver of a taxi to leave his car so hastily that he forgot to set his brake and as a consequence the machine coasted down the grade upon which it was left and smashed the show window of the Winchester Exchange on Mt. Vernon street.

The taxi was left on Winchester place. In its run down the hill and across Mt. Vernon street it smashed the keep-to-the-right sign at the cross over. The large plate glass window of the Exchange was smashed and about $100 additional damage done to goods on display. The taxi was not damaged to speak of.

MR. FRANK A. BARNES

Mr. Frank A. Barnes died on Saturday, January 3, of cerebral hemorrhage at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter T. Brander, Forest street. The funeral services were held at the home on Tuesday, Rev. Mr. Handel of Tremont Temple officiating.

Besides his wife, Hattie E. Barnes and daughter, he leaves on brothr, Mr. William E. Barnes of Florence, Mass. The remains were taken to Northampton for burial.

DR. TOZIER'S PARTY

Dr. Tozier's winter sports party went this year to Newport, N. H. for their annual New Year's outing, leaving Thursday noon in two private parlor cars. The Newport House was reserved for their exclusive use, and no detail was omitted by the management for the comfort and pleasure of the guests. Friday the party motored to the Austin Corbin Park for a winter picnic. This park, a gift to the town by a former resident, is a reservation of 2000 acres of woodland surrounded by 30 miles of 8 foot wire fence, and is stocked with about 2000 wild animals, deer, elk, boar and buffalo. The large bungalo at the park was cosy with roaring open fires and comfortable chairs. After a long hike through the woods and a visit to the buffalo herd the party returned with huge appetites to the bungalo where a delicious hot buffet luncheon was served. The winter picnic was voted a great success. There was not enough snow for skiis or snow-shoes, but a toboggan chute near the hotel furnished thrills for the more venturesome, while the skaters enjoyed a hockey game which ended in a tie between Winchester and Newton. In the bowling tournament the married men beat the single men and in the indoor putting contest Winchester beat Brookline. The dinner each night was enlivened by singing and dancing between the courses, and each evening a fine musical programme was rendered by the many talented members, Mr. George Shepley "The One-man Band" furnished jolly jazz music. Mr. John Underhill's Scotch dialect stories in costume made no end of amusement, and several topical songs with many clever local hits sung by a sextette of ladies also made a lot of fun. Saturday night the large dinning room was converted into a ball room for the masquerade party, and was artistically decorated under the direction of Mr. William G. Perry. Mr. Perry in the costume of Indian chief, and Mr. John Underhill in kilts with a drum and imitation bag-pipe led the opening march, followed by the entire company in beautiful and artistic costumes. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dumper made the hit of the evening as the Sun-Bonnet Babies, and Miss Molly Hodge as little Mike Sullivan was a close second. Mrs. B. R. Pollock's Christmas Tree

MIDDLESEX SCHOOL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION OPENS SECOND SEMESTER

The second semester of the Middlesex School of Religious Education opens January 12, 1920. The School has had a remarkable record during the Fall with a total enrollment of 327 students. The distribution of each co-operating town has been as follows: Reading 37, Winchester 71, Woburn 37, Stoneham 127, Wakefield 46, Wilmington 3, other towns 6.

The special lecturers during the winter semester will be Professor Walter S. Athearn, on "The Community Plan for Religious Education," and Professor Henry Augustine Smith on "Church Music and Pageantry."

The School offers 14 courses, all of which will be open to new students. It is expected that there will be a considerable increase in the enrollment The teaching function of the Christian Church can only be properly done as the Church produces trained teachers thru its training schools. The course in "Parent Problems" is particularly attractive and should lift the standards and life of the average home.

Transportation by street cars and jitney is arranged for. School session opens at 7.30 and closes at 9.15, at the First Congregational Church Stoneham.

COLD WEATHER FIRES

Zero weather over the week-end produced the usual number of fires about town, only one of which however, was at all serious. This blaze was in the three apartment house on Harvard street at Nos. 6-8, the alarm from box 37 being rung in at 7.05 a. m., Saturday. The fire originated in the cellar, caused, it is said, by thawing frozen water pipes. The fire went through the partitions and outside wall as far as the top floor, and the fire department had a half-hour's work in putting it out. Although the blaze was quite menacing for a time, the damage was not large and none of the tennants were driven out.

Of the other fires the alarm on Friday evening at 5.42, when box 7-34 was rung in, was burning brush at the rear of the Winn Watch Hand Factory, and that of 10,55 Saturday was for burning grass below the residence of G. L. McNeill on Grove street.

A chimney fire at the residence of Mr. Chester B. Kelley on Foxcroft road Sunday morning at 9.10 did no damage other than aid the draft.

CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

A very important meeting of the women of the parish will be held next Wednesday, January 14, at 2.45 P. M. in the Parish House Hall, under the auspices of the Women's Guild. There will be a speaker upon the subject which is of such vital interest at the present time "The Nationwide Campaign," and every woman who is in any way connected with the Church is urged to come and help to make the meeting a success. There will be an opportunity to purchase articles left over from the recent Christmas Sale—and tea will be served.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our relatives and friends for their kindness and sympathy in our recent bereavement.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

Public Affairs Discussed by Merchants Tuesday Night

The regular meeting of the Winchester Board of Trade was held in White's hall on Tuesday evening with Pres. C. Herbert Symmes presiding. Following the transaction of business and reading of communications by Secetary Herbert Wadsworth, Jr., there was a general and interesting discussion of a number of vital subjects of public interest.

As announced in the call for the meeting, some six subjects were placed before the organization for consideration, and in this connection the citizens were invited to attend and to present any other matters which in their opinion called for an expression of general opinion. Accordingly the meeting was attended by several gentlemen not members of the Board of Trade, who are interested in the town's welfare and development.

A matter of closing stores in town on legal holidays, provided they did fall on a Saturday, was favorably considered, and a committee was appointed to secure signatures to that effect.

The matter of consideration of the proposed changes in building laws was reported upon by Mr. Hersey who represented the Board at Friday night's hearing. The Board voted that it was in favor of the extension of the fire limit on Main street to Lake street, and this question will doubtless be further taken up at the next meeting.

The question of changing the meeting date fom the first Tuesday to the third Tuesday of each month was left to a committee to report, it being the intention to offer such a motion at the next meeting unless some objection is received.

In the discussion of the question of parking cars on the east side of the centre it was the concensus of opinion that cars should not be allowed to park on Converse place within 30 feet of Mt. Vernon St. owing to the danger to traffic using that way. In this connection it was brougnt out that the Winchester Laundry Co. would not object to the use of the space at the side of its garage on Converse place, the cars being parked diagonally head on to the Garage. This met with much approval as being a convenient and handy place to leafe cars, and the recommendations were ordered forwarded to the Selectmen.

The dangerous condition of Forest street at the Stoneham line was discussed at length, resulting in a motion to request the Selectmen to place a warning sign at the top of the hill on the line. It was also thought advisable to take up again the matter of placing this road in better shape to avoid accidents at this point.

The suggestion that a sign directing strangers to the Winchester Hospital be placed at the corner of Fairmount and Washington streets was favorably received and the attention of the Selectmen will be called to this convenience.

An interesting matter closed the discussion when it was suggested that the Town of Winchester make the Town of Arlington a gift of a strip of land laying over the west side hills. It developed that this section must be reached by first going into Arlington; that it is becoming quite thickly populated; that the residents there have most of thei interests in Arlington and that it will be practically impossible to reach it with water or sewerage.

The matter was discussed at length, with the result that the Board was most favorably inclined towards urging the gift. At the next meeting Town Engineer Hinds is to be present and take this matter up more fully by aid of maps and data.

STOLE FROM MACHINE GUN CO.

The police arrested this week Peter DeSilva, 21 years of age, living in Boston and a member of the Machine Gun Co. 8th Regt., M. S. G., for the theft of seven revolvers from the Company's armory. For some time revolvers have been missing, but it has not been possible to ascertain who was taking them. The arms are kept in the town hall.

This week Sergt. McCauley recovered two of the revolvers in Boston pawn shops, and the arrest of DeSilva followed. He had been taking them one at a time on drill nights. DeSilva enlisted in September during the strike of the Boston police while the Company was quartered in the Cambridge armory. He is said to have served 14 months in the Rhode Island State prison, and in the Woburn court Wednesday he was sentenced to two months in the House of Correction.

Y. D. MEN ATTENTION

Will all men now living in Winchester who served in France with the 26th Division—any branch of the service whatsoever—please send their name and organization to Geo. W. Harrold, 211 Washington street. This is important, as we must all get together and make our objective in the drive which is to start next week. For information concerning this drive see another column of this Star.

BUILDING PERMITS

The following permits have been granted by the Inspector of Buildings for the week ending January 8:

Moore & Sperry of 30 Payson road, Belmont. Wood frame dwelling at 52 Yale street, 40 x 24 feet.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending January 8: Chicken pox 1, measles, 6 mumps 1, scarlet fever 1, whooping cough 2.

DR. BARRETT TO SPEAK IN WINCHESTER

DR. KATE WALLER BARRETT

At the First Congregational Church Wednesday evening, January 14th, at 7.45, Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, National President of the Florence Crittendon League of Compassion, will speak on Girls in the Reconstruction Period. Mrs. Barrett is well know as a forceful public speaker. She has held many important positions associated with the various progressive movements of the day viz: Pres. of the National Council of Women, President of the National Florence Crittendon Mission, Vice-President of the Conference of Social Work for the State of Virginia. Representative for the State of Virginia for the National Congress of Mothers, etc. During the war she was chairman of the Army and Navy Commission on Training Camp Activities, the one woman appointed by the Governor of Virginia, on Law Enforcement and Protective Work, under the Community Service for Extension Work in Virginia. Was fr Exenson Work in Virgin. She was a delegate to the International Woman-s Congress, which met in Zurich, Switzerland, in May 1919, and was sent by the Bureau of Immigration of the U. S. Government to study and investigate the Immigration question in Europe, and chairman of the Press Committee of the International Council of Women.

The Florence Crittendon League of Massachusetts has done most effective work throughout the state during the war through its women patrol workers. Winchester already has a large group of women interested in this work and all members of the local Circle are invited to this meeting. The public, both men and women, are especially urged to attend and to avail themselves of the opportunity to get in touch with this work that should be shared by all. To hear Dr. Barrett, on the problem that is the responsibility of all members of the Commonwealth, it is not only a privilege, but a duty.

A GREAT LYRIC SOPRANO FOR THE UNITARIAN VESPER

The Special Musical Vesper Service at the Unitarian Church Sunday afternoon January 11th at 5 P. M. is to have for its soloist Mrs. Laura Littlefield of Boston whom many music lovers of Winchester know to admire. In recent years she has been going up in the musical firmament her greatest triumphs probably being when she has been soloist for the Boston Symphony Concerts. Of one of them the Boston Transcript says: Mrs Laura Littlefield came up to the standard with three inimitable songs and admirably justified her position in distinguished company. Hers is a voice which takes color and vitality from an opulent setting and she can adapt herself to such a setting without in the least forceing it. Her fresh and vibrant quality was the means of injecting emotional life into the three love song and only an unusual versatility of skill, only an artists fond study and rare intuition could have caught the moods so aptly and unmistakeably of Mozarts area from "The Shepherd King" gentle, tender, tinged with worthfulness; of Rameau's arlette from a ballet on the "Jealous Juno."

Mrs. Littlefield is equally successful in interpreting Sacred Music.

The Musical program will be as follows:

1. How Lovely are Thy Dwellings Liddle
2. I Will Extoll Thee O Lord Costa
3. (a) An Old Sacred Lullaby Corner
 (b) Come Unto Him Handle
 (c) Morning Hymn Henschel
4. Hear My Prayer Mendelsohn

The Service will be in charge of the Rev. Kersop Lake of the Harvard Divinity School who will make a short address.

The Public of Winchester and surrounding towns is invited.

CLASS REUNION

The first Class Reunion of W. H. S. '19, occurred last week on Thursday evening at the home of Miss Brenda Bond on Highland Avenue. Nearly all of the members attended and renewed old acquaintances. Games music and refreshments were in order and a business meeting was held at which Clinton Raynor presided. It was voted to hold annual reunions during Christmas week. Miss Bond was elected Secretary-Treasurer for the class and they voted to start a class scrap book.

THE "SERVICE OF LIGHTS" AT THE CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

Impressive Ceremony Sunday Night To Mark the Beginning of a Nation-Wide Campaign for the Church's Call

The service at the Church of the Epiphany at 5.00 o'clock Sunday evening January 11 will be the very impressive "Service of Lights" by which will be marked the opening on that date of the Nation-Wide Campaign for the Church's Call throughout the whole Episcopal denomination of the country.

The ceremony as planned will typify and symbolize the significance of this movement for sperading the light of Christ by the light of the lives of the people, and giving inspiration to carry this Light and message into the world.

The service begins with the lighting of the Light of Christ, represented by a great candle upon the Altar, and in order that the full historic continuity of the Church may be appreciated, the promises of the prophets are read as an introduction.

When the verses of the gospel of St. John telling of the Light have been read, a star in the chancel appears in the East, as an earnest of these promises.

Then being carried by touching of candles from Christ, the light spreads to the twelve Apostles represented by twelve candles held by welve men, standing at the Communion rail, and as the passage from Matthew is read, calling the Apostles, naming them by name, each goes forward and lights his candle from the great Christ candle upon the Altar.

As from the Apostles gradually developed the historic ministry of Bishops, Priests and Deacons, men representing these orders, each with a candle stand at the side or behind the Apostles, who having received their light from Christ, pass it on. They light the candle of the Bishop, who, in turn, lights the candles of the Priest or Deacon, and then all three orders of the ministry light the candles first of the choir and then of the congregation.

As the persons on the end of the pew receive their light, they in turn light the candles of their neighbors and so on to the end of the pew—thus each receives and spreads the light.

When all the individuals' candles are lighted (the church having been previously darkened) the choir leads in the recessional around and out of the church, the congregation following still carrying their lights, taking them as far as possible.

MUCH SMOKE AT FIRE

The fire on Wednesday evening at 6. 30, at the residence of Mr. Hollis L. Riddle on Myrtle terrace, produced the densest smoke the firemen have had to contend with in a long time. Originating in the cellar, where a large amount of wood was stored, the smoke filtered through the house until it was practically impossible to remain inside the doors. The three smoke masks used by the firemen proved of much value in fighting the blaze.

The damage was not large, the fire not gaining headway beyond the cellar, and smoke will cause the principal loss. The family was just ready for dinner when neighbors next door in the home of Mr. L. E. Bird, saw the flames through the cellar window. Notifying the Riddles, investigation was made, in which the cellar was found so full of fire that it was impossible to enter. An alarm was rung from box 62.

The firemen put the fire out largely by playing chemical through the cellar windows, the streams being directed by Chief Decourcy and others wearing gas masks. Storm windows all over the house aided in confining the smoke. It is supposed the blaze started from hot ashes.

Another fire which called for the assistance of the fire department was that at the rear of the Congregational Church during Wednesday afternoon. A high wind and considerable grass and brush made a hot fire, and residents on Vine street became alarmed for the safety of their houses. The fire was quickly extinguished with no damage.

THE H. F. CLUB REUNION

The H. F. Club held its annual reunion Tuesday evening, December thirtieth, at the home of Miss Marguerite Saltmarsh on Mt. Vernon St. An unusual feature of the entertainment was a tin shower given by the members of the club for Miss Anna Hefflon, whose engagement has been recently announced. Miss Hefflon was unable to attend the reunion as expected, but will receive her gifts later.

Those present at the reunion were. Misses Martha Russell, Bertha Kelley, Ruth Elder, Marion Kendall, Edith Downer, Maude Gurney, Kathleen Sheridan and Marguerite Saltmarsh.

PROF. KERSOP LAKE AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

The Rev. Kersop Lake of the Harvard Divinity School who is to preach in the Unitarian Church in Winchester Sunday morning has had an interesting career.

He has long been recognized as one of the foremost biblical scholars of the world.

He is a graduate of Oxford England but spent many years at the Universities on the Continent especially in Holland.

Some years ago he was brought over as the teacher of Biblical Literature in the Episcopal Divinity School in Cambridge but his liberalism was too extreme so he returned to England only to be called back to the Harvard Divinity School where he is now a professor teaching among others the same students he did before he left the country the first time. Though still a priest in the established church of England, he has charge of the Unitarian Church in Portland, Maine.

Here is an interesting case of interdenominationalism. Besides being a great scholar he is an up-to-date Preacher.

The Public is cordially invited both to the service at 10.30 A. M. and to the Vesper Service at 5 P. M. both of which he will conduct

ELIZA TO MAKE ANOTHER VISIT

Those who failed to see the admirable production of "Eliza Comes to Stay" as presented recently at the Town Hall under the direction of the Dramatics Committee of the Fortnightly will have another opportunity on Friady evening, February 13.

The play wih the same cast will be staged under the auspices of the Progress Club of the First Congregational Church.

Reservations for tickets previous to the public sale may be made by telephoning or writing to K. F. Caldwell, 14 Mt. Pleasant street. Telephone 803 M. Tickets to be $1.00, 75c and 50c.

LOCAL MINISTER GOES TO LEXINGTON

The Rev. Carlton P. Mills formerly of this town, preached his first sermon as rector of the Church of Our Redeemer (Episcopal), Lexington, from the pulpit of the church last Sunday morning. Mr. Mills has had charge of the Lexington parish the past year. In addition he has been chief of the educational work throughout the diocese, under Bishop Lawrence. However, now he will devote his entire time to the parish, giving up the educational work.

LADIES FRIENDLY SOCIETY

Ladies Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church will hold their monthly Luncheon, January 13, at 1 o'clock. The luncheon will be in charge of Mrs. A. D. Rogers and Mrs. Charles Louise Foster, of the North End Union, will speak on "The North End Union Method of Americanization Work." It promises to be a very interesting afternoon.

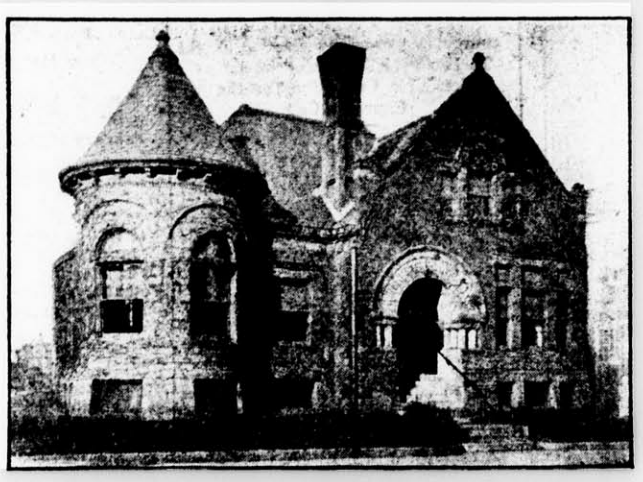

Town Engineer James Hinds observed his fiftieth birthday on Tuesday. An informal gathering of the family at his home on Forest street in the evening made the event of more than passing notice, and a pleasant anniversary was enjoyed. Mr. Hinds has the congratulations of a host of friends, all of whom wish him many more fiftieth anniversaries.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

A cynical Winchester gentleman takes the absurd position that there is no sound reason why salaries of school teachers should be very largely increased. He holds such a concession absolutely unnecessary—an economic waste. He says that with increased salaries the teachers will do no more work and no better work in 1920 than they did in 1918. A public school teacher would not be shiftless or lazy if she could. A public school teacher never has been lazy or careless. Cynics cannot help being cynical. What has this cynical Winchester gentleman to say regarding the closing of 80 school houses in New Hampshire owing to lack of teachers because they have deserted the profession of teaching for work in other fields which at least remunerates the worker with a living wage.

According to another Winchester gentleman the trend in this country today is to encourage matrimony and the rearing of children. The income tax that allows double the exemption for married men, and that gives added exemption of $200 for each child, is a subsidy, though a scant one, to Cupid. But with prices the way they are, and the millions of well born, true American children to leaven the alien lump, some bigger inducement must be given, for even now the foreign, and more especially the alien, element in this country is increasing far more rapidly than the better class American families, in proportino to their numbers. This Winchster gentleman points out that Korea has an idea or two on this that we might find useful. In Korea the male never becomes a man until he marries. He remains a boy until his death if he remains single. He cannot assume the duties of citizenship, he cannot even put up his hair, he is not considered an adult fit to associate with men on equal terms unless he is married. And when he marries he is a man, no matter whether he is ten years old or thirty. A ten year-old man and a fifty-year-old boy! Some Winchesterites will agree that that is a better plan than our own, that arbitrarily says a male person becmes a man at 21. Some men never grow up, some boys are mature at eighteen, and carry heavy family burdens.

A group of Winchester folks were discussing the question of milk. It is undeniable that the price of milk is artificially high and that the excess cost is due to a wasteful, complicated and extravagant system of delivery, a system for which the public is as much to blame as the distributor and perhaps more. As one of the gentlemen pointed out even with milk selling at 17 or 18 cents a quart there isn't a great deal of profiteering. Milk investigations have pretty well established, even to the satisfaction of an uninformed public, what it costs to produce milk, which, including the profit of the farmer, amount to about half the retail, delivered to the door price. The aforementioned discussion developed that there are several ways in which milk can be cheapened. Possibly if each city and town cared to get all the milk distributors together in one room a plan similar to the one tried out in Phiadelphia could be successfully worked out. And there is no reason to doubt that the price of milk could be cut at least five cents a quart if the community were willing to go to the corner grocery for its milk, or to have it delivered with the grocery order. But people insist on finding their milk at the back door before breakfast time and so the people pay a luxury tax for that luxury. Any time the community really wants to cut the price of this essential food it can do it, but until it does get ready to go at the matter in common sense fashion it must expect to pay and pay high for the elaborate service demanded and for the expensive distribution system it encourages.

Through the centuries the world has sought a cure for baldness. Medical servants have searched in vain the remedy of lack of hair, the humble barber who shaves one discourses learnedly, if he is sincere, over the impossibility of restoring what nature intended to be a crowning glory. But at least the remedy seems at hand. The superintendent of a hospital in Weehauken, New Jersey, maintains that iodine will grow hair on any head that lacks it, and cites a case in which he experimented, to prove it. If this nurse is not mistaken then her discovery will rank with that which Ponce De Leon attempted. Lots of men with glistening pates ev rywhere await confirmation of the treatment. Men everywhere who make shreds cover an approaching nakedness will sigh with relief.

THE PASSING OF MARY ANN

Editor of the Star:

Unknown to but a few of her immediate friends and associates, a poor broken down old Dame passed from our midst the other day, without even the formality of a Funeral Procession or a few tears being shed over her who was once the pride and glory of every youngster in Town and a majority of the older people as well.

She who had once caused every one on the street to turn and watch her out of sight, as she glided along, garbed in the latest styles of the day, proud of the fact that none handsomer or better dressed than she e're turned the heads of men.

She who had once cause the eloquence to flow, like lemonade at a 1921 Jew Wedding, on the Town Hall Floor as her admirers, the Swains of the Town, vied with each other in extolling her good points when there was talk of unseating her from her proud Throne as the most loved article of popularity in the Town.

She who had ever done her duty to the people of the Town when called upon, no matter what hour of the day or night, even sometimes going out of her way to help those in distress and in need of her ministrations and never complaining tho sometimes more sick herself than those she was going to aid.

O!; But this is a sad, sad world. One day the Idol of all; honored, praised, admired and feted. Next day forgotten by every one; laughed at, jeered and hooted by all except her few staunch friends.

Poor Old Mary Ann. Your smooth gliding ways were all right in your prime but must now give away to the Jazz, "Skipping" ways of your Successor.

Many there are who still love the old style Dames, but they are all sitting in the gallery. Those on the Floor must keep up with the pace and the Slam Bang-Bang Crack of the new stuff (hitting on three). You in your day was fast enough. Today you are pitably slow. Your gaily caparisoned Three Horse Hitch that drew you around the Town, one day the cynosure of all eyes, today would hardly get a passing glance.

Never mind old Girl: You did your duty and did it well and deserve a better fate.

How your poor old head would drop took away your old Home and shoved you away in a corner of the House of your Successor.

How your oor old head would drop as you looked across and saw your Rival strutting in and out, gaudy in the up-to-date paint you knew naught of in your day.

How it must have gone to your heart to be pointed out to vsitors, after they had seen all others in the House, as Poor Old Mary Ann, out of commission.

Yet you never grumbled and when a couple of years ago, they put you to work on the Sewer, you did your duty and did it well.

May you rest in peace where you are going and may you live to a ripe old age even tho:—

Your poor old bonnet may be smoky
Your apron need new strings,
Your shoes may have no Rubber Heels
You are short on many things.
Your collar may have lost its shine
Your pipes have wheezy grown
John Barley-Corn is in your Class
Old Girl your not alone.

Amen.

ANNUAL MEETING OF WESTERN MISSIONARY

The Annual meeting of the Ladies Western Missionary Society was held Thursday January 1st in the vestry of the Congregational Church.

Being a holiday many of the gentlemen were present. We were glad to welcome them, as it was a rare opportunity for them to enjoy an excellent lunch provided by the Chairman Mrs. Boyce and her committee. Also to learn something about our work among the Missionaries in the West, to whom barrels were sent. A letter was read by Dr. Chidley in acknowledgement of a barrel sent to a family in December expressing their thanks and what a help it would be to them these winter monts. Our Society has had a very successful and prosperous year both in this work and membership.

The By Laws were suspended and our excellent President Mrs. James E. Corey, who had served us for two years, was reelected for a third year.

The following Officers were electei for 1920:

President, Mrs. James E .Corey; Vice President, Mrs. H. K. Yeager; Secretary, Mrs. G. Hawes; Treasurer, Miss Edith J. Swett; Directors for one year Mrs. J. C. Adams, Mrs. G. H. Hamilton; Directors for two years, Mrs. W. I. Cummings; Mrs. E. T. Wolloff, Auditor, Mrs. S. W. Adriance.

Mrs. Marion Rice Taylor gave an interesting talk on her personal experiences as a Gospel Singer, and hymns were sung by Mrs. Taylor and Miss Jean McLellan in a most impressive manner and enjoyed by all present.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE

The packed houses at the Hollis Street Theatre during the past week to see Otis Skinner in "The Rise of Peter Barban" has again demonstrated that the popularity of his sterling actor has not waned one tittle. Mr. Skinner will remain for one week more at the Hollis before departing to other cities. It has become his custom to present a new play each season, and to present it to America at large would take some five years or more, hence he has to make a condensed visit to Boston and other large cities. Bostonians have had an opportunity of seeing "The Rise of Peter Barban" before New York theatregoers.

There will be a matinee on Wednesday and Saturday, and patrons should make early application at the box-office so as not to be disappointed.

MIDDLESEX COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The Middlesex Council of Religious Education, which is the representative body of all the churches which are co-operating in this Religious Education movement, will hold a meeting on Tuesday evening, January 20th, at the Baptist Church Reading. A supper will be served at 6.45, after which important matters will be presented to the Council and a program of religious education for the district it covers will be adopted.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Preparations for the Victory celebration next Thursday evening, January 15, are being pushed and everything promises a delightful evening, from the dinner at seven o'clock in the vestry of the First Congregational church, to the end of the program of speaking and music which is to follow.

Among the speakers will be Rev. Cyrus Richardson, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, Rev. M. D. Kneeland, Rev. Arthur Winn, and Mrs. Ella A. Gleason and it is expected to have also some from out of town who will speak from other standpoints. The music will be in charge of Mrs. Lillian D. Marshall of Beach Bluffs who will also sing one or more selections. To those who have heard Mrs. Marshall that in itself will be sufficient attraction.

Tickets for the dinner may be had at the Star office or from any of the committee, Mrs. Henry L. Blood, (Tel. 602-W), Miss Cassie Sands, Mrs. Wilburger or Miss Laura Tolman. They must be either purchased or engaged on or before Tuesday evening, January 15, that the committee may know for how many to provide. The dinner is to be of the old New England variety, Mrs. J. C. Adams and Mrs. Frank Roberts being the purveyors. Come to join in the celebration of the great victory over the forces of King Alcohol

Middlesex County convention is to meet at Newton, Thursday, January 22, and members are asked to plan to attend. The special topic, aside from the routine business, will be the Jubilee and those attending will gain enthusiasm from hearing what has been done elsewhere.

LADIES' TOURNAMENT

With but three more matches to be rolled, the ladies bowling tournament at the Calumet Club is narrowing down to a final battle between the leading teams. Friday afternoon saw the leaders, Team H, win all three points from team J, while team K, in second place, dropped one point to team G, this making H stronger in first place and giving D and possibly C opportunity to take second from K. Mrs. Breen, with 163 on a string of 83, was high for the afternoon. Mrs. Butler rolled 161 with 90, Mrs. Towne 161 with 88, Mrs. Pitman 161 with 86, Mrs. Goff 160 with 90, Mrs. Keepers 84 and Mrs. Fausey 80.

The two leaders in the tournament, H and K, had it out on Tuesday afternoon when their scheduled game was rolled off. H had the best of it, taking all three points. As D won all three points from F on this afternoon, K took a drop in standing through its loss to H. The third match, between A and G, resulted in a win of three points for A. Neither of these teams are dangerous in the standing. In this series Mrs. Pitman was high roller with a total of 179 on a string of 94. Mrs. Tuttle was a close second with 179 on 91. Others were Mrs. Thompkins with 173 on 92, Mrs. White with 172 on 93, Mrs. Towne and Mrs. Wadsworth each rolled 167 with 88, Mrs. Fenno and Mrs. Fausey each rolled 162 with 86, and Miss Fenno 162 with 84; Mrs. Miner rolled 169 with 97, Mrs. Hindes 164 with 84, Mrs. Farnsworth 86, Miss Richardson 84, Mrs. Comins 81 and Mrs. Bowe 80.

To Renovate Old Oil Paintings.

When old oil paintings have become dark and cracked they may be made to look like new by the following process, says the Illustrated World: Pour alcohol in a dish and put the picture over it, face downward. The fumes of the alcohol dissolve the paint of the picture, the cracks close up and the color becomes more fresh. Caution is absolutely necessary, as the paint may become so soft as to run together, thus spoiling the whole picture.

INSIDE PAINTING

Are your ceilings cracked, dusty, and need whitening?

How are your floors? Are they getting dryed out, and need attention? Look around at the window seats and see if they are getting weather worn.

This is the time of year for inside painting, as only the best workmen are kept, and the Master Painter can give his whole attention to your work.

If you have inside work to do don't neglect it. Do it now.

Save the surface and you save all.

RICHARD HIGGINS "WAS THERE"

There is one member of the returning Harvard expedition who does not put on a playing suit and who never gets in the limelight, but there was no more important factor in the pleasure of the trip to the coast than Manager Richard Higgins ,or as the players affectionately call him, "Smiling Dick."

He says little, but he gets there every time, and the faithful and everlasting attention that this undergraduate gave to details played a big part in the smoothness of the whole journey. "Let Dick do it" became the regular slogan of the squad and coaches, meaning that then they knew it would be done. The efficiency of "Smiling Dick" left Manager Moore free to devote his time to matters of policy.—Herald.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

It is just as important to say the right thing in the wrong place, as it is to say the right thing in the right place.

Brag often starts with a big load but seldom delivers it.

Much useless argument might be avoided if people would candidly admit their ignorance.

An honorable woman is one who doesn't try to get another woman's cook away from her.

Count this day as one completely lost if you have not smiled.

One pleasing anticipation Winchester merchants and others may entertain in the restoration of the railroads to pivate ownership is the possibility of the elimination of the dust nuisance in the centre of the town. During the winter months the clouds of dust which sweep through our valley from Wedgemere to Winchester Highlands cannot but be a menance to health. At the present time it is almost impossible to see across our centre for fully a minute after an express train passes. We recall in past years that this nuisance was greatly abated after being taken up by our town. One reason it is so bad today is because the crossing, after being well oiled in the fall, has been dug up several times. Another is because the railroad roadbed has not been oiled for years, the report being that the administration found itself confronted with too many suits for damages from use of the oil to continue it. Now when the railroad goes out of Federal management, we are told there is a possibility that the oiling—at least that neessary to protect the health of the public—may be resumed.

The universal use of checks in the payment of debts is still growing, and the custom of paying bills and statements by sending the check without returning the charge slip is also highly popular. This latter is without doubt a convenience, both in reference and in retaining a receipt, but so long as people are careless it can still retain a flaw. In this office we have three checks received in a recent mail which illustrate: one received unsigned and two with signatures which are undecipherable. As all three were unaccompanied by any charge slip, it is necessary to take the matter up with the banks to ascertain who the payee is. One gentleman says he simply turns such checks in. If the bank puts them through he gets his money and it is up to his client to show later that he paid his bill. At this season a multitude of checks are being used and it behooves everyone to make sure that the sum represented by his check is properly credited. Those who cannot write their name in legible characters should use the checks with printed stub, giving informatton as to the sender's identity.

TO FORM AUXILIARY

Ladies of Winchester:

On Friday evening, January 16, 1920, at 8 o'clock in the Town Hall, the Winchester Post, American Legion, will hold a meeting for all the ladies in the town who are eligible to join their Auxiliary.

Membership in the auxiliary is confined to the mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of all men and women who are members of the American Legion, and to the mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of all men and women who were in the military or naval service of the United States between April 6, 1917 and November 11, 1918, and died in line of duty or after honorable discharge and prior to November 11, 1920.

At this meeting temporary officers will be elected and a Charter applied for to the State Headquarters of the American Legion.

Many surrounding towns already have formed their auxiliary. The Winchester Post No. 97 has nearly four hundred paid-up members and it seems if all the ladies, who are eligible, join the auxiliary at the start, the Post and Ladies will have another flourishing organization, the town may well be proud of.

A large gathering is expected at this meeting and it will be advisable to come early and avoid the crowd. Ample provision however, has been taken that all the ladies will have seats.

A speaker from State Headquarters has been invited to help the Post organize the auxiliary.

We are proud and happy to have occasion to affiliate with these ladies and to all we extend a most cordial invitation.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

The Board met at 6 o'clock P. M. Present Messrs. Kidder, Emerson, Newman and Simonds.

The records of the meeting of Dec. 29 were read and approved.

The Board voted under suspension of its rules to hold the next meeting of the Board of Selectmen on Monday, January 12, 1920 at 6 o'clock P. M. instead of the usual hour.

Local Moth Sup't.: The Board appointed Mr. Samuel S. Symmes nominated at the last meeting as local Moth Superintendent for the year ending December 31, 1920. This appointment is subject to the approval of the State Forester.

Forest Warden: The Board appointed Mr. David H. DeCourcy nominated at the last meeting as Forest Warden of the Town of Winchester for the year ending December 31, 1920. This appoinment is subject to the approval of the State Forester.

Jurors 1920: The following list of active members belonging to the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company who are residents of this Town and by virtue of their membership are exempt from jury duty was received from this organization.

Edward W. Abbott, 16 Cabot street.
George W. Franklin, 4 Fairmount st.
Royal C. Gillespie, 6 Rangeley
James W. McIndoe, 10a Winthrop st.
Charles W. Merrill, 38 Rangeley
Charles C. Rogers, 1 Calumet Rd.
Daniel B. Badger, 12 Prospect st.
William R. Gilmour, 14 Park Ave.
Jacob F. Hodge, 17 Edgehill Road
John H. McAlman, 42 Everett Ave.
John R. Newman, 33 Central street
Charles A. Woolley, 5 Fells Road

Street Lights 1911 (General Subject): A letter was received from the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. acknowedges the Board's request that lights and wires in the arch located at the Corner of Common and Church streets be removed. This matter has been referred to the Maintenance of Lines Department of the Edison Company and the matter will undoubtedly be attended to at once.

Arlington Street: A report was received from the Superintendent of streets stating that the ruts in Arlington street which were called to the attention of the Board by Mr. Fred M. Carr have been filled up and smoothed with gravel and same will remedy the trouble until spring thawing is over the Superintendent of streets states.

STILL ANOTHER PROTEST

As far as the readers of the "Star" know, no notice has ever been taken of the protests from mothers from different parts of the town, regarding the two session system in the Wadleigh and Prince Schools. Very independent! In keeping with the times! The public poorly accomodated!

If the time really spent in the school room is no longer than it used to be with the one session, the pupil is away from home longer and the hour and a half at noon thrown away, while that much time after school in the afternoon could be used to good advantage. In these days of thrift-eaching, time should not be wasted.

Some years ago when one session went into effect, it was understood that the studying would have to be done at home. Now, in going back to the old system of two sessions there is just as much home work required, as there was with the one session. It is a question how to work in the music practice, to say nothing of little home duties wnici a mother requires of her children, but which now there seems no time for. A child must have some time for recreation.

Another thing if a pupil brings its dinner it is not supposed to leave the school for any cause whatever without permission: I believe a pupil is free from school obligations between the hours of twelve and one-thirty under the present two session arrangement, as much as the pupils in the lower grades.

Wake up! Mothers, when the time comes do not neglect to register, ready to vote.

This is not only your privilege. It is your duty.

"WHY WORRY"

January 5, 1920

Winchester Star,
Winchester, Mass.
Dear Mr. Editor:—

Don't you let Mr. Zueblin and his "political pigmy" stuff worry you. It is clear that Mr. Zueblin must have been in the grand and spacious West last September and more or less ignorant of the doings of this pigmy. If, however, Mr. Zueblin was here in the effete East during that trying period it may, perhaps, be assumed that "political pigmy" means giant in embryo,, and on that assumption Mr. Zueblin's characterization is not so inappropriate after all.

Yours very truly,
Fred'k Manley Ives

DUN—HALE

The marriage of Miss Katherin Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hale of Black Horse Terrace, and Mr. Henry Walke Dun, Jr., formerly of Albany, N. Y., now of Marine City, Michigan, took place on Saturday afternoon at the First Congregational Church.

The church was decorated with Christmas greens, and the officiating clergymen were the Rev. Howard J. Chidley, D. D., minister of the church, and the Rev. George H. Gutterson, D. D. of Cambridge.

Mr. Dun had as his best man Mr. Henry R. Putnam of Boston. The ushers were Mr. Edward K. Hale and Mr. Robert H. Hale, brothers of the bride, Mr. Tilden Hazard of New York, Mr. Francis Moulton of Boston, Mr. Ten Eyck Perry of Albany and Mr. Frederick Kellogg of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn will live in Marine City.

Filipino Marriage Customs.

When a young maid of the Philippines marries, her husband's name is added to her maiden name. If she becomes a widow the husband's name is discharged.

Last week at a gathering of Northwestern Agents in New York I heard one man relate the following: "I was calling on a man in Cleveland who felt that his estate was so strongly intrenched financially he did not need life insurance.

He challenged me to give a reason why he should buy it.

I made some suggestions which caused him to concentrate his mind on the matter and actually think about it.

In a few moments he said 'You're on' and signed an application for our limit—one hundred and fifty thousand dollars."

No man is so rich that a block of life insurance is not a factor of distinct value in his estate.

LECTURE—RECITAL AT HIGH SCHOOL ASSEMBLY HALL

On next Thursday night at 8.00 o'clock at the High School Assembly Hall, under the auspices of the Winchester Teacher's Club, a lecture-recital on "The Attributes of Music" will be given by Mr. E. W. Newton of Boston assisted by Miss Helen Leavitt at the pianoforte.

Mr. Newton, who is one of this country's well known lecturers, tells of the analogy between music and kindred arts, bringing out the characteristics of famous composers and their various contributions towards music in such a plain yet extremely interesting way, that the complete attention of the hearer is claimed from the very beginning. Miss Helen Leavitt is one of Boston's best known concert pianists and with her brilliant technique, illustrates on the pianoforte in a most convincing way, the different points of the lecture.

The Teacher's Club extenes a cordial invitation to the public and recommends it as being of especial interest to students of music and to those who enjoy listening to good music.

MRS. EDWIN C. GILMAN

Mrs. Anna Batchelder Gilman, wife of Mr. Edwin C. Gilman, widely known to many Winchester people through her connection and activities of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association, of which she was secretary for over 14 years, died on Tuesday at the Winchester Hospital. She was in her 72d year.

Mrs. Gilman was a native of Salem Mass. She made her home in this town for over 20 years and was always active in social and philanthropical work, being identified with The Fortnightly, the Shakespeare Class and other organizations, in addition to her activities in the Visiting Nurse Association. She was a member of the Church of the Epiphany.

Besides her husband she leaves two sons, Mr. John R. Gilman of Glen road and Mr. Harris H. Gilman of Cambridge. One sister in New York also survives her.

The funeral services will be held from the Church of the Epiphany on Saturday afternoon at 1.30 and will be conducted by Rev. John W. Suter, pastor emeritus of the Church. The burial will be in Harmony Grove, Salem.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Margaret H. Wentworth late of Winchester in said County, deceased.

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Royal S. Wentworth who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him the executor therein named, without giving a surey on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-sixth day of January A. D. 1920 at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Winchester Star a newspaper published in Winchester the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, fourteen days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this seventh day of January in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

Tallow Dips in Denmark.

Denmark has a lighting problem so serious that the Danish government recently purchased 400 tons of tallow from which to make candles, Commercial Agent Normal Anderson reports from Copenhagen.

"There is a scarcity of kerosene also, and electricity is, of course, not available to the isolated farmhouse," says Mr. Anderson, who quotes from the Tidsskrift for Industri, which, in discussing the possibilities of acetylene and alcohol illumination, states: "Acetylene may now legally be used and may be included in fire insurance risks. As a result the manufacture of acetylene lamps has flourished greatly and at the end of the year 180 types had been put on the market."—Exchange.

Yperite, New Poison Gas.

J. Bandaline and J. de Poliakoff (Bulletin de l'Academie de Medicine) call the reader's attention to the efficiency of hot air in the treatment of burns caused by yperite, a gas used by the Germans in their offensive of March, 1918. These burns, even when very small, cause extremely sharp pain and sleeplessness. A number of cases were rapidly healed by hot air after various treatments had failed.

SANTO DOMINGO

In connection with the petition sent to Washington by a group of Spanirds suggesting that this would be an opportune time for the United States to withdraw its troops from Santo Domingo, The National Geographic Society has issued the following bulletin concerning the island republic:

"Geographically, the Island of Haiti, including within its limits the two republics of Santo Domingo and Haiti, is in the class of the most favored of nations, situated on the Western Continent about midway between its two grand divisions of North and South Ameriica and abounding in natural resources," says the bulletin, which is based on a communication from Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, U. S. N.

"The name Haiti, or 'High Island,' is significant of the character of its topography. 'Sire,' once said a British admiral to his king, George the Third, when asked about the island, 'Haiti looks like that,' and he crumpled up a piece of paper and placed it upon the table. A brief description though this may be, it well fitted the case. The island is about 400 miles long, 150 miles wide, and is about the size of the State of New York. It is irregular in shape and is intersected by three chains of mountains.

"Historically, Haiti, or Santo Domingo, is the senior of our own country, if we leave out of consideration the legendary reports concerning the visits of the Norsemen to our nothern coasts 800 years ago, and we are somewhat indebted to this beautiful island for our own development.

"On Saint Nicholas Day (December 6) 1492, Columbus entered a port at the extreme west end of the Island of Santo Domingo or, as the whole island was then called by the aborigines, Haiti. The natives themselves called the port Bohio, but Columbus christened it, in honor of the day he was celebrating, Port Saint Nicholas the name still existing as Saint Nicholas Mole. This date will ever be memorable in the annals of the Haitiens as marking the beginning of the history of the island.

"Columbus then determined to build Hispaniola in honor of the country which had sent him forth to discover it, and it is to be regretted that this name given by the immortal discoverer has been lost, for its present two names are conflicting and confusing.

"Columbls then determined to build a permanent settlement, and after reconnoitering he selected for this purpose a site on an elevated plain near a spacious bay on the north coast of the island. Here was established the first town in the New World, which was dignified by the name of his queen and patron, Isabella.

"But the course of empire was still south, and soon Santo Domingo City became the center of the colonial activities.

"A little love affair connected with the growth of this city is interesting. One of the Spanish party, Miguel Dias having gotten into difficulty with an officer, severely wounding him in combat, fled to escape punishment. Finding shelter in an Indian village and being received with much cordiality and hospitality, he in return gave his heart to the young Caguisas, who was then governing the tribe. His protestations met with favor, and the young Spaniard found himself the consort of a queen of no mean accomplishments. But he soon wearied of his environment and sighed for his old companions. The queen, seeing his discontent and fearing to lose him, gave him the secret of her vast wealth and, loading him with the precious metal, sent him back to the Spaniards to induce them to return with him and settle in her country. Dias delivered this message to Columbus, who immediately ordered an exploration of that part of the island to ascertain the truth of the Spaniard's report.

"The sequel to this little love affair is also interesting, but most pathetic. Zamcaca, after giving her all to her lover, who was thereby promoted to high honors in the colony, being the first alcalde of the new city, was so disheartened by the cruel treatment accorded her people that she fled from civilization and affluence to the wilds of the forests, leaving her two children and still faithful husband to mourn her loss, and was never heard from again.

And Succeeding.

Most of the economic sorrow which a nation suffers arises from the greed of men trying to sneak selfish advantages over others for profit.

GRETNA GREEN

"Gretna Green seems about to revert once more to a figure of speech," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society, commenting upon the London dispatches which tell of the closing down of the vast cordite plants built there early in the World War.

"To most Americans the words may never have meant much more than a nickname for any rendezvous of eloping couples, but there is a real Gretna Green. Twice has it been conspicuous among English towns, once when its chief industry was matrimony and again when, as a wag remarked, it started making a new kind of high explosive.

"Now, like Hopewell, Virginia, it is about to sink into obscurity, with the end of its war contracts, which represented an investment of some $50,000,000 in our money, and the employment of more than 6000 workers.

"Gretna Green is a village in Scotland, tiny except for its munitions boom, less than a mile from the River Sark, which marks the England-Scotland boundary line in that vicinity, near the Solway Firth, and about nine miles northwest of Carlisle. Upon its proximity to the border line rests its first claim to fame, for the English marriage laws sent eloping couples to Scotland just as the divorce laws of some 47 of our States make Reno desirable for would-be divorcees.

"Before 1754 Fleet Prison was the figurative 'Gretna Green' of England. Until that time the English law recognized marriages as valid so long as they were performed by clergymen of any denomination but it imposed a fine upon clergymen who would perform the ceremony for couples who had not proclaimed their intentions either by banns or license.

"Such fines had no terrors, of course for clergymen imprisoned in Fleet for debt, and some of them undertook to marry couples who wished to avoid the expense of the customary public ceremony. Less scrupulous persons soon took advantage of this exampie, and tavern keepers fitted up places where they brought couples married by the 'Fleet parsons,' and in some cases young women of means were brought there forcibly by soldiers of fortune, and women of the under world lured men there for marriage as an easy means of compelling their husband-victims to pay their debts.

"These abuses were checked by the famous Hardwicke act of 1754, which made unauthorized marriages voidable and thereupon Gretna Green became the romance spot of the British Isles. All the Scotch law required was that two persons should declare their intention to be married in the presence of witnesses; and the British law then, as now, recognized marriages as legal as long as they conformed to the laws in the places they were consummated.

"At Gretna Green, as in Fleet Prison, were persons who exercised cupidity at the expense of Cupid; and innkeepers, ferrymen, and tollhouse tenders exploited the couples who fled to Gretna Green. Any witness would have served, but the 'professional witnesses' there, like the 'marrying parsons' of some American towns, engaged 'touts' to bring couples to them, and when the railroad from Glasgow to Carlisle started running the station platform at Gretna Green thronged with these obnoxious 'commission men.'

"A pioneer of this unique industry was John Linton, formerly a valet to Sir John Gresham, described as a 'man of fine presence and manners,' and another, a Mr. Beattie, was a personable adventurer. But later traffickers were ne'er-do-wells and town drunkards.

"According to popular legend, blacksmith shops were favorite meccas for eloping couples, but authority is lacking for the stories of smithies who would pause while shoeing horses to help legalize marriages. Many famous Englishmen were married at Gretna Green, among them Lord Eldon and Lord Broughan, both of whom later became Lord Chancellor, and Lord Erskine, while he was chancellor; Charles Manners Sutton, who afterward was Archbishop of Canterbury, and Lord Westmoreland and Miss Child, the latter a dauhter of the man who founded Child's bank.

"During the three decades when Gretna Green flourished, there were more than 7,000 marriages recorded there, nearly 600 of which were performed in 1855, the year before Scotland enacted a law which made a three weeks' residence a requisite to marriage.

"Marriage by declaration still is legal in Scotland, and it is interesting to note that our own marriage laws deviate from the English common law in respect to marriage and the provisions of most States follow more closely the Scotch law in this respect. As in Scotland, every State has made some provision for previous residence, obtaining a license, or registration, but there is the widest leeway permitted for the form of the actual ceremony.

"Only seven years ago publicity was given the marriage of two young people at Cambridge, Mass., who wrote their own marriage service and had it repeated to them by a Justice of the Peace, whereupon that official pronounced them man and wife thus, 'Since you wish to unite in marriage, and have notified each other of the same before me and these witnesses, I now, by virtue of the authority vested in me, pronounce you man and wife'."

WINCHESTER ALLEY NOTES

All the news of all the bowlers in this column each week. Watch for it.

Does any Order or Lodge in Winchester want to bowl the K. of C. team? Come on don't all speak at once.

New Year's Day was a busy one with every alley in full swing during the day. The real bowlers know where they can get service without any profiteering.

You don't get any better service for 15c per string than you do for 10c; you only imagine you do, so why pay it?

A former member of the famous Y. D. walked in here New Year's day and did a big business with a book on that division.

Some of the boys say if Alice who sent 'Nig' his New Year's card from France could only see him in his citizen clothes she surely would be proud of him.

During the discussion of prohibition the other day here at the alleys one of the former 26th men spoke of going over the top with some French soldiers who had been treated to wine before going over. These men walked into their own barrage and 65 were killed. The only retort he received from another member of the same company was "they had no business to get drunk."

When is Bill McKee going to get started again? 8 strings without a spare.

Here is where we get all the battles fought over again. One of the boys made the remark that his chum never got any farther than Hingham, but his friend came rght back, saying that was better than not going at all.

No heroes amongst themselves, they merely saw their duty and did it, and let it go at that.

Chapman lost to the Woburn Machine Co. Tuesday night by 19 pins.

Doucette, the captain, Rushworth, and Martin are the three good men on the Woburn team.

Hamilton, Joyce and Martin are the mainstay of the Chapman Co.

The bowlers say G. G. can't bowl unless he wears those overshoes of his, but we noticed him beating quite a crowd of star bowlers the other evening.

A couple of Winchester boys, home from the West for the holidays have been in here frequently. They knew where to find the bowlers and get in touch with them.

They say big pins are all the go in the West and it took them some time to get used to the small ones here.

Mr. Scholls assistant at the Club bowls a few every noon and rolls up a nice score.

Some of the boys say ALLIE saves the price of a ring for a widow in Lowell by stopping bowling a couple of weeks before Christmas.

The Laundry received the worst beating of the season when they faced Whitney No. 1 team Friday losing by 147 pins. Bill Rogers was high man with 367 for a total. This is where the bowlers are.

The Laundry crowd are always on the alleys here and are a good crowd of sports. This also goes for Whitneys and Beggs.

When engaging Alleys it should be specified whether they are for the evening or a match. It makes no difference here who bowls on the alleys, but under certain conditions alleys will be reserved at any time.

Whitney was given a surprise party Tuesday night when Beggs and Cobb walked away with the match by 31 pins; Whitneys big men fell down badly and what their shopmates say to and about them is not fit for this column.

The Woburn Machine Co. has challenged the winners and it looks like a match here tonight on these alleys.

During the Whitney—Beggs and Cobb match these alleys never held such a crowd and another will witness this one tonight all of which goes to show where the interest in bowling in this town centres.

We will issue a challenge shortly to the best team of outside bowlers in this town to compete against the best five from this alley, and we will show you some bowling.

Finally, if you want to see some real live ones bowl wate the three Muskiteers Dan, George, and Matt hit them.

DON'T LET THE Y. D. DIE

On July 25, 1917 the 26th Division was mobilized. On February 4, 1918 it fired its first shot at the enemy, and thereafter, except for three weeks remained at the front until the Armistice. It fought in every American battle and spent more time continuously in the line than any other American Division. It earned here and in France the name of the Yankee Division. The Iron Division was a name applied by the French. The Germans at St. Mehiel termed it the Black Snake Division for they said they never knew when or where it would spring at them. A German officer when taken before the intelligence officer after the first days' prisoners were brought in at St. Mihiel asked how many men were in an American division. When questioned why he made such an inquiry he replied "I have fought for my country at Chemin des Dames and the twenty-sixth division was there. I then went to the Toul sector and they were there and now they are driving us from this sector. Can it be they are holding all the lines?"

The Division now has passed into history but its members most of them remain. They want some place now where they can meet the Buddies they knew in France. They want some place where they can meet these old pals and talk over the old days when they were over across. They have not forgotten however the 2135 buddies they left over there who did the greatest thing possible for their country and have been groping for some memorial that will permanently express the spirit of the Division.

Finally it has been decided to combine both the craving for past associations and the desire for a memorial in a single object, a Yankee Division Club in Boston, where every man of the Division may meet on equal terms and where its heart may be kept beating.

To do this will take $200,000. The men in the Division are themselves contributing all and more than they can afford, hoping to raise $50,000. The balance the Division asks from its friends in New England.

The Y. D. volunteered for its job. It asks its friends to volunteer for this. In all its history the Y. D. has asked for but one other thing—its place in the line.

The Winchester friends of the division are asked to help. Winchester has a quota to make and she must not fall down. All will be given an opportunity to contribute. No amount will be too small neither can anyone give too much.

Starting Monday, January 12 and continuing for a week a drive for the necessary amount will be made. Men will call upon the Winchester people during the evenings of next week and Saturday, January 10 the girls of the town will call again during the day to make sure that no one is missed. You all remember during the stay of the Division in France how much you did and yet there was more which you couldn't do and wished you could. Now is the opportunity. This is the first time the 26th Division has asked for anything.

Checks and contributions may be mailed to the Winchester Trust Co. or the Winchester National Bank. The committee listed below will be glad to receive contributions or will give gladly any information on the matter.

MITCHELL—GAYTON

The wedding of Miss Edna Miriam Gayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Franklin Gayton of Clayton street, Malden, and Mr. Norman McLean Mitchell of Highland avenue, this town, son of the late Henry and Elizabeth Pratt Mitchell of Chelsea, took place on Saturday evening, January third, at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Quay Roselle of the First Baptist Church of Malden at seven-thirty.

The bride wore a dress of ivory satin panne with trimmings of point lace and pearls. She wore a tulle veil with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and sweet peas.

Mrs. Loring Pangborn Gleason of this town, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a dress of American beauty panne velvet and carried American beauty roses. Dr. Ralph Putnam of Winchester, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

A reception followed the ceremony from eight until ten, the couple being assisted in receiving by the bride's parents and Miss Florence Mitchell, sister of the groom. The ushers for the ceremony and reception, both of which were largely attended by many friends of the couple, were Mr. Arthur E. Hough of Belmont, uncle of the bride; Mr. Roy S. Gayton of Malden, brother of the bride, and Mr. Loring P. Gleason of Winchester.

The residence was most attractively decorated for the occasion with an abundance of palms, laurel and cut flowers, daybreak pinks predominating The newly married couple left after the reception on a wedding trip to the south and upon their return will make their home in Winchester, where the groom is well known as secretary of the Winchester Boat Club.

COMPLETE CHAOS IN RUSSIA

Inevitable Anarchy as the Result of Insufficient Supplies of Food for the People.

By far the most terrible toll of the Russian winter will be taken in the peasant villages, the home of nine-tenths of Russia's 180,000,000. Oliver M. Sayler writes in the Saturday Evening Post. The sullen and defiant muzhik, who has planted for himself and only for himself, hasn't taken into account the possibility that superior force from the city or from his own or a neighboring village may seize his grain. When the calamity befalls, an endless train of disaster and bloodshed and starvation will follow in its wake.

Reprisal on some weaker peasant will be the next step, and from that the flame will spread to virulent border warfare with whole villages on the trail to plunder the grain bins of others or intrenched to protect their own. In some districts, even before I left, this most cruel form of civil strife had broken out.

I contemplated returning from Petrograd to Moscow by sleigh overland in case the German advance enveloped the railroad outlets. Careful investigation, however, disclosed the fact that machine guns, brought home from the front, were mounted on all the roads leading into many villages and travelers approached them at their peril.

K. OF C. ITEMS

Next Saturday, Jan. 10th, and Thursday, January 15th, are K. of C. flag days in Winchester. Shortly after starting the Building Fund, war broke out and the local council stopped all building activities and turned to raising its quota on men and money. The Knights have contributed to every drive, their war record is above reproach, and now is the time—if ever—for those whom they have served to help them. The proceeds from the sale flags go towards the Building Fund, and it is hoped that, considering this great need of a home of their own, everyone will respond heartily. An auxiliary committee of D. of I. is taking charge of the affair. All wishing to aid in selling tags or lending an auto for the day may communicate with any one of the following:—Mrs. M. C. Ambrose, chairman; Mrs. Geo. Poland, Mrs. Richard Glendon, Mrs. W. E. McDonald, Jr., Mrs. Frances Sullivan, Mrs. Michael Noonan, Mrs. P. Martin, Mrs. T. H. Kelley, Miss Mary Kenney.

The minstrel show is Thursday evening Jan. 15th. Although the opening sale of tickets was very encouraging, yet the expense of putting on the show is enormous and to make the affair a success every seat in the house must be sold. There are plenty of good seats now on sale for those that wish them. Next Sunday afternoon there will be a stage rehearsal in the Town Hall, for the entire cast, and Wednesday night, dress rehearsal.

MADELINE E. HEVEY

The death occurred Saturday morning of Miss Madeline E. Hevey, nineteen years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hevey. Miss Hevey died at the home of her sister, Mrs. James P. Donaghy of Washington street, corner of Park road. She had a long illness and was patient and cheerful through it all. She was a gentle, lovable Christian girl, beloved by many. She leaves besides her parents three brothers, Michael of Medford, William F. and John F. of this town, also two sisters, Mrs. James P. Donaghy and Mrs. Frank Shea of Woburn. The funeral took place on Monday morning. Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. W. H. Corbett, with Mrs. Margaret Magrath, soloist. The bearers were: William S. Cosgrove, Charles Cosgrove, Alfonse Lydon, Charles Lydon, of Woburn, cousins of the deceased, Robert V. Donaghey, George Young of this town. The interment was in Calvary.

HALL—BROWNE

Rev. Howard Chidley officiated at the marriage of Henry Fletcher Hall and Laura Wellwood Browne, at the Congregational parsonage on New Year's eve. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Fay of this town.

The Misses Solov of Forest street gave an informal dance at their home on New Year's night, about nine couples attending. It was a delightful affair, the large new sun parlor being well adapted to the purpose.

Mrs. George Lochman entertained at cards at her home on Kenwin road, on Friday afternoon.

The annual reunion of a group of Girl Scouts occurred on Friday evening at the home of Constance McIntosh on Stone Avenue. A pleasant social time with singing, music and refreshments made a pleasant evening. Those present were: Edith Johnson, Marie Davis, Edith Downer, Helen Cabot, Kathleen Sheridan of Saugus, Lucille Thompson of Concord, N. H., Constance McIntosh, Mildred Gurney, Armele Belichon.

STILPHEN—STUART

Announcements were received by Winchester friends last week of the marriage of Mr. Harold Earl Stilphen and Miss Ruby May Stewart. The ceremony took place on Wednesday, December 31, at Swampscott. Mr. Stilphen, who served in the Navy during the war, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Stilphen of 13 Winthrop street.

"I Lost My Best Customers Thru Rats." Writes J. Adams

"Used to have the busiest Restaurant in town until news spread that the kitchen was infested with rats; lost a lot of my best customers until I tried RAT-SNAP Haven't a pest in the place now. DR. TOZIER'S PARTY costume was one of the most admired.

The delightful occasion of Saturday night was followed by a thrilling experience which might have had a more serious ending. About six o'clock Sunday morning the guests were awakened by an alarm of fire and ordered to get out at once and bring their clothes. Ten young men of the party every one of whom had been a volunteer and seen service in the war immediately ran to the fourth floor where the flames were bursting through the roof, and forming a bucket brigade they succeeded in checking the progress of the fire before the firemen arrived. Word was soon passed that the danger was over and the guests who had hurried to the first floor in various stages of undress with their arms full of clothing returned to their rooms. As it was 14 below zero it was fortunate they were not forced to flee to the street, and much praise was given the bucket brigade for their prompt and efficient work.

On the return trip Sunday P. M. it was agreed that this was one of the most successful of the many similar outings, and plans were discussed for a trip to California, the entire party having been invited to go as guests of two of the members. Dr. Tozier has once more demonstrated his fine talent for organizing and managing such a party, and as a token of appreciation he and Mrs. Tozier were presented with a beautiful steamer rug and a set of handsome silver. There were about twenty guests from Newton and Brookline and the following Winchester people:

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Tilden
Miss Eleanor Tilden
Miss Priscilla Tilden
Miss Irene Atwood
Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Dumper

OBJECTS OF THE GIRL SCOUT CAMPAIGN, JAN. 26th to 31st

Great educational movements like the Girl Scouts can not support themselves. They are not a money making institution. Their policy is far broader than that and they deserve the whole hearted support of the public.

There is a great need of money to meet the increasing demands of a rapidly growing organization. Trained brains as well as leaders with vision are necessary for the proper supervision and advancement of this movement. Funds must be contributed to this cause by the general public as well as by friends of the girl scouts.

The Girl Scouts need more and better leaders: these leaders can be obtained when there are more courses to train them. Hundreds of girls each month are applying to become Girl Scouts and can not be registered because of lack of funds to train the leaders.

The Girl Scout organization needs more camps in summer time where all Scout troops can meet and thereby profit by contact with each other.

The Girl Scouts stand for a better training for womanhood. There is a misunderstanding that the Girl Scout movement tends to make them less womanly—to make a tomboy of the girls. This is not so and the training the Girl Scouts receive does everything to develop girls into better womanhood.

Each girl must promise to do her duty to God and to her country, to help other people at all times and to obey the scout law as follows:

1. A Girl Scouts' Honor is to be Trusted.
2. A Girl Scout is Loyal.
3. A Girl Scout's Duty is to be useful and to help others.
4. A Girl Scout is a Friend to All, and a Sister to Every Other Girl Scout.
5. A Girl Scout is Courteous.
6. A Girl Scout Keeps Herself Pure
7. A Girl Scout is a Friend to Animals.
8. A Girl Scout Obeys Orders.
9. A Girl Scout is Cheerful
10 A Girl Scout is Thrifty

All the Winchester Girl Scouts meet together once a month. At each meeting they repeat their Girl Scout promise and laws, sing the Star Spangled Banner and close by singing America. One law is discussed at each meeting.

Miss Marion Moreland, Field Captain for Mass. Girl Scouts, conducted the November meeting and gave an inspiring talk on a Girl Scout' Honor. She congratulated the girls on their excellent singing.

Mrs. Charles H. Eastwick, Girl Scout Commission for Winchester took charge of the December meeting. Miss Esther Parker told the story of the Miraculous Pitcher and the girls agreed that it applied to several of their laws. That day the girls worked for their tests and then played games together.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The next regular meeting of The Fortnightly occurs Monday, January 12th at 2. 30 P. M. This is an open meeting to which the public is admitted by ticket. Members are requested to be in their seats promptly. The program will begin at the close of the business meeting so it is advisable for all to present themselves not later than three o'clock. The Program committee have been fortunate in being able to procure Peter MacQueen to lecture upon "Peace and Reconstruction in Europe." Mr. MacQueen is not a mere theorist. He has made a personal study of conditions and speaks with the authority gained from experience. His lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon

Diaries for 1920 at Wilson's.

"THE RIGHTS OF THE CHILD"

The Religious Education pageant "The Rights of the Child," was given on Monday evening, January 5th at the Old Armory, Main Street, Stoneham, before a large audience. There were over 200 people in the cast. The impressive presentation was enjoyed by everyone.

The pageant was given by the Middlesex School of Religious Education, under the management of Mrs. James Freeman of Reading, Mass. The acting and singing were very fine. The pageant makes its particular appeal to religious education in the home, the community and the nation.

WINCHESTER GRANGE NOTES

Winchester Grange No. 343 P. of H. has elected the following officers for the year 1920:

Master, Frank Tyler Marston
Overseer, Mrs. Margaet Hanlon
Lecturer, Ms. Helen Dewa
Steward, David Mellett
Assistant Steward, Berton C. Caldwell
Chaplin, Mrs. Bessie Pierce
Treasurer, Mrs. Elsie Mobbs
Secretary, Mrs. Alice T. Caldwell
Gate Keeper, Mrs. Isabel Brownell
Ceres, Mary Gustin
Pomona, Mrs. Elizabeth Allen
Flora, Helen Brownell
Lady Assistant Steward, Mrs. Jennie Robert.
Executive Committee, Mrs. Ordella Osborne
Pianist, Mrs. M. Natalie Roberts

The next meeting will be held at Lyceum Hall, Tuesday evening Jan. 13 and a program will be presented under the direction of the present Lecturer Mrs. Alice T. Caldwell. A full attendance is desired as plans for the new year will be discussed.

The installation of officers will be held the last of January and the Master of the State Grange, Leslie R. Smith of Hadley will be the installing officer and will be assisted by a suite of young ladies. The installation is to be public and members are urged to invite their friends.

Mr. Marston who has been chosen Master of Winchester Grange is a resident of Boston and comes to the Masters' chair with a wide Grange experience. He has served as Master of two other Subordinate Granges and of two Pomona Granges and was for four years a Subordinate Grange Deputy of the State Grange.

He has been constant in his attendance at Winchester during the reorganization period, the past year and in assuming the leadership at this time should have the united support of all who desire to see a Grange flourish in Winchester.

THE LADIES BETHANY SOCIETY

The Ladies Bethany Society of the Second Congregational Church has just closed a most successful year due to the efficient leadership of the president, Mrs. Marion Rice Taylor, and to the hearty co-operation of each and every member.

In January the regular meeting was given over to sewing for French relief, also a contribution of $2.10 was made for the purpose of re-chickening France.

In February attention was called to "our men" who had served so faithfully in the dark days of war and the meeting day for this month was given over to the making of comfort bags.

During the year the society has also remembered our own Winchester Hospital giving two days for that work. In the summer a contribution of $15.00 was sent to the Morgan Memorial to be used towards the children's Summer Outing at Athol.

Several pleasant afternoons have been spent in homes of various members, taking the form of Sales. Mrs. J. A. Laraway, Mrs. Ammi C. Winn and Mrs. Frederick Trombley opening their homes for these happy and profitable events.

In August, through the efforts of the ladies, the church was greatly improved by enlarging the platform and recovering cushions and pulpit furniture in harmonious shades of brown.

The society has not forgotten the members, who have been kept from the meetings by illness, but have carried during the year, cheer to many a saddened home.

Two valued members have passed from our number! Mrs. Emma P. Seagrave and Mrs. Caroline Payne, who served the Society faithfully and well, as president for many years.

President, Mrs. Minnie Fogg
Vice Pres., Mrs. Frederick Trombley
Secretary, Mrs. Arthur Belville
Treasurer, Mrs. Bayfield Thompson

Work Committee
Mrs. Hosea Foster, Chairman
Mrs. Amy Twombly
Mrs. Ammi C. Winn
Mrs. Emma Snow
Miss Adelaide Richardson

Calling Committee
Mrs. Justin L. Parker, Chairman
Mrs. Elizabeth Hinds
Mrs. George Kirkpatrick

Flower Committee
Mrs. Ammi C. Winn

Press Committee
Mrs. Frederick Trombley

"IN THE LAND OF JAZZ"

K. of C. Holds Annual Show and Dance at Town Hall

Before an audience which taxed the capacity of the Town Halls, both large and small, the annual minstrel show and dance of Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, was given last night, the Knights being assisted by a special auxiliary committee of ladies, besides the members of Santa Maria Court, Daughters of Isabella. To say the affair was a success is to put it mildly.

The production, under the personal direction of George "Decker" Thornton, was the most pretentious yet undertaken, and the cast the largest ever gathered for any similar event. The show was entitled "In the Land of Jazz," and under this title everything "went," from snappy songs and dances to sentimental ballads and extravagant scenic effects.

With such a large cast, over 60 people taking part, it would be difficult to credit individual merit for the songs, dances and sketches, but there was no lack of talent of the highest order.

The principals included, besides Grand Knight, J. Chris. Sullivan, such well known names as Jack Fitzgerald, Alice Lux, Jimmy Boyle, Annie Creighton, Edward Donovan, Mabel Coty, Philip LeDuc, Tom McKee, Clarence Dunbury, Mrs. Leo McNally, Mae Kennedy, Lucy Glendon and Helen Regan.

FREE SITTINGS in 1921

Congregational Society Holds Meeting and Election

An important feature of the annual meeting of the First Congregational Society held Monday night was the vote to open free sittings at the church beginning January first, 1920. This action was taken in connection with the coming meeting of the Church, which must also take similar action to concur with the Society to carry it through. Few churches in this section have free sittings and this is the first step of this nature in Winchester. While the demand for sittings at the church is greater than the supply, the available sittings are not always in full use, and it is thought that by the introduction of free sittings a larger percentage of the church people will be accommodated.

There was a good attendance at the meeting, Mr. Charles N. Harris being chosen moderator. The usual reports of the Officers and committees were read and accepted and the usual appropriations necessary for the conduct of the Society made. The salary of the minister, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, was increased $1000 and that of the sexton $300.

The following officers were chosen:
Clerk—Robert M. Stone.
Member Standing Committee for 3 years—Gordon Parker.
Treasurer—Robert E. Fay.
Collector—Harry A. Wheeler.
Auditors—Roland E. Simonds, William A. Lafavour.
Music Committee—Fred L. Avery, Gardner D. Pond, Harold M. Dorley.

MRS. MARTHA WILLIAMS

Mrs. Martha Williams of Vanceboro, N. C., died a few weeks ago. She was taken suddenly ill and after being treated by her physician for several weeks it was thought best to remove her to the Hospital, where peritonitis set in, which resulted in her death.

Mrs. Williams before her marriage a few years ago was Miss Martha Winbush, and lived a number of years in this town, working as a domestic. The last place she worked before going South was in the family of Mr. W. A. Lefavour of Herrick street. She was for a long time a member of the New Hope Baptist Church and an active worker—her seat was seldom vacant.

Although gone she will be remembered by her worth to the church and community.

Her friends in Winchester join the family in sorrow and sympathy for the loss of such a noble christian character.

CALUMET ACTIVITIES

According to the calendar of events issued this week, the coming month will be an active one at the Calumet Club. On Saturday evening, January 24th, a smoker for the members is scheduled; on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 27th, there is to be an afternoon bridge for the ladies under the direction of Mrs. Danforth W. Comins and Mrs. Maurice C. Thompkins, and on Friday evening, Jan. 30th, there is to be a ladies night. At this latter entertainment a musical program is to be given by the Symphony Quintet of Boston assisted by Sophia Charak, soloist. This evening promises a rare treat, and the admission will be only by ticket.

REVENUE OFFICERS HERE FEBRUARY 11

In addition to the main office of the Income Tax Division at 40 Court st., Boston, the taxpayers will be assisted at various places by deputies in preparing and filing the required return. In Winchester the officer will be at the Town Hall on Feb. 11th from 9 a. m. to 12 m. and from 1 to 5 p. m.

CHARLES L. CURTIS, Principal Winchester High School

PRINCIPAL CURTIS RESIGNS

The announcement is made this week through advance proofs of the annual report of the School Committee, of the resignation of Mr. Charles L. Curtis, principal of the High School. Mr. Curtis' resignation has been accepted and he will terminate his office here at the end of the school year. His successor has not been chosen.

Mr. Curtis came here in 1916, taking the place of Mr. E. C. Wixom as principal of the High School and beginning his duties in September of that year. He is a graduate of Colby College '94 and for six years prior to coming here was head of the Milton High School. Previous to that time he had been principal of the Orange (Mass.) High School and of the Punchard High School at Andover.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending January 15: 2 chicken pox, 6 measles, 7 mumps.

THIEF CAUGHT

High School Robber Was Found Hid-in in Auto

Nearly two hours after he was found in the High School, which he had entered by breaking the glass in a door, Charles L. Crockett, alias Ralph Wilson, was found by officer William H. Rogers and Custodian of the Schools Nathaniel M. Nichols seated in an automobile in a garage on the Mystic Valley Parkway. In his arrest the police apparently have caught a clever crook who has already entered numerous school buildings in surrounding places.

On Saturday morning at 2 o'clock as officer Rogers was making his rounds he found the glass in the door at the Washington street entrance of the High School broken. He went inside and found that someone was on an upper floor. He went into the principal's office and notified the police station, then started to search the building after placing some handy objects against the various doors to warn him by their fall if the intruder escaped.

Sergt. Harrold, who was in charge of the desk at the police station, sent officer Shea to the scene and notified Mr. Nichols, who went to the school at once. When the men joined in the search however, it was found that the man had escaped, as fresh tracks from one of the entrances showed. For two hours the vicinity was searched and finally, on entering the garage of Mr. Frank H. Brown, 23 Mystic Valley Parkway, which was found unlocked, the man was found seated in the auto with a bag of loot beside him.

At the station house he was found to have taken goods to the value of about $50. Among the articles were fountain pens, knives, forks and spoons from the cooking class room, compasses, etc., from a laboratory, keys and other articles. The whole collection seemed hardly worth the risk of capture.

He had gained entrance by breaking the glass and opening the door from the inside, and in the building he had broken the ground glass panels in five doors which were locked, climbing through the opening where he could not open the door.

He gave his name as Charles L. Crocket of 11 Hamlet street, Dorchester, but the police soon found that he had also gone by the alias Ralph Wilson, and that he was known to the police of Medford. He was 28 years of age. Investigation revealed that he had been arrested three times, once in 1916 and twice in 1919, for assault and battery and larceny. Further investigation revealed that he had entered at least nine other school houses, including those in the owns of Arlington, Somerville, Medford, Malden, Everett, Watertown, Cambridge, and Brookline.

Crockett was held for the grand jury, and in his capture it is evident that officer Rogers took into custody the man who has been giving surrounding places a great deal of trouble. Crockett was married within a short time and his wife was wholly in ignorance of his misdoing, as were other members of his family, to whom the news came as a decided shock.

NATIONAL BANK MEETING

The annual meeting of the Winchester National Bank was held at the banking rooms on Church street Tuesday evening, at which time the following board of directors was elected.

A. Burnham Allen, William H. Bowe, Felix J. Carr, Wallace F. Flanders, Edward S. Foster, James Hinds, William A. Kneeland, Francis J. O'Hara, Hollis L. Riddle, Edmund C. Sanderson, Richard W. Sheehy, E. Arthur Tutein and Chandler M. Wood.

JAMES NOWELL RESIGNS

Mr. James Nowell has tendered his resignation as a member of the Cemetery Commissioners. A special joint session is to be held by the Commission and the Board of Selectmen for the purpose of filling the vacancy Jan. 19th.

PRIZES AWARDED

Calumet Bowlers Enjoy Dinner To Close Tournament

The close of the annual winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club was observed last Saturday night by the regular dinner given by the losing teams to the winners. This year, there being seventeen teams in the contest, the nine lowest teams presented the dinner to the eight winning teams At the dinner the prizes for the bowling were given out.

There was a good attendance, about 75 of the 85 bowlers being present, together with the officers of the club. The dinner was served by a caterer and proved fully equal to past events. During the dinner at 6.30 piano selections and solos were enjoyed, they being given by R. E. Bostwick and F. G. Guilfoyle of Boston.

The prizes were awarded as follows:

Second prize, Team I. Frank I. Baker, Capt.; Frank E. Gregory, Percy A. Goodale, Frank A. Adams and Wallace Blanchard. Prizes—large nickle thermos bottles.

Third prize, Team E. Benjamin F. Miner, Capt.; John A. Maddocks, George E. Willey, John A. Tarbell and Philips C. Simonds. Prizes—cigar and cigarette cases.

Individual prizes—High average won by Frank H. Higgins—107 1-2; Bronze smoking set. High average with handicap won by Earl K. Goldsmith, 106; Silver handle umbrella.

The prizes were awarded by Chairman Arthur W. Pitman of the bowling committee amid much enthusiasm, and following their presentation a special bowling tournament was held for the members of the various teams. In these three consecutive strings were rolled with handicap added. Frank H. Higgins won first prize at this with a total of 382. He received a box of cigars. Preston E. Corey, with a total of 364, was second and he was awarded a pearl handle knife.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCITEY

The Ladies Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church held a Luncheon on Tuesday, January 13 at 1 o'clock.

The Luncheon was largely attended in spite of the storm, and was most delicious, it was in charge of Mrs. A. D. Rogers and Mrs. Charles Tarbell.

After Luncheon was served, the Society held their monthly business meeting.

Rev. George Spurr, a former member of the Winchester Unitarian Church, now pastor of the Unitarian Church in Nashville, Tennessee, was a guest of the afternoon, and spoke very interestingly of his work and great progress in building up the Nashville Society.

Miss Mattie Louise Foster of the North End Union of Boston, delivered a talk on the Mission's Method of Americanization Work. Miss Foster has a very charming personality. She outlined the wonderful work that the North End Union is doing in a most interesting manner.

The North End Union is a branch of the Benevolent Fraternity of Unitarian Churches and is located at 32 Parmenter street, Boston. Miss Foster is anxious that visitors will come and see for themselves some of the real work they are doing there.

VICTORY DINNER

The Victory Dinner given under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. on Thursday evening was a pleasing success. The dinner was excellent and given to celebrate the coming in of National Prohibition which became a law at midnight. Mrs. Hamilton, the local president presided and in a pleasant manner introduced the speakers who were listened to by an appreciative audience of about 200. Singing occurred at intervals during the evening by a chorus of 14 young ladies who also served as waiters. Mrs. Lillian D. Marshall of Beach Bluffs had charge of the musical program, and she delighted all with several solos. The speakers were: Rev. Cyrus Richardson, Rev. M. D. Kneeland, Mrs. Ella A. Gleason, State President, Robert F. Magwood of Dorchester, Treasurer of the Scientific Federation

THIRTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Arnold of Dix Street were pleasantly surprised by their friends last week on the thirty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. They were the guests at dinner of Mrs. William L. Cummings of Hancock street and on returning to their home found 24 near friends waiting for them. Refreshments were served and music and entertainment made a pleasant occasion. Mrs. Geo. Hamilton, on behalf of those present presented them a handsome fireplace set, and two grandchildren, Arnold Holbrook and Richard Arnold wheeled in a tea tray containing a beautifully decorated Brides Cake, of which all partook. Many congratulations for future anniversaries were showered on the happy couple.

HUMAN IMMORTALITY AS SEEN BY SIR OLIVER LODGE AND MAURICE MAETERLINK

At the Unitarian Church Sunday morning, Mr. Metcalf the Minister will preach on the view of the Future Life held by the Distinguished men who have just come to America to lecture on the Subject, the English Scientist Sir Oliver Lodge and the Belgian Poet Maurice Materlink.

As the subject has special to do with the subject of Psychical Research and the ability of the Dead to communicate with the Living it is of great popular interest. The Public is cordially invited to attend.

REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Interesting Summary and News to Appear in Town Report

The following is the advance copy of the report of the School Committee. This report will appear in the annual Report of the Town, to be issued next month.

To the Citizens of Winchester:

During the past year the School Department has been able to perform its duties under conditions that did at least approach normal. With the ending of the war many of the difficulties and distractions that interfered with the orderly processes of education disappeared and the Committee believes that the year has been on the whole a profitable and successful one with the schools of Winchester.

A glance at the budget recommended for the coming year, however, will convince any citizen that the department is being forced to meet conditions that cannot be described as wholly normal. The increase of appropriation asked for is no doubt the largest increase ever suggested to the town. By far the largest part of it—four-fifths of it in fact—is caused by the necessity of raising the salaries of the teaching force. The Committee last November voted to give the teachers a general increase of $200 a year. At the same time it voted to ask the town at the annual meeting for enough money to give the teachers an additional increase of $200 each retroactive to January 1, 1920.

This report is hardly the place to enter upon a discussion of the reasons that led the Committee to take that action. In brief it may be pointed out, that the former scale of salaries

NEW MUSIC CLUB

Organization of the Music Garden by a group of Winchester music lovers, has effected Monday night at the home of Mrs. Albert E. Hegel of Chisholm, Rd. Mrs. Hegel, who is the instigator of the club, was elected its President. Other officers elected are: Vice-president, Mrs. Frank F. Hallock of Mt. Vernon street; secretary-treasurer, Mr. G. M. Stone of Eaton street. A committee to arrange programs for the meetings which will be held the first Tuesday in each month, also was named. By-Laws, similar to those of the B Natural Club of Melrose, a like organization, were framed.

The thought behind the name of this new music club is that of growth and artistic development along musical lines as well as the enjoyment of the fruits of one's labors in the many pleasant evenings to be furnished from the membership. The plan is not to have a merely professional aggregation of musicians, but to have each active member feel that he or she can furnish entertainment in his or her particular sphere of endeavor without apologies. However, the Music Garden already numbers among its charter members those of established musical reputation, and the compositions to be rendered will be of a high standard of excellence.

Membership at present will be limited to 25 active, or performing, and 15 associate members.

GUEST NIGHT OF THE BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY

A most enjoyable meeting of the Missionary Society of the 1st Baptist Church was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Linscott, 20 Central street, when members with their husbands assembled for the annual "Guest Night," Tuesday evening.

Mr. Howard Chambers the tenor of the Church quartette sang two groups of songs, most acceptably.

Miss Helen Munroe of Cambridge, a returned missionary spoke on "Deeds and Opportunities in Japan." Her talk was illustrated by pictures and numerous souvenirs. A social hour with refreshments closed a very pleasant evening. Forty-two were present.

FIRST AID PATROL

There has been an Emergency First Aid Patrol founded in Troop 3 with Richard J. Clark as Patrol Leader and Donald Tucker as Assistant Patrol is to prepare the Scouts in it to be of any service they may to the community in some case of emergency.

The second meeting was held at the office of Dr. Richard W. Sheehy on Thursday afternoon January 8 at 3.30. Dr. Sheehy has kindly consented to give the Patrol instructions in Emergency First Aid.

NO CHANGE LIKELY HERE

In connection with the heralded change and time of trains on the Boston & Maine Railroad, to take effect Monday, it is reported, although not verified, that Winchester will not experience any change. It is not thought any more trains will be added.

Wedgemere, it is said, may have some trains added by stops made by trains now going through express.

SIGMA BETA SLEIGHRIDE

The following Sigma Beta young ladies enjoyed a sleigh ride Saturday evening to Lexington. Refreshments were partaken of there and the party returned home after a jolly time.

The party included Olive Roberts, Elinor and Priscilla Tilden, Katherine Pike, Francis Hill, Louise Simonds, Doris Bean, Katherine Fairfield, Isabel Beggs, Edith Fenno, Harriet Eustis, Rebecca Barrett, Carolyn Breen, Mary Davis, Muriel North, Ethel McEwen and Marian Bowman.

DOCTOR PARK'S LECTURE ON PILGRIM'S PROGRESS AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

Dr. Charles Park the distinguished Minister of the First Church of Boston will deliver an illustrated lecture on Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress the coming Sunday evening, January 18 at 7 P. M.

This immortal Allegory is far from a dull book as many in their ignorance sometimes think. It is as living a representatives of the experiences of life as it was when written in Bedford Jail.

Neither is its interest only to those who believe in the Old Theology. It is true apart from all Theology. Dr. Park has made a special study of it and brings with him a fine set of stereopticon pictures for illustration.

The Lecture will be in Metcalf Hall. Everybody is invited. All seats free.

FIREMEN'S RELIEF ASSOCIATION OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the Firemen's Relief Association was held at the centre fire station on Monday evening, the following officers being elected: President, John McCarron; Vice-President, John J. Gorman; Secretary, Ernest G. Beaton; Treasurer, Eugene S. Flaherty.

Directors, H. G. Kempton, W. B. Lord, Alex. McKenzie, Edward Fitzgerald.

Reports of officers and committees were read and accepted and following the business a lunch of oyster stew, hot coffee and doughnuts was served.

NO PARKWAY LIGHTS

Many residents have viewed with dismay the discontinuance of the Mystic Valley Parkway which has recently gone into effect. This will doubtless be the subject of considerable controversy unless at least that portion of the Parkway fronting residences is lighted. The discontinuance of the lights has created many dangerous places besides inconveniencing all residents. Chairman Kidder of the Selectmen have taken the matter up with the Park Commission in urging thaat either the old lighting system be continued or the parkway be joined with the Edison system.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY OFFICERS

On Sunday evening the election of officers of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church resulted in the choice of the following:
President—Hugh McDonald
Vice-President—Thomas Macksey
Secretary—Clarence Macksey

The retiring officers of the Society—President John Cassidy, Vice-President Allan MacDonald and Secretary Charles Gallagher—were tendered a vote of thanks for their efficient administration.

EDUCATION FOR CITIZENSHIP LECTURE

The fourth lecture in the series, given under the auspices of the Winchester Equal Suffrage Club was delivered by Mrs. Claude U. Gilson at the High School Assembly Hall on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Gilson is a very clear forceful speaker and she handled her subject, "The Business of the General Court," admirably.

The name, General Court, was used in the original Charter of Massachusetts Bay in 1638. The early plan was that the legislature should not only make the laws but should try cases as well. The General Court is simply the name given to our legislature.

Massachusetts has a State House of which it may well be proud, and people come from all over the world to see it. Mrs. Gilson suggested that as citizens of this Commonwealth it would be worth our while to make a tour of this historical old building. The original Bulfinch front was completed in 1798 and shortly afterward the governor and legislature took formal possession of the building.

The Massachusetts General Court consists of a Senate of forty members, and a House of Representatives of two hundred and forty. The size of our legislature is about average. New Hampshire's is very much larger, but so large a body has not proved an advantage and Massachusetts will probably never try to increase the number of members in its General Court. There is no good reason for having two Houses in a State like Massachusetts. The interests of both branches of the legislature are nearly identical and their members are elected for the same term. The explanation for the two Houses is that the General Court was founded after the English system.

Each House is the judge of the qualifications of its own members. It is rather rare, however that a member is refused his seat. The salary is $1500—the largest paid by any state with the exception of New York, which pays the same. The legislature meets annually, and we have had bienniel elections, though elections were annual until recently. Annual elections proved very wasteful, as it takes nearly a year for members to became thoroughly familiar with the work and procedure of the legislature. Statistics show that about three-fourths of the members of the House have had no previous political training. This is not true of the Senators, most of whom have had some experience in politics.

The first business that the House does is to elect its speaker, though in reality he has already been chosen by a party caucus. The position of the Speaker is one of great power. He decides what bills to push and appoints all committees. The office of speaker is very apt to lead to something higher, often the governorship.

The party caucus promotes party regularity and therby helps to get things done. A member of the legislature can be more useful by being kept in his party. The independent member lacks the power that leads to accomplishment.

The President of the Senate is elected in the same manner as the Speaker of the House, but has less power, partly because the body over which he presides is smaller.

Bills are presented in three ways: by the Governor in his annual inaugural message, by the members personally, and by petition. The course of a bill through the legislature is devious. First it goes to the clerk, then to the Rules Committee, who look it over to see that it is properly drawn, after which it is given a number. Then it passes to the committee which has it in charge, and they advertise a public hearing on a certain day at which any citizen of Mass. may be present and speak on the bill. After the hearing, the committee meets and arrives at a conclusion about the bill. If favorable, the bill is put on the orders of the day, which is the bills' second reading. By this time the bill has reached its debatable stage, and may be amended. If it passes its second reading it goes to the committee on third reading and is scrutinized again to be sure that it contains no flaws. It then passes back to the House or Senate for its third reading, and if it passes that it goes to a committee on unpassed bills. If it passes that committee favorably it goes to the other House, and the entire process is repeated there. If at last it has passed both Houses it is presented to the Governor by the clerk of the Senate, and the Governor has five days for the consideration of a bill. If at the end of five days, the Governor has done nothing the bill becomes law by default. If he vetoes it, he returns it, with his obections, to the House where it originated. Any bill can be passed over his veto if it passes both houses again by a two-thirds vote.

On the whole our legislature carries on its affairs in an exceedingly orderly manner. The legislature has been working on the system since 1780, so have certainly not lacked time in which to perfect it.

For many years no one ever admitted that there was a lobby, but the lobby is probably nearly as old as the legislature. Of late years a great effort has been made to control the lobby but without great success. The great menace to our institutions today is the financial menace. The pressure on our legislators from the great financial interests is very heavy.

The great bulk of legislation that is passed is of only local interest and does not concern the citizens of the state as a whole. That affects the kind of man who wants to serve in the legislature, because the men of vision and broad interests are not attracted to work that is of so little general value. Mrs. Gilson cited the case of the English parliament which between the years 1899 and 1905 passed forty-six general laws and two hundred and forty local laws. During the same years the State of Wisconsin passed eighteen hundred and one laws! There is a great deal of legislation that is needless as well as much that is bad and the total volume of legislation should be very much decreased.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Last Friday was a beautiful day for the looker on but not a very good day for pedestrians. As a result the attendance at the annual meeting while good considering the weather was not what had been hoped for by the officers of the Union.

At the beginning of the meeting Mrs. Hamilton led the devotion, paying tribute, as is the custom, to the memory of the members who have been "promoted" during the year from the Church Militant to the Church Triumphant. The four members whose names were on the roll were Mrs. Enman, Mrs. Blaisdell, Mrs. Littlefield and Mrs. Rivers. Mrs. Richard Taylor sang appropriate selections at that time as well as later in the afternoon.

The election of officers resultd in the choice of the following members to serve for the coming year: President, Mrs. G. M. Hamilton; Vice presidents, Baptist, Mrs. Mary Winn; Congregationalist, Mrs. J. C. Adams and Miss Elizabeth Richardson; Episcopal, Mrs. George Arnold; Methodist, Mrs. Robert Armstrong; Secretary, Mrs. Frank Rberts; Treasurer, Miss Eugenia E. Elliot. The superintendents of departments will be appointed by the officers and announced at the February meeting

Besides the usual reports, all of which were encouraging, Mrs. Ella A. Gleason, president of the Mass. W. C. T. U., spoke of the plans for the jubilee drive now going on throughout the state, and also of the general plans of work for the coming year.

At the close of the program tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. Daniel Kelley, at whose home the meeting was held, Mrs. Arnold presiding at the table and Mrs. Norman Tewksbury and Miss Esther Lyon assisting. A goodly sum was realized from the silver contributions and three new members were added to the roll.

The Middlesex County Convention scheduled for January 22, has been postponed until February, the exact date to be given later.

"For months my place was alive with rats. Losing chickens, eggs, feed. Friend told me to try RAT-SNAP. I did. Somewhat disappointed at first not seeing many dead rats, but in a few days didn't see a live one. What was not killed are not around my place. RAT-SNAP sure does the trick." THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The attention of members of The Fortnightly is called to the desirability of ratifying the revised form of the By-Laws to a point to include the article concerning the Philanthropy Fund at the next meeting. The principle reason for revising the By-Laws at this time is to make this article conform to certain requirements of the Internal Revenue Bureau. From the present wording of the By-Laws, the entire Philanthropy Fund is subject to an Internal Revenue tax to which it should not be in the spirit of the law. The proposed revision is framed from a form sent by the Internal Revenue tax collectors and has been approved by them. It is hoped that by the adoption of this form at the next meeting that the Club may be exempt from tais tax for the months of December and January as well as for the months following.

Members will observe, by comparing the suggested revisions with the present By-Laws, that no radical changes have been attempted. The committee having charge of the work has tried, in so far as seemed advisable, first, to bring together from the Standing Rules and the By-Laws topics relating to each other that the new text may be more comprehensive, second, to make the By-Laws meet the present needs of the Club, and third, to make certain changes in diction that the form may stand in the best English and be easy to interpret. Each member is requested to preserve for reference her printed copy of the proposed revision until she shall receive the copy of the revised form adopted by the Club.

The fortnightly opened to the public its meeting held in the Town Hall, on Monday, Jan. 11. A large audience listened to a unique and interesting lecture on "Reconstruction" given by the well known traveler, lecturer and war correspondent Peter MacQueen. The speaker expressed very forcibly his own views of The Treaty, The League of Nations, President Wilson and the Hohenzollerns. The talk which was both entertaining and enlightening was brightened by many humorous stories and was illustrated by more than a hundred beautifully colored lantern slides.

A 'cello solo played by the talented young artist Miss Virginia Farmer accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Abbott at the piano added much to the enjoyment of the program

At the business meeting Mrs. Woodside took the opportunity to thank all who assisted in any way to make the Thrift Exposition a success. She stated that quite a sum of money will be realized above the expenses of the Exposition. She urged the members to keep strict, systematic expense accounts during the month of January.

A report of the committee on the revision of the By-Laws was read and will be voted on at the next meeting. A letter was read from the Secretary of the Historical Records Committee of Winchester requesting the mothers of the boys who have been in the war service to send at once to this committee the required information.

A notice was given that $109.50 will be asked for, to be given to the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association for the use of the Winchester Hospital. The executive board appointed at the next meeting for the ensuing year, of the three French orphans. This is a memorial to Mr. Joseph H. Hefflon.

Also that $100 will be asked for, to be given to the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association for the use of the Winchester Hospital. The executive board appointed Mrs. W. I. Palmer and Mrs. William LeFavour to serve as members of a nominating committee and the club elected Miss Cora A. Quimby, Mrs. George H. Eaton and Mrs. Curtis Nash to the same Committee.

The Literature Class will hold its next meeting Monday, January 19th, in the High School library. The meeting will begin at 2.45 in order that the reading may begin promptly at 3.00 o'clock. The program is in charge of Mrs. Ely and the Life and Works of Barrie will be presented.

Two short plays "The Old Lady Shows her Medals" and "Rosalind" will be read by members of the Club. Tea will be served. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

On Saturday, January 17th, at 2.30 P. M. The Literature committee of the Stoneham Woman's Club will hold an entertainment in the old Armory on Main street for the benefit of the story telling hours. A Lilliputian Wedding ceremony, Master Mahoney, soprano soloist of Boston, and Misses Geraldine and Mabel Cragin, dancers, will furnish the Program, after which dancing, games and refreshments will be in order. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. SPRING BOWLING STARTS

Eight teams have been entered in the spring bowling tournament at the Calumet Club which starts Thursday January 22. This is a regular event for the men of the club, following closely the usual winter bowling tournament. This season the entry is smaller than unsual owing to the big mixed tournament now running, the latter event taking a large number of the winter bowlers.

The teams will be handicapped as usual and they include several well known organizations which are usually found in the club's tournaments. The schedule runs to the 24th of March and the usual prizes will be awarded the winners.

The make-up of the teams, schedule of games and prizes will be as follows:

LADIES BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Matches at Calumet Close This Afternoon

Matches in the ladies bowling tournament at the Calumet Club will come to a close this afternoon when the final games will be rolled. During the last three afternoons the rivalry between the leaders has been keen, and it is still anyone's choice as to prize winners. On Friday afternoon of last week team J won two from team C, which then stood fourth, it thereby dropping in standing. J was not affected, K standing in third place won all three from I, second to last, and K thus made its position more secure against A, its next following opponent. E won all three from B, neither being materially affected. Mrs. Simonds led in the bowling, she making 190 with 97 for her high string. Mrs. Smalley got 180 with 101, Mrs Keepers 177 with 98, Mrs. Carleton 171 with 93, Mrs. Harrington 166 with 89, Miss Downs 162 with 81, Miss Fenno, 162 with 83, Mrs. Fenno 160 with 82, Mrs. Butler 89, Mrs. Barr 85 and Mrs. Sawyer 81.

Tuesday afternoon's matches in the ladies tournament resulted in team I taking two from J, H three from I and E three from A. The scores were not close with the exception of the J—L match where L took the total by the margin of two pins. The match gave H the first place in the tournament but did not affect the standing of the other teams so far as the prizes were concerned. Mrs. Thompkins led in the rolling with a total of 192 with 97 for high single. Others were Mrs. Fausey with 185 on 94, Miss Downs 182 with 106, Mrs. Tuttle 174 with 98, Mrs. Keepers 176 with 102, Mrs. Cutter 172 with 83, Mrs. Breen 167 with 87, Mrs. Comins 90, Mrs. Butler 84, Mrs. Goff 83 and Mrs. Barr 81.

The scores:

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

There are some problems beyond the scope of the human mind, and wise is the man who is willing to let it go at that.

Everything goes round in a Sewing Circle.

Crooked ways often lead to straitened circumstances.

Winchester, Mass. Jan. 14, 1920
Editor of Winchester Star:

For the benefit of "Reader" and others who may be interested, the mothers of Winchester Highlands received an answer from the school committee in regard to their petition for one session in the Prince and Wadleigh Grammar Schools.

Of course we are all wise enough to want that which will bring most good to the largest numbers of scholars, but from what I have heard from parents far and near of the schools the decision is for one session. If two sessions mean a better school day, why not try it out in the High School. The principle will surely apply to older pupils.

Sincerely,
Mrs. F. H. Higgins.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MISSION UNION

The annual meeting of the Mission Union was held on Tuesday, January 13, at the Congregational Church. The Secretary's report for the past year showed a decided gain in the membership which now numbers 188. The treasurer reported a budget of $850 for 1919, of which one-half has been devoted to foreign and one-half to home missions.

The following list of officers was presented by the Nominating Committee and elected for the coming year.

President, Miss Helen A. Hall; first Vice-President, Mrs. William W. Hill; second Vice-Pres., Mrs D. C. Dennett, Secretary, Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott; Treasurer, Mrs. Wiliam I. Palmer.

Foreign Directors: Mrs. Charles N. Harris, Mrs. Frank W. Reynolds, Mrs. Walter C. Morrill, Miss Emma B. Freeman.

Home Directors: Mrs. Florence R. Scales, Mrs. William R. Cowdery, Mrs. Walter H. Balcke, Mrs. Harry S. Parsons, Mrs. William L. Parsons.

Chairman Social Com., Mrs. Maurice F. Brown.

Chairman Hospitality Com. Mrs. Reeve Chipman.

MRS. CHARLES M. RUST

Mrs. Mary L. Rust, widow of Charles M. Rust, died at her home, No. 6 Elm street yesterday morning. She was in her 75th year.

Mrs. Rust was born in Boston July 9th, 1845, her parents being David H. and Frances (Nichols) Wood. Her early girlhood was spent in Cambridge and she came to this town, where she has since resided, in 1868.

She was a member of the Baptist Church and was an active worker in the Church and societies so long as her health permitted. She had been in poor health for many years, and on Monday morning she sustained a shock, remaining unconscious until her death.

Mrs. Rust leaves three children, Rev. Charles Herbert Rust of Scranton, Pa.; Fred B. Rust of Medford Hillside and Mrs. Arthur L. Winn of Fairmount street, this town. She also leaves two sisters, Miss Della Wood of this town and Mrs. Ellen Wentworth of Billerica.

Funeral services will be held from the residence on Monday afternoon at 2.30, and the interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

WINCHESTER IN THE NATION-WIDE CAMPAIGN

The members in this community of the Nation-Wide Campaign committee of the Episcopal Church are Herbert S. Underwood, Douglas N. Graves, Dunbar F. Carpenter, Mrs. W. C. Sache, Mrs. E. W. Ginn. They are organizing and assisting in the movement here toward this great undertaking

From Diocesan House in Boston comes the news that a purple cross-window card which stresses the Church's Call to action worship, personal religion, education, service, expansion, will soon be ready for use in every Episcopal home. Already the Bible readings arranged by Bishop Lawrence are being called for in great numbers.

Information men who are carefully instructed so as to render effective service each Sunday by giving word of the progress during the week are another asset of the campaign. Many meetings are planned. A mass meeting for women in the interest of the Church Service League occurs at St. Paul's Cathedral January 21 at 2 p. m. February 19 at Symphony Hall Boston is the great mass-meeting of the campaign, open to the public.

YANKEE DIVISION DRIVE

Winchester has today and tomorrow to make her quota in the drive for the 26th Division club house, so every one must help in these last two days. Watch for the Y. D. girls selling tags tomorrow and give generously, for it certainly is a worthy cause. Don't forget so soon the days that these ovs meant so much to you. Checks may be sent to either the Winchester National Bank, Winchester Trust Co., or to E. R. Glidden No. 2 Wildwood Terrace.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. William I. Kendall announce the engagement of their daughter, Marian, to Mr. Whitlaw Wright of Grand Rapids, Mich., formerly of this town. Miss Kendall is a graduate of the Sargent School for Physical Education, class of '19. Mr. Wright is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Wright, now of Hartford, Conn. He served eighteen months in France with Battery A, 101st F. A., 26th Division.

The engagement was announced at an informal dinner given on Miss Kendall's birthday Friday evening, January ninth. Among the guests who attended the affair were the Misses Esther Cutting, Marjorie Wait, Ellen Goddu, Dorothy Kerrison, Edith Fenno, Irene Lord and Dorothy Jones of Boston.

PERSIA PROFITS BY ARMAGEDDON

"That exceedingly ill wind, the World War, blew much good to one nation, Persia, for the higher price of silver has doubled her capital, made her raw materials sought after by the world, and removed her from comparative isolation to a place among commercial nations of high importance," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

The bulletin, based on a communication from Ella C. Sykes, continues:

"Persia is one of the oldest empires in existence. It has been a kingdom for 25 centuries—ever since Cyrus the Great, about 550 B. C., conquered Media and united that country to his under the name of Persia. It has had many glorious episodes in its long history; has produced the great teacher Zoroaster; such world-famous poets as Firdawsi, Omar Khayyam, Saadi, and Hafiz, and such great soldiers and rulers as Darius I, Shapurl I, and Shah Abbas.

"Again and again the empire has been a prey to anarchy; again and again conquering hosts have swept through the country, Alexander the Great having many a successor, the most destructive conqueror being Genghis Kan with his hordes of savage Mongols—a leader who boasted that he had slain thirteen millions of his fellow creatures.

"The center of the country is a great plateau, rising from 2,000 to 6,000 feet, and crossed by frequent chains of mountains, while a lofty mountain barrier bounds it on the north and south.

"In the whole Persian Empire there were in 1910 only six miles of railway and of roads only four, their total length amounting to fewer than 800 miles. There is only one navigable river, the Karun, that flows into the head of the Persian Gulf, and on this sea the so-called ports are merely open roadsteads, at which cargo cannot be landed in stormy weather.

"The merchandise of Persia is practically carried on the backs of camels, mules, and donkeys, a slow and expensive mode of transport, and the traveler usually rides through the country following the tracks made by the passage of caravans during the centuries.

"The Persian is of Aryan stock, and has the same words as ourselves for father, mother, brother, and daughter (pidar, madar, bradar, and dukhtar), and the construction of his language is like that of English.

"He is a handsome, well-built man, with regular features and fine black eyes, his complexion being no darker than that of an Italian. In manner he is most courteous; he is quick, alert, fond of conversation and discussion, and has rightly been called the Frenchman of the East.

"Persia has been a Mohammedan country from the time of its conquest by the Arabs, in 641; but some thousands of Zoroastrians, the old fire-worshippers, still remain in the land, and have been much persecuted.

"Many Persians have no home life in the usual sense of the word. A Persian house is divided into the birooni, or men's apartments, and the anderoon, or part consecrated to the women. A strong door, set in a high blank wall, gives entrance to a narrow passage that leads into a square courtyard on which open several rooms. Here the men live, and here they usually entertain their friends, while their women dwell in rooms set round an inner courtyard, the only entrance to which is through the birooni.

"As a Persian is instructed from earliest youth that a woman's advice is of no account—in fact the priests tell him that he had better do the exact opposite of what a woman counsels—it can be understood that as a rule he has no exalted opinion of his wife or wives, and seldom turns to them for companionship.

"When death approaches, if he has performed his daily prayers, kept the Fast of Ramazan, visited the mosque on Friday, and given alms to the poor, a Persian has no doubts as to his reception in the next world and dies in a happy confidence of attaining to the paradise promised by the Prophet to all his faithful followers."

HOLLIS ST. THEATRE

It will be an announcement of interest to every theatregoer to learn that Ruth Chatterton, one of the most beloved of the younger actresses on the American stage, will be seen at the Hollis street Theatre for two weeks beginning Monday, Januaary 19th, in "Moonlight and Honeysuckle" under the direction of Henry Miller. Miss Chatterton is today undoubtedly the foremost young woman of the American stage, and has a following second to none.

"Moonlight and Honeysuckle," written by George Scarborough, is one of those delightful comedies of American life that puts everybody in good humor. The characters are American, Western American, at that, and the humor is American clear through. It is a smart comedy, right up to the moment, and has abundance of witty and brilliant lines.

Mr. Miller has surrounded Miss Chatterton with a particularly noteworthy company, including James Rennie, David Lee, Charles Trowbridge, Edward Fielding, Sydney Booth, Katherine Emmet and Flora Sheffield.

"The Rats Around My Place Were Wise," Says John Tuthill.

"DADDY LONG LEGS," NEWEST PICKFORD FILM, PROVES HER OPINION OF SCREEN ARTISTRY

The daily life of scores of orphans unfortunate enough to be living in an institution, the founder of which obtained his ideas of discipline at a penitentiary where he made his money through convict labor, is shown in detail in "Daddy Long Legs," screen versions of the famous story by Jean Webster, in which Mary Pickford will be seen at the Woburn for 3 days next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

This super-feature is the first to be made by Mary Pickford's own Company, after Miss Pickford obtained the screen rights from Klaw and Erlanger to whom she gave her personal check for $40,000. Miss Pickford has the part of Judy Abbott, the little asylum girl who got her chance to go to college through the generosity of a man who later fell in love with her.

Directed by Marshall Neilan

The picture was directed by Marshall Neilan, "The Mark Twain of the Screen," who became one of the foremost directors of the day through his ability to put appealing humor into screen action. Miss Pickford is supported in "Daddy Long Legs" by Mr. Neilan, who has the part of a young college man in love with Judy; by Mahlon Hamilton, who has the part of Jarvis Pendleton, Judy's benefactor; by Milla Davenport, as the tyrannical head matron of the asylum; by Fay Lemport, as Angelica Wyckoff, an ill-mannered little girl reared in luxury; and by one of the most charming groups of child actors ever seen on the screen, as well as half a dozen other adult actors.

The first half of the picture is laid in the John Grier Orphan Asylum. Mr. Neilan has filled it with a surprising succession of humorous and pathetic incidents. The millions of admirers of Miss Pickford will agree when they have seen this picture that the favorite star never had a better or more appealing role than that of the orphan Judy Abbott, who, as an infant, is picked out of an ash can by a policeman. Given a name from a telephone book by a hard-hearted matron; whipped, starved, and cruelly treated until she reaches the age of twelve, when she begins to spread among the stripe-dressed little motherless babes a sunshine which later is the means of helping them all to better things.

Portrays Many Emotions

As a madcap child whose resistless personality overcomes even the most sordid surroundings; as a girl tasting eagerly, the good things for which she so longed in her childhood captivity; and at last as a lover, coquettish and capricious, Miss Pickford's characterization is a masterpiece.

WOMEN ON JURIES

To the Editor of the Star:—

In an opinion handed down last week Justice Lazarsky, of the New York Supreme Court, denied a writ of mandanus to compel the Commissioner of Jurors of Brooklyn to include representatives of the fair sex in making up his lists. Said Justice Lazarsky:

"Notwithstanding the marvelious development of womanhood in the past decade, there is no reason, judicial or otherwise, why women should serve on juries. The course of conduct of Federal and State governments in limiting jury service to males has been so unvaried for so many years that to adopt any other course than to follow this rule of construction would be disregarding that which is practically, if not entirely, conclusive."

In marked contrast to this it was not long ago when a judge in Cleveland, Ohio, who, responding to the wishes of a woman brought before him for deserting her husband selected twelve prominent society women as jurors. The defendant stated that "only a woman could understand her case," and the judge willingly gave her the benefit of her belief.

Whereas a panel composed of men might have in this instance, sentenced the woman to a term in an institution and given her little children over to the care of the State, this jury of women startled the legal world by handing down a different decision. The jurors went into the history of the case. They found the defendant had suffered cruelties and poverty at the hands of her husband, and when her life became unbearable, she took her children and left him. Another man provided her with a home and took good care of the children. So this jury of women mentally placing themselves in the position of the defendant saw the situation as he sawit, a step taken for her children and they decided to give her another chance.

They handed down a verdict of guilty, and asked the judge for leniency. He imposed a light fine on the woman, allowed her to keep her children, and sent both men to jail. The jury of women, trying a woman has upset the old theory that woman is more harsh in her judgment of a woman than is a member of the other sex. And by placing her trust in women this defendant profited.

Long ago, in England, when the trial by jury first came into practice, it was the custom to select women jurors to try members of their own sex charged with certain crimes. These women, fearing perhaps they would be judged by others as they judged others, were usually severe in their trial of women brought before them, and the practice of selecting panels of women, died inconsequence.

The modern woman is different in her makeup. She has proved, and the proof becomes daily more obvious, that she is capable of taking her place with her brother in many duties of a citizen heretofore borne by men only. The time is coming when a woman tried by a jury of men will be looked upon as an antiquated practice of the old world, and every panel will include in its personnel "one good women and true."

had become shockingly inadequate to the legitimate needs of the teachers; that the continually diminishing supply of teachers—owing in large part to the inadequate pay of the profession—makes it necessary for Winchester to pay better salaries if it desires to keep the good teachers it has, or to get the right sort of candidates to fill vacancies as they arise; and that the other cities and towns around Boston are raising their teachers' salaries to a point at least as high as that to which we ask Winchester to raise ours, and in some cases higher. The Committee believes that the citizens of Winchester will agree that justice and self-interest alike urge the wisdom of this action upon us.

Last fall the Committee voted that the upper grades in the Prince and Wadleigh schools should attend school in two sessions instead of one. The change was made in deference to the best opinion both medical and pedagogic; for all persons who have given a real study of the matter, agree that for children less than fourteen years of age, a daily school session of five and a half or six hours is altogether too long. The Committee thinks that the change has justified itself. It is the universal report of the teachers that the children do better work and do it more easily than before, and a very large number of parents have expressed their belief that the new system is better for the halth and mntal progross of their children.

There has been objection to the two session plan by parents who live at a considerable distance from the school and who find it inconvenient for their children to go home and return again to school at noon. The Committee has tried to work out a satisfactory plan for luncheon supervised play and study at the school for such children, so that they can have the advantage of the two session plan without the necessity of returning home at noon. It hopes that this plan will be generally satisfactory, for it is so thoroughly convinced of the desirability of two sessions for children of eleven, twelve and thirteen years of age that it is extremely unwilling to abandon the present arrangement.

Last April the Committee passed a vote with drawing from pupils who chose to belong to fraternities, sororities or secret societies existing in the High School, the privilege of holding class offices or of representing the school publicly in any capacity. The Committee took this step because it was convinced of the impropriety of secret societies in a public school, and because it believed that such societies were a disturbing influence both socially and intellectually in the school. The Committee is ambitious to have the High School recognized as the equal of any in the State both in its standard of work and in its loyalty and school spiriit. It sincerely believes that probably the first and certainly the second would be improved if the secret societies in the school should be discontinued.

The committee has spent such sums as were available in the repairs of the existing school buildings, and although the high cost of such work has obliged it to content itself with less than it desired to do this year, it believes that the buildings on the whole are in fair condition. The town, however, must be prepared to undertake a carefully planned building program in the immediate future. None of our buildings except the High School and the Wadleigh are at all modern in construction, arrangement or equipment. Several of them are so small as to be quite uneconomical in maintenance. Again and again in considering places for the improvement and development of the school system the Committee has found itself balked by the inadequacy and inconveniences of the grade school buildings. It is perhaps easy to fall into the mistake of exaggerating the importance of new and well equipped buildings to a successful school system. The teachers after all make the schools efficient or the reverse—helped or hindered by the children and by the parents:—but it is dangerous to let our buildings and equipment fall too far behind the times. It is a bad advertisement for the town, and it obliges the teaching force to work with tools which are not fit to turn out the very best product. The Superintendent's report goes more into detail on this subject; it is enough here to say that the Committee recommends a new Junior High School building to accommodate the seventh and eighth grades and the present freshman class in the High School, to be built preferably on or near the present site of the Prince School and a new grade school near the present site of the Wyman School, large enough to house six grades.

The Committee plans the eventual organization of the schools upon what is known as the "six-three-three" basis; six years of elementary work, three years in the Junior High School and three years in the Upper High School. With our present arrangement of buildings that cannot be done satisfactorily. A beginning has been made by modifying the course in the eighth grade in the direction of true Junior High School work, but the plan can be fairly inaugurated only in a building somewhat larger than the Wadleigh school and somewhat differently planned.

During the year Mr. Raymond E. Pinkham has come to the Wadleigh School to succeed the late Joseph H. Hefflon for many years the beloved principal of the school. A memorial to Mr. Hefflon paid for by the contributions of friends and former pupils is to be erected shortly in the Wadleigh building. Mr. Curtis, the principal of the High School, has resigned; his successor has not yet been chosen.

Respectfully submitted,
Henry S. Chapman,
Stillman P. Williams,
Robert F. Guild

GIRL SCOUT WORK

To become a Girl Scout, a girl must be ten years of age or over and pass her Tenderfoot test after a month's probation. Patriotism predominates in this test. It consists of learning the history of the flag, the words of The Star Spangled Banner and America, the Girl Scout promise and the ten laws, also the tying of six knots useful in Scouting.

The Second Class test teaches the Girl Scout to be useful at home and abroad. She must pass the following tests. Draw the American flag correctly. Cook three simple dishes. Lay and light a fire in the stove or in the open with two matches. Make a bed properly and also make an invalid's bed. Know her own measurements and the eight points of the compass. Know what to do in case of fire, ivy poisoning and frost bite. She must learn ten golden health habits and know how to sew a seam, hem a garment, make a button hole, knit or chochet and be able to read and send a short message by the semaphore alphabet.

The first Class test is more advanced along the line of sewing, house keeping, child nursing, first aid, physical development and nature study.

A Girl Scout must become a Second Class Scout before she is eligible for the Proficiency tests. The purpose of these various tests is to secure continuity of work and interest on the part of the girls. Badges may be choosen from thirty-six subjects. The highest honor for a Girl Scout is to become a Golden Eaglet. This means winning fourteen merit badges.

In Troop I, under Miss Esther Parker, in the absence of the Captain, Miss Eugenie Parker, the girls who are Second Class Scouts and have won merit badges are the following:

Cathleen Case, Musician, Interpreter.
Francis Hill, Artist, Interpreter.
Dorothy Lewis, Horsewoman, Musician, Interpreter.
Katherine Pike, Cyclist, Musician Interpreter, Gardener, Laundress, Naturalist, Pioneer.
Harriette Smith, Cook, Musician, Cyclist, Pioneer, Swimming, Needlewoman, Laundress.
Rebecca Barrett, Laundress, Bugler, Musician.
Rosamond Lefavour, Cook, Interpreter, Laundress, Musician, Invalid Cooking.
Helen Raynor, Interpreter, Needlewoman, Laundress, Pioneer, Musician.
Mildred Lewis, Laundress, Musician, Needlewoman.
Ruth Peck, Cyclist.
Muriel North, Interpreter.

In Troop II, Mrs. Robert C. Boone, Captain, Dorothy Laraway received the Second Class Badge at the November meeting. At the December meeting Kathleen Charlton, Pearl Dearborn, Dorothea Higgins, Madeline Robinson and Doris Johnson received Second Class Badges. Esther and Virginia Carrier were invested and received their Tenderfoot Badges. Dorothea Higgins also received a Perfect Attendance Star.

Troop III is under Mrs. Charles H. Eastwich, the Commissioner till a new leader is available. They meet once a month.

In Troop IV, Mrs. S. P. Williams, Captain, Jeannette Smith and Constance Williams received the Second Class Badge at the December meeting.

In Troop VI, Miss Elia M. Emerson, Captain, Hester Harrington received last June a Medal of Merit for one years perfect attendance at school and excellency in study. In September Hester Harrington was awarded a Gold Star for perfect attendance and Elizabeth Brown, Frances Lowell, Dorothy Brown and Lorraine Catheron received Silver Stars. Nancy Holden was invested at the October meeting and received her Tenderfoot Badge.

At present there are ninety Girl Scouts in Winchester and there could be many more if there were leaders for them. Money is needed to carry on these new leaders and to carry on the Scout work in our town. Every dollar given during this campaign will be appreciated for the Girl Scout of to-day is the woman of tomorrow.

Winchester Council, K. of C. realized a substantial sum Saturday for its building fund from the sale of American flags. It was a "tag day" and there was a large corps of members and assistants about town all day and over 2000 flags were sold.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

LAND COURT

To the Inhabitants of the Town of Winchester, a municipal corporation located in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; John M. L. Enman, Thomas Quigley, Ellen L. Murphy, Lena R. Wellington, Addie E. Phippen, Emma G. Rice, Frances D. Pond, Ralph E. Joslin, Trustee, and Charles Zueblin, Trustee, of said Winchester and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by H. T. West Company, a duly existing corporation having an usual place of business in Boston, in the County of Suffolk and said Commonwealth, to register and confirm its title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Winchester, bounded and described as follows:

Northwesterly by Mason Street Extension and land of Ellen L. Murphy two hundred seventy-five and 55-100 (275.55) feet; Northeasterly by land of Lena R. Wellington five hundred eighty-six and 71-100 (586.71) feet; Easterly by land of Addie E. Phippen and Emma G. Rice one hundred eighty and 35-100 (180.35) feet; Southerly by land of Frances D. Pond six hundred forty-one and 54-100 (641.54) feet; Southwesterly by land of Ralph E. Joslin and Charles Zueblin, Trustees, three hundred twenty-four and 91-100 (324.91) feet; containing 217,698 square feet, or five acres.

Petitioner claims as appurtenant to the above described land a right of way for all purposes for which a public street is ordinarily used over a strip of land forty feet wide leading from the northwesterly portion of the above described land to that part of Mason Street Extension which is a public way; said strip of land being a continuation of said Mason Street Extension as shown on the plan hereinafter mentioned.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the twenty-sixth day of January A. D. 1920 at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of December in the year nineteen hundred and nineteen.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Members of the School Committee:
Gentlemen:

The Annual Report of the Superintendent of Schools is herewith presented. It is the thirty-seventh in the series of reports and the second of the present Superintendent.

The range of educational work done in our schools is so wide that, desirable as it may be, it is impossible to give in a report each year a complete account of all that is going on. This year it seems proper to discuss chiefly those aspects of our work that are comparatively new and that show the direction in which we are moving.

Reading, writing, composition, arithmetic, spelling are all being taught with the same care as formerly they were taught. A committee of the best teachers have made a digest of the best material available to teaching children how to study. Another committee of teachers has made a digest of the best available material on teaching problem work in arithmetic. And another committee has compiled a list of problems for use in Grades VI toVIII.

Our Educational Policy

Before taking up the several matters to be discussed in detail, a word about our educational policy is in order. Our local educational policy can best be understood when judged in the light of the best educational thought and practice. Many think of the schools as local institutions. As a matter of fact they are local only to a limited extent. From the legal and governmental point of view the public school is an instrument of the Commonwealth and not of the local town or city. From the professional point of view the school systems of the different states move together with a surprising coherency and uniformity. After making allowances for the differences in educational practice found in different communities of the same state and in the schools of different states, there remain certain fundamental resemblances that distinguish American education and that hold it true to its course in working out the problems of American democracy.

Has our American education a direction? Is it moving definitely toward some recognizable goal? What is its method of advance? Who is doing its constructive thinking? May we depend upon the wisdom of its leadership? These are questions fundamental to the formation of our local policy. When we make changes in our educational practice, such as

FIRE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Two Alarms Here and One in Woburn For Spindle Blaze

Two alarms from Winchester followed by an alarm from Woburn aroused the town to Wednesday evening's fire at the Chapman Spindle plant on Main street. The fire is said to have done $10,000 damage, mostly to expensive machinery at the factory.

The fire was discovered at 6.40 by the watchman at the factory. It had then gained great headway, originating from the boiler room and travelling into the work rooms adjoining. Box 45 was sounded and shortly after it was rung in again to call out the pump. Woburn, hearing the second alarm, voluntarily rang in an alarm in case its department could be of service, and our neighboring firemen did good work, although it was not necessary for them to lay hose.

The plant consists of a one story brick building, and on the surface would seem to have little to invite much of a fire in its construction. The wooden roof and floors however were going in good shape and the smoke was particularly dense.

The blaze evidently had been going for some time before it was discovered and the all-out was not sounded until after nine. The fire apparatus made good time, notwithstanding the deep snow and heavy going.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH HOLDS ITS ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the First Baptist Church was held on Monday night and reports from the officers and Committees were read. These showed that the year had been a busy one and that the prospect for the new year was very encouraging.

The following officers were elected:

Church Treasurer, William E. Cobb; Benevolence Treasurer, Newton Shultis; Clerk, John S. Blank, Jr.; Deacons, Harry C. Sanborn, J. Albert Hersey; Standing Committee. Daniel C. Linscott, H. Earl Richardson, Harry T. Winn, Alfred O. Weld, Edward E. Thompson; Moderator, Arthur L. Winn; Auditor, Alfred O. Weld; Prudential Committee, Arthur L. Winn, Mrs. John S. Blank. Mrs. George A. Weld, Mrs. Emeline H. Ewer.

Superintendent of Sunday School, Avard L. Walker; Asistant and Junior Superintendent. Mrs. E. B. Dolan; Treasurer of Sunday School, William E. Cobb; Assistant Treasurer, Walter B. Stevart, Jr.; Secretary, Miss Mildred F. Bartlett.

Social Committee, Mrs. L. C. Prime, Miss Charlotte Barnes, Miss Clara E. Macdonald, Mrs. W. E. Cobb, Miss Florence M. Jewett, Miss Julia Crawford, Mrs. F. W. McLean. Miss Edna B. Ralph, Ruel W. Eldredge, Arthur Lloyd.

Strangers and Sick Committee, Mrs. Mary L. Winn, Mrs. Fannie A. Weld, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Macdonald, Mrs. J. S. Blank, Mr. Geo. Bigley, Mr. E. E. Thompson, Mrs. A. O. Weld, Mr. Thomas P. Dotten, Mrs James Lloyd.

Baptismal Committee, Mrs. James Lloyd, Mrs. Harry G. Kempton, Mrs. J. A. Hersey, Mr. Reul W. Eldredge, Mr. E. W. Parsons.

It was also voted to have a Committee appointed to revise the Church By-Laws and to have the Church membership roll revised. The usual appropriations were also made.

A vote of hearty thanks was extended to Mr. Harry C. Sanborn for his many years of faithful service as Treasure of the Chuch.

ORIENTAL TEA CO. NOW LOCATED IN NEW HOME

The Oriental Tea Co., which has been located in Scollay Square for 52 years, have moved to more commodious quarters at 17 Brattle Street, just around the corner from their old location. The new home is thoroughly modern and attractive throughout, being artistically decorated, handsomely fitted and furnished with every convenience for the prosecution of the business. The Oriental Tea Co. are large importers of teas and coffees and their own roasting and blending, thus assuring their patrons of the very highest grade products. The steaming tea kettle has been moved to the new location, thus preserving this famous landmark and pride of all Bostonians.

The company's keynote is "Quality" and its rapidly increasing number of pleased patrons is the best compliment of the methods used.

MR. GEORGE E. WHITNEY

George Evans Whitney a former resident of this town and brother of the late Arthur E. Whitney died in Cambridge Monday evening, January 19th at the age of seventy years, after a long illness. He had not been active in business for about eight years; but though of a quiet and retiring disposition, yet was a keen observer and most appreciative of public improvements in his native town. Parks and bridges and school buildings were interesting to him. Fond of nature he enjoyed walking in Fells and Parkways, where he roamed in boyhood. When a young man he belonged to the Winchester Young Men's Association, which was afterwards changed in name to Calumet Club, also he was a member of the Engineers Society of Boston.

He was of a kindly nature, loved and esteemed by those who knew him well. He leaves a widow who was formerly Miss Lewis of Framingham and two sisters, Miss Delia Whitney and Mrs. Albert E. Ayer of this town, also several nephews and nieces to whom he was fondly attached. The funeral Wednesday was conducted by Rev. Mr. Wilson and music was furnished by the Lotus Quartette of Boston.

K. OF C. FLAG DAY

The first K. of C. Flag Day sale went "over the top" with flying colors—2000 buttons being in circulation and over $200 realized on the sale. On account of he heavy fall of snow there were not so many flag sellers out as were expected and some of the districts were not covered, but those who did brave the elements worked energetically and cheerfully all day long and brought in boxes heavy with coin. Miss Mildred Keneally's box held the largest amount $26.17. Isabel McKenzie followed a close second after tramping tirelessly over many neglected districts. Her box contained nearly $22. Other district collectors, working in pairs, whose boxes contained $10 or over were: Elizabeth Glendon and Helen McNally; Francis McKee and Barbara Connolly; Molly Fienberg and Catherine Murphy; Eileen Ashley and Catherine Connell; Mrs. Ambrose, Mrs. Crow, and Lucy Glendon.

The second's days sale which took place Thursday, Jan. 15th, was not as successful on account of the severe cold. Several of the poung people ventured out but had to return with no sales. However, a few belated boxes were turned in and quite a few checks received to encourage the few who were really working for the success of the drive.

Out of courtesy to the Y. D. whose drive was billed for the next day, the sale of flags on the streets was closed at 6 o'clock Thursday, although the K. of C. Flag date was set for the week of January 15 as early as last October, and it was supposed at the time that all other drives would be over.

Next Friday evening, January 23rd the proceeds will be turned over to the Building Fund. Any one wishing to make final returns may do so to either Mrs. M. C. Ambrose, chairman, 22 Vine street, or to Mrs. Frances Sullivan, treasurer, 23 Vine street.

WELL KNOWN HERE

Capt. Daniel Edson Howard, who died at Arlington on Sunday, was widely known in this town, he having previously made his home here for years. He was the son of former Arlington Selectman Willis P. Howard. For many years he was the custodian of the Lyceum building in the centre. The funeral was held Tuesday.

Capt. Howard was born in Grantham, N. H. on June 23, 1835, the son of Rev. Lewis Howard, a Methodist Episcopal clergman. He was graduate of Tilton Seminary. He enlisted with the 16th New Hampshire Volunteers at the outbreak of the Civil War, rising from private to captain. He lived for many years in Concord, N. H. and was one of the organizers of the Baker Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, and as a bass singer of ability he had charge of the choir and musical services. He was a charter member of the Knights of Pythias Lodge of Concord and was a past grand chancellor.

Besides his son, with whom he made his home, Capt. Howard is survived by a grandson and two grandchildren He died on Sunday following a short illness.

MRS. MARY O. MORRILL

Mrs Mary Olive Morrill, aged 89 years, widow of Henry Morrill died at the home of the late Mrs. Eliza Frost, 336 Main street, Saturday. She was a resident of Amesbury and came here with her daughter, Miss Mary F. Morrill, who survives her, three months ago to visit her sister, the late Mrs. Frost. She died exactly to a day one month after Mrs. Frost.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. B. Gifford, of the Methodist Church, at the house, Tuesday afternoon at 1.30. Services were also held on Tuesday afternoon, at the Baptist Church at Amesbury at 2.30. The burial was at Amesbury.

CALUMET CLUB SMOKER

The January smoke talk to be given at the Calumet Club this Saturday evening will be an event of the month. The entertainer is to be Walter Eccles, a man who has played in various theatrical companies, in vaudeville and in Lyceum and Chautauqua. He will give a program of impersonations, comic songs, dramatic recitals, monologues and burlesque magic which is said to be the finest individual entertainment presented today. There will be the usual Saturday night lunch, and there will be several exibition cowboy pool matches by Messrs. Norton Willey, Dolben and Locke.

The next meeting will be held in the Town Hall Thursday evening, January 29, at which time it is hoped a large number of ladies will be present. Come and talk it over.

FUNERAL OF MRS. CHARLES M. RUST

The funeral of Mrs. Charles M. Rust, who died last Thursday, was held Monday from her residence, 6 Elm street. Rev. E. B. Dolan officiated and conducted the service, at which Miss Jean MacLellan sang "My Jesus as Thou Wilt" and "Abide With Me." There was a large attendance of old friends and neighbors and many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was in Wildwood cemetary.

She was a woman indeed, a mother in reality, a christian after the order of Christ Himself, a kindly neighbor and a friend of all mankind. Her spirit was pure, her ideals the highest, her service unselfish and her influence eternal. She gave herself devotedly to her family. Her children arise up and call her blessed.

IN MEMORIAM

From life to life she passed, no death is here,
This is a step of progress, not the end.
I hear her saying with a voice of cheer,
'Tis of life's nature to ascend.
From love to love she passed; sweet love she knew,
And breathed it here as freely as the air;
But love as tender, love long-tried and true
She knew was waiting for her over there.

Life's lesson she had learned, had drained the cup
Of earth's experiences of sorrow and tears;
It was her time, then, gladly to take up
The higher labors of her grander years.

So, friend of earth and heaven, the' unseen the charm
That binds us to thee, it will never break;
We'll follow Thee, nor shall it be in vain;
Then, let heaven call, "Wait till we overtake."

Meantime we'll pitch our lives into the key
Of that thou'rt living; so our music sweet
We'll make, until our earthly harmony
Shall blend with thine and make our song complete.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The annual business meeting of the Second Congregational Church was held Friday evening January 16. The following officers were elected:

Church Clerk, Mr. Frederick Trombley. Treasurer, Mr. Wm. J. Nutting, Member of Standing Committee, Mr. Athur Belville, Deacon, Mr. Warren Fogg, Auditor. Mr. Frederick Trombley, Supt. of Sunday School, Miss Laura B. Tolman, Chairman of Missionary Committee Miss L. Evelyn Parker.

Church Visitors, Mrs. Arthur Belville, Chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Hinds, Honorary member, Mrs. John Park, Miss Mary McElhiney.

Educational Committee. Miss Laura B. Tolman, Chairman, Miss L. Evelyn Parker, Mrs. John Park.

After the reading of the reports and the election of officers for the ensuing year refreshments were served by the members of Miss MacLellan's Class. Later it was voted that an "Every Member Canvass" be made and that the Church Committee and the Standing Committee have charge of this canvass. The meeting was then adjourned.

WILL SPEAK ON SPIRITUALISM

Never before has there been such general interest in the subject of Spiritualism as there is at the present time. At the Church of the Epiphany, next Sunday morning, Mr. Dewart will speak on the topic, "Have We New Evidence of Life After Death."

RECORDER DANCE

On Saturday, January 11, a very enjoyable dance was held at the High School, for the benefit of "The Recorder." Taking into consideration the many other events which took place, the affair was very well attended by about forty couples. In the early part of the evening a prize dance was held in which Ormsby Court and Katherine Pike won the pride. The dance began at 7.45 and continued through until eleven o'clock. The services of Brooks Young's orchestra were secured and their music was of the best throughout the entire evening. The matrons were Miss Johnson of the high school and Mrs. Addison R. Pike. The following young people attended:

Allston Noyes, Stuart Eldredge, Robert Hart, Parker Hart, Ormsby Court, Evander French, Robet Apsey, Malcom Emery, Phillip Hight, Wallace Downer. Frank Black, Alden Symmes, Forbes Getty, Edward Wait, David Skinner, Stephen Ryan, Norman McLellan, William Bowe, Evan Kibbe, Francis Barrett. Lawrence Chandler, Reginald Kibbe, Ernest Simonds, Frank Laughran Lee Court. William Clark, Everett Ginn, Capsen Abbott, Lincoln Russell.

Girls: Katherine and Elinor Fairfield, Katherine Pike, Dorothy Riddle Muriell North, Helen Ravnor, Thelma Trott, Maud Crowley, Babara Goddard, Elizabeth Paul, Marion Dodd, Miriam DeLorian, Pauline Mansfield, Helen Bowe, Aurora Rondian, Doris Bean. Ethlyn Winn, Beulah Foss.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH MEETING

At the annual meeting of the First Congregational Church on Monday evening Deacon George S. Cabot presided. The usual routine business was transacted and the regular reports of officers and committees received and accepted. The only important business transacted was the passage of the following vote:

In order to concur with the Society in its vote of January 12, it is hereby voted that the Church approves the action of the Parish in its vote to establish a free new system beginning January rst, 1921.

By this vote the establishment of free pews in the church beginning next year is carried through. This will be an innovation in this town, where it has never before been done, and by the action it is anticipated that the large congregation which cannot be accommodated under the present system will be cared for.

The following officers were elected: Clerk, Charles E. Swett; Treasurer, Rupert F. Jones; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Rupert F. Jones; Deacon, T. Grafton Abbott; Deaconesses, Mrs. Charles N. Harris, Miss Abbie M. Dunham; Auditor, William Adriance. Members of Church Committee, Warren E. Healey, Herbert S. Brooks; Supt. of Sunday School, Wayne B. Thompson; Assistant Supt. Sunday School, T. Grafton Abbott; Secretary Sunday School, Morris B. Kerr; Treas. Sunday School, Charles F. Liscomb; Assistant Treasurer of Sunday School, W. Merrill Tucker; Librarian, George C. Coit; Assistant Librarian, Charles F. Liscomb; Members of Board of Directors, Henry S. Chapman, Mrs. Frederic S. Snyder, Miss Katherin F. Pond.

UNIQUE SOCIAL AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

On Thursday evening, January 29th the Unitarian Parish is to have an interesting novelty in the way of a sociable. It is to take the form of a box supper where each lady is to come provided for two. There is to be music and other entertainment during the evening.

A general good time is planned. All members of the parish are invited and a specially urgent invitation is extended to the new comers in our midst. The Supper will be at 6.30 p. m. Coffee will be served by the committee in charge.

"ELIZA COMES TO STAY"

When the headline, "Eliza to visit us again," appeared in the Star a fortnight ago, many club women began at once to prepare a welcome for her. The quaint, delicious humor of the play "Eliza comes to stay," its modern English atmosphere and the smooth, quite professional acting, the latter accomplished by the well known coach, Mr. Fowle all conspired to surprise and delight the Fortnightly members. The only minor note was that the entire family had not shared the afternoon's pleasure.

Now the caste is appearing again under the auspices of the Progress Club on Friday evening, February 13, when according to the sale already of tickets, the fathers, sons and daughters mean to greet not only Eliza, but the actress, Vera Lawrence, the English young bachelors (?) Sandy and Monty, not forgetting that cantankerous couple, Uncle Alexander and Aunt Elizabeth, as well as the typical butler and sedate nurse.

Those having the evening in charge will be distinctly disappointed if the entire family likewise does not plan to join the merry players in the dance that follows and lasting until 12 P. M., a full orchestra in attendance.

"Before the War's prices will obtain as 50 cents admits to all seats, except those reserved at 75 cents and $1.00, including the dancing. Tickets are obtained of Kenneth Caldwell or as stated on the posters. As the first lines are quite the most important in the play the audience should be seated, if possible, at the beginning of the overture before 8 o'clock.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The attention of members of The Fortnightly is called to the desirability of ratifying the revised form of the By-Laws to a point to include the article concerning the Philanthropy Fund at the next meeting. The The principle reason for revising the By-Laws at this time is to make this article conform to certain requirements of the Internal Revenue Bureau. From the present wording of the By-Laws, the entire Philanthropy Fund is subject to an Internal Revenue tax to which it should not be in the spirit of the law. The proposed revision is framed from a form sent by the Internal Revenue tax collectors and has been approved by them. It is hoped that by the adoption of this form at the next meeting that the Club may be exempt from this tax for the months of December and January as well as for the months following.

The next meeting of The Fortnightly occurs Monday, January 26, at 2.30 oclock. Each member is requested to bring her copy of the revised By-Laws. It is hoped that the members of the Club will have studied these carefully so that the business meeting may proceed rapidly, with as little explanation as possible. If the business has not been completed at 3.30, that remaining will be postponed until the next meeting. There is a possibility that it may be completed earlier so that the entertainment of the afternoon may begin before 3.30.

The program will be given by Mrs. Mary Parker Dunning who will present, in costume, a Lecture Recital upon "The Country of the Golden Dragon." Mrs. Dunning gives an intimate picture of Chinese life and shows many unique curios from her travels in China. She has traveled extensively and speaks interestingly upon many lands and people, but upon none more interestingly than the one she will present to us on Monday afternoon. She is a graduate of Tufts College, a woman of broad culture, and unusual charm; and her merit has brought sufficient recognition to place her name in the "Woman's Who Who in America." To this meeting the girls of the Junior and Senior classes of the High School and the daughters of members, beyond those classes and under twenty-one, are invited as guests of the Club.

The Education Committee announce that plans are being made for a lecture on "The League of Nations," February 3rd at eight o'clock in the High School Assembly Hall.

On Monday afternoon, January 19, the Literature Class met in the High School library to study the Life and Works of Barrie. Mrs. Ely who had charge of the program, gave a delightfully interesting paper upon the author's life and work. She was ably assisted by several members of the Club who read two short well-chosen plays. Tea was served by the committee.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The Victory dinner was a distinct success. Rev. Mr. Gifford invoked the Divine blessing upon the occasion and after full justice had been done to the material part of the feast Mrs. Hamilton called on Rev. Cyrus Richardson to tell something of his experiences in temperance reform. He spoke of the good women who had been thorns in the flesh to him and other ministers, harrying them into taking the stand they knew to be right, and told of some of the achievments of those so often called "cranks" and fanatics.

He was followed by Rev. Martin D. Kneeland who gave a series of interesting reminiscences connected with temperance agitation, reading an honor roll of those who had fought valorously for the abolition of the liquor traffic, including Governor St. John, Neal Dow, John B. Gough, Frances E. Willard, John D. Long, Mary Livermore and Mary H. Hunt.

Mrs. Ella A. Gleason, president of the Massachusetts W. C. T. U. then spoke of the part played by that organization in bringing about the reform and pictured the blessings to follow in the wake of the law if it be properly enforced. She spoke of the plans of the National Union to raise a million dollars for World Prohibition and Enforcement, as well as the carrying on of the many lines of work. Speaking of the great Book of Remembrance in which are to be inscribed the names of those who have been strong in the faith and for whom a hundred dollars is given to the Jubilee fund, she said she had pledged the Winchester Union to place the name of Mrs. Hamilton there. In response, Mrs. Hamilton said that she was determined that the first Winchester name to go in the book should be that of Almira A. Rowe, whose untiring labors for many years kept the Winchester Union alive, in spite of discouragements many and much unpleasantness.

The last speaker on the program was Robert H. Magwood, for fifteen years at the head of the No-License forces of the commonwealth and now treasurer of the Scientific Temperance Federation. He told of some of the methods used in developing temperance sentiment and of the steady attacks along the line which resulted in the victory celebrated now. He urged the continued interest of the friends of prohibition to keep the victory won after such a hard campaign.

During the evening Mrs. Lillian Marshall of Beach Bluff led the singing of appropriate songs, assisted by a chorus of young girls. She also added to the pleasure of the evening by singing alone. All present joined in singing some of the new songs, set to popular melodies.

A number of those present contributed to the funds to place the names of Mrs. Rowe and Mrs. Hamilton in the Book of Remembrance and the treasurer, Miss Engenia E. Elliott will be glad to receive additional gifts for this purpose. The money will count on Winchester's quota for the Jubilee fund, which is about four hundred dollars.

Mr. W. J. Nutting of Garfield ave., while at work in the Navy Yard, where he is employed, met with quite a severe accident last week. He was assisting on a ship and a door fell on his foot. He was taken to the Naval Hospital and the X ray discovered a large bone broken. He was attended to and brought home. He will be laid up sometime.

CONCERNING MR. CURTIS

Announcements have just been sent out announcing that Mr. Everett N. Curtis, formerly of Winchester, has been made a member of the firm of Jones, Addington, Ames & Seibold, counsellors at law of Chicago and havan office in New York City, Mr. Curtis being the member of the firm in charge of the New York Office. It will be remembered that Mr. Curtis left Winchester about four years ago, prior to which time he had made his home in Winchester for a period of seven years. During this prior period Mr. Curtis, although engaged in the practice of his profession in Boston where his law office was located, nevertheless found time to devote himself to the study of various matters of public interest, the most prominent of which was the matter of waterways. In the spring of 1911 Mr. Curtis made a very thorough study of the whole situation and published five articles in the Star which excited the widest interest. In these articles Mr. Curtis took up and fully developed the history of the waterways and sewerage conditions, covering a period of over forty years. Mr. Curtis worked indefatigably toward immediate action of some sort with the result that a committee known as the "Water Ways Committee" was appointed at one of the town meetings headed by Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, who associated with himself, as committee men, both Mr. Curtis and Dr. Allen. This committee energetically took hold of the matter and retained the services of Herbert J. Kellaway, a landscape architect and engineer, who made a careful study and survey of the situation and who filed a report, which together with suggestions, was embodied in the report of the committee. It will be remembered that the recommendations of the committee were followed at a town meeting, which was one of the largest attended in the history of Winchester and which resulted in the approval of the report of the committee and the purchase of the Whitney property and the extension of the park system completely through the center of the town of Winchester.

It will also be remembered that Mr. Curtis made a careful study of the grade crossing situation, and together with Mr. Rufus Herrick of this town wrote a series of articles for the Star.

In 1914 Mr. Curtis was a regular candidate of the progressive party for the state senate.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis are now permanently located at 100 Morningside Drive, New York City. They have one child, Karolyn H. Curtis.

HARRY W. STEVENS PRESIDENT

At the annual meeting of the New England Music Trades Association this month, the first of its kind under the new name and in reality the 28th annual meeting of the Boston Music Trade Association, Mr. Harry W. Stevens of this town was elected its first president. The new organization takes into membership music tradesmen from Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

Mr. Stevens has been connected with the firm of Vose & Sons for a period of almost 30 years. A Bostonina. Mr. Stevens started as a youth to learn tuning in the Vose factory. Never neglecting to learn all he could of tuning, voicing and regulating, his advances were rapid from the factory wareroom to the down-town sales emporium on Tremont street. There he applied himself diligently and was soon a first class salesman. He soon found his place, and for the past fourteen years he has been Vose & Sons retail sales manager.

Under president Stevens' directorship the New England Music Trades Association will make rapid strides towards greater trade progress in this locality.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Now Chief Event of Interest on Calumet Alleys

With the closing of the winter and ladies bowling tournaments, the mixed tournament now holds the chief interest on the alleys at the Calumet Club. These matches have always been the big thing of the winter in years past and this season the event draws a good gallery every evening. On Monday night teams 21 and 20 were the winners, each taking three points. Teams 18 and 19 lost. The scores were low, owing no doubt, to the extreme cold. Mrs. Paul Kneeland was high lady, she rolling a total of 178 with a string of 92. Miss Barnes got a string of 92. Mrs. Tuttle 83 Mrs. William Kneeland 82 and Mrs. Bennett 81. Mr. Paul Kneeland with a string of 102 was the only gentleman to top 100.

LADIES' TOURNAMENT CLOSES

Final matches in the ladies bowling tournament at the Calumet Club gave first prize to team H and second to team D. The tail-end scores proved to be the best of the season and completely upset the individual standing, which has not yet been figured.

The winning teams were:

1st. Team H. Mrs. J. R. Fausey, Capt.; Mrs. A. W. Pitman, Mrs. W. H. Bowe, Mrs. J. F. Tuttle. 29 won, 4 lost.

2d. Team D. Mrs. Frank White, Capt.; Mrs. B. F. Miner, Mrs. W. S. Wadsworth, Mrs. P. A. Goodale.

The tournament closed Tuesday afternoon when three postponed matches were rolled. The matches of Friday afternoon gave wins as follows: Team G, two from L; B, three from F; C, two from D. Team D could not have caught the winners, although it could have come very close to them had it won all its points. Mrs. Towne with 195 on 110 was high lady and other good scores were: Mrs. Goddard 182 with 98, Mrs. Simonds, 180 with 100, Mrs. Carleton 176 with 90, Mrs. White 175 with 93, Mrs. Snialley 162 with 83 and Mrs. Goodale 81.

Luke Rielly Says, "The Rat Died Before Reaching the River

"Since moving near the river 2 years ago, we've always used RAT-SNAP. Watched a vicious water rat, nibbling at RAT-SNAP outside the house. About 15 minutes later he darted off for the water, to cool his burning stomach, but he died before reaching it." Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Should women be put on trial for their faults?
Should women be put on trial for their faults? And should they be tried by men? Are their so-called weaknesses due to the mediocre demands of men? Do women know how to stick to ideals that are not social assets? What is the type of girl that invariably becomes an old maid? Do men put a premium on virtue?
These are a few of the questions that are discussed and answered in a tremendously stimulating article called "Supply and Demand." Every woman in America owes it to herself to read it.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Some of us think we are entitled to a lot of credit for performing a duty, and so we are.

There is always some man around who is ever ready to second the motion, except a motion that calls for work.

It is not a hard thing to stand pat when one has a comfortable seat.

Publicity is the mother of much charity.

Letters a man doesn't write are never read in court.

This has been a week of real winter weather. Opening Sunday with the worst day in several years, but one morning was experienced when the temperature was above the zero mark. The temperature readings as given in the STAR, by the way, are always taken at the gatemen's shanty in the centre.

According to a letter received by the Board of Selectmen at its meeting of Monday night, the reason for the darkened boulevard was given as follows: "Inasmuch as the old lighting system was very unsatisfactory, and also for the reason that lights on some of the outlying parkways seemed unnecessary, the Commission recently cut off the lights." It was reported that the matter of furnishing the thickly inhabited sections is under "investigation." Residents on the unlighted portion of the Parkway will certainly welcome the "investigation" if any opinion may be formed from comment. It would seem that before discontinuing the lights, which have been deemed necessary so many years, the matter of satisfactory system and necessity would be settled first. At the bad corner of the Parkway, Mt. Vernon street and Highland avenue the Town has already ordered two new lights installed, and this will furnish relief in at least one section.

PLEDGE CARDS

Editor, Winchester Star

Under date of Jan. 1, 1920 there is in circulation throughout the town a letter addressed to the "Parents of pupils in the Winchester High School" This letter which is signed by the School Committee seems to be in the nature of an attempt to clear up or explain what they are pleased to call the "misunderstanding" that has arisen in connection with the recent "pledge-card" affair in the school.

The Inter-Society Council is very glad to learn of this letter to the parents, but it is forced to look upon it in the light of an excuse for a most unfortunate ocurrence.

We have hoped that between Jan. 1 and the present time, the School Committee would have made public such explanations as they offered privately to the certain parents in the above mentioned letter. However as such has not been the case, and as the council feels that the question of asking high school pupils to sign "pledges" is one interesting to all citizens of Winchester irrespective of whether or not they have children in the high school, we would like to comment briefly on some of the explanations offered by the committee in their communcation with the thought that our remarks may prove interesting to the town's people as a whole.

In the first place it is alleged that to carry out the department's ruling forbidding participation in all school activities to those who choose to become members of certain town societies the principal of the school must know "just who are and who are not" connected with these organizations. The parents are led to believe that such information could not have been obtained directly from our societies in question. This is distinctly not the case. The council has absolutely no objection to giving either to the principal or the School Committee the names of the society members at present in the high school. Nor would the list be an exceptionally long one.

However, little as we object to making public the names of our members in school, we do object and most strenuously to the attempt to get any one to pledge him or herself to the statement that they "do not mean to join a society in the future." We believe that it is contrary to public opinion for the committee to request any one to sign himself to a definite policy in this question for a period of several years in advance.

Nevertheless, this thing has occurred and now that it has occurred the School Committee say they "have no desire to exact a promise from any pupil who is unwilling to give it." Very good, except that the time for such an announcement was when presenting the cards to the pupils, not some weeks after they had signed them.

In the letter of January 1 to the parents the statement is made that any pupil that has singend a pledge is at perfect liberty to withdraw his signature, if, after consultation with his parents he is desirous of doing so, and "the same privilege may be exercised at any time during the year." The council is very glad indeed to see the committee make this announcement, and trusts that there has been one of similar nature made right in the school itself so that this time there may not be even the remotest possibility of a misunderstanding on the point.

We must of course agree with the statement that the promise or pledge made "is in no sense a legal obligation;" but if the obligation is to be "purely moral" what is the pupil to think of the morality of being asked to sign a pledge that he will not do a thing and at the same time, or later, be told that after all his promise is nothing but a "scrap of paper" and can be disregarded at will? It seems very unfortunate that any one, and especially younger boys and girls, should be encouraged by authority to look lightly on the matter of a pledge and to be frankly told that it can be cancelled at will, and is in no way binding upon them. The council does not feel that it is good judgment to assure high school pupils that it is perfectly all right to disregard their pledged word.

And finally, in the third paragraph of their letter to the parents the School Committee brings up again the old question of "secret societies in the school." That word "in" is very important. We feel that they or any one else would have no end of trouble proving that the En Ka, Sigma Beta, Gamma Eta Kappa, and Phi Delta Societies are "school societies." In other words the council wishes to state that they distinctly are not such. In each of the above mentioned societies there have been members who never attended high school in Winchester. This of course could not be so if our organizations were connected with the school. No one would ever state that an athletic club, for instance, founded for the purpose of fostering athletics was a church society because some of its members belong to churches in the community. Then why assert that the societies in question are school societies just because some of their members do attend high school here? The council firmly believes that the organizations it represents are not in any sense of the word connected with the school and it sincerely hopes that the town's people will credit its members at least with knowing the nature of the societies to which they have belonged for several years.

A Little Mid-Winter Amusement

For a Best Last Line—Today, Tomorrow, and Every day Till Further Notice

The Boston Post

Is printing every day the first four lines of a "limerick"—a different "limerick" each day and is paying $100.00 each day for the best fifth line

To Illustrate How the "Limerick Contest" Is Conducted:

For example, on Thursday, Jan. 15, the Post printed the following first four lines of Limerick No. 3:

"Here's the Kaiser" (if Foch said to me),
"Now decide what his fate is to be,"
I promptly would say
"Just take him away,

Readers of the Post are invited to fill in the dotted line, completing the so-called "limerick."

Four days were allowed in which to write and mail the Last Lines to the Post

Every Last Line received was given careful consideration, and the Judges selected the following as the best.

"Sink and leave no trace!" (His own decree)

On Thursday, Jan. 22, a check for $100.00 was sent to the writer of the best last line, Mr. James H. Bonney, 73 Brett St., Brockton, Mass.

Similar method of procedure is followed with each successive Limerick.

MRS. HOWARD FRASER

Mrs. Howard Fraser, wife of Howard Fraser, the well-known YD veteran, died Saturday night at the Choate Memorial Hospital Woburn. Before marriage, Mrs. Fraser was Miss Florence McCall of this town, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCall. She was married to Mr. Fraser upon his return from France a year ago, and since that time has been living on Kilby street, Woburn. An infant daughter born to her Friday morning, died Friday afternoon. The funeral was held Tuesday from the home of Mrs. Howard

SNOW BOUND

This town has this week experienced one of the worst snow situations in many years. The snowfall of Friday and Saturday was disposed of promptly by the Highway Department but the gale which lasted from Saturday night to Monday morning caused numberless drifts, too hard for a horse plow to break through.

The Sewer and Tree Departments are assisting the Highway Department, the total force available being entirely too small to cover the entire town. There are 40 miles of public streets, 14 miles of private roads, and over 100 miles of walks, which were more than half blocked by the deep drifts and it will probably take several days more to open all the streets.

The men and horses are nearly exhausted from the long period of constant shovelling and plowing, and they deserve praise for the way they have responded in the emergency.

The school barge has not been able to reach the west side hill scholars, but all the other pupils have been able to attend their schools.

The conditions here are far better than in neighboring towns which have reported stalled street cars and closed schools.

Notice is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed executors of the will of Eliza W. Frost late of Winchester in the County of Middlesex, deceased, testate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are hereby required to exhibit the same: and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to Fred M. Hale. She will speak on the "British Labor Party." Mrs. Hale is a well-known actress, author and lecturer. She comes of the noted English family of that name. She is the granddaughter of the late Joseph Knight, F. S. A. celebrated as the editor of "Notes and Queries" (London) and the best known art and dramatic critic of the day; a daughter of Ian Forbes-Robertson, the well-known English actor, and a niece of Johnston Forbes-Robertson, the famous Shakesperian actor. The meeting will be in the First Congregational Church, on February 8th.

Professor Leo Wiener

The fourth meeting will be addressed by Professor Leo Wiener. He will speak on "Bolshevism." Professor Wiener is head of the Russian Literature Department of Harvard College. He is a Russian born, and thoroughly conversant with his subject. The meeting will be in the Church of the Epiphany, on February 15th.

John Spargo

The last meeting will be addressed by Mr. John Spargo. His subject will be "The Outlook for International Socialism." Mr. Spargo, economist, author and lecturer, has probably done more than any other person in this country to interpret to the educated men and women of America the ideals and achievements of the Socialist movement. Mr. Spargo was born in Cornwall, England, some forty years ago and was educated in the public schools, later taking the Oxford and Cambridge Universities' Extension courses. While pursuing these studies he earned his living and spent some time in the mines of Wales. At the age of 18, he became connected with the Social Democratic Party of Great Britain and, until his departure for America in 1901, he was exceedingly active in the trade union and the Socialist movement in that country, where he was intimately associated with William Morriss, Walter Crane and others. The meeting will be in the First Unitarian Church, February 22nd.

There will be no charge for admission. An offering will be taken at each meeting to defray the expenses. An opportunity will be given for questions to be asked. The public is cordiallly invited.

The Rev. Charles S. Bodwell will be the guest of the Unitarian Laymen's League at Metcalf Hall on Friday evening, February 6th. Mr. Bodwell will speak on his work among the aliens at Lawrence, and an interesting evening is assured.

MRS. MOSES P. RICHARDSON

Mrs. Sarah L. Richardson widow of Moses P. Richardson died at her home on Forest street, Monday night, January 19.

She was the daughter of Deacon Hiram Marsh, son of Captain Jonathon Marsh of the Revolution. Mrs. Richardson was born at Hudson, N. H., and spent her earlier years in that town finishing her education as a graduate at the New London Academy, after which she became a very successful teacher in the public schools, until her marriage. She has been a resident of Winchester for 47 years and was beloved by a large circle of friends. In her childhood days she united with the First Baptist Church at Hudson, N. H. and on coming to Winchester united with the First Baptist Church here, and was an active worker as long as her health permitted. She leaves two children, Mrs. Ida Maude Powers of Weathersfield, Vermont, and H. Earl Richardson of this town. She is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson of Hudson, N. H., Mrs. Daniel Gage of Winchendon, Mass. and Mrs. Frances Whitford of this town, also one brother, Mr. Walter H. Marsh formerly of this town, now of Brookline, Mass. Funeral services will be held today at 2 o'clock from her late home. The interment is to be in Wildwood Cemetry.

WINTHROP 12 WINCHESTER 11

In a close and well played game, Tuesday night, Winthrop High defeated Winchester by a score of 12 to 11. In the 2nd half Winchester came very near overcoming the Winthrop lead, and played a fine game. R. Hart, P. Hart and Fansey played well, and the entire team's work as a whole was good. The Winthrop 2nd team defeated Winchester 2nd by the low and close score of 9 to 8.

changes in the course of study, changes in school hours, changes in the method of conducting a school work or changes in educational aims, we move with the current or against it. As a people we move forward in education in very much the same way we move forward in government. We see the need of doing certain things. We try to do them; we fail or we succeed; we learn something from our success or failure and try again.

In our efforts to move forward we have need sometimes to avail ourselves of the advice of experts: sometimes to tell us what we ought to do, sometimes to tell us how we ought to do it; sometimes to tell us whether we are doing effectively what we are trying to do. The general trend of educational thought is to be found in the subject-matter of educational discussion and literature just as the general trend of political thought is found in the subject-matter of political discussion and literature.

The local school administrators and the local school teachers have at their command for their use and guidance the knowledge and experience of many other professional workers in the same field, which if conscientiously followed will help them in a general way to determine educational aims and practice, will help them to avoid serious blunders; in a word, will help prevent them from going backward or going wrong.

Our Pupils Young for Grade

A gradual shifting toward a lower age level due too a number of causes has been going on in our schools for some time. Several years ago the ninth grade was abolished, shortening the school period by one year. The entrance age for the first grade was left at five years and five months, while most school authorities agree that in an eight-grade system the minimum entrance age for admission to the first grade should be six years. A pupil is not usually regarded as over-age in the first grade until he is eight years old. We have not held pupils back when they have failed to reach a recognized standard. At the same time, small classes, group teaching, and individual help have operated to reduce almost to a minimum overage and retardation. The practice has always been, I believe, among our teachers to consider the interest of the child as above that of the system; in other words, when in doubt, to promote.

A comparison of the median ages of pupils in our schools with the medians of the ages of pupils of an equivalent grade in some other school systems is interesting.

In order to get a fair basis of comparison, I have taken the reports of ages and grades of six other towns and cities (Newton, Arlington, Springfield, Brockton, Somerville and Boston) whose schools may be taken as fairly representative of standard types. In these I find the median age for sixth grade pupils taken September first of the school year to be 11 years and 7 months, while the median age of Winchester pupils taken in the same way is 10 years and 11 months a difference of eight month. Passing to the first year of the High School, I find the median age for other towns to be 14 years and 4 months, while for Winchester taken over a period of five years it is 13 years and 10 months, a difference of six months.

We cannot expect to do the same type of work grade for grade that is done in other schools, if we are attempting to do it with children who are less matnre than the children in other schools. To attempt to do so places us at a serious disadvantage. We must seek some remedy. The most obvious one seems to be the raising of the entrance age for the first grade.

A New Voice

If you haven't heard it yet, you will soon—reverberating up and down through the land wherever farmers grow grain and livestock and fruits and vegetables and eggs and cotton and wool—echoing through every city where consumers now groan at the high cost of food and clothing. Dean Davenport, of Illinois, writing in

READ! SEE WHAT GIRL SCOUTS HAVE DONE

The Winchester Girl Scouts took a prominent part in the activities of the Great World War. They are still busy earning their scout badges, and doing many good deeds in the community.

Troop I, Miss Eugenia Parker, leader, has enjoyed camping at Norwood and also at Humarock Beach; at both camps they had unusual opportunities for out door activities. This troop have for the past two years helped cheer the inmates of the "Home for the Aged," the "Shut-ins" and the sick at our Hospital by singing carols at the Yuletide season. What a splendid spirit this instills in the young mind, the spirit of self sacrifice to make others happy. The providing a Christmas dinner to one deserving family and the sale of Red Cross Seals were among their many good turns. A play, entitled "Tommy's Wife," was such a great success that with the proceeds the Scouts were able to buy new uniforms for their troop and a small sum in the treasury.

At the big rally given in Boston recently, on the occasion of the visit to this country of Sir Robert Baden-Powell, the founder of the Boy Scout movement, two members of Troop I were selected to help serve the dinner given by Mrs. James J. Storrow for Sir Baden-Powell and his wife. Harriet Smith cooked the shad served at the dinner and Cathleen Case assisted in the general preparation of the food. In December at the annual election of officers the following were elected for the ensuing year; Katherine Pike Patrol Leader for Troop II. Rebecca Barrett Chairman; Rosamond Lefavour, Secretary; Dorothy Lewis, Treasurer.

Troop II under Mrs. Robert C. Boone, Capt., at Christmas 1918 sent a box to orphans in a Southern colored School and gave a War Saving Stamp each to the Winchester Hospital and to the Home for Aged People. Two thrift stamps were earned by each girl to purchase the stamps above mentioned. For Valentine's day they made and sent Valentines to the Home for Aged People, and at the time of the Red Cross Drive all the girls of the three patrols became members.

Last Christmas 1919 they sold Red Cross Seals, gave $5 from their treasury toward the Christmas dinners given by the town and sang carols for "Shut Ins" Christmas eve. Last February Patrol I planned and cooked a dinner inviting Patrol II to be their guests and in January 1920 Patrol I planned and cooked a dinner inviting Patrol III in the same manner. Six of the girls enjoyed a summer camping trip of two weeks and all the girls have gone on several hikes where they built fires and cooked their picnic lunch.

Troop III with twenty-four girls was organized in the spring of 1917 under Mrs. Chas. H. Eastwick and from that time through the following year was very active.

Their work for tests went rapidly and well. They had many hikes, picnics, and coasting parties and gave several interesting demonstrations of scouting for groups of their parents. They met once a week to do work for the Surgical Dressing Committee. 5,000 pieces were finished done entirely by the girls including basting, machine stitching, pressing and folding of the finished articles. A large number of articles were knit at home. They also made records selling Liberty Bonds. This winter they have sold Red Cross Stamps and one girl has sent a package of pictures to French school children. Owing to lack of an active leader this winter they have done little else.

Troop IV under Mrs. S. P. Williams Capt., have sent Valentines to the Home for Aged People and Valentines and candy to the Winchester Hospital. They sent a large envelope of colored pictures to a French school in December and sold 600 Red Cross Seals. Picnics in the Fells and at the site of the Old Middlesex Canal have proved of much fun and twice when it rained, indoor picnics were held at the Captain's home. Lunch consisting of sandwiches with the addition of sausage, bacon, apples and fried toast cooked in the fireplace was voted delicious. At one picnic a large sack of beans was shelled for one of the teachers who had been unable to do it herself. Several dozen towels made from old spreads and finished by buttonholing the edge were completed for the Women's City Club last spring. An interesting visit to old Salem was made by several of the Scouts with their Captain in the summer.

Troop VI under Miss Ella M. Emerson, Capt., is the most recently organized troop in town. These Scouts were invested in March 1919. In the spring the girls enjoyed a number of hikes and had one picnic on Indian Hill where they were taught the use of the out door fire place. In May the Scouts atended the Rally in Boston. In August the Scouts in this Troop sent two dollars, as a contribution, to the Baby Hygiene Association and two dollars to the Morgan Memorial for their Fresh Air Work. In the fall they had another picnic on Indian Hill and cooked their own supper. About Thanksgiving seven pounds of candy were sent to a school at Pippa Pass, Kentuckey. The Scouts with Capt. Emerson visited the Thrift Exposition given by the Fortnightly in December and the same day called on Mr. Joel H. Metcalf and looked at the moon through his telescope. At Christmas the girls were active selling Red Cross Seals and are now collecting cards and pictures to be sent to France for use in the schools there. The Scouts of this troop are at present busy working for their Second Class Tests.

About fifty Winchester Girl Scouts attended the Rally given in Boston in May when Sir Baden-Powell spoke to the 2000 girls assembled. The Scouts marched in the Winchester Victory Parade last Fourth of July, carrying a banner bearing the inscription "The Girl Scout of To-day is the Woman of Tomorrow."

A year ago Christmas the Girl Scouts entertained a group of fifty deserving children at a Christmas party. This proved so successful that this last year they were asked to double the number of their guests and care for one hundred children, chosen by Mr. Nichols, custodian of the schools.

The Scouts made and filled candy bags, popped corn, and furnished apples. The Winchester Girl Scout Council furnished the ice cream and the Charity Committee gave the candy and presents.

The party was given two days after Christmas. There was a large Christmas tree which the Scouts trimmed with ornaments and candy bags. When the children arrived the Scouts played games with them, sang songs, and every child was given a bag of pop corn and candy, an ice cream cone and a present and as they went out each one received an apple.

The little guests looked supremely happy and each Scout did her share to make the party a success.

GIRL SCOUT CAMPAIGN WEEK OF JANUARY 26-31

The object of the coming campaign for Associate Members of the Girl Scouts is to interest more people in the Scout movement, to obtain more leaders and to raise funds to carry on the work. This work will be done by women of Winchester who are either members of the Scout council or willing to give time and effort to help the Girl Scout Campaign. The Council decided at its January meeting that the Winchester girls would not do any soliciting. The girls are urged to wear their pins in a prominent place during the week. The Speaker's Committee is planning to have "Four Minute" Speakers at each organization, meeting in the town, during this week and next week.

Mrs. William A. Lefavour, Campaign Chairman; Mr. Marcus B. May, Treasurer.

CITIZENSHIP LECTURE

State Commissions and their Functions was the subject of the fifth lecture in the series which was most ably presented by Mr. Charles A. Briggs of Norwood on Tuesday afternoon in the High School Library.

Massachusetts was the first state in the Union to establish Commissions and her first venture was a Board of Education. Until recently, she had more than one hundred Boards or Commissions which have been consolidated for better efficiency into sixteen departments. Of these the lecturer had but time to deal with five.

The Department of Edducation is of the first importance, because upon it depends the life of the State. The Commissioner of Education is the head of the department and receives a salary of $7500. He has a board of six advisers, serving without pay, two members of this board are women and one is appointed by the teachers of the State. As early as 1634 Mass. passed a law making the mother responsible for the literacy of her child, then the district asumed the responsibility, and finally the township. This final arrangement would work well if wealth were equally distributed, but we know that a little town with little money means a poor school. In this state there are 350,000 persons over ten years of age who are illiterate; there are 2500 untrained teachers receiving a salary of less than $500. Ten Normal Schools are operating way below capacity. $14 a week is a living wage only for a teacher. To meet this situation, a law has been passed securing an appropriation of $4,000,000 which shall be so spent that it will secure an equality of opportunity to every child in this state. And yet there were those so blind who worked last summer to secure a referendum on this law. It is a significant fact that Massachusetts, the pioneer in establishing a Board of Education, should be the lowest on the list of 48 state to assure the proper responsibility for the education of children. Our standards are the lowest, because Massachusetts as a state spends less per scholar.

The Department of Corrections was next considered. Since Prohibition has been in operation there has been a steady decrease in the patronage of country jails. Three, then five, then eight, now sixteen county jails have less than twenty inmates. These county institutions are places of incarnation and not reformation State jails, on the other hand encourage and promote industry. It is in the State jails that the automobile number plates are made. The State farms also serve their purpose. Near Rutland there are honor camps which house 927 delinquents who do farm work. Of these only 17 have attempted to run away. The Department of Corrections is working to close the county jails for obvious reasons. This righteous measure would cut off the sherriffs who are naturally unwilling to relinquish their positions.

The Department of Labor and Industries has one commissioner at a salary of $7500; assistant commissioner receives $4000. The Minimum Wage Commission also comes under this head and there is always a woman on this board. These people are always appointed by the Governor. This Department enforces such laws as the 45 minute lunch period. The candy makers asked to have this period shortened but their request was denied. Violations of the Child Labor Law are constantly being decreased by this Department with the co-operation of school principals and others who have found boys 9 years of age working in bowling alleys, and boys 14 and 15 working in slaughter houses at 2 o'clock in the morning.

The Dept. of Public Utilities. The head commissioner receives $8000 subcommissioners $7000. This department assumes the responsibility for public transportation. Massachusetts is dependent for progress upon her people and the industries where they work are dependant upon transportation. The railway situation is the sick man. Before the war, 636 trains passed daily in and out of the North Station. Today we have but 368, service is poor, rolling stock depleted, net earnings have fallen off and the street car service aggravates the situation. The case of Philadelphia was cited as a solution to the street-car problem. In 1910 the street car service was as bad as ours. Co-operation was the keynote of Philadelphia's success in dealing with difficulties. The stock holders were told to wait until the public, the motor men and the conductors had had a fair deal. $.22 was set aside from every dollar for expenses. Motormen now receive $.48 an hour, dividends have increased to 5 per cent. Public spirit must be aroused to the fact that public utilities if not publicly owned must be publicly controlled.

The Homestead Commission. To solve housing conditions and to avoid the menace of the "double deckers," the State has built 13 houses on a tract of land in Lowell. These houses have been sold or let. This department asks for another appropriation to build workingmen's homes, allowing land for a garden plot. Those problems must be solved by eliminating self interest and personalities in behalf of public interest.

PROBATE AND OTHER COURT NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Christie of Waverley have each been sued for $1000 in actions of tort by Edward H. Stone of Winchester. He alleges that on June 13, 1919, while driving his automobile in Stoneham near the corner of Lindenwood road and Main street his car was damaged by the defendant's machine collided with it.

Horace K. Libby of Winchester has asked to be appointed administrator of the estate of his mother, Mrs. Dorcas P. Libby, who died December 31, 1919. The estate is valued at $2600 all in personal property.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goodhue of Winchester have been given permission to adopt Dorothy Pauline Wyatt, aged 2, of Boston, by the Probate Court. Her name has been changed to Dorothy Pauline Goodhue.

WINCHESTER ALLEY NOTES

Well after two weeks rest here we are again with all the live bowling news.

We have been running matches regularly between the different shop teams and some good ones have been the result.

The Eastern Felt team seems to have one of the best teams we have seen here for some time. They beat the Woburn Machine Co easily by 117 pins.

Roger Noonan, Bill Murphy, Chas. McGondel Nap, Chamberlain and Jim Donnelly of Arlington comprise this team.

They will roll against Whitney one night this week and a great match should result.

Chapman Mfg. Co. with George Joyce at the helm are going along in good shape. Cassidy of this team seems to be a good roller.

There are now three or four teams at the Whitney place and great rivalry exists between them. Outside of Whitney's Specials, Bob Davenport's team looks the best.

Murphy, Flynn and Bob are holding their end up and are ably backed by Dan Callahan as anchor man.

Johnson of Whitneys is another good bowler and has made great figures in the last month or so.

A match is in the making between Whitney's best team and the pick of the others and then watch the pins fall.

Puffer Mfg. Co. are soon to get a team, and Dick Mahoney will look after it. He says he can get some bowlers up there that will make the rest of the teams forget they know how to bowl.

Jim Rogers visited Woburn the other night and rolled with some team from the shop, getting a great (?) string of 234. I think Jim better stay around with the regular bowlers if he wishes to get anywhere.

Bart Connelly walked in here the other day and challenged Jerry Sullivan to a match. Jerry accepted and gave Bart a nice beating, bowling altogether 7 strings.

If you want to see some real bowlers come in any evening and watch Tom McMahon, McCull, Jack Moynihan, Bill Rogers, Geo. Osborne and G. G. at a match; if any one of them roll less than 100, they are considered of no class.

G. G. brought in a rabbits foot the other evening and rolled 143 for a string; the other fellows insisted that he give up his charm or they would quit. It did not make any difference though he rolled 126, 121, 119 and 116 so there was no rabbits foot on this lot of strings.

We had a big match advertised for the alleys Wednesday night but owing to unforseen circumstances it had to be called off. It will now take place Tuesday night, January 27th. $25 has been placed as a forfeit for the appearance of the Winchester team and $25 more will be placed before Saturday for the appearance of the Boston five.

They say the Central Garage is going to get up a team and go after some of the fives around town. Well, come right along, we can get you a match any night.

Well for the love of Mike where is the Laundry Crowd? With all the good bowlers over there they should have a match nearly every week. Arnie Perry, Fitz and Gutierrez wake up, start something before the grass starts to gow.

Con Manning wants to challenge any general man in Winchester for a five string match any night on alley No 5.

Watch this column for all the news of all the bowlers. They all bowl at Mack's Winchester Alleys.

ODD FELLOWS BOWLING

Team 6 rolled up a big score last Thursday night and took three points from Team 1. Team 2 also won three points and teams 4 and 5 one point each. Team 3 took all four points. George Osborne was high man for the evening.

On Monday night Mrs. Rufus Clark gave a dinner at the Calumet Club to the members of her bowling team and the members of team 14 with whom the evening's match was bowled The dinner was served in the Director's room, and the party included Mr. and Mrs. George E. Willey, Mr. Perkins, Miss Elizabeth Downs, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Breen. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph U. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Clark.

A "box supper party" is to be held in Metcalf Hall on the evening of Thursday, January 29th. The affair, which is given under the auspices of the Unitarians, will be unique. Each lady attending is requested to bring supper for two, and at the dance which follows a feature will be made of the old fashioned dances. The evening opens at 6.30 and promises to be a decided success, if the enthusiasm with which its announcement has been received may be taken for judgment.

The following young ladies enjoyed a sleigh ride to Pine Tree Inn, Reading, on Monday evening:—The Misses Alice Fenton, Helen J. Doherty, Mildred Stowers, Eva Tracy, Florence Jewett, Elsie Bartzsch, Kathryn McCormick, Clara Macdonald, Elsie Gosse, Maud Betts, Jennie Sands, Charlotte Smith, Viola Webber. Catherine Manning and Hilda Johnson, chaperoned by Mrs. E. T. Wolloff. Supper was served at 8.00 o'clock after which, dancing was enjoyed by all. Miss Helen Doherty presided at the piano Miss Mildred Stowers gave an exhibition in dancing, which was very interesting.

The Wadleigh School

Important changes in the organization and work of the Wadleigh School introduced this year under the supervision of Mr. Raymond E. Pinkham, the new principal, merit special notice. These changes look toward the development of a Junior High School. In brief, they are characterized by an extension of departmental teachin, the adaptation of the subject-matter of instruction to the needs of different groups of pupils and an attempt to motivate the school work by utilizing pupils' interests and activities.

Departmental Work

One aim of the junior high school is to prepare pupils for the different type of organization and teaching they meet on entering the High School The proportion of departmental teaching is increased through the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, until in the eighth grade pupils are quite accustomed to the method. In order to avoid leaving different pupils without someone to look after their interests the home teacher of each room acts as the pupil counselor for the pupils of her group.

Introduction of French

The advantage of pupils beginning a foreign language before they enter the High School has long been recognized. We have chosen French as the language best suited to our needs and haveintroduced it in the eighth grade. Only those pupils are allowed to take it who are able to do the extra work in addition to the regular course. The basis on which children are permitted to take French is their previous school record. Those not taking French take extra work in arithmetic and English.

General Science

Generl science for four periods a week is offered in the eighth grade. The aim is to introduce the pupil to different branches of science and to test his interest in the subject and his fitness to pursue it further in High School.

Community Civics

A course in Community Civics has been added to the course in history in the seventh and eighth grades. The aim of this is to teach every pupil something of his community, state and governcent and to train him in habits of good citizenship.

Pupil Activities

A number of pupils organizations carried on mainly outside of school hours help to make school work more interesting for the pupils. Among these may be mentioned:

A special chorus—Pupils having superior ability in music have the privilege of taking chorus work one period a week at the High School.

A poultry club and a home econo-

PLAY PRESENTED IN BOSTON BY WADLEIGH PUPILS

A group of pupils from Grade eight, Wadleigh School, gave a play entitled "Your Town and Mine" before a very appreciative audience last Saturday at the New England Women's Club Building Boston. The audience was composed of members of the Saturday Morning Citizenship Class held under direction of the Massachusetts Equal Suffrage Association. The play was based on Town Government and showed how Tony, an Italian gardener who wished to become an American citizen, was helped to understand the duties of various officials of the town through the kindness of Mr. Smith his employer. The following were the characters:

Mr. Smith, a real American	Daniel Kelley
Tony Russo, the gardener	Howard Pecker
Chairman of Selectmen	Richard Clark
Other members of the Board	Hall Gamage
Malcolm Jones, Sidney Pecker, Fred Cole

MR. EUSTIS SUPERINTENDENT

At the last meeting of the Board of Cemetery Commissioners, Mr. Henry J. Winde presented his resignation as superintendent of the cemetery. Mr. Winde still remains on the board and will be a candidate for reelection at the March meeting. He has held the position for a number of years and has been a most efficient officer, to whom much credit for keeping and conducting our cemetery has been due.

Mr. Ernest R. Eustis of the board was elected superintendent in Mr. Winde's place.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

The engagement has been announced of Miss Jula Crawford, of 12 Park Road, to Mr. Irving S. Buckler of Woburn.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING, JANUARY 26, 1920

The Board met at 7 o'clock P. M. Present Messrs. Kidder, Emerson, Newman and Simonds.

The records of the meeting of January 19 were read and approved.

Town Hall Building (Town Hall): Mr. E. R. Porter, Manager Architect's Service Department, H. W. Johns-Manville Company of Massachusetts appeared before the Board in regard to improving the acoustical properties of the Town Hall. Mr. Porter explained at some length what could be done to improve the hall and showed pictures of halls which had been fixed over by this company so as to better the acoustics. Mrs. J. Waldo Bond of 195 Highland Avenue appeared later in regard to the same matter. On account of the expense and the fact that the budget for 1920 had already been made up, no action was taken.

Town Hall Engagements 1920 (Y. D. Club): The Y. D. Club of Winchester was granted the use of the Town Hall on Friday, February 6, 1920 from 7.30 P. M. to 12 M. for the purpose of conducting a concert and ball in honor of Major General C. R. Edwards.

Mystic Valley Parkway: A letter was received from Mr. James A. Bailey, Commissioner of the Metropolitan District Commission stating that the Commission has arranged to reestablish some of the old lights along thickly settled portions of the public ways, and in a few places which seem to be in paticular need of lighting.

The meeting adjourned at 8.50 P. M.

Clerk of Selectmen

COUNTRY CLUB MEETING

At the annual meeting of the Winchester Country Club this week it was decided to make still further additions to the club house on Mystic street from $25,000 to $30,000 to be expended in increasing locker space and the dining rooms. It was further voted to raise the initiation fee from $60 to $100. A move to increase the membership from 400 to 425 was not carried owing to the necessity of a two-thirds vote.

In increasing the club house accommodations it is proposed to have a new caddy house and join the main house with the locker building. Improvments will also be made at the 17th and 18th greens. A special meeting will probably be called, so it is reported, to again take up the matter of increasing the membership. The fee for guests on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays has been raised from $1 to $2.

The following officers were elected:
President—John Abbott.
Vice-President—Walter O'Hara
Treasurer—Joseph L. S. Barton
Secretary—Robert B. Metcalf.

Mr. James Nowell, retiring secretary, was elected a member of the Board of Directors, and Mr. Carl F. Woods was also elected to the Board in place of Mr. James W. Russell, Jr., who retires.

CONCERT TONIGHT

The January ladies' night at the Calumet Club takes place this evening, the program being a concert by the Symphony Quintet. This organization, composed of members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, includes Carlos Pinfield, violin; Robert Gunderson, violin; V. Vladimir, viola; Carl Stockbridge, cello and Wallace Conant, piano. Assisting these artists will be Miss Sophia Charak, soprano and Miss Bertha Morgan, reader.

The affair will be the most pretentious evening yet arranged at the club and will be among the features given in town this winter. The program includes a carefully selected list of numbers which will give much pleasure to the critical lovers of good music as well as to those who enjoy tuneful airs presented by expert artists. Both the soloist and reader come to Winchester backed by the highest recommendations as to their ability and charm.

Owing to the large attendance at the social functions at the club this winter, the attendance has been confined strictly to members.

FREE PEWS

Editor of the Star:

In your issue of January 23 in the report of the annual meeting of the First Congregational Church occurs an unintentioned error in the statement referring to the free pew system the Parish and Church will put into effect on January 1, 1921, when it is stated "This will be an innovation in this town where it has never before been done."

There are nine (9) denominations worshipping in Winchester and at present (1920) the sittings in at least five, First Baptist, Methodist Episcopal, Second Congregational, New Hope Baptist and Christian Science, are free.

Free pews have been the rule in many Churches in this country for a long time, and while church budgets are constantly increasing in amount the strong tendency is to do away with the pew rental system depending for the necessary expenses of maintaining places of worship upon subscriptions and free will offerings.

Many years ago the First Congregational Church tried the free pew system but returned to the old custom after a trial of the plan for a single year.

Of course no real damage was done by the mistake in the Star last week but as the First Congregational Church may be the sixth or possibly the seventh to put the free pew system into force in Winchester I trust in the interest of accuracy you will find space to insert this item.

ANNUAL SUPPER

Big Attendance at Congregational Church Friday Night

There was an attendance of about 425 members at the annual supper of the First Congregational Church last Friday night, notwithstanding the extreme winter weather, and the affair was one of the best held by the church in recent years.

A large committee of ladies, headed by Mrs. Maurice F. Brown, Mrs. George E. Willey and Mrs. Walter W. Wadsworth, had the supper in charge, and to them is due in a large measure the satisfaction experienced by all who attended. The chairmen were aided by a number of sub-committees including the following:

Dining room: Mrs. Arthur D. Speedie, Mrs. William R. McIntosh, Mrs. Gilbert Wilkes, Mrs. James B. Lord, Mrs. Arthur W. Mudge, Mrs. Ernest G. Engstrom, Miss Grace Yeaton, Mrs. Arthur H. Richardson and Miss Edmunds.

Decorations: Miss Anna Clark, Mrs. Maurice M. Thompkins, Mrs. Walter L. Rice, Mrs. L. W. Puffer, Mrs. W. P. Brooks and Mrs. J. C. Folts.

Cake: Mrs. John B. Boyce and Mrs. Frederick W. Bridge.

Jelly: Mrs. Walter L. Rice.

Hostesses: Mrs. James Corey and sixty ladies.

Mrs. Wm. Kneeland, Mrs. Maurice Thompkins, Mrs. W. I. Palmer, Mrs. William Lefavour, Miss Pullen, Mrs. Frank White, Mrs. Runnells, Mrs. J. C. Adams, Mrs. Gage, Mrs. Manuel Lombard, Mrs. Wm. R. Hawes, Mrs. Wm. McIntosh, Mrs. Herbert Brooks, Mrs. Joshua Phippen, Mrs. Walter Rice, Miss Vinton, Miss Grace Stone, Mrs. James Lord, Mrs. W. W. Mobbs, Miss Elizabeth Ordway, Mrs. Fletcher Parker, Mrs. W. H. Balcke, Mrs. Phillips Bourne, Miss Anna Clark, Mrs. Frank Rowe, Mrs. Randall, Mrs. A. T. Smith, Mrs. Geo. Smith, Mrs. F. A. Parshley, Mrs. Julius Folts, Miss Edith Swett, Miss Cassie Sands, Mrs. Edward Walloff, Mrs. A. L. Puffer, Miss Josephine Quimby, Miss Eugenia Elliot, Mrs. Geo. Saltmarsh, Mrs. Roland Simonds, Mrs. Chas. Kendall, Mrs. C. M. Whipple, Mrs. Mudge, Mrs. G. B. Whitehorne, Mrs. Cayting, Mrs. Allen Wood, Mrs. Alonzo Woodside, Mrs. Howard Wright, Mrs. Geo. Eaton, Mrs. Geo. Hamilton, Mrs. Daniel Kelley, Mrs. Hammer, Mrs. Frank Reynolds, Mrs. Dr. Emery, Mrs. Shuster, Mrs. H. S. Parsons, Mrs. Wilkes, Mrs. Carrier, Mrs. Engstrom and Mrs. Hayward.

Waitresses: Mrs. William L. Hall, Mrs. J. C. Folts and Progress Club.

Tickets: Mrs. William I. Palmer.

Including the guests 450 persons were served at the long tables which filled the vestries to capacity. During the supper Mrs. William A. Lefavour rendered piano solos and Mr. George E. Willey sang several selections, the general singing being led by Mr. T. Grafton Abbott. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Jason Noble Pierce of the Second Congregational Church of Dorchester, who gave a most interesting and entertaining talk under the subject of 'What's Ahead." Rev. Frank O. Hall offered the prayer.

SMITH—RYAN

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Clara Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Ryan of 6 Lebanon street, and Mr. Nelson Charles Smith, of Philadelphia, was solemnized on Wednesday evening at St. Mary's parochial residence at seven-thirty by Rev. John W. H. Corbett.

The bride and groom were attended by Miss Margaret Murphy of Stoneham as maid of honor and Mr. Pierce J. Ryan of this town, brother of the bride, as groomsman. The bride wore a dress of white charmeuse satin trimmed with georgette crepe. Her veil was of white silk tenet, fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried bride's roses. The maid of honor wore flesh colored chiffon with flesh colored crepe de chine picture hat and carried pink sweet peas.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony which was largely attended, an old fashioned turkey supper being served to 50 guests during the evening. Piano selections were rendered by Mrs. W. Cleary and songs were contributed by Mrs. J. Laughran, Miss Margaret Haggerty, Miss Annie McGann, Mr. John O'Neil and Mr. James J. Ryan.

The ushers were Lt. Com. J. M. Sheehan and Ensign F. C. Bark of the U. S. Naval Air Station, Chatham; Mr. James J. Ryan of Binghampton, N. Y., brother of the bride; Chief Boatswain Romeo F. Booth of the U. S. Naval Air Station, Chatham; Mr. Augustus D. Masse of West Somerville and Lt. Jefferson Bunte of Philadelphia, cousin of the groom.

The couple were assisted in receiving by Mrs. D. J. Ryan, Mrs. A. McCan, of Foxchase, Penn., mother of the groom; Mrs. Murphy of Stoneham and Mrs. A. Masse of Somerville, sister of the bride.

An abundance of beautiful and useful gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who are now on a wedding journey to Washington, D. C.

LECTURE ON THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

A free public lecture on America's Attitude toward the League of Nations will be given under the auspices of the Education Committee of The Fortnightly on Tuesday evening, Feb. 3, at 8 o'clock in the High School Assembly Hall. The speaker, Mr. Alden G. Alley, is instructor in English in Milton Academy and was a lieutenant of infantry in the Expeditionary Forces.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending Jan. 29: Influenza 4, mumps 5, measles 2, chicken pox 3.

CITIZENSHIP LECTURE

The last lecture in the Citizenship Course was stimulating and full of human interest. In dealing with such a broad subject as State Care of Dependents and Delinquents Mrs. Martha Helen Elliot succeeded in demonstrating most comprehensively the way in which the State deals with these problems suggesting needed innovations and commending the work that is being done along these lines. The State spends for her Public and Private Dependents $35,000,000 a year, which as our population is rated amounts to about $10 per capita charge for charitable purposes. The State Poor are divided into 3 groups, the State Minor Wards, the Adult Poor, and the State's Sick.

State Minor Wards: The children over three are boarded in homes and are under the care of state visitors. Formerly, boys and girls on reaching the ages of fourteen were placed on farms or in homes to do housework, but now visitors try to fit them into homes and work for which they are adapted. If they are studious and eager, the way is opened, and many State wards go thro' High School and some even thro' college. Massachusetts, has a well worked out plan for the interrelation of service on the part of public departments and private agencies providing for children. This is done by the department of State Minor Wards and such agencies as the Boston Children's Aid Society for the Care of Girls, Catholic Charitable Bureau, The New England Home for Little Wanderers, etc. These young wards are under the care of the State, but the cities or towns from whence they come must reimburse the State for their care.

The adult poor are cared for in many ways, in State institutions under the supervision of the State Board of Charity. If the fortunes of these people brighten, they are not compelled to stay, but while they stay they perform the regular work ordered by those in charge. Mother's Aid comes under the Adult Poor Department. The law reads that mothers and children who receive this aid shall not be classed as paupers, because of the sickness or death of the bread winner. It is a much better policy to keep the children at home under the mother's care.

The State's sick are cared for in various hospitals and infirmaries. The tubercular sanitaria in Rutland, Reading, Lakeville and Westfield cared for 2400 cases in 1918. The Mass. Hospital School at Canton with a capacity of 300 provides care for crippled and deformed children of the Commonwealth between the ages of 5 and 14. These children are being taught all sorts of trades which make them helpful men and women, rather than unhappy public charges. The Pekenise Hospital for Lepers in Boston Harbor has a capacity for 19 cases. During this last year there were thirteen there. At Waverly from 1400 to 1600 of the feebleminded are cared [illegible] as public charges and at Wrentham the State has 1200 feeble minded. In these institutions, the children are carefully classified and most of them are capable of doing useful work of many kinds under supervision. When the Belchertown institution is completed, it will help much in the care and registration of a large number more of these State charges.

Another important group is the insane, over 15,000 in number. The criminally insane are at Bridgewater, the Epileptics at Monson, and the others are distributed at 10 other hospitals throughout the State. Work has been found to be of the greatest benefit. It is to be regretted that there is such a lack of equipment and of teachers for this special need. Here the social service work is most valuable.

Juvenile delinquency was discussed, and the need of co-ordinating and correlation of work was made very plain. Judge Cabot's definition of the function of a Juvenile Court is to put a child in normal relations with society as quickly as possible. The need of a clearing house in dealing with juvenile delinquency was emphasized. Get at the causes and conditions which are responsible for this problem. Better probation work would mean the lessening of our jail population.

The work at the Sherborn prison for women was described in a most interesting way. Here the problem is that of defective delinquency. Last year 48 per cent of the inmates were sub-normal. The women are given as much freedom as possible, and under Mrs. Hodder's care the prison is kept spotlessly clean. Still there are problems of classification which are difficult to solve, such as the separation of the defective delinquents from the normal women; of girls of 20, young in crime from the offenders with a long and bad record.

The conditions in the Charlestown State Prison where the worst offenders are confined beggets description. There is no opportunity for exercise in the open air, no possibilities of reasonable light and ventilation, and sanitary conditions are indescribable. What can be expected of an able-bodied man living in a cell scarcely large enough to contain his bed and himself. A normal man would only plan more depredation when released, and for the mentally feeble such conditions are unjust.

Here classification and social service are needed, but first of all an up to date prison for men, that will compare with Sherborn for women.

Precaution should be the watchword. Here is a brief list of the things we most need if we are to live up to our heritage.

1 Classification of criminals so that the Defective Delinquent may be separated.

2 Completion of Belchertown to full capacity.

3 Abolition of County Jails and Schools.

4 Joining of Prison authorities under a central command.

5 A division of the Department of Mental Diseases devoted solely to the care of the feeble minded in institution and community.

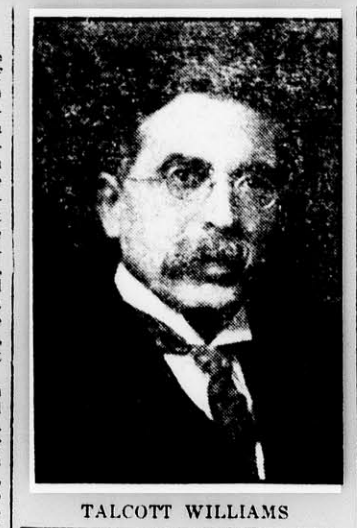

6 More special classes in the Schools.

7 A Hospital for State Minor Wards.

8 Physical and mental examinations of every child during school periods.

9 More Juvenile Courts.

10 More Probation Officers.

TALCOTT WILLIAMS

The first meeting of the Community Forum, under the auspices of the Protestant Churches, was a great success. The meeting was largely attended and the address by Mr. Moors on "Mexico" an illuminating exposition of the situation. The next meeting, which is to be held at the Methodist Church, next Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, promises to be even more interesting. The speaker will be Talcott Williams. Subject: "The American Solution of the Labor Party."

For many years Talcott Williams has been one of the leading journalists in this country. Before being made Director of the School of Journalism at the Pulitser Foundation at Columbia University in 1912, he had been on the staff of the New York World.

He is a member of the American Philosophical Society, American Academy of Political and Social Science.

TROOP 1 PARENT'S NIGHT

About sixty parents and friends of the Boy Scout Troop I of Winchester saw the performance of the troop on Parent's Night last week.

It had been expected that representatives from Troop I of Lexington would also attend and see special features presented for them. They did not arrive but the special features were given just the same.

The first part of the performance included drill of candidates by Max Hammond and Freddie Alexander, after opening preliminaries led by Officers Downer and John Martin.

The special event for the Lexingtons were featured by some comical—really comical—work in singing by Riddle and Kelly—2 good members. John Tucker who did more for the evening's entertainment than any other one boy, led in a Chinese song, in a song about Old Mother Hubbard and in a natural history burlesque song, and was ably seconded by Horne and Clifton. Albert Horne and Max Hammond ran a dialogue which seemed to please. Mention should be made here of the excellent work of Albert Horne in diving—one of the hits of the evening.

Benny Priest's monologues were inimitable and the work of the Band, McNeilly on the Cornet, Joslin on the Saxaphone, North on the violin and Flanders on the drum, will be long remembered by those who heard. For centuries there have been so-called musical competitions and the Band of Troop I challenges any Boy Scout band in Massachusetts to a match, all the members of the band to be members of a single troop as Troop I's Band is.

The scout work of the evening was given just the right start by Junior Kelley in the Scout oath, and Downer and Riddle led the singing of the Troop songs with great enthusiasm and marked results. Riddle's work as well as that of Martin and Taylor in "bandaging" was noticable. Hallock and Mitchell in the carries won first place. Gray continued to hold first place in the fireman's lift, Woodbury and Larrabee gained the championship of the Troop in Morse Signalling. Gray and Sherman retained their place as champions in the litter drill competition, and Tucker and North won the title in the human hoop-rolling competition over eight other contestants. Tucker also showed a trick on the rings that only two others could do. Flanders was the feature man in diving over one chair and Martin's and Horne's work in the Martin fancy dive was striking.

The base running team of Prime and Sherman for seniors, and Flanders and Taylor for juniors took the titles and they are ready to defend them.

It was a great night and will be celebrated by the boys later. The way in which the younger and newer members of the troop backed up and helped out the older members, and the way all members backed up the officers couldn't help but result in a successful evening, and is bound to effect the same results in other lines.

BOY SCOUTS

The latest statistics show that troop 3 of Winchester has 13 First Class Scouts, 7 second class scouts, and 4 tenderfoot scouts. Two of the First Class scouts are Eagle scouts, which is the highest degree of attainment in scouting. The First Class scouts together hold 116 merit badges.

MLLE. JULIA MERLE d' AUBIGNE AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

Mille d' Aubigne the youngest daughter of the Genevese historian will speak in the Unitarian Church Sunday morning.

For many years she was associated with the temperance movement in France and began setlement work in Lille in 1908. She was fortunately absent from the city at the beginning of the war and unable to return there went to Paris where she was actively engaged in war relief work until after the signing of the Armissice.

She will speak of the Heroes and Pastors of France. The Public is cordially invited.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. LAKE

Mrs. Frances Lake, aged 65 years, wife of Mr. Stephen D. Lake, manager of the Winchester Rock and Brick Co. was taken suddenly ill with heart trouble yesterday afternoon while out walking. She was taken to her home at 17 Clematis street, where she died within an hour.

Mrs. Lane was stricken on Washington street near Lincoln street. She was taken into the house of James Gargas and the police notified. She apparently revived, and was taken to her home in the police auto and doctors were called. Her condition did not improve, however, and she died shortly after reaching her home.

She leaves a husband and two daughters. The funeral services will be held Saturday from her daughter's home at Coxsackie, N. Y.

YD BALL FEBRUARY 6

Announcement is made this week of an entertainment, concert and ball for the benefit of the YD fund to be held here on Friday evening, Feb. 6th in the Town Hall.

The affair will be the most pretentious yet given by the local veterans as they have listed on the entertainment program no less a personage than Mr. Frank P. Sibley, the well known correspondent, who will give a talk on his experiences at the front.

For the concert and ball excellent music and entertainers will be provided and the affair will doubtless meet with much success.

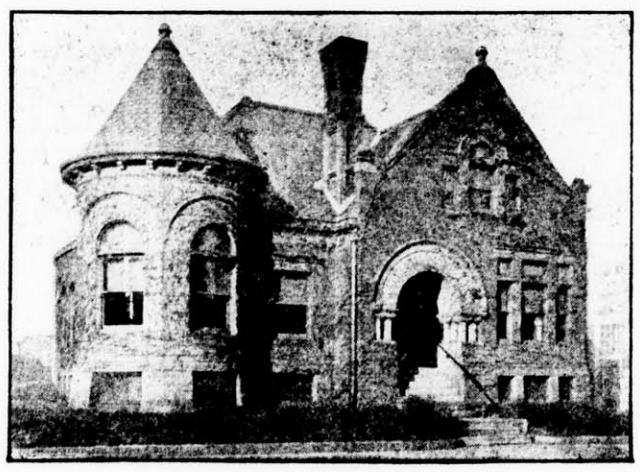

UNITARIAN LAYMAN'S LEAGUE

A meeting of the local Chapter will be held at Metcalf Hall, Friday evening, February 6th, at which time Reverend Charles S. Bodwell of Lawrence will speak on "Work Among the Aliens at Lawrence," and the Reverend Sydney Snow will speak on "Experiences with the Army of Occupation at Coblenz, Germany."

This meeting will be held at eight o'clock, and will take the form of a smoker.

CHURCHES

From Babson's Reports, Wellesley Hills, Mass.

What is our real security for the stocks, bonds, mortgages, deeds and other investments which we own? To the extent that we personally occupy or use the property, this security is tangible. Certainly our chances of holding property which we personally occupy or use are better than anyone else's chances of getting this property away from us. We, however, cannot say this concerning property which we rent, or property upon which we are only loaning money. When it comes to stocks, bonds and other investments of which we are only one of many owners, our security is very much less tangible.

We think that we are well off because we have a bunch of stock certificates, bonds, and mortgages in a safe-deposit box in some local bank. We are contented and independent because of these pieces of paper. Many of us had much rather have a bond of a western city which we have never seen, than an acre of land in our own home town. Yet with such pieces of paper are we not realiy in a weaker position than the rich man Jesus told about who, when puting down his barns to build greater ones, was suddenly called by the angel of death? It seems to me that our position is very much weaker than his. He needed fear onl ythe angel of death;— our property could become valueless long before we are ever called.

To begin with—think how dependent you are on the guards of the safe-deposit vault which holds your all. The bank officials show you the great iron doors, they expatiate upon the time locks, and they tell you of the electrical and other means of protection. But what do these amount to? Before the clerk gives you your key, is there anything to prevent him making a duplicate of that key? With such a duplicate he could at any time open your box and clean it out. Yes—not only your box but all the others likewise. Moreover, he is probably working for a comparatively small salary. Of course, he would be caught; but he would have caused you much trouble and worry. He surely could make you penniless for a few weeks. All of this means that you really are not depending upon the great steel vaults or the keys of your little box. You are really depending upon the honesty of the ill-paid and humble bank clerk.

Let us now consider upon what the value of the papers within the box depends. Surely they have no value of themselves. Their value depends upon your ability to foreclose in case payment is refused. Now this fact presupposes that your certificates, bonds and mortgages are properly drawn. Have you ever looked at them to see if they are properly signed, not to mention their legal status? Local real estate mortgages we have examined for us. For the legality, proper execution and genuineness of our other securities we depend upon our bankers and brokers. But this simply means that we really do not depend at all upon the pieces of paper which we so carefully protect in our safe-deposit boxes. It is the integrity of the men who prepared them, the integrity of the officials who signed them and the integrity of the bankers who sold them upon which we really depend. If any of these parties are dishonest, the papers which we so carefully cherish would be valueless. We could not collect from any court on forged, fraudulent or even illegally issued documents.

But granting that all the company officials, the attorney's clerks and the banker's employes have been honest, how then would you enforce your claims without an honest court? You could not do so. Hence, your real security for the stocks, bonds and other evidences of wealth is the integrity of the people who elect or appoint the judges who make foreclosures possible. But even with honest courts you still may become penniless unless public opinion insists upon these court decrees being enforced.

You may have a mortgage on my house. Your mortgage is of value only as everyone connected with it—the lawyer who drew it—the notary who acknowledge it—and the little stenographer who copied it, up to the jury which is to enforce it, is honest. Yes, and even then you cannot get me out of my house unless the majority of the entire community is honest. With the community sympathizing with me, the officers would not and could not put me out. Under such circumstances what would your mortgage be worth? Absolutely nothing. Moreover, if this is true regarding a local mortgage, it is much more serious in connection with our investments in railroads, in industries and other properties outside the city where we live.

What does all this mean? It means that the real security for the stocks bonds, mortgages, deeds and other investments which we own is the integrity of the community. The steel boxes, the legal papers and the other things which we look upon as so important are the mere shells of the eggs. The value of our investments depends not on the strength of our banks, but rather upon the strength of our churches. The underpaid preachers of the nation are the men upon whom we are really depending rather than the well-paid lawyers, bankers and brokers. The religion of the community is really the bulwark of our investments. And when we consider that only 15 % of the people hold securities of any kind and less than 3 % hold enough to pay an income tax, the importance of the churches becomes even more evident.

For our own sakes, for our children's sakes, for the nation's sake, let us business men get behind the churches and their preachers Never mind if they are not perfect, never mind if their theology is out of date. This only means that were they efficient they would do very much more. The safety of all we have is due to the churches, even in their present inefficient and inactive state. By all that we hold dear, let us from this very day give more time, money and thought to the churches of our city, for upon these the value of all we own ultimately depends!

THURSTON HALL HERE

Thurston Hall, formerly of this town, star of Oliver Morosco's Broadway success, "Civilian Clothes," which opened for a week's engagement in Boston, this week, is one of the silent drama's most popular leading men and stars. Bostonians will remember Mr. Hall in Cecil De Mille's all-star production, "We Can't Have Everything" and as Marc Anthony in William Fox's big special production, "Cleopatra," with Theda Bara in the title role. A few years back, Bostonians will recall Mr. Hall's excellent work in the title role of "Ben Hur" which role he played for many successful seasons in every important city in the United States. It is hinted by Mr. Hall's management that it is probable that he will soon appear in the screen version of this most popular stage success. According to Mr. Hall's announcement he has signed with one of the large picture producing companies to appear as star in the screen version of one of America's most popular author's works. A definite statement of this fact will not be made by him until he has terminated his engagement with Morosco's "Civilian Clothes." Mr. Hall is a Winchester boy and has been seen here in many of the stage and screen's most successful productions.

MRS. HARRY HUBER

Mrs. Clara Mabel Huber passed away on Thursday evening at the Waltham Hospital. She and her husband had returned from a trip to Florida about two months ago and since then had made their home in Cambridge with their two sons. She had gone to Waltham on a visit and while there had a shock of apoplexy She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Arlene Fields of West Medford, three sons, William and Elmer of Cambridge and John of Wilmington where the funeral services were held on Sunday at the Congregational church.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Teams in the B section of the tournament rolled Monday night with low scores. Team 20 held its place at the top of the list by another clean win, 13 being the victim. 20 has not yet lost a point and 13 was previously tied with it with a similar record, it now being three behind. 21 got three from 19, which steps it up a notch, and team 14 took two from 15. No high scores were rolled with a few exceptions. Mrs. Breen got 187 with 95, Mrs. Soutter 161 with 103, Mrs. Kneeland 89, Mrs. Corey 87, Mrs. Bennett 84, Mrs. Proctor 82 and Mrs. Sawyer 80. Mr. Breen led the gentlemen with 207 on 106, and Mr. Clark got a single of 103.

Give the real girl of today a chance to be the true woman of to-morrow.

Luke Rielly Says, "The Rat Died Before Reaching the River

"Since moving near the river 2 years ago, we've always used RAT-SNAP. Watched a vicious water rat, nibbling at RAT-SNAP outside the house. About 15 minutes later he darted off for the water, to cool his burning stomach, but he died before reaching it." Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by Central Hardware Co., Allen's Pharmacy and Richardson's Market. J16.4t

A freight train became stalled on the Bacon curve early Sunday morning in the storm, seriously tieing up the trains until well after noon.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Lots of men who have an aim in life lack ambition.

Few of us have the courage to point out our own mistakes, but it shows how brave our neighbors are.

The only people who have no regrets for anything they ever said are those who have never said anything of importance.

Youth comes but once in a life time therefore let us so enjoy it so to be still young when we are old.

About two thirds of the average man's laughter is inspired by his own alleged wit.

INFLUENZA

The Health Officer of Winchester, Mr. Maurice Dineen, reports only four cases of Influenza at the present time, not enough to cause any serious alarm of an immediate epidemic, but he desires as a precautionary measure the following extract, taken from the notice issued by Eugene R. Kelley, M. D., Mass. State Commissioner of Health, should receive wide publication. "We are fully convinced that personal resistence of the individual is the largest single factor in the prevention of Influenza infection. This means that the people should be advised now to put themselves into the best possible physical condition, that all factors that tend to destroy the resistence, such as excessive worry, work, lack of sleep or exercise, insufficient food, as well as neglect of small or trivial ailments should be studiously avoided."

Your attention is further called to the Influenza Bulletin issued by the Mass. State Dept. of Health, as follows:

INFLUENZA BULLETIN

Issued by the Massachusetts State Department of Health

To keep well, keep clean.
Wash your hands before each meal.
Don't go to crowded places.
Avoid the person who sneezes.
Smother your cough in your handkerchief.
Keep out of dirty restaurants.
Warmth is necessary. Be well clothed.
Soda is unnecessary. Why run the risk of infection from a dirty glass?
Safety lies in boiled dishes.
A common towel is only for filthy people.
You wouldn't use my tooth brush.
Why use my drinking cup?
Sleep well. Eat well. Play well.
DON'T WORRY.

Instructions to Householders

Keep out of the sick room unless attendance is necessary.

Do not handle articles coming from the sick room until they are boiled.

Allow no visitors, and do not go visiting.

Call a doctor for all inmates who show signs of beginning sickness.

The usual symptoms are: inflamed and watery eyes, discharging nose, backache, headache, muscular pain, and fever.

Keep away from crowded places such as "movies" theatres, street cars. See to it that your children are kept warm and dry both night and day.

Have sufficient fire in your home to disperse the dampness.

Open your windows at night. If cool weather prevails, add extra bed clothing.

Instructions for Workers

Walk to work if possible.

Avoid the person who coughs or sneezes.

Wash your hands before eating.

Make full use of all available sunshine.

Do not use a common towel. It spreads disease.

Should you cough or sneeze, cover nose and mouth with a handkerchief.

Keep out of crowded places. Walk in the open air rather than go to crowded places of amusement.

Sleep is necessay for well-being—avoid over exertion. Eat good, clean food.

Keep away from houses where there are cases of influenza.

If sick, no matter how slightly, see a physician.

If you have had influenza, stay in bed until your doctor says you can safely get up.

"The Rats Around My Place Were Wise," Says John Tuthill.

"Tried everything to kill them. Mixed poison with meal, meat, cheese, etc. Wouldn't touch it. Tried RAT-SNAP, inside of ten days got rid of all rats." You don't have to mix RAT-SNAP with food. Saves fussing lay it where rats scamper. You will see no more. Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by Central Hardware Co., Allen's Pharmacy and Richardson's Market. J16,4t

1920 THE BEST

We are optomistic enough to believe that this will be the best year of the past decade. Recent holiday expenditures and the enormous increase in National Bank deposits show that the rank-and-file never were so prosperous as they are today. Production must be largely increased in order to meet demands at home and abroad. This means expansion and plenty of work for everybody. It means greater earnings and by degrees, lower prices. It means that this bank and you — if linked up together, can be mutually helpful to each other. Come in and talk it over with us.

Your account solicited.

At the Assembly meeting of the High School pupils Tuesday Prof. Waxmann, professor of French and Spanish at Boston University, gave a short address on "The Modern and Medieval History of France."

The members of Winchester Council, K. of C. held an athletic night and smoker last evening at their rooms on Main street. Charles "Sandy" Chapman of Cambridge, the well-known overseas K. of C. Secretary during the war, gave a talk on his experiences in connection with the evening's entertainment.

It is reported that Winchester has from 10 to 15 licensed wireless outfits and probably twice as many receiving stations, which are unlicensed. The suggestion has been made that local stations send their "call" to the STAR for publication, so that the operators may establish intimate and friendly relations. The STAR will be glad to publish a list of "calls" sent in.

Hollister Olmstead, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry J. Olmstead, is one of the candidates for a place on the Exeter Academy hockey team this Winter, and the chances are that he will get a chance to show in some of the important games. In the Brookline High game Saturday he started at left wing and made a favorable impression.

The Calumet Club will hold a special meeting next week Saturday evening, February 7, at which time the active members of the organization will consider raising the dues. It is proposed to raise the dues of active members $1.50 and of associate and non-resident members 75 cents quarterly. If this change is made, the quarterly dues of active members will be $8 and of associate and non-resident members $3.75.

Tuesday evening the teachers of the high school gave an informal reception to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis. The gathering was held in the high school library, which was attractively decorated. Games were played and refreshments were served. At the close of the evening there was a presentation of carnation pinks to Mrs. Curtis and a leather traveling bag to Mr. Curtis. The occasion was an expression on the part of the teachers of their very deep appreciation of Mr. Curtis's helpful and generous service as principal of the school and of their most sincere regret for his resignation. Their best wishes go with him in his new enterprise.

A thrift stamp organization which takes care of all thrift and war savings stamp sales.

A French Society which meets once a week and at which meetings are conducted in French.

School newspapers—Each eighth grade room publishes a room newspaper illustrated by pupil's drawings.

Case No. 5. A boy in the third year of the high school who is doing indifferent work. If an intelligence test reveals the fact that this boy has a high average intelligence, it would appear that the school is not getting hold of the boy as it should or that some influence outside the school is interfering with his work.

Although the group intelligence test has not yet been developed to an extent that makes it entirely reliable, efforts are being made quite generally in the various educational departments of colleges to reduce it to a usable form. We have made use of three of these tests during the past year, one in the fifth grade, one in the eighth grade and one in the sophomore year of the High School.

The Otis test of intelligence was used in two fifth grades in different buildings. The scores made by the children of school B varied from 83 to 159 with a median of 121. The scores of the children of school A varied from 81 to 142 with a median of 116. These scores were compared with the schoolmarks of the children and it was found that after dividing both schools into an upper and lower half on the basis of the intelligence scores, there seemed to be a much greater correspondence between the intelligence scores and the school marks in school B than in school A.

To be specific: In school B there were 24 pupils. After these were divided, 12 in the upper half and 12 in the lower half on the basis of the intelligence scores, it was found that in the upper half 11 out of the 12 had a school marke of 80 or above while in the lower half of the class there were only two pupils who had a school mark of 80 or above. In room A, however, after dividing the whole 26 pupils into an upper and lower group it was found that 8 of the pupils in the upper group on the basis of the intelligence scores received a school mark of 80 or above, while in the lower group exactly the same number (8) received 80 or above.

Army Intelligence Tests

One of the army intelligence tests was given to a group of 81 pupils in the eighth grade in May, 1919. The work was done under the direction of the Harvard Division of Education and so far as possible the tests were given under the conditions prescribed by the army regulations. Table 6 shows the results of this test. No data is available for comparison of our scores with those of other pupils' but the fact that 27 out of 81 pupils made a score equivalent to an officer's grade is significant. Our pupils' scores ranged from 65 to 152. Eleven of the pupils who received an officer's grade in the army test, that is, who made a score of 105 or more, received honors for the first term's work in the High School..

This table also shows the per centage of soldiers in the army getting each rating. The high average of pupils' scores as compared with the army scores is interesting. It points to the conclusion that the pupils who reach our upper grades and high school are a highly selected group.

Army Intelligence Tests, Alpha Group

Table 6

Grade	Score	Pupils Grade 8	Army Inf.
A	135-212	5	3.5%
B	134-105	22	7.5
C+	75-104	35	13.5
C	45- 74	18	21.5
C-	25- 44	1	22.0
D	15- 24	0	22.0
D-	0- 14	0	10.0
Total		81

In the army grades A and B were given first choice in selecting men for officer material. Twenty-eight out of 81 or 33 1-3% of Wadleigh pupils made the officer grade. In the army infantry only 11% of those examined made A and B grades.

Results of Geometry Test

Another test of an entirely different and special character was given to a class of Geometry pupils in the High School. This is known as the Minnick Geometry Test. Its purpose is to measure native ability in geometrical reasoning.

Table 7 shows the scores gained by pupils taking the test and also their marks in Geometry as determined by the teacher. These results show, as the results of such tests generally show, three things, the great difference in ability among individuals, the general correspondence between intelligence scores and school marks of many pupils, and the lack of any relationship between scores and school marks in case of a few individuals.

Table 7

Results of Minnick Geometry Test Compared with School Grades

Winchester High School, Second Year Class, June 1919

Pupil	Score in Minnick Test	School Grade
1	58	95
2	51	95
3	51	88
4	50	70
5	41	85
6	41	88
7	34	95
8	27	90
9	27	83
10	24	80
11	17	94
12	10	85
13	10	85
14	10	80
15	10	78
16	10	68
17	0	73

Incidentally, it shows that the teacher in this case was marking too highly. The median score is 27 Of nine pupils scoring 27 or above, seven received a school mark of 85 or above; while of the eight pupils scoring below median only three received a school mark of 85 or above.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

All over Massachusetts this week, friends of the Girl Scouts are helping support the Campaign for Associate Members. Are you an Associate Member? The safety of our Nation lies in the hands of the women. Let us to see to it that our girls are trained to reach the goal of true womanhood. Help the Girl Scouts.

A most inspiring meeting was held last week at Hotel Bellevue relating to Scout work. Mrs. Marcus B. May and Mrs. Stillman P. Williams attended for Winchester. The following account of this luncheon is copied from last week's Evening Transcript.

Those who will have the direction, and the real hard work, in the campaign to raise $100,000 for the Massachusets Girl Scouts, met for luncheon at Hotel Bellevue. James J. Storrow presided. Speeches were made by him and by Walter S. Cowing, Dr. Charles W. Eliot, Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, C. F. Weed and H. W. Wotherspoon. Mr. Wotherspoon is the campaign manager, and outlined briefly the campaign details.

There was a large attendance, principally of women. They came from various cities and towns all over the State for a conference over the part they are to take. They represented the girl scouts in their respective communities.

Mr. Cowing showed, in his address, the importance of filling the leisure time of the girls with wholesome instruction, beginning before their conceptions are twisted. Dr. Eliot expressed his own sincere interest in the movement. He said that it is better not to talk about existing evils in the world before it is possible to propose a remedy. "Among the evils we have to do with," said he, "is the ill health and incapacity of women and the remedy for this is the girl scouts movement. It is a part of the wider movement—universal physical training. Every girl scout should know how to cook, to keep house, swim, ride, build fire out doors and cook by it; to walk safely and far, to enjoy thoroughly outdoor sport. This is provided by the scouts movement, and the girl scouts are sure to succeed as did the boys."

Miss Arnold said: "It is fearfully important for us to look out for the girl in the making. The women of the next generation must be wiser than those of today, and it is clear that the girls are not being adequately educated today. The girl of the future is to be relied upon because she is a girl scout."

With a little story Miss Arnold illustrated what kind of a girl the scout is going to be. Susan and Maria were known to be the most willing girls in the world. Susan was willing to do all the work and Maria was willing that she should. Susan is the girl scout, and she is the type of a girl who is wanted to teach Americanism.

The Metropolitaan Division Headquarters of Scouts announces that a Leader's Course will be held in the evening, starting March 3rd, at the Boston Normal School. Anyone who is willing to give some time to Scouting and take such a Leader's Course is asked to communcate with Mrs. W. A. Lefavour, 4 Herrick street.

The monthly meeting of the Girl Scouts was held Wednesday, January 14th, at the Prince School. The opening exercises were conducted by Capt. Williams. The scouts were glad to hear from Capt. Parker, who told of her interesting scout work in Texas. Edith Plummer received her Second Class Badge. The girls discussed the scout law "A Girl Scout is a Friend to Animals." It was suggested that suet and other foods be put out for the birds. Capt Williams said the birds liked peanut butter. She had spread it on the bark of trees or hung it out in a wire basket for several years and found that the chickadees and nuthatches greatly appreciate it. Water for the birds, dogs and cats is necessary and the girls are going to see that their dumb friends have water, even in cold weather.

Miss Talpey, the school nurse, next addressed the girls and told them how to care correctly for a bed room, bath room, kitchen, attic, cellar and back yard. She explained how everything could be done well and gave several instances. One of the most interesting cases was how the kitchen floor, of a country house where she once visited, was carefully scrubbed and then covered with gay mats made of fancy wall papers. When these mats became soiled or greasy, new ones were made. After Miss Talpey had spoken the younger girls went out doors and played "three-deep" and had relay races in the school yard, while the older girls remained in doors for a business meeting and to train candidates for their Tenderfoot Test. It was a most successful meeting and the Scouts are looking forward to the February meeting.

live bowlers hittiing the pins for fair. live bowlers hitting the pins for fair.

The one outstanding feature of the week was the big match Tuesday night between a picked team of star bowlers from Boston with "Mickey" McKee the former N. E. Champion in charge. This team never had a chance with the Winchester boys and lost by 105 pins on a three string total. Goode of Woburn rolling with Winchester was high man followed closely by Bill Rogers and Tom McMahon.

The alleys never held such a crowd and they surely did root for the home team to win. A return match will be rolled Tuesday night at Miah Murray's alleys in Boston, and Winchester should repeat.

The score of the big match was 1522 to 1417 and every man on the Winchester team beat his opponent.

There will be matches here every night next week except Saturday and some out of town teams will appear against local shops.

Some one suggested that the night Police get busy and arrange a match with some of the neighbors. They say Jim Donaghey is a good bowler, so is Dan Kelly, "Duke" Farrell and Jack Hogan so with these four, they should be able to start something.

McGoldick and Glendon had a great match Friday night with Glendon the winner.

"Buck" McHugh is the gamest bowler on the alleys. He will go against anyone no matter what their reputation.

Walter Bryer of the Signal Dept. of the B. and M., is another who can give any of them a battle.

Why don't some of these bowlers who think they can bowl get up a team and try conclusions against the team we can put against them on these alleys.

Roy Nowell got up a team last week and rolled Davenports Colts and when Davenport wanted to use Bill Rogers on his team they almost mobbed him. Davenport's team won the match by 39 pins.

Ralph Perrin strolls in every evening and you generally can find him keeping score for some of the matches. Hanscomb, Leahy and Harold had a match Monday and Harold lost out.

Leahy says as a bowler Harold is a good mechanic but at that we noticed Harold won the daily prize with 121.

Walter Barstow of Hutchinson's brought in Connolly aand Callahan to roll the other noon and beat them handily. Walter says they are just delivery men but not there as bowlers Now watch for trouble.

Mitty Cyr must do all his bowling nights, as the R. R. Administration has put him back on his day job.

McMahon 90, Osborn 94, C. Dunbury 94, Bill Rogers 120, McCall 121 and "Del" Collins 133 all on one sheet were the scores brought in Saturday night.

On a previous sheet Tom McMahon rolled 136. As we say here is where all the bowlers are.

Jack Nowell and Frank Melaugh with Leo Buymin started a 5 string match Saturday night. Eddie Maguire Jr. was supposed to take part in it but Nowell says he got cold feet and ran out of the match. But I don't believe that.

Right here we wish to challenge any team of five men from any organization, club or order in this town for a match on these alleys at candle pins. The Calumet Club bowlers preferred.

All the news of all the b'oler... The Star every week. They all bowl here.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The regular meetiing of The Fortnightly was held Monday, January 26, at 2.30. The club voted to give $109.50 for the continued support of three French war orphans in memory of Mr. Heffion. It was also voted to give $100 to the Visiting Nurse Association for charity work at the Winchester Hospital.

The revised form of the By-Laws was adopted with certain amendments which will appear in the next issue of The Star. Members are again urged to retain these copies of By-Laws until the new text is issued. It is the plan of the Printing Committee to send out the new copies of By-Laws with the next year's Year Book in the coming autumn.

Mrs. Edward E. Thompson made an urgent appeal for generous contributions to the Girl Scout Campaign Fund. She reminded us that the Girl Scout movement stands for all that is best in girlhood training and that in giving to this cause we are helping the girls of today to become fine and useful women of tomorrow. Mrs. Lefavor, then gave notice that at the next meeting she would ask for ten dollars to be taken from the Philanthropy Fund and given to this work.

After the business meeting the President introduced Mrs. Mary Parker Dunning who gave a Lecture Recital on "The Country of the Golden Dragon."

Mrs. Dunning began by speaking of the political situation in China—the Revolution, the unsuccessful attempt to put the young Emperor back on the throne and of this immense nation of four hundred million people now working out their own salvation under their fourth President.

She spoke of Hong Kong which she said was not a representative Chinese City as it has a mixed population of nearly all the nations of the world. She then told of a trip to Canton, the "City of a Thousand Wonders" and described at some length the remarkable river population—a floating city of nearly a quarter of a million people who spend their entire lives in boats.

The Chinese women are still in a state of comparative servitude but the foot binding practice has practically gone, although it will be another generation before it entirely disappears.

Mrs. Dunning told many stories illustrating the filial piety, hospitality and extreme politeness of the Chinese and advised her audience, if they would know China at first hand, to read the folk-lore and fairy tales.

The charming personality of the speaker and the wonderful native costumes which she wore added much to the interest of the afternoon.

The Education Committee announces a lecture on the League of Nations for Tuesday evening, February 3, a fuller notice of which appears in another column.

The Home Economics Committee will form classes in millinery for making spring and summer hats. Old material may be used. The classes will begin Thursday afternoon, Feb. 5th at 2.30 and will be under the instruction of Mrs. Russell Priest. Mrs. Priest has had several years of practical experience along millinery lines and is well fitted for this work. All interested please communicate with Mrs. C. W. Smith, chairman of the Home Economics Committee, 26 Symmes Road, Telephone number 974-M.

The President has received a letter of acknowledgement from the Parker Hill Hospital for the twenty-five dollars given by the club to furnish Christmas cheer to the soldiers there. The money was used to purchase fruit and candy.

The Woburn Woman's Club meets February 6th, at 2.30 P. M. in Lyceum Hall. Guy Maier, a pianist of note, who was over seas during a great part of the war playing for the soldiers along many battle fronts, will give the program of the afternoon. Every Fortnightly member's ticket will admit her to this delightful entertainment.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETS TUESDAY

The regular meeting of the Winchester Board of Trade will be held on Tuesday evening, Feb. 3, at 7.45 in White's hall.

Among other matters which will come up for discussion at this meeting is the following list:

WINCHESTER GRANGE NOTES

The officers of Winchester Grange, No. 343 Patrons of Husbandry were installed Tuesday evening, Jan. 27th, at Lyceum Hall. The installation service was public and many friends of the local grange were present besides a host of visiting grangers from surrounding towns and cities. There were about 200 people present.

The exercises were opened by Bro. Chester H. Phillips, past master of Winchester Grange now of Medford and Master-Elect of Metropolitan Pomona Grange.

Worthy State Master, Leslie R. Smith of Hadley was the installing officer and his suite comprised: Marshal, Miss Annie J. Caton, past master of Everett Grange; Chaplain, Gertrude Lodge of Malden; Emblem Bearer, Marie White of Malden; Regalia Bearer, Dorothea M. Berrett of Malden.

The Grange Installation Service in itself is very beautiful and when executed by this suite of most efficient officers was most impressive.

Winchester Grange is most fortunate and very appreciative in securing for its first officer, that of Master, Brother Frank Tyler Marston of Boston, past Master of Everett Grange also a Deputy of long standing who takes the chair in a true grange spirit in order to re-organize Winchester Grange and place it firmly on a lasting foundation.

The other officers installed were:
Overseer, Marguerite Hanlon.
Lecturer, Helen Dewar.
Steward, David Mellett.
Asst. Steward, Burton C. Caldwell.
Chaplain, Bessie Pierce.
Treasurer, Elsie Mobbs
Secretary, Alice T. Caldwell.
Gatekeeper, Isabel Brownell.
Ceres, Mary Gustin.
Pomona, Elizabeth Allen.
Flora, Helen A. Brownell.
Lady Asst. Steward, Jennie Roberts.
Executive Committee, Ordelia Osborne, 3 years; Clara J. Mullen, 2 years; Gertrude Nagle, 1 year.

When the installation exercises were concluded and the new officers seated a short program was enjoyed.

Violin Selection, Miss Catherine Rossley, accompanied by Pianist Mrs. Natalie Roberts.

Reading, Miss Anne J. Caton, past master of Everett Grange.

Vocal Solo, Miss Elsie Lonergan of Everett.

Violin Selection, Miss Catherine Rossley.

The evening closed with a short eulogy on the death of Brother Edwin C. Miller of Wakefield.

PROBATE AND OTHER COURT NEWS

Stillman P. Williams of Winchester is named as executor of the will of his cousin Harriet C. Williams of Framingham who died January 8, 1920. No valuation of the estate was filed.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Scott of Winchester have asked permission to adopt Mary McLaughlin, aged 7, of Winchester. They ask that her name be changed to Mary Scott.

Clifford O. Mason of Winchester has asked to be appointed as administrator of the estate of his father Eber L. Mason of Cambridge, who died January 4, 1920. The estate is valued at $5000 all in personal property.

WINNERS OF BOWLING PRIZES

Fourth prize was awarded to: Mrs. Ernest H. Keepers, who had an average of 100 4-22, as the highest individual score with handicap.

The prizes consisted of orders on Smith Patterson Co., for amount to the value of the prizes.

Honorable mention was made of Mrs. Carleton, who had an average of 88 14-22 and Mrs. Simonds who had an average of 85 13-22 both without handicaps.

Also Mrs. Tuttle 100 2-22, Mrs. Fausey 99 10-22 and Mrs. Fenno 99 8-22, all with handicap.

GIRL SCOUT CAMPAIGN AND COURT OF HONOR

The solicitors for the Girl Scout Campaign are busy at their work in Winchester. Mrs. Mary Boyce and Miss Evelyn Prime are also giving their time to this cause. The Finance Committee regrets exceedingly that delay at Boston Headquarters has prevented them from supplying as many of the Girl Scout buttons as desired, at the beginning of the Campaign.

That the younger Girl Scouts are not to be outdone in interest by the girls of the older troops, was proved by their enthusiasm at a meeting on January 20th of the Court of Honor at the home of the Chairman, Mrs. F. Patterson Smith. Ten girls from Troop VI passed their sewing, knitting and compass tests, two from Troop IV their Semaphore tests and one from Troop I the Second Class Test. There will be another meeting of the Court of Honor in March, at which it is hoped more will be ready to take their tests.

Monday morning was one of the coldest of the winter, the temperature being 8 below in the centre. This cold, following the storm of Saturday and Sunday, seriously delayed traffic and was keenly felt by everyone. The Wadleigh school was closed during the day, it not being warm enough for the classes.

Members of the Calumet Club enjoyed a most entertaining evening on Saturday night when Mr. Walter Eccles gave his smoke talk. Notwithstanding the extremely stormy night there was a large attendance. The entertainment proved all that could be wished for, Mr. Eccles holding his audience for an hour and a half with stories, impersonations and song. The usual Saturday night lunch was served at the close of the program.

On Wednesday, February 4, the Girl Scouts will be given a demonstration in Winter Wood Craft, by Mr. Littleton from Maine. After the demonstration, if pleasant, they will take a hike to the Fells, but if the weather is unfavorable, a meeting will be held in White's Hall.

There were a large number of tables at the afternoon bridge for the ladies of the Calumet Club Tuesday afternoon. The affair was in charge of Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins and Mrs. Danforth W. Comins. The prize winners included Mrs. Edward Abbott, Mrs. C. A. Jennings, Mrs. H. C. Goddard, Mrs. W. F. Edlefson, Mrs. F. A. Preston and Mrs. F. N. Kerr. During the afternoon bowling was enjoyed by a group of ladies and refreshments were served at the close of the cards.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Measurement of Educational Results

A considerable part of last year's report was devoted to the discussion of measurement of educational results. This year I make only a brief summary of the work done. The purpose of the measurement of educational results is to answer the question, To what extent is teaching effective? From standard tests administered in the middle of October we know something of the success of teaching as compared with that of the year before.

In handwriting our pupils are making considerable progress but have not yet reached a desirable standard. Here are the scores for grades seven and eight.

	Grade 7	Grade 8
December, 1918	34	33.7
October, 1919	51.4	54.6
Avres Standards, June	58	62

It will probably take another year to bring all schools up to the standard. In spelling we are pretty sure that when measured for general spelling ability our pupils will measure up to the standard. In reasoning in arithmetic our pupils grade for grade made a higher score with the standard tests in October, 1919 than that made in December, 1918. In English composition the scores made in October, 1919 were below what we expected and our teachers are now seeking the reason why. In silent reading our pupils grade for grade made higher scores in October, 1919 than they made in December 1918.

Intelligence Tests

Another kind of standard test that is coming prominently into use is the intelligence test. An intelligence test as its name implies differs from an educational test in that it is meant to measure native intelligence rather than the results of education or training.

The use of individual and group intelligence tests is bound in the future to become a leading feature of school work. Individual intelligence tests have already been used extensively in determining feeble-mindedness and mental defectiveness, while group intelligence tests have been most notably and most widely used in the army for the selection of officers and special types of workers. Just recently group intelligence tests have also been used quite widely in determining qualifications of candidates for admission to college.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The next regular meeting of The Fortnightly occurs Monday, February 9th at 2.30 p. m. At the close of the business meeting, the music committee has arranged for a violin solo. The speaker of the afternoon will be Mr. Frank W. Wright, who will address the club upon "New Occasions Teach New Duties." Mr. Wright is Deputy Commissioner of Education of the State of Massachusetts. He is a brilliant speaker, full of enthusiasm for his subjects.

The Home Economic Committee again calls attention of members of the club to the classes in millinery for making spring and summer hats. If there are still others who wish to join the classes, they may communicate with Mrs. C. W. Smith, chairman of the Home Economic Committee, telephone number 974-M.

WINTON CLUB CABARET

The Winton Club will hold a cabaret and dance, February the 14th at the Town Hall at 8 p. m., for the benefit of our Winchester Hospital. The cabaret will be of local talent and the music, Hoppe's Orchestra. Tables are unreserved. Cigars, cigarettes and candy will be sold. Tickets at $1.50 each, which include refreshments, may be obtained of Mrs. A. S. MacDonald. Phone Winchester 897-M.

MEETING OF THE UNITARIAN LAYMAN'S LEAGUE

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock the Winchester Chapter of the Layman's League will hold a meeting in Metcalf Hall at which the Rev. Charles F. Bodwell will speak on Americanization Work Among Aliens in Lawrence, and the Rev. Sidney Snow of King's Chapel Boston will tell of Experiences with the American Army of Occupation in Coblenz, Germany.

All the men of the parish are invited to come and bring a friend.

The meeting will take the form of a smoker.

CALL FOR KNITTED GARMENTS FOR SPECIAL AID

An urgent call has come to Headquarters for knitted garments of all kinds (socks, mittens, helmets and sweaters). The committee has received the following from headquarters: "We hope that the women of your Branch will be willing to knit for us. If you already have any, articles on hand, kindly send them in as soon as possible." The Winchester Branch Special Aid has no wool on hand, but wool may be obtained at Headquarters at $100 a skein. We hope that many members of the Special Aid will help towards this call.

Will those having partly finished garments, return as soon as possible to Mrs. Geo. Neiley.

LADIES' FRIENDLY GUEST DAY

Guest Day of the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Winchester Unitarian church, will be held Tuesday, February 10th at 3 p. m.

A very fine musical program has been arranged. It will be rendered by a trio, consisting of Mrs. Anna Winn Lochman, of Winchester, pianist; Mrs. Charles Woodsum, of Melrose, violinist; and Mrs. Helen Hegel of Winchester, cellist. There will be several cello solos by Mrs. Hegel.

Mrs. J. Ferguson Kennedy, a very brilliant speaker, will give an address on "Poland" a subject everyone is so much interested in at present.

There will be a reception in honor of the visiting delegates from other alliances.

Tea will be served.

INFLUENZA INCREASES

Winchester Has Twenty-four Cases During Week.

Notwithstanding the fact that this town is considerably better off than surrounding places, we have a considerable number of influenza cases. During the week ending yesterday morning a total of 24 cases were reported to the Board of Health, the last day's report being the largest—8 cases. A fortunate aspect of the situation is that thus far there have been no deaths here yet from the disease.

As previously stated, this year's recurrance of the epidemic is in a mild form, many persons appearing to have only a slight cold, when in reality they have influenza.

The Board of Health and Visiting Nurse Association are watching the situation closely, and the Red Cross has also given notice that it is prepared to give aid if necessary.

The contagious diseases reported during the week were as follows: Chicken pox 1, measles 5, mumps 4, scarlet fever 3, pneumonia 1, influenza 19, influenza-pneumonia 4.

MR. ALLEY'S LECTURE

Mr. Alden G. Alley of Milton gave an instructive and inspiring lecture on the League of Nations in the hall of the High School on the evening of Feb. 3, under the auspices of the Education Committee of The Fortnightly. Declaring that the security of society depends upon the curtailment of individual liberty in three ways, namely, that the individual must refrain from carrying arms and from settling his quarrels by violence, and must be ready to come to the defense of the government against attacks. Mr. Alley applied the same principles to the field of international relations, with special reference to the provisions of the Covenant of the League.

The interest of the audience was shown by questions which Mr. Alley answered in an illuminating manner.

MR. NEWMAN NOT A CANDIDATE

Editor Star:

Through the courtesy of the Star I hereby announce that I am not a candidate for re-election to the 1920 Board of Selectmen. It gives me great pleasure to most heartily thank all those who have supported my candidacy in the past.

Sewall E. Newman

POLITICS

The season of politics is here again, and although the town election is but four weeks away, no activity in the line of candidates is apparent.

As regards the all-important office of Selectmen but one candidate has appeared definitely in the field—Edward P. McKenzie of Middlesex street. He has announced that he is in the field.

The present board all appear to be in the mood for retirement, although strong pressure is being brought to bear upon chairman Arthur A. Kidder, who has made a most efficient official in all departments, to run again. It is thought that Mr. Kidder should allow his name to be placed on the ballot for re-election, especially since it seems that the other four members will not be candidates, and he would be a valuable man if an entire new board is elected.

Among the names which have been spoken of as desirable candidates are those of Mr. Fred A. Dolben, Harry A. Norton, Herbert Wadsworth, Jr. Thomas Quigley, Jr. and Henry Weed. All of these citizens would be desirable men to head the town government and it is hoped that their friends will get busy.

No candidates have been proposed at all for any of the other offices, although there are a number of positions to fill, including members of the Water Board.

Nomination papers must be filed with the registrars of voters by 8 o'clock P. M. February 18th

TOWN WARRANT

The warrant for the annual town meeting closed this week, some 34 articles being listed. Among these articles are many of interest to the voters outside those pertaining to the regular business and appropriations.

The list includes a request from the School Committee for the erection and furnishing of a new school building and the appointment of a committee to consider enlarging and improving school accommodations; the purchase of a motor bus to transport pupils to and from distant parts of the town; an appropriation for educational survey; an increase in the school committee; request for moving picture license; the memorial to the World War veterans; new bridge over the river on Bacon street; sale of a part of the Highland School lot; new building, plumbing, wiring, heating and drainage by-laws; increase of wages for town laborers; leasing of bath house on Mystic Lake and charge for use of same by non-residents; new system of assessing property; widening of Park and Common street extension and various other articles of more or less importance.

TO VISIT OLD BELFRY

The Calumet Club will visit the Old Belfry Club of Lexington on Thursday evening, Feb. 12th, for matches in billiards, pool, mixed bowling and mixed cards. Automobiles will convey the members over and back, leaving the club house at seven o'clock.

There will be two billiard matches and two pool matches. The cards will be played by couples—gentlemen and ladies—and the local teams will be made up later, it being requested that those who desire to play send their names to the steward at the club.

The bowling will all be mixed, two teams of ladies and gentlemen competing. These teams have been made up, based on rolling in the present tournaments at the club, as follows:

First Team

Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins, Mr. Marshall K. Berry; Mrs. W. E. Carleton, Mr. Sewall E. Newman; Mrs. Phillips C. Simonds, Mr. Barton K. Stephenson.

Second Team

Mrs. Claud M. Crafts, Mr. Earl Goldsmith; Mrs. John R. Fausey, Mr. Percy A. Goodale; Mrs. Frank W. White, Mr. S. W. H. Taylor.

BEATRICE FORBES-ROBERTSON HALE TO SPEAK ON SUNDAY

Community Forum, 4 o'clock, First Congregational Church

In the third meeting of the Community Forum, next Sunday afternoon, at the First Congregational Church, Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale will speak on "The British Labor Party."

Since 1910, Mrs. Hale has devoted herself to lecturing upon poetry, the drama, English and American politics, with special reference to the rise of modern democracy, and on Woman Suffrage and Feminism in their various phases. The summer of 1914 she has spent in England in writing a book on the Feminist Movement, "What Women Want."

Mrs. Hale has been widely identified with the Woman's Movement both in England and America, where she has spoken for Woman Suffrage in twenty-one states. Her ability and success in this direction are too well known for special comment.

Mrs. Hale has only recently been released from active work for the U. S. Food Administration, and has only a little free time before she returns to Europe.

The public is invited. Collection to defray expenses of the Forum.

NOTICE

There will be at the office of the Winchester Trust Company, Saturday evenings, February 14th and 21st a man experienced in making Federal Returns. His services will be at your disposal. Bring your figures. He will put them in shape for you.

LOCAL EXAMINATIONS

There will be an examination for a local clerk-carrier for the Winchester Post Office at the High School on February 14th. Examination papers may be obtained at the Post Office.

FIRE FRIDAY

Apparatus Upset Answering Call for Lake Street Blaze.

A fire at the Bay State Saw & Tool factory Friday noon resulted in the upset of a piece of temporary apparatus attached to the local fire department and subsequent wide notoriety through humerous accounts published in Boston newspapers. The fire itself was insignificant.

Owing to the heavy snowfall and consequent bad travelling, Chief De Courcy of the fire department has had a pair of horses of Eugene P. Sullivan, and a pung loaded with hose and the extinguishers, held in readiness to answer any fires. The horses have been kept in the Kelley & Hawes stable opposite the fire station and the pung at the rear entrance of the fire house.

When the alarm from box 41 came in at 12.40 Friday, Mr. Sullivan was quickly on his job, and had the horses hitched in record time, as he himself had said that eighteen million dollars (the assessed valuation of the town) depended upon him. In the desire to make a record run to the fire, however, the outfit was run in high down the slope of Winchester place to Mt. Vernon street, and when the turn was attempted the pung struck the deep grooves in the snow of the electric car rails and it went over in a heap.

Hose, extinguishers and firemen were scattered in all directions. Fortunately no one was injured beyond a few bruises, and the spectacle was well worth the laugh it provoked from a big gallery which had assembled to see the apparatus off. The laugh increased into a roar when Mr. Sullivan, who weighs about 300 pounds and carries strength proportionate to his weight, attempted to gather up the pung load of hose in one armful.

The hose was put back and the horses and pung righted, and the "special hose" went on its way to the fire, where a blazing tank of oil, used to temper saw steel, was quickly extinguished with no loss.

According to Boston papers, Mr. Sullivan was saved from serious injury by alighting on his stomach when the pung turned over, while "Ed" Fitzgerald and "Andy" McKenzie, who were with him, were thrown so far away that they alighted in a snowdrift, hereby being likewise "saved."

TALCOTT WILLIAMS SPOKE TO LARGE AUDIENCE

Talcott Williams, the well-known journalist, spoke at the second public Community Forum meeting Sunday evening at the Methodist Church on "The American Solution of the Labor Problem."

Mr. Williams said that the great amount of holdings of the American people in buildings, land and their homes forms a strong safeguard in this country against the unstable and radical elements, and that the solution of the labor problem would be found along economic lines rather than along the political lines that have been laid down in England.

Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church presided at the meeting which was attended by about 275 persons.

THE STORM

Recovery is being slowly made this morning from the worst storm of this winter and of many years. It will be several days before transportation facilities are restored to anything like normal conditions in this section and an even longer time before anything like connected travel will be possible.

The storm opened shortly before five o'clock yesterday morning. It soon assumed blizzard proportions, reaching its height here shortly before noon. Travel was immediately interrupted, for with the large amount of snow on the ground from the other big storms it made it doubly hard to combat this one.

The Arlington electrics were early out of commission, the last car to go to that place leaving around 8 a. m. At noon a plough got as far as the centre and broke down, later getting a little farther over, where it ran off the track. This line, just the same, is the only one running this morning, it sending a car to Arlington at 7 a. m.

The Woburn line did very well during the morning, and while it did not maintain much of a schedule, it got a number of cars through. Stalled motor trucks on the tracks put it out of the running about noon however, and this morning no cars were running.

The trains were away off schedule, but the road kept open, and aside from waits and delays, patrons of the steam road were well cared for.

This morning finds business practically paralyzed, roads and sidewalks almost impassible even on the main thoroughfares, and drifts in many places are so deep that nothing can get through them until they can be cleared by great labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Because of the possibility of an Influenza epidemic an emergency list is being compiled under the auspices of the Winchester Red Cross. This list, accessible to everyone, is to contain the names of trained and practical nurses and accomodators.

Will everyone having any such names to contribute, kindly hand them in to Miss Edlefson, Tel. Win 675-M, or Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott. Tel Win. 204-W.

THE NEW CHOIR OF THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

Next Sunday Morning the New Choir of the Unitarian Church will sing for the first time. This quartette come to Winchester not as individuals but as a group which has sung together for several years a large part of the time at the Warren Avenue Baptist Church of Boston.

Mrs. Edith Carey Page the Soprano soloist in addition to her reputation as a vocalist is a well known teacher of Boston.

Miss Lena Evelyn Tufts Alto, is also well known.

Mr. James Corey Richardson has recently been the tenor soloist at the Unitarian Church in Lynn Mass.

During the war he traveled extensively in France giving concerts to the A. E. F. under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Erskine Allen Gay the Leader has been director and baritone of the Warren Avenue Baptist Church for some time.

EXCELLENT CONCERT

About 250 persons attended the concert in observance of ladies' night at the Calumet Club Friday evening and enjoyed a program which has been voted one of the best of the winter from a musical viewpoint. The entertainment was by the Symphony Quintet, which included members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and this in itself is a guarantee of what the large audience enjoyed. Aiding the musicians was Miss Sophia Charak, soprano, and Miss Bertha Morgan, reader.

The program was well arranged and gave satisfaction to all in its composition. Refreshments followed and dancing and bowling was enjoyed until a late hour.

THE PICNIC SUPPER AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

The Box Supper Social at the Unitarian Church last week proved to be a most enjoyable affair.

The Ladies brought supper for two which was eaten at the tables where the committee in charge furnished tea and coffee. The entertainment consisted of Community singing led by Mr. Erskine Allen Gay the new director of music at the Church, which was greatly enjoyed by all. A good orchestra later in the evening furnished music for dancing.

The evening was so successful that the intention is to have one a month for the rest of the winter.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The following nominating committee has been appointed at the Calumet Club to bring in a list of officers for the coming election

ALDEN R. CHAMBERS

WANTS MOTION PICTURE SHOW

Alden R. Chambers has inserted an article in the Warrant of the Annual Town Meeting in March as follows:

"To see if the Town will vote to request the Board of Selectmen to grant a license for a moving-picture show, upon such terms, conditions, and regulations, as they may deem proper and reasonable; or do anything in regards to the same."

Mr. Chambers is a resident of Winthrop, Mass., which is a strictly high-class residential town where two picture theatres have been established and have been conducted on such a high plane as to have won over many persons that opposed them.

He is an ardent believer that the photo-play can and is being improved and developed along educational lines and is a powerful influence for good in the community.

The class of shows shown in Winchester should be the best and this can be accomplished; First, by the Board of Selectmen issuing a limited number of licenses and exercising a careful supervision over the productions. Second, by the stock in the Amusement Company be locally owned by a large number of residents of the Town.

Mr. Chambers is married and has two children, he served with distinction during the whole period of the war, some 25 months in all.

Being a naval officer, seeing service in Canada, overseas, and the Siberian expedition, commended (citation) in Dec. 1917, and further commended (twice) in 1918.

He was honored last November by being elected to the highest position that was open to a navy man, the National Vice-Commander of the American Legion.

SPRING TOURNAMENT

Second Series of Matches Changes Standing

The second series of matches in the spring bowling tournament at the Calumet Club was rolled Thursday night, resulting in somewhat of a change in the standing of the teams engaged. Teams D won three from E, C two from G and B four from H. B thus has straight wins thus far and C and G straight losses. H goes down from its previous win, while D and E rolled their first match. The scores were again good. Newman led with a total of 337 on a string of 126. Pilkington got 333 with 118, Dickson 324 with 119, Corey 307 with 124. THE ED WYNN CARNIVAL A BOSTON SENSATION

With an expectation of receiving something new and funny in the line of musical entertainment the Boston public awaited the coming of the Ed Wynn Carnival with the inimitable comedian, Ed Wynn, himself, which opened at the Tremont Theatre in the city last Monday evening. But it is a fact that there was no preparation for the extremely happy surprise that first night audience received. They saw a show which compared with and excelled any of the best and most opulently produced of that line of theatrical entertainment.

Ed Wynn as a comedian needs no extollation to the mass of theatre-goers who remember him as the funniest comedian the Ziegfield Follies ever and as star in many another music show or revue. And now he comes in a show practically built by himself, for he wrote the book, lyrics and music. The music is of the tuneful, whistleable variety in vocal numbers, and in the concerted numbers there is plenty of the stirring jangle of jazz and syncopation.

The dancing, therefore, is of the requisite lively type which never lets the senses be jaded. And the wise Mr. Wynn is not so rash as to endeavor to be the whole show, as witness the number of remarkably clever principals who are a whole show in themselves. Among them should be mentioned, Lillian Fitzgerald, singing comedian, Edna Whistler, a singer with a charming soprano voice. J. Harry Jenkins, Frank Ridge, Ted Roberts, Herbert Russell, Margaret Hoban, Lois Carroll, Regal and Moore, The Meyakos, and Ray Miller and his Black and White Melody Boys.

"For months my place was alive with rats. Losing chickens, eggs, feed. Friend told me to try RAT-SNAP. I did. Somewhat disappointed at first not seeing many dead rats, but in a few days didn't see a live one. What was not killed are not around my place. RAT-SNAP sure does the trick." Three sizes, 25c, 50c $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by Central Hardware Co., Allen's Pharmacy and Richardson's Market. J16,4t

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A RARE EVENING WITH THE PLAYERS

Rehearsals are under way for the play, "Eliza Comes to Stay," Friday evening, February 13 in the Town Hall, as well as plans for the dance to follow. The latter will begin as soon as possible after 10 o'clock with a large orchestra playing the latest music. In order that the time may be divided and the dancing prove a strong feautre of the program as well as the play, it is desired that the audience be seated well before 8 o'clock (overture at 7.45) as the fascinating action of the play begins with the very first words spoken. Reserved seats are being rapidly taken. The 50 cent tickets cover quite a large proportion of the hall, as it is the wish of those in charge to give a capacity audience an evening of rare enjoyment.

PROPOSED SEPARATION FROM TOWN OF WINCHESTER

We print above a sketch of the portion of our town which it has been proposed to give to the Town of Arlington. It is anticipated that a petition will shortly be introduced by the residents of this section for this separation.

As will be noted from this map, the portion under consideration is a triangular piece jutting into Arlington territory, the dotted lines being the Winchester-Arlington boundary as it is now, and the solid line across right side being the proposed division line if the land is given to our neighbor.

The area of this piece is about 43 acres and its population is about 60 souls. It has but recently been settled; for many years there being but one house there. It now has about 12 houses.

A peculiar feature of this property is that while it is in Winchester, it is not possible to enter it without going into Arlington first, and all of the eight streets shown on the map lead to Arlington territory. The residents have all their interests centered in Arlington—do their shopping there, attend church there and go through that town to reach their work. The only connection they have with Winchester is to send their children to school here and receive their mail from the Winchester Post Office.

There are about 11 children in the district and they are transported a distance of 2 1-2 miles to our schools; a round trip of five miles. The distance to the Arlington school is a little over a mile.

There is no water in this section, the houses all relying on wells, and it would be necessary to lay 7,000 feet of water main to supply it. Arlington would have to lay about 2,500 feet to furnish it with water.

Owing to the lay of the land, which is a slope towards Arlington from a rocky ridge, it is hardly practicable, to say the least, for Winchester to connect it with its sewer system. Arlington, on the other hand, could make connections comparatively easily.

This property has come into the public eye during the past few years, a number of families settling there. It has presented a number of problems of difficult solution to town departments and officials. The Board of Trade has presented the matter and discussed it from all angles, and it is the general opinion that if the residents do petition for annexation to Arlington it would be advisable to grant their request. Before such transfer could be made, however, an act of the Legislature would be necessary.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

When a woman gets a real love letter from her husband she appreciates it more than she does his check.

About the worst feature in being carried away by enthusiasm is that we usually are obliged to walk back.

It takes a clever woman to obtain information without asking questions, some can do it.

A small boy says the proper time to gather fruit is when the dog is tied.

We'll say it. Some wiinter!

There is an old saying that the weather always averages up, and we are, therefore, due to receive considerable warm weather before 1920 goes by, if the prophecy proves true. Let us hope that the coming heat will not arrive too soon. With the present amount of snow, any great thaw will give householders something more to worry over than leaks in their roof.

The proposal to separate a portion of Winchester and give it to Arlington appears to have considerable merit. The proposed separation consists of a triangular tract which juts into Arlington and which will be difficult for Winchester to serve in water and sewers, to say nothing of other accommodations. Arlington can care for these conveniences with little difficulty. Increasing population in the tract is bringing their need rapidly forward, and unless the Town is prepared to spend a large sum of money it should look with favor upon the proposal for separation.

Following a week of zero weather the temperature rose last Friday to really comfortable proportions, considerable water running during the middle hours of the day in the warmer places reached by the sun. This state of affairs could not continue, apparently, and on Saturday morning our residents arose to the coldest day of the winter. The glass registered from 10 to 17 below zero, the latter figure being taken at 7 a. m. in the centre from the glass on the north side of the gateman's shanty. This glass did not reach zero during the entire day, its highest mark being two below at 1 p. m. Sunday morning saw but little change, the glass registering from 10 to 15 below. During the day, however, the temperature again started upwards, and Monday again saw seasonable weather at 16 above.

FATHERS AND THEIR SONS

To the Editor of the Star:

According to an item of news in last week's Star "about 60 parents and friends of Boy Scout Troop One of Winchester saw the performance of the troop on Parents' Night last week."

Down in Elizabeth, N. J. the Boy Scouts recently conducted a "father and son" banquet. And this is an idea to be highly commended. Anything that brings fathers and sons in closer contact is good—especially for the father, and especially for the son too. Comradeship with a son helps pop's mind to remain young and enthusiastic; gives him a better viewpoint and a better understanding than grownups who have no intimate contact with the youngsters. Comradeship with dad is a mighty good thing for a lad, for it gives the boy a different kind of an idea of the father. Some youngsters get the idea that dads are put here on this mundane sphere to dole out discipline. Some lads get the idea that dads are mighty useful in providing funds for the upkeep of a home. Some lads get the idea that their fathers are made for the purpose of eating and sleeping at home, and spending all his leisure time at the club.

It is not enough for fathers and their sons to get together at a dinner at a meeting of the Boy Scouts; this should only be the beginning of their getting together regularly, those of them who do not already enjoy the mutual comradeship which the relationship makes possible.

The father who does not take his son to the baseball and football games, to the movies, to the theatre, to the zoo to see the animals, to the circus, to the country for a hike, to the seashore for a swim, to the restaurant for a sandwich, to the stores to see the Christmas toys, to Boston to see the parades—the father who fails to see the sights and enjoy the sports of life in company with his boy, or boys, is not only depriving himself of a great deal of wholesome pleasure, but he is depriving the boy of a comradeship that would otherwise carry with him a memory througout life as one of his most cherished memories of boyhood.

Comradeship between father and son is a mighty fine thing, and there is far too little of it in these times.

Eugene Bertram Willard

MOVING PICTURES AGAIN

Editor of the Star:

I understand that interested parties outside of Winchester who want to open a Moving Picture Theatre in this town have persuaded some of our citizens of the advantages that would accrue to our community if a license should be granted for such a theatre, and that a petition has been presented for an article to appear in the warrant for this matter to be voted on in the coming Town Meeting.

Before Winchester decides that she wants a Moving Picture theatre in town she had better answer a very pertinent question. Who is going to censor the films presented in order to protect our children against vicious films? Are we so gullible that we believe that any film that is manufactured is fit for our children to see? If not, who is to decide? Is it the National Board of Review? But by its own statement that Board is partially supported by the film interests and its speakers have been in this state recently speaking against state censorship. Is it by state censorship? But we have no such thing in this state. Furthermore the Moving Picture interests are fighting tooth and nail against the allied Woman's Clubs and other welfare organizations of this state to kill a bill now in the legislature requiring such censorship. I quote, for the edification of those interested, from a Boston paper of Feb. 4th. the words of one of these Moving Picture promoters in our state. M. J. Coyle is reported as saying: "It is time to let the people of the nation have some of that liberty that is supposed to be granted under the constitution." In the same breath Mr. Coyle says that any Moving Picture exhibitor who does not fight the bill for state censorship should not be allowed to obtain films for showing! What liberty does Mr. Coyle allow the exhibitor? Who, then, is to censor the films, if a Theatre opens here? Is it to be the financially-interested local manager? Do the people of Winchester wish to hand over to the judgment of the manager-to-be of the local theatre the censorship of the films? Presumably not. I understand that the promoter says the business men of Winchester can secure clean films for the town by taking shares in the proposed theatre! When will the business men do the censoring? Who, then, is to censor the films? Shall it be a local Committee appointed by the Board of Selectmen? The question immediately arises, When are they to censor films? Shall they censor while the film is being shown to the public? If so the damage through a vicious film has already been done, for others have seen it, as well as the censors, before it is condemned. If we say, they shall censor before it is released to the public, it means they will have a steady job, and if the film is objectionable the manager has no time to get another film. Furthermore his judgment as to what is objectionable will probably disagree with that of the censors and friction arises. The censors grow tired of this sort of thing and resign, and the manager has it in his own hands.

I have had experience in censorship for a term of three years. I know whereof I speak. Before Winchester jauntily decides she would like to have a Moving Picture Theatre let her ask what she is getting into. This is only one aspect of the case. I will suggest others later.

Yours, for the children of Winchester
Howard J. Chidley.

PROMINENT TEACHER APPLIES FOR HIGH SCHOOL POSITION

Editor Star:

Frank Woodlock of Boston is one of the applicants for the position of High School principal. It seems he is pretty well qualified to take and fill this important post, having taught school and filled high school positions for twelve years, being two years at Girard College, Phila., Malden H. S. two years, head master at Coffin School, Nantucket, for six and a half years and Staten Island Academy two years.

Another very important thing in his favor is that he is young, being only 36 years old, and also very strong for all branches of athletic sports.

FEED THE BIRDS

To the Editor:

Because of the deep snow that covers nearly all their food, birds of all kinds are starving this winter, and thus weakened by hunger, great numbers of birds freeze to death in the intense cold. Every bird that dies is an economic loss to the town, because of the enormous number of insects it will destroy in the spring and summer. The following list of birds were seen today at one small bird feeding place in Winchester:—Bluejays; Woodpeckers; nuthatches; tree sparrows; juncos; chicadees; snow bunting, etc. What are they worth to us in money value? The bluejay is a great destroyer of gipsy, browntail, and tent-caterpillar eggs and larvae, and the woodpeckers will average 50-100 young caterpillars of these species daily. Taking the low number of per day as a base, one woodpecker will destroy 1500 caterpillars in 30 days, and as the average reproduction of gypsys, browntails is about 200 each, this means a reduction of 900,000 in next season's crop of these pests, during their three months season. Figure out what it would cost a forrester to do that! Juncos, snow buntings, and tree sparrows, keep down the spread of about 60 varieties of noxious weeds, eating from 350 to 500 seeds at a meal, and Prof. Beal, after careful study, calculates that in the state of Iowa tree sparrows destroy 1,750,000 pounds, (about 875 tons) of such seed during each winter, and Prof. Sanderson, also a careful bird student, estimates that the little chicadees destr eight billions of destructive insects in Michigan alone, every year. Turning to our summer birds; in the stomach of a meadow lark were found 14 cutworms and 36 beetles after his morning meal, and Dr. Weed found that the stomachs of three nestling catbirds contained 95 per cent of insect food, 62 per cent being composed of cutworms. As one cut worm will easily do $2 worth of damage per week in a garden, and 7 worms a day, or 49 per week, is a very low average for a cat bird, (or others), the value of one catbird's work would be worth $98 per week to the farmer. But would that farmer, or you, or I, be willing to p $98 more in taxes to have the birds adequately protected from plumage hunters, and the winter birds properly fed? I doubt it. Birds can't tell us what good they do;—they just do it. So we don't know, or care. Also, if done by the State, the money would probably feed more politicians, than birds. But we can all do this:—FEED THE BIRDS OURSELVES. The residents along our coasts, aided by the S. P. C. A. are already feeding the starving wild ducks and gulls. Let us do the same for our inland birds, whose money value to us runs into millions yearly. Every household can afford to hang a lump of suet on a tree branch, and to put out on a window-shelf or in a food-house, all the left over bread, muffins, cake, etc. for the bird's breakfast. Also, some can afford to use seed in 100 pound lots, the best mixture being 35 lbs millet; 30 lbs. sunflower; 20 lbs hemp; 5 lbs. rape; 10 lbs oats. Have the seedman mix them. The retail price today is about $13 and that amount will feed about 300 birds for a month. Bird observers in this town estimate that we have 50 per cent less wild birds here than ten years ago and I think they are right. We can win them back by fall and winter feeding steadily kept up, and not stopped too early in the spring. It will pay, and richly. So while the birds are starving let us begin, here and now, to FEED THE BIRDS.

"ELIZA COMES TO STAY"

All Winchester residents who are interested in local amateur theatricals should not fail to see this second presentation of "Eliza Comes to Stay," a delightful 3 act comedy by H. V. Desmond, at the Town Hall, Friday, February 13, at 8 p. m. The entire cast is made up of residents of Winchester and the high quality of their acting will surprise those who have not already seen them.

Dancing will follow the play, and as this is Valentine's Eve this combination will make a very pleasant evening.

Do not forget that the polls open Monday, March 1, at 5.45 a. m., and close at 4.30 p. m.

Abraham Lincoln

during the Civil War heard of a proposition to buy artillery outside the United States. He didn't like the idea, and said so. Someone tried to explain to him that nothing would be lost by the deal— from an economic standpoint.

"Well", said Lincoln, "that may be so; but all I know is if we buy the guns abroad we get the guns and they get the money. If we buy them here we have the guns and the money, too. Buy them at home."

HISTORY OF COUNTRY CLUB

The following history of the Winchester Country Club, appearing recently in a Boston paper, will doubtless prove of interest to many newcomers in Winchester.

The Winchester Country Club originated in what was known as the Winchester Golf Club, which was formed in 1897. It was an association of Winchester people exclusively who obtained a lease of property in the north end of the town adjoining Woburn, formerly belonging to the estate of Edwin Ginn, and comprising about 50 acres. A nine-hole course was built.

The leading spirit in the enterprise at that time W. D. Sanborn, now dead. He was a Harvard graduate, interested in Harvard athletics when he was in Harvard, and was the first man in Winchester who became interested in golf. That organization was never incorporated. It had for a clubhouse a dwelling built on the property of a promoter who intended to develop the property for residential purposes. The club existed as an association at that place for about five years.

In 1902 the association was formed into a corporation known as the Winchester Country Club. One of those instrumental in the change to a new location and further development of the club was Mr. Marshall C. Bouve, who recently died.

He and others associated with him bought the old John Swan farm, located at the corner of Cambridge and Arlington streets on the town line between Arlington and Winchester, substantially half of the property being in the town of Arlington and half in the town of Winchester. This was about 65 acres.

The first president of the club was Rev. John W. Suten, at that time rector of the Episcopal Church in Winchester. The officers were Mr. Suter, Marshall C. Bouve, vice-president; John Abbott, secretary; George G. Kellogg, treasurer. The directors included the above named and F. L. Hunt, and John P. Tucker, Joseph L. S. Barton and Edgar J. Rich.

On the property a 9-hole course was built. The funds for payment for the property and the construction of the course were furnished wholly by club members. In 1913, additional parcels were bought from the Thornton farm, later known as the Hood farm, from the Gilman estate and from the Mills estate, so that the club now occupies property of substantially 175 acres, with an 18 hole course and two stands of buildings, one occupied by the club house, which was the old Swan property, and the other occupied by the green-keeper, which was formerly the farm house of Thornton and later of Hood.

The Swan buildings have been remodelled to some extent. The old barn has been converted into a locker room and dance hall, and the place formerly occupied by teams and live stock now constitutes a dance hall. The old cider mill is part of the present locker building, and the professional's room is now occupied by Harry Bowler.

The membership of the club has increased from approximately 100 of the old original golf club to a full membership now of 400, with associate members to the number of 250 or more. These associate members are the wives and families of the men who comprise the membership of the club.

The earliest deed on record of the land now occupied by the club is a copy of a conveyance by Squaw Sachem and her husband Webicowitz, which in Indian parlance means "New Moon." The seal on the deed is a bow and arrow. The design of the club seal originated in this fact, the design being a wigwam and a new moon above.

The old barn which is now occupied by the lockers and dance hall was built in 1828. The spring from which the players get a drink, as they go from the first tee, was in the olden time, according to Mr. Langley, a gathering place for Indians. It is known as the Sachem spring. He says he can remember when the Indian gypsies and pedlars would go up there and build a fire and get water from the spring.

The brook which runs through the present course had not been looked upon as a ground for trout fishing but John Tucker evidently thought so as one Sunday morning he appeared with his rod and pulled out 18 beautiful trout. For a while the members spent as much time trout fishing as they did golfing, and in a short time the supply was exhausted. This stream empties into the Mystic lake.

Many team matches were played by the members of the old club. They appeared to have been more popular in those days than at the present time. A team of five members played matches with all of the early clubs which had been formed, but it was impossible in those days to ever have the same team play twice. Once a year as many members as could visited the Vesper Club at Lowell and a return match was played at Winchester.

The 19th hole was played considerably evidently in those days, as after play was over many of the jubilant fraternity endeavored to drive across the Merrimac river, an impossible stunt in the days of the gutty ball.

Alexander Findlay laid out the original nine holes of the original Country Club, but later developments have all been made under the direction of Donald Ross.

The club has had for its professionals Willie McGuire, David Brown and Willie Wilson. Harry Bowler is the present professional, and a more popular one is hard to find.

Among the club members are some fine golfsts, including F. L. Hunt, Jr. and Bart Stephenson, who has been nominated for the presidency of the M. G. A. this year. There is also "Traff" Hicks, who played on the Massachusetts team this year in their state matches against Rhode Island and Connecticut, and who also was the semi-finalist in the club championship, losing to Ralph Hornblower, another sterling performer. H. T. Bond up to the time Francis Ouimet made his perfect round of the course in 66 had the lowest competitive play with a 74.

During the past year many improvements have been made in the course. Two much needed improvements were in making the 17th and 18th greens, they now having been banked so as to enable a shot to hold the greens. The eighth and 11th greens were also made over, and the ditch on the eighth fairway filled in, also the ditch in front of the first green was filled in. Considerable work was also done to make the drainage of the course better in future, particularly on the second, third and fourth fairways.

The caddies were not overlooked when improvements were made, as a new building was constructd for them which is fitted with steel lockers, every toilet facility and also a gas heater. Next year the dining room and locker rooms will be connected so that it will not be necessary to go outside the building to reach the dining room. This room will be considerably increased in size and there will also be additional quarters for the help.

GIRL SCOUT CAMPAIGN

The Finance Committee of the Girl Scout Campaign reports that three of the Captains have each handed in over $100. This $300 toward the promoting of Scouting is very much appreciated. It is hoped that all interested in the movement will contribute toward the work. Many of the solicitors have been delayed by sickness and the unusual weather, but the returns will probably be in by the end of this week.

CATHERINE GRACE SULLIVAN

Miss Catherine Grace Sullivan, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Sullivan, died at her home on Arthur street, Sunday morning, after a long period of ill health. She was in her twenty-fourth year, and had beeen employed as long as her health would permit, in the law firm of Russell, Phugh & Kneeland of Boston. She graduated from the Winchester High School, Commerical department, class of 1916. She leaves a mother and two sisters. A solemn high mass was sung on Wednesday morniing at St. Mary's Church, Fathers Merritt, Corbett, and Rogers officiating. The following young men acted as pall bearers: Mr. Henry Clouart of Uxbridge; Mr. Thomas Dolan, Mr. Daniel Reardon, Mr. Willie Reardon, Mr. Joseph Higgins, of Winchester; and Mr. Hugh O'Brien of Montvale. The interment was in Calvary cemetery.

Story of the Artichoke.

The artichoke, which originally came from Barbary, is not a botanical species, but a variety of the thistle, which grows spontaneously all along the African coast of the Mediterranean from Morocco to Palestine.

RIGA: WHERE BOARDS OF TRADE AND TRUSTS WERE BORN

"He who thinks that vast monopolies are modern enterprises, or that chambers of commerce are latter day civic institutions, or that Prussians first strove to implant Kultur with a sword in 1914, will be disillusioned if he reads the history of Riga."

This statement is made in a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society relating to the Baltic port where Germans now are reported to be attacking the Lettish occupants.

"Riga had to wrest itself free from Prussian control once before, and thereby hangs the story of an early exploit like the attempted subjugation of Belgium and the deportation of its workers," the bulletin says.

"About the middle of the twelfth century a few German merchants established settlements about the mouth of the Dvina, which empties into the Gulf of Riga nine miles below the present city of Riga. Whereupon Bishop Albert, in the role of a missionary, sought to colonize the territory in 1201 by building a town where Riga now stands and the following year he founded the Brethren of the Sword.

"The new order was well named. It killed where it could not convert, though slaughter was not the main object after a foothold on the promising Baltic port was obtained. The 'missionaries' were satisfied to reduce the native population to serfdom, appropriate the land, and build fortified towns and castles to uphold this miniature feudal system in a land they aimed to exploit.

"But the Livonians are a libert- loving people. They resisted despotism then, and many times later, just as they rebel against Bolshevism today. When their early oppressors became too severe they arose, drove out the 'missionaries,' and went in great numbers to the 'Dvina. There they immersed themselves again and sent the waters back to Germany to show that they renounced the baptism imposed by the invaders. Later Livonia, and Riga, which became its capital, espoused the Christian religion; and the Order of the Sword merged with the Teutonic Knights and continued its operations in other quarters.

"Though Prussia's political hold was shaken off Riga, it maintained its economic ties there and individual Germans usually have been important factors in its commerce. This phase of German influence was consumated when Riga, in the thirteenth century became a member of the Hanseatic League, the first great trust which for two centuries controlled practically all the trade channels of continental Europe north of the Alps.

"Riga was conspicuous among the eighty-five cities beonging to this giant combine at the height of its power in the later fourteenth century. Thus Riga attained a commercial importance which it never relinquished, and even in 1914 it was accounted second only to St. Petersburg (now Petrograd) among the Baltic cities in the volume of its trade.

"It is hard to realize what tremendous impetus the operation of this league of cities attained in the middle ages. It had been formed for the sole purpose of resisting piracy; and it left in its wake such mementoes of its prosperity as Hamburg, Bremen and Lubeck, which retained their rights as free cities within the German Empire until its downfall. Empire until its downfall.

"The third modern aspect of mediaeval Riga is to be found in the famous 'Blackheads.' It was this body which soon came to have the civic importance, and apparently many of the functions of a chamber of commerce or board of trade today.

"Originally it was organized by the young traders who came to Riga as a social club, to afford fellowship in addition to the needful board and lodgings during their sojourn. Since the members were mostly young men, progressive and somewhat assertive, they took their name to distinguish themselves from their elders, or grey beards. Naturally their table talk turned to ways of promoting business, and soon the club became, in effect, an organization for a 'Bigger, Better and Busier Riga,' as the modern trade body would phrase it. The Hall of the Blackheads, built in 1330, is one of the oldest landmarks of the city.

"A survival of the thirteenth century is the Cathedral of the Virgin, rebuilt most recently in 1883, when there was installed one of the largest pipe organs in the world—almost as large as the mammoth instruments at Asbury Park, N. J., and in the town hall of Sydney, Australia.

"From the beginning of the World War Riga was an objective of the Central powers, because of its importance as a focal point for the lumber from White Russia and Volhynia, the flax from northwestern Russia, and other products from a wide area with which it has rail and water communication. Its recent prosperity is indicated by the growth of its population from 102,000 in 1867 to more than 500,000 before the war."

(The industries and public buildings of Riga were described in prevous National Geographic Society Bulletins.)

RED CROSS WILL ASSIST

In response to the request of Mrs. James W. Russell, Jr., president of the Visiting Nurse Association, the local branch of the Red Cross have organized to assist in meeting any emergency that may arise during the influenza crisis with which the country is now faced.

The following committees have been appointed: Transportation—Mrs. Bowen Tufts, Miss Elizabeth Downs. Food—Mrs. F. M. White, Mrs. Allan Wood. Supplies—Mrs. H. A. Gale, Miss Elise Belcher. Nurses—Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott, Miss Charlotte Edlefson. Work with other agencies—Mrs. W. T. Palmer, Mrs. Maurice Brown.

SLEIGHRIDE

A jolly sleighride party occupying two sleighs went on Saturday night to Bedford Inn where they enjoyed dinner. The sleighs were matroned by Mrs. Theodore Lawson and Mrs. Doris Thompson. These young folks had a delightful time in spite of the cold weather: Kenneth Park, Muriel Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lawson, Doris Thompson, Anna Tindall, Theodore Hurd, J. B. Palmer, Connie Park, Margaret Ray, James Flinn, Doris Bowman, Louise Alexander, Lloyd Goddu, Mr. Russell, Miss Adams, Burnham Preston, Irving Jennings, Phillis Tuten, J. B. Thomas and Louis Goddu.

MRS. KATHERINE McDERMOTT

Mrs. Katherine McDermott of 22 Lincoln street, passed away last night. She was 51 years of age and the widow of the late Thomas McDermott, formerly of Dorchester. She leaves no immediate relatives. Funeral services will be held at the First Baptist Church, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and will be conducted by Rev. Henry E. Hodge. The burial will be in Wildwood cemetery.

What the Binet-Simon Tests Are

The Binet-Simon tests are a series of questions designed to measure the physical and mental development of the child. These have been tried on a large number of children and the answers so standardized that it is possible to measure what is called the mental age of a child. This mental age in many cases differs considerably from the actual physical age of the child. For illustration, a child who is actually six years old may have a mental age of five years and three months, and another child who is actually six years of age may have a mental age of seven years.

What dependence can be put on the reliability of such examinations? Two or more skilled examiners, after examining the same child will not vary more than two or three months in their judgment of his mental age.

The Binet-Simon tests in various forms, chiefly in Terman's revision, have been used already in some school systems as an aid in the grading of pupils in lower classes. The advantage of testing for intelligence is that it furnishes an objective measure that may be used to supplement the judgment of the teacher in placing pupils.

Use of Group Tests

The Binet-Simon tests take considerable time to administer because every child has to be examined separately and under exactly controlled conditions. The need of more expeditious methods for measuring the intelligence of large numbers of older individuals is apparent. This need was felt most urgently when in the late war, it became necessary in the army to select in a short time large numbers of men for important positions. As a result the well-known army intelligence test is likely to become quite general. Already such tests are being used in some colleges as part of the basis for admission.

It is apparent that if the results of such tests are at all reliable, they will be useful in the schools. Let me cite a number of concrete instances where such a method of testing would be helpful.

Case No. 1. A boy is five years and four months old on September first, when school begins. His parents think he is a strong and healthy boy and they believe he would be better off in school. He is not old enough to be admitted under the rules of the School Committee. If a skilled examiner, after examing this boy decided that he had a mental age of six years or more, it would be perfectly reasonable to admit him to the first grade and it would not be at all probable that he would fail his first year's work. If, on the other hand, the examiner found that his mental age was only five years, it would not be advisable to admit him to the first grade, because it would be almost certain that, if he were admitted, he would fail.

Case No. 2. A boy thirteen years old who has failed to pass his sixth grade work. If in taking a group intelligence test, this boy proved that he had a fairly well-developed faculty of reasoning and a wide general knowledge, it would be well, notwithstanding his being a poor speller and a poor writer and possibly careless in some of his other work, to place him in the seventh grade.

Case No. 3. A girl thirteen years old in the eighth grade who has a very good visual memory and who does fairly good work from day to day, but who shows a tendency to fail when confronted with the need of doing any original thinking and whose parents wish her to go to college. If after she had taken an intelligence test, it was found that her powers of reasoning and her general grasp of practical problems were as yet undeveloped, it would be best for her not to take up high school work for another year.

Case No. 4. A girl fifteen years old in the freshman class in the high school who can do fairly good work in the languages but who has succeeded in mathematics only by leaning heavily upon the help of her friends and parents. If after taking a test to show general ability in Geometry, it appeared that she had less ability of this kind than even her teachers supposed she had, it would be well for her to discontinue her mathematics and devote herself in the high school to something for which she was better fitted.

The General Situation With Regard to Educational Costs in Winchester

How does Winchester compare with other communities in its expenditures for education? Before we decide on an educational policy for the town, we must know what factors go to make up what may be called the financial-educational situation. There are, I believe, three of primary importance. They are:

1. What we are paying.
2. What we are able to pay.
3. What we are willing to pay.

The purpose of this discussion is to show the standing of Winchester in comparison with other communities. The figures quoted are taken from reports of the Massachusetts Board of Education for the year 1918. They do not reflect in any way the striking increase in educational costs that have taken place since that time. No statistics as yet are available to show which communities have been meeting these increased costs most generously.

What We Are Paying

Table 8

Expenditures for Salaries and Expenses of Principals, Supervisors and Teachers in Year ending June, 1918.

	Elementary	High
State of Mass. (average)	20.90	61.90

Springfield	34.15	104.23
Newton	34.74	66.47
Milton	37.71	65.33
Wellesley	37.89	66.66
Brookline	43.51	94.29

Table 8 shows the pupil per capita expenditure for instruction for elementary schools and for high schools in several Massachusetts communities including Winchester. Some of the communties chosen such as Arlington, Belmont, and Watertown are chosen because they are nearby; others, such as Newton, Milton and Brookline because from an educational and financial point of view they resemble Winchester. Springfield and Boston are included because they are larger communties with approximately the same property valuation as Winchester. Boston is included because it represents a city which, because of its size, enjoys the benefits of a large organization. The state is included because it shows the average for the whole Commonwealth, it indicates and average tendency. These averages are influenced, of course, very strongly by the expenditures in many small communities. Winchester's expenditures for elementary schools rank seven in this list. Newton, Milton, Wellesley, Springfield, Boston and Brookline expend more than Winchester for elementary school instruction.

In expenditure for high school instruction, Winchester ranks four in this group, its expenditures being exceeded only by those of Springfield, Boston and Brookline. Of these three, Brookline is the only one that is substantially a wealthier community than Winchester. A comparison of expenditures for elementary schools and for high schools shows that relatively Winchester is paying more for high school than for elementary school education. High school organization is more uniform throughout the state than elementary school organization, and Winchester's relatively low expenditures for elementary school instruction for each pupil is caused partly by the fact that it has small schools with only one elementary school principal who does not teach.

Table 9 shows how much taxable property there is in the communities mentioned available for the support of each child in average membership. This is the best index of the ability of a community to pay for education—the measure of the community's pocketbook. Winchester is more able to pay for education than the state as a whole; in its ability to pay, Winchester ranks 43 among the 354 towns and cities of the state. Brookline, the wealthiest town of over 5000 population ranks five. Boston, Milton and Wellesley are the only communities besides Winchester of over 5000 population that have a valuation of over $10,000 per pupil. All the other wealthy communities in the state are small towns. It is perfectly fair to class Winchester as one of the wealthy communities, a community able to pay for the best in education.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Friday, February 13, at the home of Mrs. George Arnold, 7 Dix street, will be held the monthly meeting of the Winchester Union and, as is usual for the February meeting, will be devoted in part to a memoral of Frances E. Willard whose passing from this life was on February 17, 1898. The business session will open at three o'clock and it is hoped that there may be a good attendance as there is much to be done. This will be an all day sewing meeting with basket lunch.

Tuesday, February 17, will be the first Open House Day for the White Ribbon Home at Ayer, now the home of a number of aged white ribboners. Those who cannot go in person are asked to send a donation to help with the necessary expenses of running the Home. While money is always most acceptable anything in the way of food or household suplies will be gladly received. The Home is very near the railway station and easily accessible. There will be an attractive program and the place will be open for inspection all day.

February 18, the Middlesex County convention will be held in the Baptist Church, Newton, and it is hoped there may be a large attendance from Winchester as it is the first convention at which Mrs. Hamilton has been called upon to preside since her election as president of the County Union. Mrs. Alice G. Ropes, vice-president at large of the Massachusetts W. C. T. U. will be the chief speaker and will have for her subject the Jubilee drive, now being pressed through the state.

The Winchester Union has again been called upon to lose one of its most interested members in the passing of Mrs. Moses Richardson. Although long unable to take an active part in the meetings she continued to do what she could in many ways, never failing to respond to appeals for help for the cause which was very near her heart. As these older workers are obliged to give up the work new ones should come in to take their place and special effort is now being made to enlist others in this service.

WINCHESTER ALLEY NOTES

The bowling season is now at its height and everyone seems to be taking a hand in the game.

Matches are on every night between individuals or teams; and lively evenings are the rule at these alleys.

The Beggs & Cobb—Whitney match was the big one of the week, Beggs' winning by 91 pins. This team looked good in the match with Whitney, but Whitney is not yet satisfied that Beggs is the better team, so another match looms up.

There are some mighty nice bowlers on the Beggs team including C. Dunbury, Dineen, O'Toole, Reebenacker and G. Dunbury.

There are also good men on the Whitney team, but they fell down badly in the match.

Bill Waters and John Swymer make a great team when they go at it with Waters generally on the winning end.

Jim Fitz has got the habit again after an enforced lay off and the pins are beginning to topple again.

Mickie McDonald of upper Main street came in with a few of his friends and what he don't do to the pins is a shame.

Pal Moore says the only one on the alleys that he can beat is Foley. He is a hard luck bowler for fair.

A big match is in the making. Ernie Richardson is getting up a team to go against the best five from this alley.

Mark Kelly Jr., Frank Dempsey and Tom O'Mella had it out the other evening with Kelley on the winning end. They are going at it again next week.

Bill Whelan, Mr. LeDuc's able assistant tried to show Jach Donaghey how to hit them but I noticed Bill had to pay.

Bill Humphrey lost to Ed Boyle in a three string match by 20 pins. And now mention Boyle to Humphrey and he walks away.

Sanderson's shop team won from Whitney No. 2 by 28 pins. This match created plenty of excitement and there was lots of rooting by both teams. They go at it again next Monday night.

Razor says being a human semaphore does not make the hit with him that Bowling does.

Winchester visited Boston Tuesday night, but through a misunderstanding only three men showed up but McMahon, Osborn and Bill Rogers rolled a three string match against Powell, McKee and Callahan winning their match by 10 pins.

Powell and McKee now want to roll a twenty string match against the best two here 10 strings to be rolled at Winchester and 10 at Boston.

This column is devoted exclusively to the news and bowling concerning to this alley. I am not giving notices to teams or individuals who bowl elsewhere and come in here once a month looking for a little writeup. These alleys are busy all the time with a fine crowd of red blooded bowlers hitting the pins. They are entitled to considerations and they get it, so a word to the wise is sufficient.

Warren Johnston is getting up a strong team to roll here next week with a return match in Arlington later.

Say, what is the trouble with the call firemen? Don't any of you fellows know how to bowl? Come on get in the running.

By the way I though Newman, Berry, and Stephenson were great bowlers what's the matter, are you fellows afraid to go against a five from these alleys?

We will roll you at your own game at your alleys and you do the same at our game.

More teams in the making. The Arlington Alleys are out for a game so is Woburn and several individuals are going to see what they can do about getting a team to beat our team here.

We notice Charlie Sylvester comes along quite often now. It is mighty lonesome bowling when you have no one to test your skill against.

Finally if you want to know who's who in the bowling game read this column and bowl on these alleys. Here is where all the live ones are.

At the ceremony at the State House shortly before noon Saturday, when the stand of colors carried for nearly two years overseas by the 14th Engineers, the regiment recruited from employees of New England railroads, was returned to the Commonwealth, Mr. George LeDuc of this town was one of the color bearers. Governor Calvin Coolidge received the colors for the State.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

The regular meeting of the Winchester Board of Trade was held on Tuesday evening in White's hall, president Charles H. Symmes presiding. There was the usual good attendance.

The evening developed into a discussion of a number of important town matters, several of which were brought before the members in an interesting and lucid manner by the aid of maps. Town Engineer James Hinds was present at the meeting by invitation, and he explained several of the matters and answered questions put by the audience.

A letter was read by Secretary Wadsworth from Mr. George C. Ogden recommending that the association investigate the advisability of using the open space at the rear of the police and fire station for parking automobiles. This place was suggested as handy and convenient. Entrances on both Mt. Vernon street and Winchester place made it of easy access, and its proximity to the police station gave assurances that the cars would not be stolen.

After discussion, during which the space at the rear of the Town Hall was mentioned as a possible place for parking cars, this matter was referred to a committee to report later.

A nominating committee to propose officers for the coming year was elected as follows: Mr. Robert F. Whitney, Mr. George F. Arnold, Mr. Nathaniel M. Nichols, Mr. T. Price Wilson, Mr. Herbert B. Seller.

The much talked of project for the separation of that part of the town known as "Dunster Gardens" by giving it to the town of Arlington was discussed, maps of the district being shown by Engineer Hinds. It was reported that the residents of this section desire to be annexed to our neighboring town.

It was also decided during the evening to call a special meeting of the organization to discuss the articles in the warrant for the coming March meeting. The date of this meeting is yet to be announced.

The matter of an underground passage at the Railroad station was discussed, plans being shown by Engineer Hinds. With this the matter of a War memorial on Manchester Field was touched upon, the idea meeting with enthusiasm.

Motion pictures occupied a small portion of the evening when Mr. W. E. Ramsdell spoke in behalf of an American Legion officer who desires to start them here. As this matter will be settled by the article to be acted upon in the warrant for the March meeting, no action at this time was deemed necessary by the Board of Trade.

One member thought that it would be a fine thing if the electric line running to Arlington would make stops during evening hours, and especially late at night, at streets where passengers desired to go, and not leave passengers, especially elderly people and ladies, to walk a considerable distance to reach a point passed by the car. This met with considerable approval by the meeting, and it was moved to invite the Superintendent of the road to a future meeting to discuss this and other matters.

The project to take 5 1-3 feet from the sidewalk on Main street in front of the White building and throw it into the open street to widen the present way was explained by Engineer Hinds by aid of a map.

The matter of the street across the pond and the filling of the pond between the railroad tracks was also explained by means of maps, and was discussed at length.

The meeting adjourned at a late hour.

WINCHESTER 10 CHELSEA 20

Chelsea High Basket Ball team defeated Winchester High Friday, Jan. 20, by the score of 20 to 10. Winchester was somewhat handicapped by the illness of several players, but played a fine game against the much superior passing of the visitors.

The estate is valued at $60,000; $10,000 in real estate and $50,000 in personal property.

Edwin C. Gilman of Winchester has been appointed as administrator of the estate of his wife Mrs. Anna B. Gilman of Winchester who died January 5, 1920. He has given a bond of $1500. The estate is valued at $1000 all in personal property.

The estate of Mary C. Mooney of Winchester is inventoried at $6900; $100 in personal property and $6800 in real estate.

WINCHESTER 10 ARLINGTON 19

Winchester was defeated by the Arlington High Basket Ball Team Monday, February 2, by the score of 19 to 11. At the end of the first half the score was tied at 5, but in the second half, Cooledge and Buott of Arlington scored 14 points between them to Winchesters 6. The home team may be congratulated on its good work in spite of the fact that many of the players are ill.

The Collection of "Slow" Telephone Accounts

THE PURPOSE OF THIS ANNOUNCEMENT is to show that it is desirable to save the time and labor that is expended in collecting bills that remain unpaid after the lapse of a reasonable period of time.

BILLS ARE DUE when rendered on the first day of each month, and while most telephone accounts are paid promptly, there are a number of "slow" accounts that require labor, time and expense that might better be devoted to other work that is more directly in the interest of the public's telephone service.

WE BELIEVE that this method of bringing the matter to the attention of the public, this frank and open discussion of our aims, is all that is necessary to secure proper understanding and co-operation.

Winchester has been extremely fortunate during the past six weeks of zero weather in the small number of fires which have occurred. The department has only had one or two calls, and if the Gilpatric fire is excepted, no damage to speak of resulted. Householders should take extra precautions during the cold weather in watching their heaters and stoves.

Notwithstanding the extreme cold of this winter the number of frozen water pipes in this town has not been above the average. This is due in a large part to the deep snow covering the ground, and such freeze-ups as have occurred have been largely in cellars or just at the cellar walls. About 50 freeze-ups have been attended to by the Water Department thus far. A frozen supply pipe in a manhole on Arthur street last Saturday led to the report that the main had frozen, but this was not so, and the freeze-up was quickly thawed out.

What We Are Willing To Pay

Table 10 shows the amount of money assessed on each one thousand dollars of taxable property applied to education. It is probably the best measure of a community's willingness to pay. Among all the other communities of the state Winchester ranks 221; that is, there are 220 other towns and cities that tax themselves more heavily for education than we. The following cities tax themselves more heavily than Winchester: Worcester, Somerville, Brockton, Haverhill, Malden, Chelsea, Newton, Fitchburg, Pittsfield, Everett, Taunton, Medford, Revere, Gloucester, North Adams, Northampton, Leominster, Melrose, Woburn, Marlboro and Methuen. In other words, they go down in their pockets more deeply than we according to ability.

Winchester paid in 1917 $5.71 for education on each one thousand dollars worth of taxable property; in 1918 she paid $5.87. This amount was substantially increased in 1919 and probably will be considerably increased in 1920. There is little, likelihood, however, that our relative standing will be substantially changed

From another point of view the question, "What are we willing to pay," may be answered from public sentiment. There is no question that this sentiment in Winchester is positively in favor of securing the best education the town can afford. Winchester is notably a town of homes. People come here to rear and educate their children. Interest in the children in Winchester runs as high as in any town I know. There are eleven towns of over 5,000 population in Massachusetts where the tax for public education is over nine dollars on the thousand of taxable property. Six cities in Massachusetts tax themselves over seven dollars on a thousand for education. We tax ourselves $5.71. If we had taxed ourselves nine dollars on a thousand in 1917 for education we would have had in 1917 a school budget of $151,900. As a matter of fact, we actually did expend $97,110. It would, of course, be of no use to quote figures in a community that is satisfied with its expenditures for education. But Winchester is not satisfied to be just average or ordinary in her educational program.

To sum up: while Winchester has expended money generously for education from the point of view of

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my many friends in Winchester for their kindness and sympathy for us all in our time of trouble and at the time of my Husband's burial.

Mrs. Ida E. Purington

WALTER S. PURINGTON

Walter Scott Purington, one of the well-known members of the Purington family who have been market gardeners in this town for almost 70 years, died at his home on Cambridge street last Friday, of dropsy, after an illness of five weeks. He was 61 years of age.

Mr. Purington was born in this town, his parents being Eliza Moody and the late Joseph Purington. He attended the school of the town and engaged with his father in market gardening, following this occupation all his life.

He leaves a wife, Mrs. Ida E. (Cross) Purington, and one son, Newell W. Purington, both of whom are ill at the present time with the influenza. He also leaves one brother, George W. Purington. He was a member of Bethel Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Arlington.

Funeral services were held from the residence, 138 Cambridge street, on Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. A. B. Gifford, pastor of the Methodist Church. There were many beautiful floral tributes, and during the service selections were rendered by a soprano soloist. The pall bearers were Messrs. Edward Russell, Frank Noyes, Jonas A. Laraway and George Welch.

The remains were taken to Wildwood cemetery and placed in the receiving tomb.

INFLUENZA CONDITION

The Health Officer reports an increase in the number of grippe and influenza cases during the week, not enough to cause any serious alarm as in only one instance death resulted.

It is probable that the peak of the infection has been reached and will recede to normal very soon.

The Health Officer has been assured of the cooperation of a number of organizations in their efforts to prevent the spread of this infection. The Board of Health are prepared to care for quite a number of patients should an emergency arise, which at this time appears very improbable, nd they have secured commodious and suitable quarters, centrally located, with modern conveniences and well adapted for the purpose.

The problem confronting the Board of Health of securing competent nurses, cooks, and other accessories has been solved by the voluntary aid of the local chapter of the Red Cross.

The Winchester Hospital Association is rendering valuable service at the present time nd cooperating with the Board of Health by placing all their available space at the disposal of patients requiring treatment.

The Health Officer earnestly requests all persons suffering from this infection if unable to secure nurses, or any other necessity, to notify the Health Officer through their physician or otherwise.

BAPTIST CHURCH CALLS A PASTOR

At a largely attended business church meeting, the members of the First Baptist Church voted unanimously and enthusiastically to extend a call to Rev. Clifton H. Walcott to become their pastor and a large sum was also raised by pledges to meet the additional expenses incurred thereby.

Rev. Mr. Walcott is now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sharon where he has been very successful. He is very highly thought of not only by his own parishioners but by the community as well. He is a graduate of Mt. Hermon, of Brown University in the class of 1910 and of Newton Theological Seminary.

The Tech Musical Club will give a Concert in the own Hall, Friday evening, Febraury 27 at 8 o'clock Walter Johnson's Orchestra from Boston will furnish music for dancing from 10 to 1 o'clock. Tickets at 50c, 75c, and $1.00 plus war tax, may be bought at the Exchange, or from any of the following: Hester Bradford, Merial Thomas, Parker Hart and Dana Freeman.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

The Board met at 7.20 P. M. Present, Messrs. Cox, Emerson, Newman and Simonds.

The records of the meeting of February 2 were read and approved.

Town Meeting, March 1, 1920. Word was received from Messrs. Arnold, Nutter, Pratt, Sullivan, O'Connor and Newell that they will serve as election officers at the March Town Meeting, to be held March 1, 1920. They were appointed.

Word was also received from Mr. Adriance that he would be unable to serve. The Board nominated Mr. J. Leslie Johnston (Republican), as election officer in place of Mr. Adriance.

Mr. John Cullen, Jr., Democrat, was also nominated as election officer for this meeting in place of Bernard F. Mathews, Jr., from whom the Board had received no word. Both these nominations hold over one week.

The Board signed the warrant.

Board of Appeal. Under supsension of its rules the Board appointed Messrs. Edward A. Tucker, Arthur T. Smith and Walter S. Wadsworth to serve as the Board of Appeals for the year ending December 31, 1920.

Common Street Extension. William R. McIntosh, as constable, made his "return of service" (under date of February 7, 1920), of notice to abutters of a hearing in regard to the relocating, altering and widening of Common Street Extension, which will be held on Monday, February 16, 1920, at 8 P. M.

Park Street. William R. McIntosh, as constable, made his "return of service" (under date of February 7, 1920) of notice to abutters of a hearing in regard to the relocating, altering and widening of Park Street, which will be held on Monday, February 16, 1920, at 8 P. M.

Foxcroft Road and Warren Street. Messrs. Fred A. Parshley, 6 Warren Street, Sidney F. Hooper, 15 Foxcroft Road and Albert D. Rogers, 21 Foxcroft Road, appeared before the Board in regard to the proposed renaming of Foxcroft Road and Warren Street. Word was received from Messrs. George A. Stickney (by telephone). Nathan A. Tufts, J. C. Haartz (by letter), and from other abutters. All abutters heard from seemed to be willing to have one name for these streets but there was a difference of opinion as to which name should be used. Mr. Parshley stated that he preferred Warren Street and felt that the name meant something, being named after the American General by that name. He also stated that Mr. Healey, who lived near him, felt the name should be Warren Street. All the other abutters heard from seemed to favor Foxcroft Road as the name. "Warrencroft" was facetiously suggested by one abuttor. The hearing was declared closed after further discussion.

The meeting adjourned at 11.15 P. M.

GEORGE S. F. BARTLETT.
Clerk of Selectmen.

POLITICS

Politics, with regard to the coming spring election, remain centered wholly about the office of Selectmen, and while there are many candidates "mentioned", there are only a few who have come openly into the field to date.

Mr. Harry A. Norton, a desirable candidate, announces that he will not run for the office, much to the regret of his many friends. A new candidate is Mr. Patrick Craughwell, who, with Mr. McKenzie, has announced his candidacy. Mr. George M. Byrne is another desirable candidate who announced his position.

It is reported that Chairman Arthur A. Kidder, of the present board, will consent to run again. It is also reported that Mr. William L. Parsons has consented to run; likewise Mr. J. A. Dolben. Friends of Mr. Henry Weed are working hard to secure his name for the position.

Mr. George M. Byrne of Pine street, announced definitely last night that he would be a candidate. It is also stated on good authority that Mr. W. L. Parsons and James Blackham have definitely decided to run.

Thus far, among those who have signified their intention of running and those who have been mentioned, the following list has been compiled:

Percy A. Bearse
James Blackham
George M. Byrne
Patrick Craughwell
George T. Davidson
J. A. Dolben
Arthur A. Kidder
J. A. Laraway
Edward McKenzie
W. L. Parsons
Thomas Quigley, Jr.
Herbert Wadsworth, Jr.
Henry Weed.

The above list includes much good material, and if the friends of these gentlemen offer enough support and inducement to secure the placing of these names on the ballot, we should be able to have a most effective board this year.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

The annual Washington's Birthday party at the Calumet Club promises to be the best ever this year. There is to be the usual afternoon party with an entertainment and refreshments for the children, and at six-thirty there will be a chafing dish supper for the gentlemen and ladies, followed by dancing. Owing to the popularity of this party in past years, it is anticipated that the capacity of the club will be taxed to its limit, and the committee in charge have therefore decided to admit only by ticket.

Mr. John McNamara is still confined at his home on Russell Road, with a dislocated shoulder.

Valentines at Wilson's.

NOTES ON THE STORM

There are still some residents who claim the storm was not the worst yet. This point will make a good subject for debate through the coming weeks.

At any rate, it appears that if the storm was not the worst ever experienced in this section, it at least ranks with the top notchers.

No attempt was made by the Highway Department to plow out the sidewalks. The plows were sent out with two horses and four men each with instructions to take the centre only of the main streets. After these were cleared the side streets were taken and later such sidewalks as could be plowed. It has been found impossible to plow all of the sidewalks, the accumulation of snow being so great that paths could only be broken through by shovelling, and this would not be feasible.

Most of the main streets had paths by Friday night. Among the first to be opened was Highland avenue to the Hospital.

Horses were practically unobtainable. All that could be secured were placed at the disposal of the doctors and nurses.

The railroad appeared to be getting into shape nicely when a snow plow went off the track near West Medford Friday forenoon, tangling up the schedule badly. Trains were run late in the afternoon over the inward track but this makeshift could not begin to care for the traffic, and more than one person had to wait hours in the North Station before getting home.

Some trains were so crowded that it was not possible to get on them, and in some instances those who took later trains reached Winchester first.

Many Winchester people remained in Boston all night Thursday. The wise ones intentionally and others involuntarily.

The school children had a fine vacation—from Thursday to Monday.

The chief difficulty experienced by householders was the milk shortage, some firms being unable to make deliveries. When possible, milk was left at centre stores and called for there.

The Arlington cars ran only as far as "Moxie" at Old Mystic street, until Sunday. A broken trolley wire was largely responsible for crippling this line.

COMMUNITY FORUM

The speaker at the community public forum on Sunday afternoon at the First Congregational Church, under the auspices of the Protestant Churches of the town was Fred Houston Kent, and his subject was "The Real British Attitude Toward the United States."

Mrs. Bearice Forbes Robertson Hale of Scituate, who was scheduled to speak on "The British Labor Party," was unable to be present because of the snow blocked travel from her home to Boston.

Mr. Kent said that the real attitude of the people of England toward the United States was one of admiration and gratitude for what this country had done in the World War. Mr. Kent was a Y. M. C. A. worker overseas during the war. About 500 persons attended the meeting.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The monthly meeting of the Winchester Post No. 97 American Legion will be held in Lyceum Hall, Tuesday night February 17th at 8 o'clock. The speakers for the evening are Vice Commander Alden Chambers of the National Organization and Henry B. Sheehan who served with the French Army Ambulance Corp, later Naval correspondent for the Grand Fleet in the North Sea and now editor of "The Living Age." There will also be a Musical Entertainment followed by refreshments and smokes.

On Sunday February 22nd the French War Testimonials will be presented to the relatives of the men who died in battle by the Winchester Post American Legion at two o'clock at the Town Hall. This service is being carried on throughout the country by the various Posts.

CENSUS ENDED

The time for the enumeration of the census of Winchester ended on Saturday, February 7, the time having been extended until every man, woman, and child in this town had been registered by the enumerator.

Supervisor John J. Sullivan, Concord, begs to call the attention of the people of Winchester to the fact that it is a Federal offence punishable by fine for any inhabitant of a community to neglect to perform his duty in registering with the census taker the fact that he has been living in the city or town on January 1, 1920. It is the belief of the Supervisor that many persons in this town have neglected to comply with the law regarding the census, and it is hoped that each person who is in doubt about his or her enumeration will at once write to Mr. Sullivan, who will take up the matter with them.

TRACTOR TO BREAK OUT STREETS

The town received a new Ford tractor yesterday afternoon, with which it will experiment in breaking out the streets. The snow plow path in the centre of the streets does not give any opportunity for passing of the sleighs, the tractor is expected to open the streets so that they can be used by sleighs going in both directions. If the tractor proves its worth it will be kept by the town and used regularly by the Highway department; if it is

TO PREVENT POLLUTION OF RIVER AND LAKES

Representative Richard B. Coolidge has introduced a bill upon which a hearing was held Wednesday, of considerable importance to this town, in that it affects the remedy for the present pollution of our river and the Mystic Lakes. This bill provides for additional sewers in the Aberjona watershed and constituting a part of the North Metropolitan Sewerage System.

The bill is one of three which Rep. Coolidge has taken up for Winchester, the other two affecting the proposed new bridge over the river at Bacon street and the continuing of the work of dredging and cleaning the river itself.

As regards the proposed new sewers, a joint board, consisting of the Metropolitan Park Commission and Commisssion of Health to investigate the subject of protecting and purifying the water of Mystic Lake, was appointed under a resolve of 1917. This report was made in January 1918.

After reviewing the whole subject the Board stated in conclusion that it is desirable that effective provision be made for the proper disposal of waste from the factories in the upper end of the valley, and by making such provision in that part of the valley not reached by sewers, and the improvement of the channel of the river, the pollution of the Mystic Lakes and its tributaries can be prevented so far as it is possible to do so in a large manufacturing area.

Next under a reslove of 1918, the Department of Public Health was directed to ascertain the cost of constructing a system of sewers adequate for the disposal of this sewage and waste discharged into the Mystic Lakes. This report was made January last, it summing up as a problem of no great difficulty, the construction of an extension from the Metropolitan sewer as far as the industrial works located in the northerly part of Woburn.

The department estimated the capacity needed for such a sewer at 450,000 gallons per day from the principal chemical works in North Woburn and from various other concerns 300,000 gallons per day, making an estimated desirable capacity of 500,000 gallons.

The estimated cost is in the neighborhood of $307,000. The natural outlet of the proposed sewer is the branch of the North Metropolitan Sewerage system, originally constructed to receive the sewage of Stoneham and now being constructed to receive the sewage of Reading.

Rep. Coodidge's bills provide for the construction of a trunk line sewer between Woburn and Stoneham, in the Aberjona valley, so-called, situated in the easterly part of Woburn. It will begin at the present metropolitan sewer near the junction of Stoneham or Strongwater brook in the Aberjona river and extend along the Aberjona valley to the Arlington line, or along such other lines as may be deemed feasible. The sum asked for to effect this construction is $300,000.

Also for an additional main sewer to begin at the present metropolitan sewer near the junction of Stoneham or Strongwater brook and the Aberjona river where the main metropolitan sewer to Stoneham and Reading leaves the Aberjona valley, and running thence through the town of Stoneham and the city of Woburn to the Woburn-Wilmington line near the works of the American Agricultural Chemical Company; and also an additional metropolitan sewer from the neighborhood of Cross street in Winchester, to Hill street in Woburn; and for these purposes the sum of five hundred thousand dollars shall be allowed and paid out of the treasury of the commonwealth from the Metropolitan Sewerage Loan Fund, North System.

THE CASE OF ULSTER IN THE IRISH QUESTION

At the Unitarian Church Sunday morning the people of Winchester will have an opportunity to hear one of the official delegates of the Irish Protestant Churches to the Churches of America present the view of the North of Ireland on the Irish Question.

The Rev. William A. Corkley, M. A. of the Townsend St. Presbyterian Church of Belfast will speak.

Mr. Corkley was a chaplain in the British Army during the War and wears a decoration for Heroic War Service. He has had wide experience in various forms of social and religious activity.

Winchester is favored in having one of these six official delegates who will speak in Greater Boston on Sunday.

COMMUNITY FORUM CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

BOLSHEVISM

One of the most interesting lectures in the series under the auspices of the Community Forum of Winchester will be given by Professor Leo Wiener, of Harvard, next Sunday afternoon, at four o'clock. Professor Wiener will speak on "Bolshevism." It is difficult to get a clear idea of this movement from the Press and magazines, as the reports are conflicting. Every intelligent citizen will therefore welcome the opportunity of learning about it from a man who is competent to speak on the subject. Professor Wiener was born in Russia and educated at Minsk and Warsaw. He came to the United States in 1882 and taught in various institutions in this country before occupying his present post at Harvard.

The Forum meetings have aroused unusual interest and response in the community, with an increasing attendance each Sunday. The public is cordially invited to its meetings. There is no charge for admission. The expenses are defrayed by an offering.

LADIES' FRIENDLY GUEST DAY

In spite of the bad weather conditions, a large number were present at the Ladies' Friendly Guest Afternoon.

The following very fine musical programme was rendered by Mr. Carl Webster, 'cellist, and Mrs. Anna Winn Lochman, pianist:

Menuelto Rheinberger
(Piano solo for left hand alone)

'Cello solos—Mr. Carl Webster
Hungarian Caprice, Dunkler
To My Guitar Popper
Hymn to the Sun
Rimcki Korsaken
Dance of the Elves,...Popper

Mrs. J. Ferguson Kennedy of Boston, gave a very instructive and interesting talk on "Poland."

Delicious ices and cakes were served and social hour enjoyed.

GEORGE M. BRINE OUT

Mr. George M. Brine of Pine street, well-known as a resident of this town for many years and as a contractor of prominence in this section, is out for one of the vacancies on the Board of Selectmen, March 1st. He announced his candidacy last night. Mr. Brine should prove a valuable man in this position.

road was badly handicapped by the big trucks which became stalled both during and after the storm on its tracks. There were a surprisingly large number of autos out, and all took the car tracks; in fact it being almost impossible for them to travel otherwise.

The B. & M. had a second plow off the tract Saturday, it leaving the irons at Wedgemere. Fortunately it went off just after it took the siding and did not obstruct the main line.

A humorous incident occurred Friday night when the train due here shortly after 5 p. m. going to Stoneham came out after 8 and took its four cars up the Stoneham branch one at a time, the train crew coming back each time. It was after 11 o'clock when the last trip was completed.

Winter sports were in evidence Sunday. A perfect winter day called out everyone, either for snow shoeing, skiing or tobogoning. Those who go away this winter will have to find a new excuse.

Chief DeCourcy of the Fire Department lost no time waiting for a thaw. Winchester had in short order the best equipped department to fight its way through the deep snow of any suburban town or city. Seven horses were immediately stabled in the fire station, while two hose pungs were equipped, the ladders placed on runners and the chief's big chemical tank along with ten smaller ones installed in a sleigh.

On Sunday a determined effort was made to clear the big accumulation of snow from the centre. It was piled up so that only small paths were open for pedestrians and vehicles alike. Every available man was pressed into service and the work carried on all day. By Monday morning the centre was well opened, and through the week further progress has been made in clearing the streets and carting the snow away.

It was practically impossible to obtain help in clearing the snow. Every man or boy who was willing to work found ready employment. Most of the housholders had to get out themselves and do some shoveling. Look out for your roof.

The rain which came down in good shape Saturday aided in augmenting the difficultoes of travel, weighting down the soft snow so that it was harder than ever to get through it. It looked in the afternoon as though another snow storm was coming.

Those who had snow shoes at their homes were the lucky ones Friday and Saturday, although either day was a good one to stay away from Boston.

We note that the storm again "isolated Nantucket."

Owing to the big storm the bowling matches scheduled for Friday night at the Calumet Club were postponed, and it is reported that Thursday night's matches will be rolled over owing to non-attendance of some teams.

SPRING TOURNAMENT

Owing to the stormy weather but two matches were rolled in the Spring bowling tournament at the Calumet Club last Thursday night. An effort is being made to roll all of the matches over again owing to the absence of various bowlers. Team B won three points from team D, which was absent, and team F got three from A, which rolled with three men away. Marshall Berry of F tried hard to save his team from defeat, rolling a total of 376. His best string was 144. Newman got a total of 331 with a string of 129, Gendron 321 with 125, Weed 303 with 114, Barrett 105 and Fitts 100.

FUNERAL OF MRS. McDERMOTT

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine McDermott, who died last week Thursday night, were held at the First Baptist Church on Saturday at 3 P. M., Rev. Henry E. Hodge officiating. There was a large attendance of friends and many beautiful floral tributes. During the service selections were sung by Mrs. Guy Healey, soprano soloist.

Mrs. McDermott was born in Winchester, her maiden name being Catherine O'Connell. Following her marriage to the late Thomas E. McDermott, she made her home for many years in Dorchester, coming here upon the death of her husband five years ago and making her home at the residence of Mr. B. F. Mathews.

By the provisions of her will, which was filed for probate this week, three trust funds were created in favor of the Woburn Charitable Association, which maintains the Choate Hospital in that city.

A legacy of $1500 is to be known as the Thomas A. McDermott Trust Fund a devise of real estate in Medford is to be known as the Catherine McDermott Trust Fund and all the residue of the estate is given to be known as the Thomas E. and Catherine McDermott Trust Fund.

Mrs. McDermott left no relatives.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. EVERYBODY'S WRITING LIMERICK LAST LINES

The "great indoor sport" in New England just now is writing "best last lines" to Limericks. This fascinating occupation is stimulated by the ating occupation is stimulated by the very substantial offer of $250 cash prizes every day in the week by the Boston Daily and Sunday Post, where the Limerick Contest has been a daily feature since Jan. 13.

The Post prints each day the first four lines of a short poem, or so-called Limerick. Everybody is invited to write a fifth line. The contributor whose last line is considered the best by the judges of the contest is handed a check for $150. Consolation prizes are paid including one of $50 and two of $25 each, every day. There is no fee of any sort charged for the right to compete. The winning best last line, names of successful competitors, etc., are printed in the Post one week from the date upon which the Limerick appears.

REUNION AT FLINT, MICHIGAN

The first annual reunion of former Woburn and Winchester people was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. McGuinity at Flint, Mich., Februray 8th. An elaborate dinner was enjoyed by those present followed by a theatre party, which was very appropriate to the occasion.

Among those present were: Mr. A. P. Cullen, P. W. Cullen, James O'Connor, Geo. Waters and Harrold Waldron, of Winchester, and Thomas J. Gilgun of Woburn, and a number of Michigans' fair sex.

Those present from Flint were: Miss Gertrude Burnett, Miss Hazel Bradley, Miss Virgil Springer, Miss Lillian Coates, Miss Hazel Marion and Miss Elleonora Avery.

The party was conducted very satisfactory by Mr. Thomas McGuinity and Miss Theresa McGuinity.

DAVID H. DeCOURCY,
Chief Engineer, Fire Department
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

As a fitting method of acknowledging our deep appreciation we are pleased to report to you in this public manner, that since the fire, on the night of January 21st, our plant has been visited and officially inspected by W. D. Milne, Inspector and Engineer for the N. E. Underwriters Bureau, G. Garfield McLean, Isaac Woodbury, George Vincent Rogers and Nathan H. Rogers.

All of these gentlemen are highly reputed as experts and each in turn as he has observed the result of the manner in which you controlled the conflagration, has expressed unstinted praise for the masterly ability of your Department.

To their praise we wish to add our sincere gratitude both to you and your splendid organization.

Yours very truly,

"And There Wasn't the Slightest Smell From Dead Rats."

Writes John Simpkins, farmer of Annadale, N. J. "Rats were costing me hundreds yearly; tried dogs, ferrets, poison, could not get rid of them. Bought $1.00 pkg. of RAT-SNAP (5 cakes). Used half, not a live rat since. Dead ones aplenty. I like RAT-SNAP because after killing rats it dries them us—leaves no smell." Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Storm Held Up All Week-End Games

The big storm held up all the week-end bowling matches in the mixed tournament at the Calumet Club, the first match to be rolled since last week Wednesday being that of Monday night. In these games the ladies proved much the better bowlers than the gentlemen, and the points were largely decided by their scores. Possibly the gentlemen were out of trim through unwonted out-door exercise in shoveling hnow. Team 4 was the only straight winner, it taking all three from 3. Team 9 got two from 1 and 5 two from 2. The ladies' list was headed by Mrs. Crafts with a total of 184 on a high string of 94. While no phenominal scores were made, a large number of ladies qualified in the 160 and 80 class as follows: Mrs. Thompkins 182 with 96, Mrs. Taylor 178 with 96, Mrs. White 177 with 93, Mrs. Comins 174 with 98, Mrs. Simonds 171 with 87, Mrs. Hindes 167 with 84, Mrs. Barr 160 with 81, Mrs. Kelley 89, Mrs. Cutter 87, Mrs. Eaton 83, Mrs. Maddison 82, Mrs. Kerrison 82 and Mrs. Miner 81. Mr. Taylor rolled 201 with 104, Mr. Simonds 105 and Mr. Maddison 100.

Feebleness.

There is nothing which tries our patience and good temper more than feebleness; the timidity, the vacillation, the conventionality, the fretfulness, the prejudices of the weak; the fact that the people can be so well meaning and so disappointing. It has been truly said that there is no strain so continuous as that of helping a weak friend to climb.—Exchange.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

No matter what you're mad at, look what you should be glad at!

Any man has too much money who has more than we have.

They say that seeing is believing, but not always so with modern complications.

You have a right to your own opinion, but you also have the right to keep it to yourself.

It is not at all hard to convince a man that he is smarter than you are.

One of the fundamental reasons for the frequent American complaint, "I never can get started on saving up money," is the inability to regulate the spending of money in proportion to the time and effort it has cost to earn it.

"Imagine a family in 1880. There is a father, a mother, two sons and a daughter. The parents each work twelve hours day, and the children ten. In a week the family has accomplished what would be 374 hours of work for a single person. The recreations consist in going to church Sunday, in occasional walks or buggy rides on a moonlight night, or a little skating, coasting and sleighing in the winter with a limited amount of sweethearting for the young people on Saturday and Sunday nights only. All this costs practically nothing.

Here is a typical picture of today; in a similar family the father and oldest son work forty-four hours a week, the mother forty-two hours a week, and the younger son and daughter not at all. Their total weekly output amounts to 130 hours of work for a single person or a little more than a third of that of the 1880 family. Their usual diversions are movie shows and automobile trips, costing them weekly the pay for about thirty-five hours of work. This leaves some ninety-five hours of work to support them, or about one-fourth as much as in the case of the other family. In the main they are happy, but they are very much worried about the high cost of living."

The man who stops to think, has no difficulty in realizing that it is important to save every dollar possible, to work for himself as much as possible and for others as little.

Of course, a man who saves his money is not working for himself if he lets his savings lie idle. He must invest it to realize any benefit. And today the government encourages such saving by offering a variety of securities, all as safe as the proverbial "government bond." Small sums may be put into war saving stamps, which is an ideal reserve because of the ability to obtain cash plus interest upon 10 days' notice. Large sums are safe and profitable when invested in Treasury Certificates, in $100 and $1,000 denominations; Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness in denominations of $500 up, at 4 1-4 and 4 1-2 per cent interest, and Liberty Bonds of from $50 up yielding from 3 1-2 to 4 3-4 per cet. The Coach.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF CHIROPRACTIC

It is very interesting to note how methods for maintaining health have taken great steps forward in the past few years. About a century ago the sovereign remedy was blood letting and since that time the giving of drugs has had its run, touching a maximum and in very recent years, rapidly dying down. The world has grown to know that Nature is the real healer, and the place of the practitioner is to use his knowledge towards making it easier for Nature to work.

It is in helping Nature that the new science of Chiropractic has come to its tremendous importance. This science, pronounced ki-ro-prak-tik, is neither medicine nor surgery nor osteopathy. It attacks disease from a truly new standpoint, that of assuring to the nerves their full functions in keeping up the organs of the body. If a nerve is impaired, that portion of the body which it serves will be deprived of its full efficiency, and it can not regain this till the nerve is restored to vigor.

In the human body the bundles of nerves that serve the different parts pass out from the spinal cord through little portals between the vertebrae or bones of the spine. They quite fill the holes through which they pass. When it happens that the vertebrae are not in their right positions, these holes become more or less closed, and when thus made smaller, there is a pressure on the bundle of nerves that is entitled to that doorway. This pressure affects the proper control by the nerve of the organ to which it belongs. It is true, therefore, that any disturbances in the positions of the vertebrae disturb the balance of the body and disease ensues, disease being in truth, an interruption of normal functions.

Chiropractic, which is no more nor less than the adjustment of displaced vertebrae, is assisting Nature by the philosophical process of removing obstacles to the proper action of the nerves. It is on no uncertain ground and so reasonable that it commands faith in its efficacy at once. It has been in use for so long a time that it may safely rest its reputation on its achievements. The effects seem at times like miracles, but they are merely the results of giving Nature a fair fighting chance.

Developed in the West, Chiropractic has become firmly established in that section of our country, and in twenty states or more, it is recognized by legislation. This should give it standing here, and in fact it is fast making its way into our Eastern States, with an ever increasing body here of Chiropractors. These specialists, trained in anatomy, experts in detecting and adjusting displacements of the vertebrae, are achieving wonderful things. It is but a short look into the future, when the expression, "See Your Chiropractor." It is thus that the world moves on.

Writing as one who in his own person has experienced the extraordinary benefits of Chiropractic, I am thus expressing my gratitude to Philip Sheppard, M. D., D. C., of Hotel Oxford, Boston, Mass., Physician, Chiropractor and citizen of this country, recently returned from his duties in the warfare on the Huns.

CANDIDATE FOR SELECTMEN

Editor of the Star:

I am pleased to announce to the electorate that your humble servant has decided after careful consideration to be a candidate for that very important office, namely, the honorable board of Selectmen.

I believe Mr. Editor that we are not practicing economy in our municipal expenditures. We are unconsciously spending the tax payers' money lavishly. I am thoroughly convinced and probably rightly convinced, if elected, that I can point out to my colleagues where the town can save money and still have a high degree of efficiency, hence I trust that my generous supporters who so ably supported me in 1919 will manifest a spryness and urge all their friends to cast their ballots for Patrick H. Craughwell.

In conclusion I assure you fellow townsmen I shall never vote to have moving pictures in the town of Winchester. Why! Because we have four moving picture theatres within a radius of two miles of the town hall. I trust the men who anticipate being our future Town Fathers will not be too proud to fight or work, but will see the light and inform the residents of Winchester through the columns of the Star where they sit in regard to moving pictures in the Athens of America.

Patrick H. Craughwell

JOHN W. RICE

John W. Rice, well-known to a large number of Winchester people, died at the Winchester hospital, Wednesday, of influenza-pneumonia. He was 58 years of age.

John Whitney Rice was born in Cambridge, his parents being John E. and Martha (Whitney) Rice. He came with his parents to Winchester when 12 years of age, and for many years lived on Washington street at Winchester Highlands. He went to the Winchester schools and upon finishing his schooling entered the employ of J. C. Stanton & Co., grocers. He later went with H. A. Emerson & Co., being with that firm and subsequently the firm of Blanchard & Kendall for a period of over 23 years.

Later he opened a grocery store on Main street, being associated with his brother Walter, under the name of J. W. Rice. This store he conducted for a number of years, opening a branch store at the Highlands. After giving this business up he became associated with O. J. Holt of Merrimac street, Boston, dealers in auto lamps and supplies. He was with this firm at the time of his death.

He was a member of the Brotherhood of the Tremont Temple Baptist Church of Boston, and was formerly well known as a member of the Medford Boat Club. He leaves his mother, one brother, Walter Lincoln Rice of this town, and two sisters, Miss Carolyn Boutelle Rice, city missionary at Los Angeles, Cal., under the auspices of the Home Missionary Society of Baptist Churches, and Mrs. Marion Munroe Rice Taylor of this town.

Mr. Rice was taken ill on the first of the month, and his condition was serious from the beginning.

The funeral services were held from the residence of Walter Lincoln Rice yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, Rev. David Lockrow of Tremont Temple officiating. There was a profusion of beautiful floral offerings from many friends, and during the service selections were sung by the Lotus quartet.

The remains were taken Friday morning to the Cambridge cemetery for interment.

MRS. GEORGE F. HAWLEY

Mrs. Harriette Northey Hawley, widow of the late George F. Hawley, died at the home of her son, Mr. F. Nelson Hawley, on Cambridge street, Wednesday. She was 78 years of age. For some time she had been in poor health, and following a shock in December had been confined to her bed.

Mrs. Hawley was a native of Salem. She was the daughter of Benjamin and Betsey (Barton) Russell. For over 42 years she had made her home in this town, where she was widely known among the older residents.

She leaves one son, F. Nelson Hawley of Cambridge street, and one daughter, Mrs Charles S Doan of Caldwell, Idaho.

The funeral services were held at the Church of the Epiphany, of which the deceased was a member, yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, and were conducted by Rev. Murray W. Dewart rector of the church, and Rev. John W. Suter, the rector honorarius. The interment was in Wildwood cemetery.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending February 12: Influenza 31, influenza pneumonia 2, bronchial pneumonia 3, pneumonia 1, measles 1, chicken pox 2, mumps 4, whooping cough 1.

Man had a good income.

His wife and he lived luxuriously in a fine apartment.

He had a slight sore on his hand.

Treated it himself.

Blood poison followed and he died in a few hours.

Total loss, no Insurance.

The townspeople said:

"Oh! the pity of it."

The above just happened in a city I visited last month.

The financial loss could have been tempered.

How?

GEORGE R. PAYNE

Word was received on Wednesday of the death at Chicago, Ill., on Tuesday of George Rae Payne, formerly a resident of this town and widely known among Winchester people. He had been in poor health for some years from heart trouble.

Mr. Payne was born in Charlestown and was the son of the late George W. and Caroline (Rae) Payne. He came with his parents to Winchester when nine years of age, the family residing on Webster street, in which vicinity his father had large real estate holdings.

He attended the Winchester schools and graduated from the local High school, where he was prominently known through his excellence in athletics.

He leaves two brothers, Arthur W. and Frank R. Payne both of Chicago.

The remains were brought here on Wednesday evening and services were held at Wildwood cemetery by Rev. Howard J. Chidley yesterday afternoon.

PATRICK GUINNEY

Patrick Guinney, son of Michael and Mary (Curtain) Guinney, died at his home on Winchester place of consumption on Monday after a long illness. He was in his 26th year. He leaves besides his parents two brothers, Chas. J. and Thomas F., and one sister, Mrs. Mary Chandley, all of this town.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at St. Mary's Church. The pall bearers were Messrs. John O'Toole, Daniel Donovan, Lawrence Smitherman, Frank Melaugh, John Delorey and Anthony O'Toole.

The interment was in Calvary cemetery.

The February meeting of the Western Missionary was held at the vestry on Feb. 12 from 10 to 4. At 12.30 a delicious luncheon was served, by Mrs. Butler and an able committee, at which 81 people sat down. At 2.30 the business meeting was held. Dr. Cyrus Richardson was unable to be present but will speak at the March meeting.

HAVE TO KNOW MULE NATURE

Drivers of Patient Animals Realize They Have Peculiarities and Must Be Humored

An old flea-bitten, hammer-headed, ewe-necked bell mare, slowly picking her way across the corral at the remount station at Camp Zachary Taylor followed by a long string of mules walking in single file, heads down and ears wagging, served as illustration for an officer attached to the big cantonment who had just finished remarking that "horse nature and mule nature and human nature were mighty contrary things any way you take them."

"Now, take those mules," he said. "The education of a pack mule is a thing that must begin early. He has just two purposes in life.

"One is to carry 225 pounds day after day patiently and uncomplainingly, and the other is to follow the bell mare of the train, regardless of where that animal may go. Well, there is in that corral an illustration of the effectiveness of our training. The old mare has started after a drink of water and there goes every dod-blasted one of those fool mules after a drink of water."

Investigation revealed that the pack mule is not the only member of his family that has peculiarities that can be played upon or must be humored. It was learned that the larger mules, once teamed up or paired, must thereafter be worked together if each is not to suffer a loss in efficiency. Two strange mules will not work together anything like so well in the beginning as they will a few weeks later, after they have become acquainted, and then if they are parted the whole process must be gone over with again.

"AD." WAS MISLEADING

An advertisement published in a Manchester, England, paper aroused much indignation, it is said, among its readers. It was as follows: "A German wanted; experienced. Apply ——." The manager of the firm concerned, which operates a bleaching and dyeing plant, explained that the advertisement should have read: "Agerman wanted," etc. "We certainly don't want a German," he said. "An agerman is a worker in charge of a machine which fixes colors."

SAFETY FIRST

A GREAT many people know how to earn money, but few are careful investors. Warnings are issued by competent authorities against the many oil and industrial get-rich-quick stocks now being extensively advertised.

These pitfalls are dug by irresponsible promotors and the chances of ever getting your money back are about equal to seeing any part of the big dividends promised. It is much safer for you to trust your money with a National Bank that pays interest on checking accounts.

The Federal banking laws are very strict regarding National Banks. The Comptroller of the Currency, through semi-annual examination, keeps in close touch with all National Banks.

Indeed stockholders cannot shirk responsibility. They are compelled to make up all losses for double the amount of their holdings for the benefit of their depositors.

Our Directors absolutely direct. The National Bank is not a one or two-man institution.

Your account solicited.

The last regular meeting of the Club was held Monday, February 9th. At the business meeting, a notice was read stating the need of jelly for the wounded soldiers in the Parker Hill Hospital. Mrs. Carpenter will receive donations at The Winchester Exchange, and Mrs. Munroe will convey them to the Hospital. It was voted to appropriate ten dollars from the Philantnropy fund to be given to the Girl Scouts in their Campaign. At the close of the business meeting Miss Gertrude Felber rendered two violin solos which were very greatly enjoyed.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of the Legislative Committee Mrs. Bradley introduced Mr. Burr F. Jones, agent for Elementary Schools of the Massachusetts State Board of Education, who spage in place of Mr. Frank W. Wright, who was unable to be present. In his address, Mr. Jones emphasized five things that have been brought to light by the Great War—first, the need of training for serviceable employment; second, the extent of illiteracy; third, physical defects in the rising generation; fourth, the small appropriations for education in some parts of the country; fifth, the inadequate preparation of teachers. He spoke of the Smith-Towner Bill now pending in Congress calling for an annual appropriation of $100,000,000 for educational purposes, as meeting the needs disclosed. He made a strong plea for higher salaries for teachers and congratulated Winchester upon being among the early towns to raise salaries during the present school year.

On account of the holiday and the change of time of the regular Club meeting, the date of the meeting of the Literature Class has been changed to Tuesday, Feb. 17.

Mrs. Emma Prichard Hadley of Somerville who gave us so much pleasure last year, has been engaged to give the program. A short sketch of the life of Kipling and readings from his works.

All club members are cordially invited.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mrs. James D. Haley of Otis street, Medford, announces the engagement of her daughter, Edith Dodge, to Mr. Howard Snelling. Miss Haley is a graduate of Wellesley, and Mr. Snelling is a well-known young man of this town.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE

A theatrical event of more than ordinary interest is the engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, of the new comedy "Bab," under the direction of George C. Tyler, by arrangement with Arthur Hopkins. This is a comedy in four acts, founded on the novel of the same name by Mary Roberts Rinehart, written by Edward Childs Carpenter, author of "The Cinderella Man." The Bab stories by Mrs. Rinehart had a great vogue two seasons ago, and in book form have had a large popular sale.

Mr. Tyler has a cast of unusual distinction. Miss Helen Hayes plays the title role of Bab, and is very much at home in this new character. Tom Powers has the leading juvenile role, and his reputation is secure by reason of his creating the principal part in "Oh, Boy" both in New York and in London. George Alison, a prominent actor in stock companies and Broadway successes, is also in the cast, as are Grace Henderson, so long with Charles Froham comedies, Arthur Eldred, Katherine Alexander, James Kearney, Clarabel Campbell, Arthur Eldred, Raymond Griffiths, and Junius Matthews. The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees are given, and there will be an extra Washington's Birthday matinee, Monday, Feb. 23.

MALTA: THE ISLAND WHICH MADE THE WEST SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY

"Perhaps no other by product of the World War save the recovery of Jerusalem stirs the imagination so profoundly as the British announcement of home rule for Malta," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society which explains:

"The Malta island group is a shrine of mythology, and of sacred and profane history. Calypso, vampire of Homers word motion pictures, rescued the shipwrecked Ulysses, and employed her charms to make him stay on the island. St. Paul swam ashore there after his vessel ran aground. Publius, the Island governor, according to Acts XXVIII, received and lodged him, and the apostle founded a Christian community before he departed.

"The date of Christ's birth is but the half way point in Maltese chronology. Since its recorded history began ten nations have held sway over the coveted islands, beginning with the Phoenicians of Paul's time, and running a scale of Greeks. Carthaginians, Romans, Goths, Arabs, Germans, Spaniards, and French, until the present sovreignty of the British.

"It has been said that Malta's local chronicle holds, in microcosm, the history of Europe, and that its archeological remains mark each step in western civilization.

"But Malta was an actor, as well as a librarian of historic drama. Literally she became the savior of the western world when the Knights of Malta beat back the Turkish hordes during the famous siege of 1565. The alien Knights, along with native Maltese, kept the blighting hand of Moslem from crushing the lands which fostered those infant ideals of freedom which now are reflected in England's concession.

"The thrills of that siege and the heroism displayed are unsurpassed. Of the 3,000 Maltese who fought with the Knights, practically all were killed Characteristic of the Knights' valor was that of the defenders of Fort St. Elmo. Wounded and desperate the few survivors of months of fighting went to a small chapel within the fort, embraced each other, received the Eucharist, and prepared to die. The little company was cut off from all assistance, but fought on. Many fell with sword in hand. Fearing they would be exterminated before the assailants were beaten back, a Maltese was sent to swim across the harbor by night to inform the Grand Master of the danger. The messenger delivered his message to Garcia' by diving and swimming mostly under water. 'Hold the fort, or die fighting,' was the command he brought back. Every man obeyed—and died. But the consternation wrought by their frenzied resistance worked such havoc among the assailants that the news of it spread to other divisions of the Turkish forces, and turned the tide toward a Maltese victory.

"In command of the Turkish sea forces was Dragut, who rose from cabin boy and galley slave, to be admiral of the Turkish Navy, and was mortally wounded before Malta.

"Scenically, Malta has been well named a 'precious stone set in a silver sea.' Agriculturally it deserves the appelation of New Testament times, Melita, meaning 'the isle of honey.' It domiciles some 230,000 people, though it does not entirely support them. Its area is only one-tenth that of Rhode Island, but it has twice the density in population of that most densely populated State in the Union.

In addition to the main island the Malta group consists of Gozo, Comino, with Cominotto, an islet, and Filfla a rock. Imagine Malta Island to be superimposed on the District of Columbia. Then the nearest Italian shores would be no farther away than Richmond is from Washington; Sicily would be a little north of Baltimore, the nearest point on the African shore would be New York City, and Asia Minor would be not far beyond Chicago. This mental diagram shows why Britain regards Malta as the key, and safety lock, of her entire Eastern Empire.

"Napoleon recognized this strategic value by taking Malta on his way to Egypt. But even Bonaparte hesitated at the virtually impregnable, and used traitors instead of force for the capture.

"The dark hood, or faldetta, which Maltese women wear to this day, is ascribed in popular legend to their desire to hide their faces because of the infamies of invading soldiers. A characteristic feature of the landscape is the terraced fields. A geographical curiosity is the absence of streams, because water is absorbed by the porous sandstone.

"The present capital and principal seaport of Malta is Valletta, named for the Grand Master of the Knights at the time of the memorable siege. It was literally a 'city built by gentlemen for gentlemen.' It contained the palace of the Chiefs of these Knights, originally the Knights of the Order of St. John, who resorted to Malta after the Turks had captured their stronghold at Rhodes. Both the main island and Gozo contain numerous relics, like those of England's Stonehenge, of the Mediterranean race that antedated the arrival of the Phoenicians."

WINCHESTER BOARD OF HEALTH

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed ten percent.

the amount of money spent on the education of the individual child in the schools, from the pont of view of her ability to pay and her willingness to pay, she has not yet done as well as many towns less able to pay than she.

Discussions of educational costs at this particular time when prices are so unsettled and while salaries of teachers throughout the country are in the process of going up by leaps and bounds is almost futile. One outstanding fact we should keep in mind —Winchester is able to have the best in education and is willing to pay for it. Net increases in the cost of education keeping pace, as they must, with increases in the cost of other things are increasing our expenditures in an unprecedented manner. In 1914 the school budget was $84,564. Commodity prices have since then risen about 80 per cent. If we are willing to increase our payments for education in the same ratio that we have been obliged to increase our payments for other things, namely, an increase of 80 per cent, our school appropriation for 1920 will be a little over $152,000. Such an increase would look small in view of the increases in prices of everything that goes into the school account.

Is Our School Organization Economical

Citizens have sometimes asked, Do our teachers have too few pupils? This is a fair question but it cannot be answered in an offhand manner. Table II shows the ratio of pupils to teachers, an important factor in school organization. Pupil per capita cost is influenced by this more than is usually supposed. The number of pupils a teacher can effectively teach is determined by the number of different grades of pupils under her charge. In rural schools where each teacher has from five to eight different grades, the number of pupils must necessarily be small. In large cities, where each teacher has only one grade or possibly a subdivision of a grade, the number of pupils may be at its maximum. Many cities maintain an average of forty to fifty pupils for each teacher. During the past several years there has been a tendency to reduce the size of classes in practically all school systems.

This table, however, does not show the number of pupils in each class unit. It shows the ratio of pupils to teachers in a school system as a whole. This ratio is secured by dividing the total number of pupils in the whole system by the total number of teachers including principals, supervisors and special teachers. For purposes of comparison this ration is a fairly dependable one and is highly significant. But it is only a ratio. The actual number of pupils for each teacher is another figure and is considerably higher than the ratio because in computing the ratio, principals, supervisors and special teachers are included in the number of teachers.

Ratio of pupils to teachers in elementary schools including principals and supervisors

Boston	33.3
Watertown	29.5
Arlington	27.0
Belmont	26.4
Springfield	25.7
Waltham	25.5
Newton	25.4
Winchester	24.0
Brookline	23.0
Wellesley	20.6

It will be seen by the table that Boston with the largest school system has the highest ratio of pupils while Wellesley and Milton, comparatively small and at the same time wealthy communities, have a low ratio. In the later communities, there has been apparently a tendency to reduce the number of pupils for each teacher in order to secure as nearly as possible individual instruction. Winchester holds an intermediate position. Compared with the larger cities, Winchester has a small ratio of pupils to teachers, while compared with the smaller towns its ratio is higher. If we had larger school buildings with more classes in each building, there would be a better opportunity to grade pupils more closely and at the same time to enable us to have a supervising principal in each of the larger building. With only one supervising principal in our elementary schools, we have carried the elimination of supervision almost to the limit. There are in the town 32 rooms of pupils in buildings in which there is no supervising principal.

Building Program

The future development of our school system is dependent upon our providing suitable and adequate buildings. Our educational needs and ambitions should determine the type and location of buildings. Under present conditions, however, the type and locations of our buildings are dictating the kind of education we are giving. Our present educational program is seriously handicapped because we are compelled to use equipment and buildings that were designed, most of them, over a quarter of a century ago. As pointed out in last year's report, our elementary school buildings are too small, too many and too old. We should have larger buildings up to and including the sixth grade. We should have at least two more kindergartens. We should have more adequate provisions for our seventh and eighth grade pupils, centrally located, and we should have provisions for special and technical education in the High School.

The following building program is therefore proposed:

1. Senior High School

The present high school building ultimately to become a senior high school for grades 10, 11 and 12.

2. Junior High School

A new junior high school building to be erected on or near the present Prince School site to accommodate grades 7, 8 and 9.

3. Elementary Schools

A. All elementary pupils from the Kindergarten to grade six inclusive to be provided for in different sections of the town as seems desirable, utilizing the present school buildings until new ones are built.

All new elementary buildings to have at least eight rooms.

B. The present Wadleigh School to become an elementary school building for grades one to six upon the completion of the Junior High School.

C. A new twelve-room elementary school on or near the present Wyman School site.

D. New elementary schools to be built later as follows:

One on or near the Washington School site.

One to take the place of the Mystic School but not on the Mystic School site.

One on or near he present Rumford School site.

This plan is not proposed as an ultimate plan perfect in all details. It does show the kind of plan we should have, a plan that would put our educational plant on a par with our educational ambitions.

What Type of School Organization the Mystic School but not on the Mystic School site. One on or near the present Rumford School site.

Should We Have?

This program looks to the adoption of the 6-3-3 plan of school organization; i. e.—

Elementary School Grades I-VI.

Junior High School Grades VII., XIII. IX.

Senior High School Grades X, XI, XII.

Had this type of school organization been proposed ten years ago, it would have needed defense. Today it needs no defense. It has been adopted by progressive communities all over the country. Notable examples in Massachusetts are Springfield, Boston, Brockton and Somerville.

What Would the Adoption of this Plan Accomplish?

1. The adoption of this plan would relieve our high school from over crowding for several years. Caring for the freshman class in the Junior High School would reduce the numbers of pupils in the Senior High School by about one-third.

2. It would give opportunity for the development of a real junior high school providing for all pupils 12, 13 and 14 years of age in a centrally located and well equipped building. Here the excellent work already being carried on at the Wadleigh could be developed along broader lines so as to care for all classes of pupils, not only those of an academic bent but those of a commercial and industrial bent as well.

3. It would provide adequate accommodations for all pupils up to about twelve years of age in conveniently located buildings withi nreach of all parts of the town. Three elementary schools would be provided on the east side,—the Wadleigh School, a building on the present Washington School site and one near the Mystic School site. Two elementary buildings would be provided on the west side,—one on or near the Rumford School site and one on or near the Wyman School site.

See School Committee Report.

PROBATE AND OTHER COURT NEWS

The will of Laura I. Richards who died November 28, 1919, has been allowed by the Probate Court. Arthur H. Russell annd Harry C. Sanborn have been appointed as executors. They have each given a bond of $70,000. The estate is valued at $41,000; $6,000 in real estate and $35,000 in personal property.

Nathan A. Tufts of Winchester was named as executor of the will of Joseph Loux of Waltham. No valuation of the estate was filed.

William Quimby of Winchester has been appointed as administrator of the estate of his mother, Mrs. Martha F. Quimby of Newton, who died September 3, 1919 by the Probate Court. He has given a bond of $500. The estate valued at $225 is all in personal property.

H. Earle Richardson has been appointed as administrator of the estate of his mother Mrs. Sarah L. Richardson, who died January 19, 1920. He has given a bond of $4000. The estate is valued at $10,000; $8000 in real estate and $2000 in personal property.

Joseph W. Bowman of Winchester has been sued for $500 in an action of tort by Henry Risman of Medford. Risman alleges that on May 13, 1918 while driving his automobile near the corner of Riverside avenue and Marine street Medford, his car was damaged when the defendant's machine struck it.

GIRL SCOUT CAMPAIGN

The Finance Committee for the Girl Scout Campaign has the following report to make. Seven of the twelve districts, into which the town was divided, have each contributed $100 or over. $800 was already on hand Wednesday and enough more coming in to make the amount, collected by the captains, a little over $1,100. Mrs. Marcus B. May, chairman of the committee hopes that a total of $2100 will be reached by the end of the week. Anyone who desires to add a further contribution is asked to send this to Marcus B. May, Treasurer, 53 State Street, Boston.

75 per cent of all money collected remains in Winchester for Winchester girls and the remainder goes to Mass. and New York Headquarters to help support the general organization.

Such a generous response on the part of the people of Winchester is a fortunate sign for the Girl Scout work. It shows their belief in the movement and willingness to support it.

As soon as more leaders can be found more girls will be enrolled and this sum in the Scout treasury will help some scouts to attend camp this summer. A leader's course is to be held in Boston starting the first week of March, one evening a week for several weeks.

If any one is interested to attend, they are asked to communicate with Mrs. William A. Lefavour, 4 Herrick Street, or Mrs. Stillman P. Williams, 234 Highland Avenue.

MORTGAGEES' SALE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Isabelle M. Carter to Frank L. Ripley and Freeland E. Hovey, dated November 1, 1917, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, book 4173, page 238, for a breach of the condition contained in said mortgage deed, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction upon the premises on SATURDAY, the sixth day of March, A. D. 1920, at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:

The land in Winchester, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, shown as lot four (4) on a plan entitled "Plan of land on Sheffield West, Winchester, Mass., belonging to F. L. Ripley and F. E. Hovey dated May, 1909, W. J. Dotten, Engineer" recorded with said Deeds, book of plans 179, plan 6.

Said tract of land contains ten thousand, seven hundred and seventy-five (10,775) square feet and is bounded:

Easterly by said Sheffield West, eighty and 25-100 (80.25) feet;

Northeasterly by other land of said Ripley and Hovey, one hundred twenty-four and 70-100 (124.70) feet;

Northwesterly by other land of said Ripley and Hovey, eighty-three (83) feet; and

Southerly by lands now or formerly of Archer D. Friend and shown as lot three (3) on said plan, one hundred thirty-eight and 95-100 (138.95) feet;

Together with the right to pass and re-pass with teams or otherwise from the rear of said lot four (4) over other land of said Ripley and Hovey to and upon a private way fifteen (15) feet wide which lies along the Easterly bank of the brook and on land adjoining the Westerly line of land of Blaikie to Everett Avenue.

Said lot is subject to the following restrictions, to wit:

No building shall be erected thereon nearer than forty (40) feet to any street (except that steps, bay-windows, verandas and porches may extend not more than fifteen (15) feet into said restricted space) or nearer than ten (10) feet to either side line of said lot. No houses shall be erected thereon to cost less than five thousand dollars (5,000.00) no double houses, apartment houses, stables or buildings for mercantile, manufacturing or other obnoxious purposes shall be erected thereon except that a garage for the private use of the owner may be built on said lot within forty (40) feet of the back line thereof.

Said premises will be sold subject to all outstanding and unpaid taxes, tax titles and assessments.

TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS ($200.00) will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at time and place of sale; and the balance within ten (10) days thereafter upon the delivery of the deed at the office of Ralph E. Joslin, 18 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.

COPLEY THEATRE

"The Liars" by Henry Arthur Jones will be the play which Henry Jewett's Repertory Company is to revive at the Copley Theatre the coming week. This comedy written by Mr. Jones in 1897 is in four acts and has stood the test of time as few plays have. It belongs in a class that is bound to live because of its many admirable qualities.

"The Liars" has been capitally cast by Mr. Jewett and the four scenes promise to be as beautiful as any seen on the stage of the Copley Theatre in a long time.

There Are Just a Few Who Make Collections Costly

IN WINCHESTER 90 per cent of the telephone subscribers pay their bills promptly and the expense of collecting the majority of telephone accounts is, therefore, reasonable.

BUT THERE ARE A NUMBER of subscribers who overlook their telephone bills, who neglect to pay them within the reasonable specified time, and the cost of collecting these accounts is great—probably two or three times as great as that involved in collecting all the accounts that are paid within the desired period.

THE EFFORT involved in collecting overdue accounts would be saved if all accounts were paid within a reasonable time, and might better be devoted to other work of value to the community's telephone service.

We are taking this means of placing the facts before telephone subscribers in general and we feel certain that they will co-operate by paying their bills promptly.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Two other matters, both having to do with the physical welfare of the children and both requiring a special vote and appropriation by the town, remain to be discussed.

Dental Dispensary

We have had dental inspection in the schools for a number of years under varying conditions. Up to 1915 local dentists carried on the work of inspection and treatment, giving treatment in their offices at reduced prices. Since 1915, we have sent children for treatment; first to the Forsyth Dental Infirmary; and last year to the Harvard Dental School only.

The smallest number of pupils receiving treatment during any one year was 82 in 1912, and the largest number was 256 in 1916. During this year children were sent to both institutions. At present we are dependent entirely on what work we can get done at the Harvard Dental School, which amounted in 1919 to the treatment of 104 pupils. The number of pupils we expect to have treated there during 1920, if we continue the arrangement, is uncertain.

Meanwhile the dental inspection shows that each year from 600 to 700 pupils need treatment. Notices are sent to all parents that treatment is needed, but there remain a large number of pupils who are not provided for no matter how insistent we may be in trying to get parents to have the needed work done. This number I estimate at about 400 each year. The only way to take care of the situation adequately and efficiently is to establish a dental clinic. This the towns are authorized to do by state law and probably will within a very few years

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troops I and III played a game of basket ball in the high school gymnasium last Thursday night on the regular meeting night of the former. Practically the entire membership of the two troops attended and amid much enthusiasm Troop III won in a close and hard fought game 12-9. Between the halves the Troop III second team defeated that of Troop I by a score of 5-4. The spirit displayed by the two troops was admirable and Troop I accepted their defeat in a very graceful manner.

Scout competition with the troops of the Reading Council is being arranged and will doubtlessly be held in the near future. A hike is planned to that town where the members of the various troops will compete.

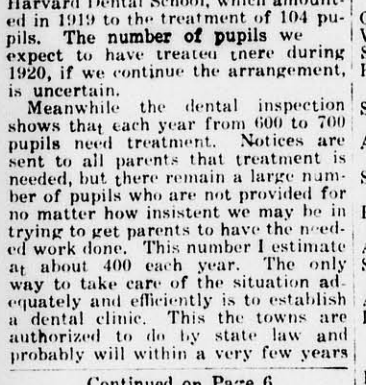

Scout headquarters has been reopened and scouts may come there daily from 3 to 5.30.

Roy Jordan, Troop III has just received his badge making him an Eagle scout—the highest grade in the organization. He is the first in Winchester and much credit is due him therefore.

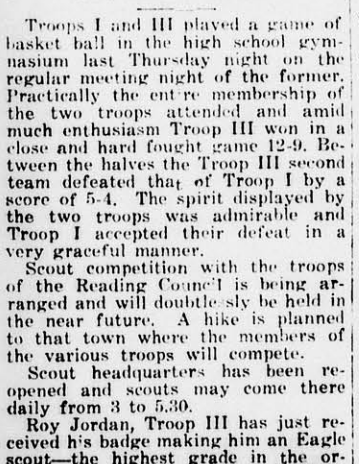

The charter for the new council is expected shortly and then things pertaining to scouting should boom rapidly in Winchester.

GIRL SCOUT CAMPAIGN

The members of the Girl Scout Campaign Committee take this opportunity to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to the residents of Winchester for the splendid interest and cooperation which was shown in their recent Campaign for funds.

They also wish especially to express their appreciation to Mr. Wilson, of the Winchester Star, for his generosity in contributing so great an amount of publicity space, entirely without charge.

AMERICAN LEGION

Memorial services will be held under the auspices of the American Legion, Winchester Post No. 9., at the Town Hall, Sunday February 22nd, in commemoration of the Winchester boys who died in the service, of our country during the Great War. Similar services are to be observed in every community throughout the United States.

In cooperation with the Army and Navy Departments the American Legion will take this opportunity to present to the next of kin of deceased service men beautifully engraved certificates of honor from the Republic of France.

The Winchester Post extends a cordial invitation to all our townspeople and urges them most strongly to attend these exercises and thereby show Winchester's deep appreciation of the unfaltering loyalty and valor of our departed comrades.

The programme is as follows:

Exercises will begin at 4.00 o'clock in the afternoon.

The meeting of the post Tuesday evening was addressed by the National Vice Commander Alden Chambers of Winthrop on the work of the National organization, particularly on the bonus and other legislation. Henry B. Sheehan of Quincy Post, editor of the Living Age magazine who was naval correspondent of the Grand Fleet in the North Sea as well as having seen service with the French Army Ambulance Corps, gave a talk on the "Japanese Situation and the Far East." Recitations were given by Miss Beardsley of Somerville and piano selections were rendered by Mr. Downes of Medford. Louis E. Goddu of 6 Goddu road was elected as adjutant of the post in place of Ajt. Harry B. Donovan, who resigned because he is leaving Winchester for business reasons.

ENDORSEMENT FOR MR. PARSONS

To the Editor of the Star:

Among the list of candidates for the incoming Board of Selectmen published last week, I noticed the name of William L. Parsons.

Feeling that Mr. Parsons would make a valuable member of that Board, I have taken the trouble to get in touch with him, and have his assurance that he is a candidate.

I have known Mr. Parsons personally for several years, and served with him three years on the Finance Committee. I am sure the Town is fortunate in having him as one of the candidates. His work on the Finance Committee showed great care and thoroughness in all matters coming before it, and principally was this true during the last year when he was Chairman of that Committee. His supervision of the recommendations of the Finance Committee of this past year, together with the forceful, clear and concise manner in which he presented them to the citizens at their annual Town meeting, seemed to me to have the approval of all, and contributed very largely to an intelligent and speedy disposition of all matters submitted to that meeting.

His study of the affairs of the Town, and his experience as a member of the Finance Committee, together with his training as a lawyer of some thirteen years, I believe will make him an exceptionally strong member of the Board of Selectmen, if elected, and I hope the citizens will show their appreciation of his work upon the Finance Committee, and of him as a man, by giving him an overwhelming vote.

Yours truly,
Adv. CURTIS W. NASH

BOARD OF TRADE

THE WINTON CLUB CABARET

The Winton Club held a very delightful Cabaret at the Town Hall last Saturday evening, which was enjoyed by a great number of Winchester people. The evening was spent in dancing, interspersed with Cabaret numbers all of local talent.

The first of these was a charming Dutch dance by five members of the Winton Club, Mrs. William U. Wyman, Mrs. Francis A. Wyman, Mrs. Norman S. Hunnewell, Mrs. Edmund C. Cottle and Mrs. Paul F. Avery; the second, a very amusing colored troupe appearance by two other members of the club, Mrs. Herbert W. Briggs and Mrs. Preston S. Cotten with Mr. P. S. Cotten and Mr. Russell Wiggin. The third number was a remarkably finished song and dance by Mr. Francis A. Wyman and Mr. William U. Wyman, and the last was a group of songs by Mrs. Helen Edlefson Barr, delightfully rendered, and during the last song she scattered a profusion of valentine balloons among the tables.

A buffet supper was served at eleven. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Merton E. Grush, chairman; Mrs. Alfred D. Radley, president of the Winton Club; Mrs. Alexander S. MacDonald, chairman of the ticket committee; Mrs. Geo. A. Rivinius, chairman of the refreshment committee; Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins, Mrs. Herbert W. Kelley and Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott. Candies, cigars and cigarettes were sold by Mrs. William H. McGill, Mrs. Lafayette Chamberlin, Mrs. Geo. Neiley and Mrs. T. G. Abbott.

The proceeds of the evening, are for the mending and supply fund of the Winton Club, whose sole work is for the Winchester Hospital.

CENSUS QUESTIONED

Claim is Made That Only Small Part Of This Town Taken

According to many people the taking of the census in this town, completed nearly a fortnight ago, was a mere matter of form. Following the announcement in last week's STAR that the census had been completed here, no less than five residents called this office within a few hours to give notification that they had not been enumerated. During the week many others have stated that no enumerator had called upon them, and the matter was taken before the Selectmen at their Monday night meeting.

It was said at the time of the taking of the last census, five years ago, that Winchester did not get a full count of its population, the figures of the enumerators and the assessors varying greatly That should have been no reason why our population should not have been all taken this year, however, and the Selectmen have taken up the matter with the supervisor of census.

It is said that not only have many individuals been passed over, but whole streets have not had a family on them enumerated.

RECEPTION

The annual reception of the W. H. S. Juniors to the Seniors was held Saturday evening in the Assembly Hall. A large number of young people attended as members of the class had invited many friends. The decorations were the class colors of blue and gold and consisted of streamers and Valentine hearts, also class banners. Harriet Eustis and Ralph Joslin won the prize dance. The matrons were: Mrs. W. A. LeFavour, Mrs. Charles A. Eastwick, Misses Moses and Johnston of the high school teaching staff.

NOTICE

Will those members who have applied for, but not received tickets for Feb. 23d, kindly telephone the Steward at the Calumet Club, as many applications have been received unsigned.

PROGRESS CLUB ENTERTAINMENT

The Dramatic Committee of the Fortnightly under the auspices of the Progress Club of the Congregational Church presented last Friday evening H. V. Esmond's popular comedy "Eliza Comes to Stay." The characters are as follows:—

Herbert, A Valet Hazel E. Corey
The Honorable Sandy Verrall Carolyn R. Hall
Mrs. Alloway Fern S. Yeager
Alexander Stoop Verrall Ruth G. Phippen
Lady Pennybroke Grace Ramsey
Miss Vera Lawrence Gretchen H. West
Montague Jordan Anne E. Lane
Dorothy Carolyn D. Gilpatrick
Property Manager Deborah W. Dorley

Scene. Breakfast Room in Sandy's Flat in London.

It would seem as if St. Valentine himself inspired the clever playwright also that this play must have been written during a Leap Year as its motif suggests both ideas.

Beginning as it does, with the amazing legacy from a dying war comrade to a fashionable "man about town," the Hon. Sandy Verrall (Mrs. Hall) of a workhouse protegee, Eliza supposedly very young and "to be cherished," (this part taken by Mrs. Gilpatrick whose initial appearance suggests a comic valentine) the plot moves on to a happy denouement by means of a little psychological stunt on Eliza's part, when she hints broadly and naively, as a solution to Sandy's dilemma, at a marriage with herself, by tutoring now metamorphosed into a beautiful young lady of fashion and re-named Dorothy. Too much cannot be said of the impersonation of the debonair, handsome bachelor Sandy and the chameleon like Dorothy.

Their final pose formed a tableau not to be forgotten, while the pathetic figure of the orphan girl at Aunt Elizabeth's knee, when the former discovers that at last "Somebody loves her," showed rare technique. The mirth provoking part of Montague was wonderfully well conceived and presented with much spirit by Mrs. Lane, Monty being used by that stubborn, high-class elderly couple, Uncle Alexander and Lady Pennybroke to uphold family traditions and pride. The crippled old man of Ruth Phippen and the dominating English Aunt, (Mrs. Ramsey) were simply perfection.

The nurse (Mrs. Yeager) and butler (Hazel Corey) were absolutely true to type and portrayed with much dignity, while the actress, Vera Lawrence (Mrs. West) whom Sandy, as her finance, was exploiting for the stage, was so full of charm and grace and altogether ornamental that she adroitly accomplishes the capture of a rich uncle Gregory. The vivid interpretation of the refined subtle humor of the play and its smooth rendering were due not only to the balanced "All Star" nature of the cast, but to the expert training of the well-known professional coach, Mr. Frank E. Fowle.

The splendid carrying voices of the ladies made it a pleasure to listen to their lines, while the stage setting with silver, glass, napery and other attractive furnishings of the breakfast room, all artistically arranged by Mrs. Deborah W. Dorley, produced a lovely effect, the beauty of which was further enchanced when the group of performers was presented with flowers from the Progress Club, as a mark of appreciation, the ladies in turn similarly remembering their property manager.

The music by Arnold's orchestra was unusually delightful, as the generous applause of the audience indicated.

For the dance, Mr. and Mrs. T. Parker Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boone received. Kenneth Caldwell was the general manager of the affair and his assistants and ushers were Messrs. Wayne B. Thompson, Harold M. Dorley, Harold Hovey, Raymond Sheldon, Ralph Perkins, Ralph Emerson and Henry Simonds. In spite of the severe storm, the audience, all arriving on foot, was of good size and enthusiastic. A large contingent from the Heptorean Club of Somerville was present. At Boston University the same play is to be produced within a few days by its Drama Club. More than one, observed that with such a cast as a nucleus plus others equally talented, the winter of 1920 should mark the birth of a permanent organization of Winchester Players similar to those in neighboring suburbs.

A pleasant incident of the evening was the congratulating of Mrs. Gilpatric as a full fledged playwright, her play "Patty makes thing hum" given from the orlginal manuscript last winter before the Fortnightly, having recently been published and now on its second edition.

It is gratifying to the Progress Club to state that the efforts of all contributing toward the evening's program have resulted in a substantial addition to the Parish House Equipment Fund.

JAMES W. BLACKHAM FOR BOARD OF SELECTMEN

Mr. Blackham has lived in Winchester all his life. He was educated in our public schools and for the past ten years has been with the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation. He was in the service for a year.

I believe there is no candidate for the Board who will, if elected, serve the Town in a more painstaking, unselfish and enthusiastic manner than Mr. Blackham.

Having known him for eighteen years or more I want those to whom he is not so well known to have assurance that in him they have a candidate who is entitled to their best consideration on election day.

Yours very truly
Adv. JAMES W. RUSSELL Jr

CANDIDATES LINED UP

Papers Filed By Contestants For Town Offices

The filing of papers for certification by the Registrars of Voters by candidates for town offices Wednesday night definitely lined up the slate for this spring in our town election. There will be the contest for Selectmen, which is the principal point of interest, and Messrs. Patrick E. Fitzgerald and Whitfield L. Tuck, who are candidates for Selectmen, are also running for other offices against present town officials.

The usual blanket nomination papers contain the names of all the present office holders with the exception of the Selectmen. Of the present board, one member, the chairman, Mr. Arthur A. Kidder, will again run, and the other four will retire. All other town officers are up for reelection.

The slate for Selectmen as now lined up will be as follows:

Arthur A. Kidder
J. Alfred Dolben
William L. Parsons
George M. Bryne
James Blackham
Edward McKenzie
Patrick Craughwell
P. E. Fitzgerald
W. L. Tuck

This makes a list of nine names to select from, and without doubt a satisfactory group will be chosen to head the town's affairs.

Mr. Tuck, in addition to running for Selectman will oppose Mr. Ives for Moderator, while Mr. Fitzgerald, who entered his name for the office of Assessor and member of the Park Board in addition to that of Selectman, is reported to have withdrawn from the two former, not accepting the nomination.

WEATHER AGAIN DELAYED TRAFFIC

A heavy snow on Friday last again put the Arlington cars out of commission, delayed the trains and also delayed, but did not stop the Woburn electrics. The storm, while it continued only through the day, brought a lot more snow, and it was early in the morning when the Arlington line went out of commission. Plows got through during the evening after the storm ceased and the line was open Saturday. Trains went through at intervals Friday, but few were on time. Saturday morning trains due around eight o'clock were much delayed, and the congestion of passengers at the station was such that when a train did show up at 8.30 it could not take all the people. From that time on, however, the trains were on time.

Sunday morning opened with a veritable torrent of rain, and within a few hours the snow began to move and flood conditions commenced. Many cellars were flooded and the houses without leaks were few. In one building in the centre it is reported that the whole ceiling fell, due to water flooding the floor above.

Fortunately the weather changed abruptly at noon and everything froze up tight, thus preventing a most disastrous flood. During Sunday the Arlington line is reported to have had only two cars in commission, they running about once an hour.

By night everything was frozen solid, a high wind and zero weather prevailing, and on Monday morning ice covered portions of the Arlington line to such an extent that it was only possible to run cars from Stoneham as far as Cross street. The trains and Woburn cars were operated as usual.

LECTURE BY PETER McQUEEN

The Winchester Post has been extremely fortunate in securing Mr. Peter McQueen to deliver a lecture on "Peace and Reconstruction" Wednesday evening, March the 3rd, at the Town Hall. Mr. McQueen has spent many months in France and Belgium and other allied countries, before and during the Great War and after the singing of the Armistice. He is particularly well-versed in the present day reconstruction problems which the European Nations are facing and their influence on America's future destinies.

The splendid stereopticon views of devastated areas and other war pictures which Mr. McQueen will show in connection with his lecture are reputed to be among the finest that have been exhibited in the United States.

Mr. McQueen spoke at one of the Fortnightly meetings not long ago. Those who had the pleasure of listening to his interesting and instructive talk were unanimous in their praise and approval and have expressed strongly their desire to hear him lecture again in Winchester. The lecture will commence promptly at eight o'clock P. M.. Tickets may be secured from members of the Winchester Post.

An unofficial statement appeared in a recent issue of the "Star" to the effect that the Winchester Post favored the granting of a moving picture license in Winchester. For the benefit of all concerned the Post takes this opportunity to state emphatically that it has never gone on record as being for or against the granting of a moving picture license in this town, nor has this subject ever been formally discussed at any of its meetings.

COMMUNITY FORUM

Unitarian Church, 3 P. M., Sunday

Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale

The public will please note the change of hour for the Community Forum meeting next Sunday afternoon. It will be at three o'clock on account of the Memorial Service in the Town Hall at four o'clock.

The speaker will be Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, who was unable to speak at the time announced owing to the storm. Her subject for Sunday afternoon will be "The British Labor Party."

Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale comes of the well-known English family of that name. She is the grand-daughter of the late Joseph Knight, F. S. A., celebrated as the editor of "Notes and Queries" (London) and the best known art and dramatic critic of the day; a daughter of Ian Forbes-Robertson, the well-known English actor, and a neice of Johnston Forbes-Robertson, the famous Shakespearean actor.

Mrs. Hale's work with the United States Food Administration in 1918-19 made her widely known in official circles in Washington, and her recent mission had the endorsement, among others, of Secretary of War Baker, Assistant Secretary of the Interior John W. Hallowell, and Edgar Richard, United States Food Administrator.

Mrs. Hale was granted a passport to England this summer at the request of the British Bureau of Information, where she studied reconstruction and labor conditions.

This is the last meeting in the Forum series, which have been well attended and most instructive. It is hoped that arrangements can be made to carry on a Forum with a more extended program next winter.

IN SUPPORT OF MR. BRYNE

To my Fellow Citizens:

The time is now at hand for us to express our choice for Selectmen of the town. I venture to suggest that we will make no mistake if we elect Mr. George M. Byrne as one of the Board. I have known him for a number of years, and can say for him, that he is a practical man, thoroughly competent in the line of business in which he is engaged, such as Sewer, Road Building, Bridge Work, and Concrete Construction. He is honest and fearless, and, in my opinion, would be a most efficient Selectman for the Town of Winchester.

Adv. DANIEL B. BADGER

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The epidemic of influenza shows decided indications of abatment in this town, the number of cases during the week amounting to only eleven. The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending Feb. 19: Measles 6, mumps 6, influenza 11.

MIXED TOURNAMENT

Low scores were the rule in Monday night's matches all along the line, although straight wins were made by teams 20 and 24, and a win of two in three by 21. Teams 23, 19 and 22 were the losers. These matches allowed 20 to gain one point on the leaders—21, while 24 went up a little from a position about the centre in standing. Mrs. Tuttle led the ladies with a total of 170 on a high string of 87. The best single was made by Mrs. Fenno, who rolled 90. Mrs. Bennett got a string of 86 and Mrs. Lord 84. Mr. Corey rolled 108 for a string, Mr. Bowe 106 and Mr. Tuttle 103.

Interesting matches were rolled on Tuesday night. Team 9, which stood in second place one win ahead of 11, rolled the latter six and took two points in a very close match. 9 got the 1st by six pins and 11 the second by five thus giving 9 the total by one. Team 1, in fourth place, dropped all three to 10, which was third to last in standing. Team 12, the leaders, made easy work of winning all three from 8. Some good bowling was done by the ladies, Mrs. Tompkins rolling 185 with 102, Mrs. Goddard 184 with 102, Mrs. Taylor 166 with 94, Mrs. Hayward 166 with 92, Mrs. Tucker 164 with 82 and Mrs. Saabye 161 with 96. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

PROPERTY VALUES HAVE INCREASED—Have You Increased Your Insurance?

In five years, building cost has increased about 65 per cent; furniture cost, about 127 per cent, and clothing cost, about 129 per cent. Consequently, there has been a great increase in the values covered by the usual policy on dwelling houses and their contents.

If you were burned out today, would your loss draft from the insurance company pay its rightful share of the present cost of replacing your property?

"And There Wasn't the Slightest Smell From Dead Rats."
Writes John Simpkins, farmer of Annadale, N. J. "Rats were costing me hundreds yearly; tried dogs, ferrets, poison, could not get rid of them. Bought $1.00 pkg. of RAT-SNAP (5 cakes). THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The last regular meeting of the Fortnightly was held Monday, February 16. At the business meeting, the delegates to the meeting of the State Federation held at Revere on February 11, Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Mudge read most interesting reports. It was voted that seventy-five dollars be transferred from the general to the biennial fund; that twenty-five dollars be appropriated from the Philanthropy fund for the Y. D., and fifty dollars for the American International College. At the close of the business meeting, the Chancellor of the American International College at Springfield, Mr. McGowan, made a very earnest appeal to the members to interest themselves in the work of the college. The great aim of the college is to train young people of any nationality to become intelligent American citizens, that they in turn may inspire others.

The Music Committee provided an afternoon of rare enjoyment for the Club members and their friends in securing the Symphony Sextette, and Miss Edith Weye, soloist. Miss Weye possesses a rich mezzo-contralto voice with an unusually clear enunciation. In accompanying Miss Weye, the Sextette seemed almost to "breathe" with her, so wonderfully sympathetic was it. The cello and flute solos were exquisitely rendered, Chopin's "Valse Brillante," as played by Mr. Brooke, being worthy of special praise. On the ensemble playing, as in fact upon the entire performance, comments are superfluous. Seldom does the Club have such an afternoon of musical pleasure.

The next regular meeting of the Fortnightly occurs March 8th—a period of three weeks elapsing between meetings.

March 8th. Monday at 2.30—Regular meeting of The Fortnightly.

SPRING BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Stormy weather kept a few away from the spring tournament matches on the Calumet alleys Friday night, but all three contests were rolled off nevertheless. The scores were not high. Team C won four points from H, G four from D and E three from F. Parshley was high bowler with a total of 316 and 107 for his best string. Pilkington got 312, his best string being 109, and Goodale made 306 with 106. Others who rolled 100 or better included Sargeant with 109. Sears 111, Fitts 108, Keepers and Dickson 107 each, Davidson 105, Adams 101, Sanford 100.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

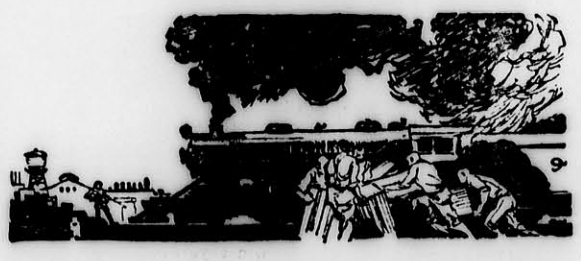

Friday the thirteenth proved to be an unlucky day for the meeting of the local Union, yet thirteen of the members braved the storm to attend the all day sewing session at the home of Mrs. George Arnold on Dix street, all of whom had to find their way home on foot owing to the lack of car service which is so marked a feature of present day conditions in this old fashioned winter.

However, those who came had a most enjoyable day and accomplished a great amount of work for the sale that is to be held at State Headquarters in March for the benefit of the Jubilee fund. A later meeting will be called to complete the articles. The business session was brief owing to the weather, but the list of Superintendents of Departments was ratified and two vice presidents elected to fill vacancies. Two dollars were voter for the Frances E. Willard Memorial Fund, this being an annual gift.

The new appointments are as follows: Mrs. Annie Blood and Mrs. Jennie Tolman, vice-presidents, respectively, of the First and Second Congregationalist Churches; Superintendents: Flower Mission, Mrs. J. C. Adams; Press, Mrs. Tracy; Papers, Miss Elliot; Soldiers and Sailors, Mrs. Robert Dover; Social Service, Mrs. Annie Blood; Scientific Temperance Instruction, Mrs. Hamilton; Sunday School, Miss Cassie Sands, Miss Laura Tolman; Mrs. John Mason, Mrs. George Weld, each representing her own parish.

Among other plans discussed was the inauguration of a Traveling Temperance Basket to raise funds for local needs. The treasurer reported about $300 paid or pledged for the Jubilee quota. Delegates were appointed for the County Convention to be held in Newton February 18. Owing to the small attendance the literary programme was not carried out, but there was no lack of entertainment and good fellowship.

Mr. Arthur W. Payne of Chicago accompanied the body of his brother, George R. Payne, to Winchester last week, arriving here Thursday morning. Mr. Payne stated that his brother, who went to Chicago from California last fall, was stricken with a shock in December, and a second shock February seventh resulted in his death. The remains were interred Thursday morning, a short service being held at Wildwood Cemetery by Rev. Howard J. Chidley.

Carrying a Ton a Mile for less than a Cent

Freight rates have played a very small part in the rising cost of living.

Other causes—the waste of war, under-production, credit inflation—have added dollars to the cost of the necessities of life, while freight charges have added only cents.

The average charge for hauling a ton of freight a mile is less than a cent.

A suit of clothing that sold for $30 before the war was carried 2,265 miles by rail from Chicago to Los Angeles for 16½ cents.

Now the freight charge is 22 cents and the suit sells for $50.

The cost of the suit has increased 20 dollars.

The freight on it has increased only 5⅓ cents.

Other transportation charges enter into the cost of the finished article—carrying the wool to the mills and the cloth to the tailors—but these other charges amount to but a few cents more.

The $10 pair of shoes that used to sell for $5 goes from the New England factory to the Florida dealer for a freight charge of 5⅓ cents—only one cent more than the pre-war rate.

American freight rates are the lowest in the world.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

The weight of the transgressor is invariably light.

Of all rare things on this earth about the hardest one to find is a man who makes love to his wife when there is trouble on his mind.

Lucky is the man whose troubles don't bother him any more than they do his friends.

The world owes no man a living; but it owes every man an opportunity to make good.

What you wish, hope, expect, or believe will not get you along in this world, like what you know.

Selectmen at the polls and Movie at Town Meeting.

And if some of us do not qualify for drainage engineers it will not be for lack of practical working demonstration.

"What do we have on Thursday?" "Why, we have snow on Thursday." "Snow on Thursday; Oh how I wish every day was Thursday."

It appeared yesterday that Winchester voters will see an innovation when they visit the polls March first. One candidate will have on the ballot opposite his name in place of the usual "nomination papers" etc., the words "Favors Moving Pictures." If this is placed on the ballot, and it is said that it will be, as the law allows three words opposite a candidate's name, it will be the first time such an innovation has been carried out here.

As the result of filing nomination papers at the Town Hall Wednesday night it appears that our spring election will narrow down to a contest for one office, that of choosing five Selectmen. To make this selection the voters will have a list of nine candidates to pick from, and if one might venture an opinion, they will have little trouble in electing a representative board which will conduct the affairs of the town in a manner which will give pride and satisfaction to all.

About everyone has had some public word of sympathy during the past fortnight over the hardships endured through the big storm outside the letter-carriers. Winchester has been remarkably well served through all this trying weather, notwithstanding the fact that the Post Office has been extra heavily burdened through many stores turning all parcels usually sent by express into the parcel post department. Lack of horses and other means of transportation has led to the virtual discontinuance of some express companies (not Winchester) and all of this business has been given the Post Office. Although the delivery has not been equal to summer service, our local carriers have given a remarkably good account of themselves and should receive due credit.

DUMP THE SNOW

To the Editor of the Winchester Star:

After the great snow storm of last week, came the puzzling question, where was the snow going to be put, to make things easy going for automobiles, and other things that are of more consequence than human beings. Well, along came a thaw and naturally the town made a start Saturday along the Main street towards Swanton street to move the snow, but along came the puzzling question, where were they going to dump the snow?

Finally there was no other place only Richardson street to dump the snow, and dump they did, which only goes to show that there is bad management in the streets department and room for improvement.

They probably thought that we did not have enough snow on this street; that would make it all the more accessible for a person to get to his home. I wonder where the Superintendent of Streets was, or even some of the men under him, were not around to see that such an action could be allowed not by any sensible person. To take snow out of one street and put it in another shows that there is some screws loose somewheres. Why not take some of the streets on the West Side?

Yours for Rights.

MOVING PICTURES AND THE SCHOOLS

Editor of the Star:

I notice in your last issue that the gentleman from Winthrop who wishes to get a Moving Picture license in Winchester mentions the educational value of the Moving Picture Theatre. No one questions the possibilities for education in the film. But when did the commercialized theatre, such as this gentleman wishes to open here, develop such an interest in education? I think John Galsworthy is not far astray when he says that: "a commission which has just been sitting finds that the public will not put up with more than one-tenth proportion of educational film in the course of an evening's entertainment."

Here in Winchester we have had a committee which spent months investigating our local public school system to find out where it is weak. In that committee's report, which is now on the press, it will be shown that the teachers of Winchester returning questionaires put Moving Pictures high in the list of factors most detrimental to school work. If this is true, with the theatres located no nearer than Arlington, Woburn and Stoneham, I leave it to serious-minded citizens to judge what it would be if the theatre were located here in town.

I should also like the citizens of this town to ask themselves which is better for a child, to take his place in a cue, as the children do in Arlington, outside the theatre, go in and sit for two hours in an ill-lighted room watching an overheated drama, or for the children to be out-of-doors in the sunshine on skiis, snow-shoes and sleds, filling their lungs with good fresh air as they do here in Winchester. Which child is being better equipped for school work and for life-work? I say nothing of the snares in such a dimly-lighted theatre where the young people meet, nor the quality of the film they see. Professor Norsworthy of Teachers' College, New York, in his book on "The Psychology of Childhood" says: "Suggestively vicious moving pictures are worse for the adolescents of a community than is negligence resulting in a typhoid epidemic."

We have as fine and wholesome a group of boys and girls in this town as you'll find in a day's travel. Let us keep them so. We can get along without their being educated by the film. Some knowledge is like poor land: the more you have of it, the worse off you are.

"The film sophisticates, it does not educate."

Yours sincerely,
Howard J. Chidley

HEARING ON FEBRUARY 24

To the Editor of the Star:

May I, through the Star, call the attention of your readers to the hearing of the bill for State Censorship of Motion Pictures to be held at the State House on Tuesday, February 24, before the Committee on Mercantile Affairs? Many Winchester people, especially parents, are interested in this bill because its enactment will put an end to the showing of vicious and demoralizing pictures, and will set a standard for clean movies all over the State. Their approval of the bill will be evidenced by their presence at the hearing next Tuesday. The Winchester Fortnightly Club has endorsed it; the Mass. Federation of Women's Clubs has endorsed it; and nearly two hundred strong associations in the State are supporting it and working for it.

The bearing of State Censorship on the important question of whether Winchester shall have a motion picture theatre is vital. Under present conditions, without any kind of state censorship, it is inconceivable that anyone who cares for the welfare of the oncoming generation can favor a local theatre. The present moral menace is too great. With State Censorship the evils, so far as the pictures are concerned, are reduced to a minimum. Therefore all those who favor a theatre in Winchester as well as those interested in the common good, will do well to manifest their interest in the passage of the bill by attending this hearing, and by expressing their opinions to their legislators who are to vote on it.

Very truly yours,
MARTHA SPRAGUE MASON

LADIES' AID SOCIAL

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Church held a very pleasant luncheon and social at the church on Thursday, February 12.

The members assembled at one o'clock and a dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Finnimore, assisted by Mesdames Foster, Dupee, Miner, Stearns, Hartley and Taylor. It has been the custom for some years for the members of the Ladies' Aid to try to earn money for the society. At the end of the year they have held an experience Social in which the amount collected was reported and members have related their experiences in earning this money. This year the members have been divided into two groups under the leadership of Mrs. J. Ervine Johnson and Mrs. Charles Hoey and an even six hundred ($600) dollars has been collected in this way. As the membership is small, this is considered a remarkably good showing. In the last thirteen years, over forty-five hundred dollars ($4500) have been raised in this way, outside of the regular church suppers, fairs, and sales, and this money has been applied to various departments of church work. At the close of the business meeting, a pleasing program of games music and readings was presented by Mrs. Crouch and Mrs. Mason.

MRS. THOMAS S. HOYT

Mrs. Jennie B. Hoyt, widow of the late Thomas S. Hoyt, passed away yesterday morning at the Winchester Hospital, where she had been for the past three weeks. She had been in poor health for a considerable time. Had she lived until February 23d she would have been 85 years old.

The funeral services will be held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Corey Wetherbee, 509 Washington street, Sunday afternoon at two

A man living near Winchester was at age fifty a prosperous manufacturer, at that time he bought a Ten Payment Endowment policy for Four Thousand dollars, payable at age seventy.

He said he took the insurance just to get rid of the agent.

Age seventy found him down and out, assisting his wife who was taking boarders.

You should have heard him describe the welcome that Four Thousand dollars received.

Of course you will not be needy at age seventy, but you probably can find use for four, or forty thousand dollars then if living.

A PLEA FOR THE FIREMEN

Editor Star:

The purpose of this communication is to say a few words in favor of increasing the pay of our firemen. I don't think the citizens of our town realize how insufficiently they are paid.

First, I want to say a word about the personel of the local department. Take them all in all, I don't think there is a better-looking, more clean-cut, intelligent group of firemen in the country. Many of them are local boys and the product of our schools.

Second, I wonder how many people realize a fireman's duties. He is really on duty 365 days of every year. Nominally, he has one day off in five, but should a serious fire occur, he must respond as well as the other men. He has his own particular work to do in and around the fire house and he is virtually a prisoner there. He can enjoy no social evenings with his family unless on his evenings off. If he happens to be a married man, and I am quite sure that eight of our ten local men are married, he must plan to attend to the fire and chores at home as well as perform his duty at the fire-station.

We hear some people say, "Well, a fireman has an easy snap. He has no work to do." But these same people are very glad to see the firemen when the safety of their homes and the lives of their loved ones are threatened. And always the fireman faces this risk. At any moment, day or night, he may be called on to attend a dangerous fire, to enter a burning building and to pay the supreme sacrifice. All that then remains is a little fatherless family. A striking instance of this occurred in Worcester last week.

Third, we come to the increased cost of living. In 1915 a fireman's pay was $21.12 per week. He now receives $28.85. And our junior Senator David I. Walsh, has told us in a recent speech that the cost of living has increased 80 per cent since 1915. And the fireman must provide his own clothes, he must look neat, and he must be warmly dressed. The suit that he could buy a year ago for $38 now costs $48. His shoes and shirts have increased in price to such a degree that to buy new ones when they are needed is considerable of a problem. From these statistics it is decidedly obvious that we expect our firemen to subsist and remain contented on a salary that has increased somewhere in the vicinity of 32 per cent since 1915, while their wives and dependants must battle with prices that have, according to Senator Walsh increased 80 per cent (a most conservative estimate, it seems to me) and that have increased 92 per cent in Massachusetts, according to the annual report of the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life, filed to-day.

Now, I ask you, voters of Winchester, can we afford to have such a condition exist? Do we or do we not want a satisfied set of firemen? We know that community betterment is fostered by the contentment and lack of reasonable worry among its public servants.

To be sure, increasing the pay of the firemen would increase the tax rate to some slight degree, but can we afford to keep our tax rate low at the expense of those to whom we owe so much?

Let us ponder carefully before voting day whether or not we can give the firemen that which they should receive—$5 per day—they now are getting $4.12 per day. Let us give justice where justice is due. In giving the firemen $5 a day we will be only doing the right thing. And let us do the right thing because it is right—and let us do it in time. Let it not be said of Winchester that she doesn't appreciate the services of her public servants. We have increased the salary of our teachers and thereby removed their worries—let us do the same for the firemen. There is no elastic dollar—we must make the payroll elastic. Think this over fairly, Mr Voter, and then do the right thing at the right time—give the firemen of Winchester $5 per day.

Yours for a Square Deal.

FEED THE BIRDS

To the Editor:

Our wild birds are starving to death by the thousands this winter. Leaving out sentiment, this is a great economic loss. One small bird:—a chickadee, for instance:—is estimated to be worth about one dollar a week to us during spring and summer, because of the insect pests he destroys. Other birds are of equal value. It pays us in hard cash to save him, and all our wild birds. Figure it out for yourself. Ask the Audobon Society, 66 Newbury Street, Boston.

Let us, at least, do something. Don't wait. Begin now; to FEED THE BIRDS. It pays! I.

MR. WALTER F. O'BRIEN

Mr. Walter Francis O'Brien, aged 27 years, died suddenly on Monday evening at his home on Main street as the result of a shock. Mr. O'Brien who is employed by the Woburn Machine Co., returned on Saturday night after a trip of three weeks in Canada. He was in his usual health until shortly before his death, when he complained of a headache. Shortly after he was stricken.

Mr. O'Brien was born in Woburn and was the son of Daniel P. and the late Mary (Gillespie) O'Brien. He received his education in the public schools of Woburn and in October, 1918, he married Miss Josephine Hargrove of this town.

Besides his wife, he leaves his father and three sisters, Misses Gladys, Mary and Rose O'Brien of Woburn. He was well known throughout the section in which he resided and also in Woburn, where he was a member of the Woburn Lodge of Elks.

Solemn High mass was celebrated at St. Mary's Church yesterday morning at nien-thirty.

The interment was in Calvary cemetery, Montvale.

The bearers were: Hon. William H. Henchy of Woburn, Eugene P. Sullivan, Exalted Ruler of the Elks, Michael Winn, Alderman of Woburn, Warren Cox and Harry Cox of Winchester, Charles Riley of Weymouth, Thomas J. Dee of Concord.

Solemn High Mass of Requiem, Rev. John W. H. Corbett, celebrant, Rev. Francis E. Rogers Deacon, Rev. William Keville of Woburn Sub-Deacon and Rev. John Moore of Roxbury, Master ofCeremonies.

CHARLES T. McALLISTER

Charles T. McAllister, aged 71 years, was found dead in bed on Sunday night at the home of his brother George D. McAllister, 833 Main st., with whom he made his home. Death was due to natural causes. Mr. McAllister was formerly a well known tin-smith in this town, but of late years he had been working at the Puffer Mfg. Co. Besides his brother here he leaves two sisters, one residing in New York and the other in Randolph.

The funeral services were held this week from the Methodist church, Rev. A. B. Gifford officiating. The remains were taken to Randolph for cremation.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE

Not in many years has a more instantaneous hit scored by a play and a player than in the case of "Bab" and little Helen Hayes at the Hollis street Theatre, Boston. The Bab stories of Mary Roberts Rinehart have been popular among book-lovers for two seasons, but Helen Hayes was an unknown quantity to Boston playgoers. To be sure her reputation had been excellent, by reason of the successes she had obtained in New York in "Dear Brutus" and in "Clarence," but to local followers of the stage, she was but a faint name.

The laughs are almost constant and sincere, and the sympathy of the audience is always with the little sub-deb. George C. Tyler has given the comedy an adequate setting, and a very competent cast, which includes Tom Powers, George Alison, Grace Henderson, Arthur Eldred, James Kearney, Katherine Alexander, Claribel Campbell, Junius Matthews, Raymond Griffiths, and Helen Gurney.

A special matinee will be given Washington's Birthday besides the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

BOWLING NOTES FROM WINCHESTER ALLEYS

The Woburn police met defeat at the hands of their brother officers in Winchester Friday evening at Mack's Winchester Alleys losing the match by 51 pins. The Woburn men will bowl a return match at Flanders Alleys probably this afternoon. Kerwin says what they won't do to Winchester won't be worth talking about.

Sanderson beat Whitney Machine No. 2 by 47 pins Friday night winning the rubber match of the series.

There will be one delivery of mail from the Winchester Post-office on Monday.

CALUMET BESTS OLD BELFRY

A large party of ladies and gentlemen braved the wintry weather on Thursday night to visit the Old Belfry Club at Lexington for an evening of bowling, cards, billiards and pool. The party went from the Calumet Club. It was intended to make the trip by sleighs, but owing to the bad going, no sleighs were available and the trip was therefore made by electrics.

According to report the local party won everything except one point in pool and one bowling point, the second team dropping one string. Messrs. D. W. Comins and Edward B. Smalley represented Calumet at billiards and Dr. I. T. Cutter and Harry Stevens played pool. The card players included a number of well known ladies and gentlemen.

Mrs. Thompkins led all the ladies in bowling. She rolled a total of 291, a figure reached by but few of the gentlemen, and she got for her highest string 108. Mrs. Carleton got a total of 246 and rolled 85 for her best string.

The party enjoyed a collation after the games and then dancing took up the evening until time for the return. Old Belfry will visit Calumet in April for a return contest.

The bowling scores were as follows:

BUTLER—AVERY

The wedding of Miss Helen Gretchen Avery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Avery of Glen road, and Mr. Horace Butler, son of Hon. and Mrs. Thomas S. Butler of Chrleston, West Virginia, took place on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ames Shailer on Church street. There was a large attendance of friends from Winchester and other places, although the storm prevented the presence of some friends from distant points.

The ceremony took place at eight o'clock, Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational Church officiating. Mr. Samuel Butler, brother of the groom, was groomsman, and Mrs. Paul F. Avery, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor.

The bridesmaids included Miss Helen Copp of Oxford, Miss Lucille Struller of Upper Montclair, N. J.; Miss Ruth Avery of Somerville and Mrs. John S. Brayton, Jr. of Fall River.

The ushers for the ceremony and following reception were Mr. Paul F. Avery, brother of the bride, Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler of Quantico, Va.; Mr. James M. Austin and Mr. William T. Kirke of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. Lawrence Sharples of West Chester, Pa. and Mr. John Hopkins, Mr. J. Vaughn Merrick, 3d, Mr. T. McKeens Downs, Mr. Charles S. Wolfe and Mr. Orville H. Ballet of Philadelphia, Pa.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Butler left on a wedding trip to Montreal and Quebec. They will make their home in Charleston, West Virginia.

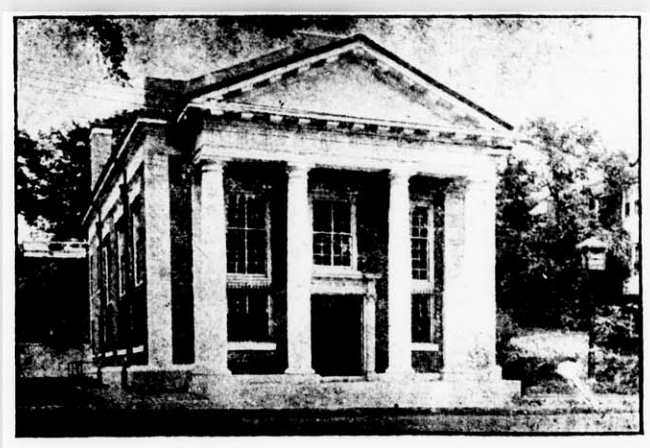

Wilson the Stationer.

The Watertown High basket-ball team will play the Winchester High team at the High school gymnasium this evening.

be required to do by state law.

Dental inspection and treatment for school children is so important for the welfare of the whole people that it must eventually be cared for at public expense. The local dentists have certainly done their share in carrying on free dental inspection for a period of over ten years. The importance of caring for the needs of the children in this particular has been fully demonstrated. I estimated an appropriation for this purpose as follows:

For equipment	$ 900
For services of a dentist	1000

Motor Bus

Transportation of pupils by the town seems to be an established policy. In view of this, why should we be satisfied with having the children transported in any other type of conveyance than one designed for the purpose? We carry on education in school buildings; why not transport our children to school with a regular motor bus? Such a conveyance designed especially for the purpose can be bought for about $1500.

Conclusion

This report has been written chiefly for the parents and citizens of Winchester. It shows something of the aims, the methods and the achievments of the schools. It does not pretend to be complete; many subjects worthy of mention have been omitted and many of those that have received attention merit a much more complete statement. To any parent or citizen who desires it, I am sure the teachers, the School Committee and the Superintendent will be glad to furnish whatever information they can. Let us work together for the welfare of the children.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN R. FAUSEY.
Superintendent of Schools

SHALL I BE A NURSE?

The following paper was read by Miss Norton, Superintendent of the Winchester Hospital at a recent meeting of the Progress Club. It is a timely article and should be read carefully by those of our girls who contemplate entering the nursing profession.

If you are looking for a comfortable easy life, with more or less pleasure and a desire for financial success, do not take up nursing. If your ambition is service, and if you have a love for humanity in every condition, nowhere can you find greater satisfaction or a wider field than in the nursing world.

In order to help you to decide whether you are fitted for the work of a nurse or not, we will mention the qualifications you should have. Health is the most essential; no other qualification will compensate for the lack of health, as it is the foundation for a successful life as a nurse. Are you physically strong and have you physical endurance? With practically perfect health and strength for the start, and endurance with which to carry on, you are well equipped physically to undertake the training necessary to fit you for your life work as a nurse.

The principal acquired qualification is a liberal education. Most schools of nursing require an high school education or its equivalent. Exceptions are made to this rule in some hospitals but the better education you have, the better fitted you will be for the preparatory work of the profession. The more liberal the education before entering training, the broader will be your opportunities after graduation.

In regard to moral qualifications:—Let me quote from Miss Aikins, one of our leading hospital superintendents. She says, "A good nurse must first of all be a good woman. No amount of ability which a nurse may display in other directions can possibly be accepted as a substitute for right conduct. There is no such substitute." The moral qualifications of self control, dignity, economy, neatness, sympathy, obedience, and unselfishness can be developed more or less by the training, but the more of these qualifications you have to start with, the less trying will be your training and the better nurse you will make.

If you have the necessary physical, mental and moral qualifications already noted, we will suppose you have decided to take up nursing as your life work and you would like to know what steps to take to begin your preparation. Most hospitals of any size maintain a training school and you must decide what hospital you would like to enter. By all means, choose a general hospital, by this, I mean an hospital which does not specialize in any one disease. The time to specialize is after a good course in a general hospital. Now, the question of the large or small hospital comes up for consideration. They both have advantages. The small hospital gives a more personal supervision, perhaps, and there is not the nerve strain and wear and tear generally that one gets in the large hospital. On the other hand, the large hospital gives a more intensive and wider training with more opportunities for institutional experience. The large hospital will give a better preparation for institutional work if you wish to specialize in that.

It will pay you to consider a number of hospitals before deciding. Send for a prospectus of the hospitals in which you are interested; see what opportunities and advantages the different schools offer; visit the hospitals and have a talk with the superintendent of nurses; get the advice of your physician or some nurse in whom you have confidence; they can tell you about the standing of the school. You cannot be too particular in choosing your school.

After you have decided on the hospital, fill out your application blank or, better still, make personal application to the superintendent of nurses and wait your admission to the school. Most hospitals give a probationary course of three months. During this time, you will be observed by the faculty and, if you prove satisfactory in your work and conduct, your real training will begin. The best hospitals give a three years' course and for three years your work, step by step, will be planned for you. If you have never learned it before, you will now learn obedience which is the keynote of your whole training.

Your work will begin with the homely tasks but they will gradually give place to the more responsible duties of the profession. Lectures are given throughout the course; these will help to the understanding of the human body and also to the methods used for the relief of suffering and disease. The time off duty is spent in having all the enjoyment possible. There are parties, dances, music, feeds, and cozy times in each others rooms, which all young women know so well how to enjoy. The home life is much like that of boarding school.

Every day brings its tasks and lessons, discouragements, joys and satisfactions but every day brings you nearer to the goal for which you are working, "Graduation." Graduation is the door through which you pass to the wider experiences of the nursing world, and there was never a time when there were so many opportunities opened to nurses as now.

It is only a few years ago that there were practically only two lines of work for a nurse, private duty and institutional work. Now it is so different. Let me give you some idea of the number of fields that will open to you after you have finished your training. Let me speak first of the institutional and educational work, which is the most necessary of all, for those who enter these two fields have the education and training of the nurses who will enter all the other fields of the nursing world. The educational work offers the finest opportunities to teachers or those who have had teaching preparation. Columbia College is giving a course to nurses who wish to specialize in the teaching of those subjects which are taught in the training schools and the demand is far from met. If one has executive ability, she can find congenial work as a superintendent of the smaller hospitals, superintendent of nurses, or departmental nurses in the larger hospitals.

The private duty nurse fills a wonderful place in the world. No one comes into such close, personal, intimate contact with another as the private duty nurse with her patient, and no work that I know of demands so much of self-sacrifice. To see a patient creep slowly back to health, is ample reward for any sacrifice which has been made.

In the newer fields of nursing, we have the Public Health work, the Red Cross work, and the Industrial nursing. No city or town of any size is without its Public Health nurse. In our own town we have the district nurse, the school nurse, and now the Public Health nurse, and you are more or less acquainted with their work. You cannot, perhaps, realize what public health nurses mean to a community in the prevention of disease. Think of the work among tubercular patients which the government is doing and nurses must be had in increasing numbers to fight this dreaded disease.

The government has already started a campaign to control and stamp out the social diseases which are such a menace to society, and a nurse who is willing to take up this work can be specially educated at the expense of the government to become organizers of this campaign. Lt. C. C. Pierce, Asst. Surg. General of the United States Public Health service states that 50,000 nurses are needed to fill the demands of bills now before Congress and state legislatures.

The Red Cross Nurse has made a reputation for herself in the World War and her work there needs no comment. Perhaps you do not realize the work she is still doing in reconstruction in the devastated countries and in every part of the world where there is physical suffering. Think what a nurse may do in the medical missionary work in the different foreign fields, work in which every church has an interest. The Red Cross nurse in our own country is the one who will be called on by the government in case of any disaster, such as great fires, floods, or epidemics. A wonderful work is being done in the rural districts and mountain regions of our country. This is pioneer work. Often the nurse will travel miles on horseback over the mountains to some of the homes which have absolutely no comforts and not even necessities. Practically the only medical care which many of these mountaineers have is what a nurse can give.

The Industrial nurse is found in all the larger industrial plants and in the larger stores. Firms are appropriating thousands of dollars a year to maintain nursing service and they claim they are well repaid for the expenditure. Nurses are specializing in anesthesia, dental work, laboratory and research work. Most colleges have a college nurse and many physicians have a nurse as office assistant.

With an ambition for service, and a love for humanity in all conditions, combined with a good training a nurse will attain success. The greatest rewards of the profession, however, are intangible but, nevertheless, real. You who have a comprehension of the deeper things of life can make nursing not only a profession but a vocation—a consecration. Rich, indeed, will be your life if, while ministering to the physical needs of humanity, you can enter into and minister to the higher needs of life. To such a life I invite you. The field is wide; the call is insistent.

MORTGAGEES' SALE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Isabelle M. Carter to Frank L. Ripley and Freeland E. Hovey, dated November 1, 1917, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, book 4173 page 238, for a breach of the condition contained in said mortgage deed, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction upon the premises on SATURDAY, the sixth day of March, A. D. 1920, at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:

The land in Winchester, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, shown as lot four (4) on a plan entitled "Plan of land on Sheffield West, Winchester, Mass., belonging to F. L. Ripley and F. E. Hovey dated May, 1909 W. J. Dotten, Engineer" recorded with said Deeds, book of plans 179, plan 6.

Said tract of land contains ten thousand, seven hundred and seventy-five (10,775) square feet and is bounded:

Easterly by said Sheffield West, eighty and 25-100 (80.25) feet;

Northeasterly by other land of said Ripley and Hovey, one hundred twenty-four and 70-100 (124.70) feet;

Northwesterly by other land of said Ripley and Hovey, eighty-three (83) feet; and

Southerly by lands now or formerly of Archer D. Friend and shown as lot three (3) on said plan, one hundred thirty-eight and 95-100 (138.95) feet;

Together with the right to pass and repass with teams or otherwise from the rear of said lot four (4) over other land of said Ripley and Hovey to and upon a private way fifteen (15) feet wide which lies along the Easterly bank of the brook and on land adjoining the Westerly line of land of Blaikie to Everett Avenue.

Said lot is subject to the following restrictions, to wit:

No building shall be erected thereon nearer than forty (40) feet to any street (except that steps, bay-windows, verandas and porches may extend not more than fifteen (15) feet into said restricted space) or nearer than ten (10) feet to either side line of said lot. No houses shall be erected thereon to cost less than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00); no double houses, apartment houses, stables or buildings for mercantile, manufacturing or other obnoxious purposes shall be erected thereon except that a garage for the private use of the owner may be built on said lot within forty (40) feet of the back line thereof.

Said premises will be sold subject to all outstanding and unpaid taxes and other municipal liens, if any.

TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS ($200.00) will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale, and the balance within ten (10) days thereafter upon the delivery of the deed at the office of Ralph E. Joslin, 18 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

February 16, 1920

The Board met at 7.15. Present Messrs. Kidder, Newman and Simonds

The records of the meeting of February 9 were read and approved.

Selectmen's Dept. Records: The Board voted to suspend its rules and hold its next meeting on Monday, February 22, 1919 (Washington's Birthday) at 7 o'clock P. M.

Town Hall engagemente 1920 (Winchester Post No. 97 A. L.)—The Winchester Post No. 97 A. L. was granted the use of the Town Hall on March 3, 1920 for the purpose of conducting a lecture.

Town Meetings, March 1, 1920: On receiving word that Messrs. J. Leslie Johnston (Republican) and John Cullen, Jr. (Democrat) nominated last week would serve as Election Officers if appointed, the Board appointed them.

The Board appointed Messrs. Ralph F. Arnold (Republican) and Robert H. Sullivan (Democrat) ballot clerks to serve at this election.

Census: A letter was received from T. G. Stanton, 2 Chestnut Street, stating that no census enumerator has called at his residence up to this date, Feb. 12, 1920. The Clerk was instructed to write to Mr. John J. Sullivan, Supervisor of the Census and state that numerous complaints have come in from persons in all parts of the Town, that the census enumerators have not called at their residences and also to ask him to advise the Board what should be done in regard to the matter.

Common Street Extension and Park Street: The Board held a hearing at 8 P. M. in regard to the alteration, widening and relocation of Common Street Extension and Park Street. Present at the hearing were Mr. Frank H. Knight, representing the Board of Trade, Mr. Frank E. Rowe of the Planning Board and the Town Engineer. Mr. Knight stated that the Board of Trade favored the alteration, widening and relocation of these streets as proposed by the Board of Selectmen. Mr. Rowe also stated that the Planning Board approved. Word was received from Messrs. Jonas A. Laraway and Freeland E. Hovey that they had no objections.

The Board approved and signed the plans, dated February 1, 1920, made by the Town Engineer and approved and signed the layouts in connection with these alterations, widenings and relocations.

The meeting adjourned at 9.55 P. M.

What "Slow" Accounts Mean

"SLOW" ACCOUNTS mean something more than the mere matter of delay in receiving payment of bills.

THEY MEAN DUPLICATION OF EFFORT, the maintenance of records and additional officework that would be unnecessary if such accounts were paid within the reasonable specified time.

BUT MOST OF ALL they mean that effort which might be devoted to necessary tasks essential to the comfort, convenience and efficiency that you derive from your telephone service, is wasted on what should be unnecessary tasks.

ENDORSING JAMES W. BLACKHAM FOR BOARD OF SELECTMEN

To the Editor of the Star:

I am a firm believer in equal representation and that all sections of the town should, as far as possible, be represented on the Board of Selectmen. I therefore take this opportunity of endorsing the candidacy of Mr James W. Blackham.

Mr. Blackham was born in Winchester, educated in our public schools and has had a business training eminently qualifying hm for a place on the Board. Furthermore he is the first candidate for town office. He is a member of the local Post of the American Legion and was one of its first officers. I urge favorable consideration for him at the polls next Monday.

PATRICK NOONAN,
54 Canal St.

ELECT FRED DOLBEN AS SELECTMAN

As a candidate for Selectman Mr. Joseph A. Dolben needs no recommendation to his friends and acquaintances, but to those who may not know him well I wish to thus publicly commend him as an able and successful business man, several years a resident of Winchester, and a man whose ability, integrity, and forcefulness would make in him a most desirable member of the Board of Selectmen.

The problems and difficulties arising under existing conditons make necessary as never before the election of level-headed officers to look after the interests of the people.

TO SET THE BALL ROLLING

Arrangements are being made for a Grand Republican Banquet and Songfest under the auspices of the Republican League Club of Winchester, at the Town Hall, on the evening of March 18th. This affair promises to eclipse anything of its kind ever given in Winchester. Plenty Good Eats, Lively Music and Singing, Prominent National Speakers. The number of tickets will of necessity have to be limited to the capacity of the Town Hall. These tickets will be ready for distribution on and after March 1st next. They will be in the hands of a Commttee of sixty members scattered throughout the town to insure a general distribution, but our advice is, "Speak early" as "First come, first served."

Save March 17th. "It Pays to Advertise."

MASS MEETING ON MOVING PICTURES

Sunday at Four O'Clock, First Congregational Church.

At the First Congregational Church, Sunday afternoon, at four o'clock, there will be a Mass Meeting of the citizens of Winchester, under the auspice of the State Committee of Censorship for Moving Pictures. The meeting will be addressed by Mrs. Ralph M. Kirtland of Malden, chairman of the Board of Censors for Moving Pictures and president of the Women's Civic League of Malden. As the issue regarding Moving Pictures is being fought out, both at the State House and locally, every citizen who wishes to vote intelligently upon this question should avail himself of the opportunity to get at the facts. The independent Moving Picture manager is rapidly becoming a thing of the past and the entire industry is beginning to assume the character of a Film Trust, backed by enormous funds and ready to fight any local Board of Censors which obects to the character of films it displays in the towns where its theatres are running, and to dictate, even, to the managers of independent theatres what sort of films even they may handle. Winchester does not know what it is facing in the local issue now before it, but it will know very quickly what sort of organization it is dealing with if it ever lets a theatre come into town. Come and get the facts.

THE STROLLER HAS A FEW WORDS TO SAY ON THE ELECTION

Fellow Citizens and Voters:

All last summer and during the fall I covered the town and wrote articles for the Star under the name of "The Stroller." Don't you thinnk a man that knows the town and its citizens the way I do would make a good selectman? I am not on any slate or combination and will go in if elected with an open mind and with the firm intention of giving the town a live selectman.

EDWARD P. McKENZIE

LAYMAN'S LEAGUE TONIGHT AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

At the meeting of the Laymans League in Metcalf Hall tonight, a story of great human interest will be told. The Rev. William H. Drummond Editor of the Enquirer of London, England has made a journey to the Unitarians of Transylvania. He broke into the Country which is now a part of Romania without the consent of the Government. What he found there will be told by him. He is the first English speaking person to get into this country since the beginning of the War.

All the members and friends of the League are invited.

WILL MAKE A GOOD SELECTMAN

I am pleased to endorse all that Mr. Badger wrote about Mr. Geo. M. Bryne last week. Knowing this gentleman as I do and his capability along some lines which are to come up this year of vital importance to our Town, I consider we are very fortunate in having this gentleman as a candidate and strongly advocate his Election.

WILLARD T. CARLETON

Mr. Henry Smalley has tendered his resignation as Burial Agent for Deceased Soldiers and Sailors. The appointment of his successor has been left to the incoming Board of Selectmen, as has the appointment of a member of the Board of Appeals, caused by the resignation of Mr. Walter S. Wadsworth.

THE ELECTOR'S OBLIGATION

Bills are before various state legislatures making failure to vote a violation of law. Such a law would affect few in a presidential year.—A larger number would fail to vote in a town election.

To protect and preserve our free institutions we must either be a part of the government or help choose those who govern.

Monday next, we elect men who spend more than half a million dollars of Winchester's money. The way it is spent will affect your family. Whether it is spent well or not will be determined by men elected, not by men neglected.

The future of Winchester depends first upon its citizenship, and second upon the persons chosen to represent that citizenship.

OUR STANDING IS HIGH: SHALL IT BE MADE HIGHER?

OUR SCHOOLS ARE GOOD: SHALL THEY BE MADE BETTER?

OUR STREETS AND SIDEWALKS ARE BEING IMPROVED: SHALL THE IMPROVEMENTS BE EXTENDED?

The chairman of last year's Board is the only Selectman who is a candidate for re-election this year. The burden of responsibility is great.

Whom will you elect to office to spend the half-million dollars?

Who shall be put in office to express the Winchester spirit?

Who shall be chosen to represent our ideals of public service?

Help your neighbor to the polls.

Help elect the best men to office.

Don't dodge this draft.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

All roads passable led to the Calumet Club on Monday on the occasion of the Club's annual Washington's Birthday parties to the children and adults. The attendance was the largest in years.

For the children an afternoon entertainment was held, a magician and ventriloquist providing a program which gave great pleasure to the 250 young folks who were present. Refreshments and souvenirs provided additional pleasure at the close of the afternoon.

The evening's entertainment included a chafling dish supper, served at six o'clock, followed by formal dancing until a late hour.

The club was gay with the national colors, hundreds of flags, together with bunting and festoons making a most appropriate setting, and to the Steward, Mr. Fred H. Scholl, many expressions of praise were tendered by members and their guests on the result of his untiring labor. The evening party was attended by about 300 members and guests.

The supper was served in the billiard room, the following ladies serving:

Mrs. C. M. Crafts,
Miss Elizabeth Downs,
Mrs. Percy Goodale,

TREMONT THEATRE

Hail! Hail! The gang's all here! And at the head of the gang is Elsie Janis, America's beloved comedienne and the "sweetheart of the A. E. F.," bringing her own bomb proof musical revue in two acts to the Tremont Theatre, Boston, for an engagement of positively two weeks only, with the usual matinees each week. To mark her reappearance on the the American stage, Miss Janis has prepared a unique offering, which she elects to call a bomb proof musical revue, adding that there are some songs, some jokes, some hoofing and some soldier jazz band. And incidentally some girls.

Accompanied by a cast composed principally of young men who saw service overseas, and designated by Miss Janis as the "gang," the revue presents almost three hours of a jingling jumble of merriment, novel in its introduction and unique in its development, with the ex-service chaps proving themselves rare entertainers.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. JOHN GILPATRIC KILLED

Son of Dr. and Mrs. William H. Gilpatric Struck by Train Saturday

A sad accident, doubly lamented through its circumstances and the prominence of his parents, was the death of Fitle John D. Gilpatric, seven years old, last Saturday afternoon The boy, the son of Dr. and Mrs. William H. Gilpatric of Bacon street was struck by an express train just north of the Bacon street bridge at Wedgemere. He was instantly killed.

The accident occured at 4.30. The boy, in company with two playmates, Joe Dolben, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Alfred Dolben, and Fred Demarest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald E. Demarest, were wlkin up the tracks towards Winchester. They were just at the rear of the Ginn estate when an inward bound freight train passed and they stood on the outward track watching it when the first section of the northbound express No. 313 for Keene, N. H., came around the curve. The engineer saw the boys and whistled. Dolben and Demarest shouted and succeeded in getting out of the path of the train, but Gilpatric was struck.

The train was about 15 minutes late out of Boston and was going at a good rate of speed, and the sharp curve gave little warning of its approach The little victim was thrown one side, and when the engineer of the train, which was stopped within 150 yards of the spot, reached him, he was dead. A sad feature of the accident was that Dr. and Mrs. Gilpatric had left that morning for a trip to Washington, D. C., and that Mrs. Noel B. Nutt, the boy's grandmother had also left for a trip to California. The boy and his brother, William H Gilpatric, Jr., were in charge of their grandfather and a nurse. Word was immediately telegraphed to the parents, who were reached in New York, and they returned home immediately.

Simple funeral services were held at the Congregational church on Tuesday afternoon, directed by Rev. Howard J. Chidley. There was a profusion of flowers and a large attendance of playmates and friends. The interment was in Wildwood cemetery.

YOUR TOWN AND MINE

"Your Town and Mine," is the name of an entertaining little play composed by Miss N. J. Davis and performed by her pupils in the Wadleigh School. It is an ingenious method of teaching good citizenship. This same play was admirably presented at the Saturday morning Citizenship Class at the Mass. Suffrage Headquarters in January, and received favorable comment in the newspapers and in the Woman Citizen. It is to be repeated under the auspices of the Winchester Equal Suffrage Club in the High School Assembly Hall, Wednesday, March 3rd, at 3.30 p. m. thus giving an opportunity to all who are interested to see what our schools can do with this subject. Mrs. George Root will speak on "Our Foreign Neighbors." Parents and friends all are cordialy invited.

Bird of Marked Peculiarities.

The yellow-breasted chat is an eccentric bird both when it is singing and in flying. When these birds sing their musical effort seems to require a great deal of flirting of the tail and twisting of the head; and even when they are flying their tail jerks up and down, giving them a strange appearance. The song of this bird is scarcely worthy of the name, having been called a "series of grotesque syllables."

"Rats Pass Up All Other Food For One Meal of Rat-Snap."

Their first meal of RAT-SNAP is their last. Kills in few minutes. Dries up the carcass. Rats killed with RAT-SNAP leave no odor. RAT-SNAP comes in cake form. Break into small pieces, leave where rats travel. No mixing with other food. Cats or dogs won't touch it. Safest, cleanest, surest rat and mice killer. Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. PROPERTY VALUES HAVE INCREASED — Have You Increased Your Insurance?

In five years, building cost has increased about 65 per cent; furniture cost, about 127 per cent, and clothing cost, about 129 per cent. Consequently, there has been a great increase in the values covered by the usual policy on dwelling houses and their contents.

If you were burned out today, would your loss draft from the insurance company pay its rightful share of the present cost of replacing your property?

If you have not enough insurance, permit us to consider with you what amount you should carry.

Rev. J. H. Metcalf Noted Possibilities For Church Work

Editor Star:—

I enclose herewith abstracts from an article printed in the Boston Sunday Post of December 21st last as the result of an interview with Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of the Unitarian Church of this town. As you will note this clergyman, while holding that there are unquestionable bad as well as good "movies," does not by any means condemn them, and in fact holds the opinion that they may be used to good purposes right in the churches themselves.

Shall we have movies at church?

And movies at Sunday school?

"Why not?" asks the Rev. Dr. Joel H. Metcalf, pastor of the Unitarian Church at Winchester, war-worker, and clergyman-astronomer of fame.

"There is nothing wrong with the movies themselves," he declared. "They may be put to bad uses now and then, but that in no way prohibits their inherent power for good. On a Sunday night, for example, your churches are empty, and your movie-houses are filled. Why could not the church have movies and bring the people to herself?"

"I do not mean that the Church should endeavor to compete with the theatres. I mean that the church should endeavor to bring itself up to the times, and make itself attractive. The trouble with the church is, that it is, as far as methods are concerned, back somewhere in the Stone Age.

"The men and women of today are modern children. And they want what is modern. It is the church that is to blame. The church should step in and take the new inventions, the new triumphs and make them her own. And the moving-picture, one of the centurys' greatest achievments should be one of her greatest instruments for good.

"One would only with difficulty exaggerate the possibilities of the movies in the hands of the church. As a means to wholesome recreation it is incomparable. The church, you know, should not separate itself from life and hold itself as something apart. It should intertwine itself with every branch of life. It should be social. So, if the church should arrange to exhibit good, up-to-date movies evenings and Sunday afternoons, it would have taken a long step toward the quickening of her own life and the life of the people.'

Mr. Metcalf who is a big, pleasant man, stopped for a moment and smiled. He is simple and unassuming, and very earnest in his plans for his parish and the church. One would never guess that he had been a hero in some of the fiercest fighting of the war. Nor would one think that he was known over the world as an explorer of the astronomical heaven and a discoverer of comets, now officially named in his honor. His smile was congenial and catching.

"I do not mean, you know, that the church should exhibit problem plays and those 'thrilling' dime-novel dramas. Nor do I mean that the church should cease to have regular church services. It is not a plan to compete with the movie theatres.

"We could start with educational films for the children. They could be confined to Biblical subjects. Then we could branch out on a broader educational field. One could have travelogues, studies of foreign peoples and places, studies of the habits of animals and the wonders of the mountains and the seas, and so on. Children would no longer be loath to come to Sunday School. They would be eager. And it would be not only interesting, but profitable.

"Then, on week-day evenings, we could run good, hearty comedies and more serious refined pictures. The pictures could be all kept high-class. And they would stir the spectators as does a good book or a friend. There is no reason why the church shouldn't undertake some such programme. It would be the first step in the making of the church attractive. And the making of the church attractive is the first movement in gaining its position in the modern world. The sword of Goliath would be the weapon of David. The modern inventions and productions would be instruments for good in the hands of the church.

"Some of us, I am afraid, have not entirely overcome the influence of Puritan ancestry. The Puritans were not quite so bad as many are wont to have them. But Puritnism gave all pleasant and agreeable things to the devil. The church should take all legitimately pleasant and agreeable things into its bosom.

"I have long considered the advantages of movies in the church. But it was my experience on the other side that first brought home to me their really great potency. I saw weary, home-sick doughboys grow gay and light-hearted just from watching wholesome, hearty movies. I saw the sick and wounded forget their sufferings as they lay in their cots and followed the episodes of a photo-play. I saw the morale of the men improve under the stimulating influences of these exhibits. The movies over there did a great deal to make our boys happier and better, better men and better fighters.

"There is absolutely no doubt that the proper movies are invaluable as a recreational and educational power. But beyond this, in the right hands, they could be a mighty uplifting and spiritualizing force. And the right hands are the hands of the church.

"MOVIES"

Editor of the Star:

Although one of our "Wants to be Selectman" comes out flat footed against "Movies," and others write long letters against moving pictures shows, I fail to see where moving pictures have ruined the children of Medford, Woburn, Arlington and Stoneham, and instead of hanging around corners and getting into mischief as they do in Winchester, they are better off setting in a play house enjoying themselves.

The children are going to see movies whether we have them in Winchester or not, as they will go to the surrounding towns any way to see them and it would be much better to have them at home, as there would be more chance of their parents going with them here, which would provide the supervision necessary to their morals.

If there would be a moving picture show here there would be less congregating at Manchester Field and the Old Highland School and other places in the town at night among the younger people, and the above places are worse than forty picture shows.

The street cars to surrounding towns are filled every night with people going to them. Why? Because this town is so dead at night that it is a joke. If there were something to keep the people here, the money they spend would be spent here. They will tell you to patronize your home town. How can you when your home town does not want to be patronized; would rather lock up the town at nine o'clock and go to bed.

Let us have a moving picture house in this town and keep the children here where they belong also keep the money here which would be spent here. Wake up Winchester.

CANDIDATE FOR SELECTMAN

Mr. Voter—It is for you to consider and for you to judge all newspaper advertisements, circulars and letters, which are printed at the eleventh hour. When you stop and consider, you will agree with me when I say that no candidate could make a reply for the reason that the last paper printed, to inform the voters, will be Friday, February 27, so you see if it appears in this issue, or if you receive a letter through the mail that it would deny the candidates an opportunity of replying, and for this reason I will take my indorsements from the town reports; so if you will turn to page 19, of this years report, you will find that I have been indorsed by 429 voters at the last town election. Take the town report of 1913 and 1914 and you will find that I served two years on the Finance Committee, you will also find that I served on the Committee for the Post Office site. You can compare my investments as far as taxable property with the other candidates, by turning to this year's town report on page 36. Now when you go to the polls you will find my name on the ballot (for Selectman). Beside my name in small print you will find these words Favors Moving Pictures. The law allows a candidate this right, it is the principle he stands for, and he pledges his honor, if elected, to vote that way. It is one of the powers given to the Selectmen by law, (see Chapter 102, section 172 revised laws), so you see Mr. Voter that the Article that is in the warrant in regard to Moving Pictures will simply be the sense of that meeting. It comes too late, for this reason, the Selectmen for the coming year have already been chosen, the polls close at 4.30 P. M.

Why should one district (the West side) want three members again this year; last year they had three members on the Board of Selectmen; why not play the game by giving the people who live in other districts an opportunity to be represented by their neighbors and friends.

If we make Town By-Laws, from State Laws (see Chapter 130, Acts of 1910) and the term not to exceed three years, is used, can anyone explain why anyone should be serving four years on the Finance Committee. Notwithstanding we have 2,200 voters to pick from to make this committee, we also have a list of trained men, for a reserve force, who have served three years, and retired but who would be eligible again if needed. A vote for FITZGERALD, Favors Moving Pictures, and A Square Deal to all.

PATRICK E. FITZGERALD,
165 Washington Street.

TOWN AFFAIRS

Editor of the Star:

As no political boss or barrister has endorsed me for the Board of Selectmen, I have felt that it would not be amiss to write these few lines. On Monday next the electorate will be called upon to elect a Board of Selectmen to supervise the expenditure of a large sum of the tax payers money. It thus becomes imperative that we should elect the men most eminently fitted to handle our municipal expenditures for the ensuing year. It is impossible for me to conceive of an intelligent electorate having the effrontry to do such a thing as to elect men with great gusto who are forever blowing pretty bubbles in the air. What we need in Winchester is men that will brighten our Corners.

When we entered that terrible catastrophe that was raging across the briny deep where so many of our brave boys now rest in peaceful sleep, there was no distinction manifested. Whether you were a laborer, who helped to support the boys while they were in the trenches by skillfully working at the benches or a baseball manager, who exercises his throat muscles for the edification of the baseball fan, or the lobbyist who wears his shoes down at the heels patroling the corridors of our magnificent state houses throughout this great and glorious country of ours.

Now Mr. Voter listen and read very carefully in between the lines. Without labor no nation can exist for any great length of time. The pilgrims were laborers who pushed back the wilderness like the laborers who pushed back the snow in order that the doctors, policemen and firemen could protect your lives, homes and property. It was I believe twelve humble laborers who were appointed and sent out to teach all Nations. In my opinion labor is prior to and independent of Capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor and could never have existed if labor had not first existed.

Labor is the superior of Capital and deserves much the higher consideration. Now Mr. Editor if my memory serves me correctly it is held that I was the first person to point out to the inhabitants of this town the inadvisability of erecting a bath house on the shore of Wedge pond, thus saving the tax payers between $6,000 and $10,000, like manager C. A. Bingham of Waltham, who saved the city $30,358 in eleven months, reduced the net debt $80,000, lowered school costs while raising wages and spent $25,000 more for highway improvements than in any previous year without increasing the tax rate.

It certainly is obvious that we have been sleeping in the past in regard to our municipal expenditures. I believe that every voter who has the best interest of Winchester at heart will manifest a spryness and present himself at the polls and cast his ballot for the men who he believes are best qualified to represent the home of the ex-Governor of this Commonwealth, the honorable Samuel W. McCall.

In conclusion I can very readily understand Mr. Editor that some of us have no more chance to be elected next Monday than William Jennings Bryan has to be our next president. Why? because there is no room in the inn for any humble laborer; possibly he might have a sixteen to one chance if he had a few pieces of silver, but nevertheless I believe we will have a very congenial efficient board of Selectmen with a parson at the table. I trust that this article will be read by every man who believes in a square deal and remember that if things happen at town meeting that you don't like you can blame yourself for not being present.

I remain very truly yours

CENSUS ENUMERATION

The following letter has been received at this office:

To Editor of the Star:

We would like to correct a statement published in the Star last week and the week previous regarding the completing of the census enumeration for this town.

The districts are not as yet complete and no definite time is fixed for completing the same. The enumerators did not start work here until late because the districts were not divided and the Gov't had a hard time getting men to take the job and even had to go to Medford after three of them.

Because of delay on account of people not being at home when the men called therefore making it necessary to call again; and the weather conditions they were somewhat further delayed.

The enumerators are Gov't officials and should be received as such and not as book agents etc.

All persons should wait until March 1, '20 at least before they notify headquarters. The town will be done thoroughly if it takes until June.

(Signed) Census Enumerators

It is not the custom of the management of the STAR to print communications unless accompanied at least by the name of the writer. In this case, although we have no knowledge as to who the author is, other than the affixed signature, we have departed from our usual custom, in view of the storm of protest aroused over the taking of the census. We presume the letter is from the enumerators as signed.

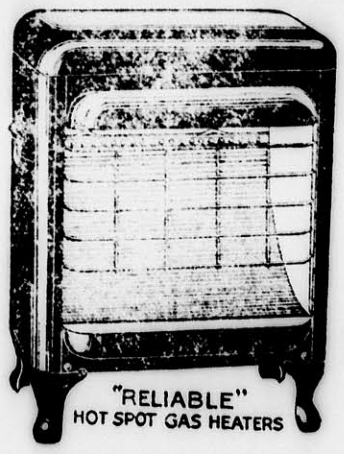

This paper has had no information regarding the taking of the census other than an official communication announcing its completion in this town, which was published in the issue of Feb. 13. No other information of an official nature has been received and if the census is not yet completed, the information in the above letter should not of course be taken as official. On the other hand, we have no doubt but what the enumeration will be made complete before the matter is finished.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Lots of animated thinkers are poor talkers.

Of two evils we are advised to choose the less. But why not reject them both.

Sarcasm is a sword that cuts both ways.

Some folks are kept poor not so much by the money they waste, as the time,

The trouble with the fellow who says that he will tell the truth even if it hurts is that he generally neglects to tell it when it helps.

Oh! For the days of Spring.

Can you swim?

Why not plan a civic sleigh ride for July 4th?

Look out for fire and keep your cellar clean.

It takes the ladies, "God bless 'em," to protect the children.

Will they all be as eager to pay their five dollar poll tax as they are to be enumerated?

That tractor still remains with us, locked up in the police station for safe keeping. Apparently it is all right except it will not "tract."

We note from a Boston paper that a Providence man who died the first of the week in St. Louis of acute nephritis, "was denied admission to every hospital in the city because of fear that he had influenza." Why does St. Louis have hospitals anyway. If any residents of that town came to Winchester they will find our hospital open to them, even if they do have influenza.

An especial effort is being made by public spirited citizens this year to secure a full and representative attendance of our voters at Monday's election and town meeting. Conditions of travel have never equalled this year's in difficulties, and the indolent voter, who has been accustomed to sit at home until someone drove up in an automobile and took him in comfort to the polls, will wait in vain March first. It should not be necessary for those of our citizens who have the welfare of the community at heart to be obliged to thus prod the laggard into a sense of his obligation. Every voter in this town should make it a point to attend the election, no matter what the condition of travel. He would make every endeavor to reach his office under any conditions. The affairs of his town are of more importance even than his own, since they affect his neighbor as well as himself. Let everyone see to it that the monitors have an easy day and do not find a single citizen who lacks civic pride or holds personal indulgence over a public spirit.

NOT IN FAVOR OF MOVING PICTURES

A large special meeting of the Board of Trade was held Wednesday evening in White's hall. The meeting was an open one, called for the discussion of articles in the warrant for the coming town meeting, and there was a large attendance of visitors. President C. H. Symmes presided.

The chief subject of interest was the discussion on the granting of a moving picture license, and in a vote on the expression of opinion the Board went on record as not favoring the "movies." Rev. Howard J. Chidley was present and spoke on the subject in an entertaining manner, and other speakers expressed their opinions, including Mr. W. E. Ramsdell representing Mr. Alden R. Chambers the applicant for the license, as well as Mr. Chambers himself.

The Board went on record as not in favor of the method of financing permanent improvements by revenue instead of by issuing bonds or notes, as recommended by the Finance Committee.

The Board also endorsed the recommendation for a new bridge over the river at Bacon street.

There was a large and varied discussion, the larger part of the evening being devoted to the moving picture question, and the meeting did not close until 11.45 P. M.

DR. ORION KELLEY

Dr. Orion Kelley passed away early Tuesday morning after making a brave fight for over a week against the ravages of influenza-pneumonia.

The death of Dr. Kelley has affected the town in general more than any of our recent deaths. Through his large dental practice and his affiliation with numerous orders and societies, he was widely known by many people, not only of this town but many surrounding places. His death is universally mourned.

About two weeks ago he sustained a severe fall on the icy sidewalk near his home, breaking three ribs. At the time he was suffering from a cold, and it is thought that this accident aggrevated his condition. He was seriously sick last Friday, not being expected to live through the night. His strength and vitality however carried him along until his friends had commenced to hope for a possible recovery.

Dr. Kelley was 44 years of age. He was a native of Yarmouth, N. S., his parents being Robert P. and Elizabeth Flint Kelley. His early life was spent in Boston, where he attended the primary schools. He later attended the schools at Haverhill, where his parents moved, and graduated from the High school of that city. Following this he attended and graduated from the Tufts Dental School.

He came to this town in 1898 and began the practice of dentistry. Eleven years ago he married Miss Ida M. McDonald of Ottawa, who survives him, together with his mother Dr. Elizabeth Flint Kelley of the Hotel Westminister, Boston, and one little daughter, Dorothy, aged eight years.

He was a senior deacon of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., a member of Woburn Royal Arch Chapter, Aberjona Council, Royal Acanum, the Calumet Club and other organizations.

Largely attended funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2.45 from the Congregational Church. There were many beautiful floral offerings from friends and societies, and the organizations were represented at the services by their officers, past presidents of the Calumet Club and officers of the Royal Arcanum and Masons attending in a body. During the service the curtains were drawn by the stores and business houses in the Centre.

The service was conducted by Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the Church, and during the service selections were rendered by the Pilgrim Quartet. The remains were interred in Wildwood cemetery.

HENRY L. CHRISTIE

Mr. Henry L. Christie, aged 49 years, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Dexter P. Blaikie on Everett avenue, Wednesday. He had made his home in this town for the past year.

Mr. Christie was born in Truro, N. S., the son of Henry and Annie K. Christie. He had been identified with the drug trade for many years and was widely known throughout New England.

He leaves a wife and two sons, one residing with his aged mother in New York and the other, a twin brother, residing in Roslindale, besides his sister here.

Funeral services were held from the residense this Friday afternoon, Rev. Howard J. Chidley officiating. The remains will be intered later in Nova Scotia.

EPIPHANY NOTES

An unusual opportunity is offered to the women of the parish and their friends at a special meeting in the Parish House Hall, next Friday afternoon, March 5, at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Wetmore, of Christ School, Arden, North Carolina, will tell of her work among the mountain people. She has a very vital message and a most charming way of presenting it. She has been chosen as one of the special speakers for the Nation-Wide-Campaign, to bring the people of the North in closer touch with their brothers and sisters of the South.

Tea will be served and a very full attendance is hoped for.

COLOSSAL WEALTH

America's richest man, John D. Rockfeller, did not have the nucleus of a fortune left him. He earned the nucleus and saved it for profitable investments. The investing of it inspired in him an irresistable desire to earn and save more.

The surest way of acquiring money for profitable investments is to save something regularly each week. Don't flinch from any self sacrifice necessary to increase your savings.

Put your weekly savings of 50c, $1, $2, $5 or $10 in the Winchester National Bank, where it will earn 4½ per cent. interest. When you make up your mind that you, too, want wealth with every fiber of your being, then you will begin to save systematically.

Money deposited now will go on interest March 1st.

CENSUS OFFICIAL MEET

A meeting was held at the general committee room at the town hall on Saturday forenoon by commission of census for this district, John J. Sullivan of Concord, five of his deputies and the enumerators who took the census in this town. The meeting was not held in connection with any town department and its nature and results have not been announced, but it is presumed that it was in connection with the situation here where whole streets besides dozens of families, have never been enumerated.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

There was a large attendance at the memorial service held Sunday afternoon in the town hall by Winchester Post, American Legion. The service was most impressive, opening at four o'clock with Commander C. N. Eaton presiding. A brief program, including selections by the Symphony Quintet, prayer, poem by Miss Arline Beardsley, solos by Mrs. Helen Edlefson Barr and an address by Rev. Howard J. Chidley, occupied the time devoted to the service.

Rev. Mr. Chidley delivered a most excellent address, thought by many to be quite among the best of his public speeches, and his remarks conveyed the spirit of the memorial home to everyone. The solos by Mrs. Barr were also well rendered and highly appreciated.

At the conclusion of the program the presentation of the French certificates was made to the next of kin of the deceased soldiers and sailors privately by Commander Eaton.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SUPPER

The annual supper of the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church occurred on Tuesday evening, February 24th at 7 o'clock.

The Executive Board of the Society had charge of the supper, and everyone of the large number present conceded it to be one of the best ever served by the society. The members of the Metcalf Union acted as assistants in serving.

After the tables were cleared away a Community sing was in order. It was conducted by Mr. Dane of Boston, the head of the War Camp Community singing.

Miss Fogler of Braintree, formerly connected with this church, rendered several very graceful and artistic solo dances.

A sketch entitled "Six Cups of Chocolate," was very cleverly acted by the Misses Meriel Thomas, Rachel Metcalf, Marion Kendall, Dorothy Reynolds, Carol Dow, and Dorothy Fessenden. It was most entertaining, and great credit is given to Mrs. F. B. Reynolds, who had the evening's entertainment in charge.

Dancing was indulged in later and a delightful evening was enjoyed by all present.

world-famous

MISS MAY CHRISTIE
Whose story, "Love's Gamble," made her the most talked-of woman writer alive today.

WHO IS MAY CHRISTIE?

She is the most popular and highest-paid newspaper fiction writer in England. She is a beautiful woman of Scotch descent, born in China, a Master of Arts of Edinburgh University, and still in her early 20s. All England is wild for her stories. Moving picture firms offer fortunes for picture rights to them. "Love's Gamble" is the most thrilling of them all.

HOLLIS ST. THEATRE

The comedy "Bab" with Helen Hayes and a notable company begins its third week at the Hollis Street Theatre Monday night, and the indications are that this bright play by Edward Childs Carpenter, from the famous sub-deb stories of Mary Roberts Rinehart can remain in Boston for an indefinite period. Miss Hayes herself has been a revelation to theatregoers by reason of her youth, and sprightliness, and her consumate skill, and many ambitious things are predicted for this eighteen year old girl. "Bab" is not a 'little comedy' as some seem to think who have not seen it, but it is in four acts and two scenes, and adolescence is seen only in three characters.

DIED IN CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Mary F. Sullivan, formerly of Winchester, died in Los Angeles, February 20, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Josephine M. Witmer, also formerly of this town. Mrs. Sullivan left Winchester with her daughter four years ago and since then had made her home in Southern California. She had been in good health until a little while before Christmas, when she began to fail and after that never fully regained her health.

She was 83 years old and is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Witmer; two sons, William D. Sullivan of Winchester, and George L. Sullivan of New York, five grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Four of the five grandchildren were until recently also residents of Winchester. They are Mrs. Russell Stiles (Viola M. Sullivan) of Crestwood, N. Y., David J. Witmer, William S. Witmer and Mary F. Witmer, all of Los Angeles.

W. H. S .34—ARLINGTON 18

The Winchester High girls' basket ball team defeated the Arlington High girls' team in the local gymnasium, Feb. 21 by the score of 34 to 18. The game was played with six on a side, which handicapped the Winchester girls who always play with five.

Although a very slow game Miss Dow, and Miss Bennett, did splendid guarding and pass work.

The girls' would appreciate seeing a larger number of people attend these games, which prove to be always interesting.

The lineup:

WINCHESTER	ARLINGTON
Gray, rf	rf, M. Wing
Bartlett (Brine) lf	lf, Wellington
Dow, rg	rg, Cooledge
Bennett, lg	lg, Collins
Roberts, c	c, Cromby
Poland, (Bartlett), sc	sc, Lewis

Goals from floor, Miss Wing 4, Wellington 4. Bartlett 5, Gray 10. Goals from fouls Wing 2, Gray 4. Referee Miss Bowman. Time 2 15 minutes halves.

MISS SYLVIA C. STEARNS

On Wednesday evening, February 25th, 1920, Miss Sylvia C. Stearns for 25 years a dressmaker in this town, quietly passed out into the Great Unknown.

She was the daughter of the late Dr. George W. and Sylvia C. Stearns and was born in the little town of Wellfleet, Cape Cod.

She was a woman of great Christian character and a blessing to all who came in contact with her, and her sweet Christian influence will be missed by a host of friends.

The funeral services will be held at her late residence, 19 Mystic ave., Saturday at 2.30.

EPIPHANY MEN'S CLUB

The Epiphany Men's Club will hold a meeting Friday evening, March 5, at 7.45 in the Parish Hall. The annual election of officers will take place. An unusually interesting speaker has been obtained. Mr. John Quincy Adams, a successful business man of Boston will speak on the subject "The Layman and the Church." Refreshments will be served. Members are invited to bring their friends

A HOLIDAY IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

A party of Winchester people and their friends observed the Washington's Birthday holiday by a trip to New London, N. H., under the leadership of Dr. C. H. Tozier. They left Winchester Friday afternoon in a special parlor car and arrived at Potter Place, N. H., in the evening. A sleigh ride of eight miles through the piled-up drifts over the country roads brought them to their destination at the New London Inn, where hot coffee, warm fires and comfortable rooms were acceptable to the travelers. New London is the second highest town in New Hampshire being about 1500 feet above the sea level, and the majestic, snow-covered mountains were a grand and inspiring sight. Adjoining the hotel is the campus of Colby Academy, a preparatory school of about 125 pupils. On Saturday evening there was a basket ball game which the visitors had the privilege of attending. The younger members of the party organized an impromptu scrub team and played a snappy game against the Academy boys. On Monday, the same teams competed in a game of hockey. On Sunday afternoon there was a sleighride to George's Mills by way of Otter Pond and Lake Sunapee. Winter sports, sleighing, skiing, skating and snow shoeing were much enjoyed by all. The evenings were enlivened by music, games, readings and storytelling. The community singing at meal-time was also a pleasng feature. The party left New London Monday afternoon with special parlor and private cars from Potter Place to Boston. Dinner was served on the train and was an occasion of much sociability and good fellowship. Attached to the train was the private car of the Regional Director, Mr. B. R. Pollock. Upon his invitation, the party inspected the car with much interest. The Wincheser people arrived in town in the early evening, the rest of the party continuing on to Boston. Special thanks were given to Mr and Mrs. Pollock, through whose courtesy unusual privileges were enjoyed. The party of about thirty included residents of Newton, Brookline and the following Winchester people: Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Tozier, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Pollock Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Atwood, Miss Irene Atwood and her guest Miss Natalie Wood of Newburg N. Y., Mr. George C. Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Luce Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Hodge, Miss Mary L. Hodge and Mr. J. Frank Hodge Jr.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

One below zero in the Centre this morning.

Mrs. Joel H. Metcalf is at the Winthrop Hospital.

Arlington electrics have been hit hard by the last storm. There was practically no service yesterday.

Messrs. Elmer P. Randlett and George H. Eaton were drawn Monday night as traverse jurors at the Superior court at Lowell, opening March eighth.

The annual election, to be followed by an entertainment, of the Winchester Machine Gun Association will be held this evening at the Calumet Club.

Winchester school children had another vacation added to their long list of holidays of this winter on Wednesday, when all buildings were closed through the day owing to the severe storm.

Capt. Charles H. Laurier will leave to meet the steamship Canadian cutter "Liberal" on March 21. He has been spending a three months furlough with his family at 115 Washington street.

A letter in another column states that it was so difficult to secure census enumerators from this town that it was necessary to appoint two to work here from Medford. This is denied at our Town Hall, where it is reported that several names of Winchester residents were submitted which received no appointment. It is also reported that the two Medford enumerators received their appointment as far back as last December, before Winchester was asked to furnish names.

"MOVIES"

To the Editor of the Star:

May I add a word to the discussion of the desirability of bringing a moving picture theatre to Winchester. Many thoughtful people have arrived at the conclusion that if we could have a properly censored theatre with every film passed upon before its presentation to the youth of the town, especially if we could have so-called educational films, that the problem would be solved. It is to them I wish to present two statements. First—Educational films are not wanted by the majority of the patrons and the movie would not be patronized if such films were presented. Some years ago the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston tried to educate the taste of the children and make popular the better class film, which should teach some interesting and instructive lesson. After a vigorous campaign of advertising in Boston and the suburbs—the writer was the representative in this town—about fifty people gathered in Tremont Temple on Saturday morning, and eight of them were in the Winchester party! After a second effort, the audience proving no larger, the attempt was abandoned. Inasmuch as the gentleman from Winthrop who proposes to give us moving pictures is probably not making his venture for altruistiic or missionary reasons, he would not long continue to present the kind of films that would even be called educational.

Second—The so-called educational films do not educate, they pervert. They pervert the artistic sense, good taste and good morals. The two films often quoted as being desirable for presentation are Les Miserables and Oliver Twist, and neither one of them should ever be presented to an unformed mind. Dickens was one of the greatest caricaturists that ever wielded pen—but he was a caricaturist, striving to correct the abuse of the workhouse, the debtor's prison and the private school; and to that end he drew exaggerated pictures, harrowing and most painful. And in Oliver Twist he made a child the hero of tragedy—generally conceded an inartistic thing to do—having the boy kidnapped and made the tool of burglars, compelled to enter houses at night and generally serve the purposes of a vicious gang. Now reading this account is a vastly different matter from seeing it— as different as reading that "in a railroad accident ten cars were telescoped and many lives lost," would be from seeing all the ghastly sights that would photograph themselves upon the beholder's mind if he were led to the scene of the tragedy. But what a bonanza Oliver Twist is to the movie man! Every kind of a thrill, and all in the name of education!

Les Miserables is a novel of unsurpassed power and entrancing interest, but one that should not be read by very young people and should never be presented to them in pictures. The very painful and even harrowing scenes that are given us in the book would be likely to leave an ineradicable impression on a youth's mind, and these very harrowing scenes are the ones selected always by the scenario writer. Even Daddy Long Legs, one of the prettiest of plays, presents an utterly false picture of the matron of the orphan asylum. She seems to delight in shaking and slapping a sweet and lovable child with a normal tendency to mischief. One person brought a feeling from that play that there was hardly a decent adult connected with it, except of course, the hero he must be made admirable to make the story come out right. Every thing about these plays is exaggerated and out of proportion and subtly but surely educates the youthful mind to false values and distorted relations From the point of view of teacher and of parent I hope it will not be made more easy, but increasingly difficult, for our young people to attend the movies.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Last Tuesday the White Ribbon Home for the Aged at Ayer, conducted by the Woman's Christian Temperance Unions of Massachusetts, held its first Open House and Donation Day, the date having been chosen with less reference to possible weather conditions than to the fact that it marks the anniversary of the great W. C. T. U. leader's death. Inevitably the attendance of friends from a distance was not great but the house was crowded by those from Ayer and neighboring places who were able to get there, and who came bearing gifts of various kinds. Many others also sent contributions and letters of greeting so that the occasion was a distinct success. Mrs. Harriet E. Sawyer of Clinton, president, said, at the meeting of the corporation at which she presided, that they were quite convinced that the next reception day would not be set in the winter. Several members of the board were unable to get there because of the difficulties of transportation.

An interesting program was carried out in the afternoon, including addresses by the pastors of the local churches, reading by Miss M. E. Learned of Boston, and singing by Mrs. Hawkes and Mrs. Rice of South Acton. Luncheon was served as well as light refreshments in the afternoon and the guests inspected all the details of the Home which has been open since November, only.

Wednesday, February 18, the Middlesex County Convention was held at Newton with a very good attendance considering the transportation troubles. As the secretary and treasurer and several who were down on the program were unfortunately down with the prevailing epidemic, several changes had to be made, but the state president, Mrs. Ella A. Gleason, took the place of the chief speaker, Mrs. A. G. Ropes, state vice-president, and others filled in elsewhere, so the program went off very well, including the little playlet given by the Winchester delegation, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Dilman, Mrs. Butterworth and Mrs. Hamilton, in behalf of the Jubilee campaign. An Armenian, Mr. Frank A. Dagdasarian, delighted the convention with his singing and there were other attractive features. Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton of Winchester, county president, was the presiding officer. For once a meeting did not suffer by postponement as the day in January, first set, proved to be most inclement and Wednesday was a fine day overhead.

SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN

Editor of tthe Winchester Star:

The campaign, on behalf of the Girl Scouts, was highly successful. The town was divided into twelve districts, each in charge of a captain who had several assistant canvassers. The work of the solicitors was greatly handicapped by the deep snow and bad weatther conditions, and also by illness. Nevertheless the work was done faithfully and conscientiously, and, as the result, over 900 individual contributions were made to tthe fund. The contributions range in amount from 9 cents to $50, and with but few exceptions the subscribers were all women. Several of the clubs and societies in Winchester made gifts to the fund.

The total amount collected is $1,165.80, and of this, 25 per cent, or $291.45, is paid to the State Girl Scouts Fund. A portion of this latter amount is paid by the State authorities to the National Girl Scouts authorities for general work of the Girl Scouts. The balance, which is to be turned over to the local Girl Scouts council, is $874.35.

MARCUS B. MAY, Treasurer.

MASQUERADE

The advanced class of Miss Martha E. Langley's dancing pupils held a masquerade in Waterfield hall on Friday afternoon. The affair, postponed from the previous week owing to illness of Miss Langley and the difficulties of transportation, was a brilliant success, and many of the three hundred odd parents and friends who attended thought it the handsomest affair of its kind yet held by Winchester young people. The costumes were remarkable for their beauty and completeness.

Among the young people who were present the following were noted:

Ruth Chamberlain, Spanish girl.
Marion Smith, Norwegian peasant.
Katherine Fitch, Follie.
Phyllis Townsend, Rainbow girl.
Dorothea Ashton, Liberty.
Dorothy Aseltine, Flower girl.
Marjorie Aseltine, Snow fairy.
Charlotte Healy, Joan of Arc.
Margaret Stewart, Cinderella.
Linda Frederwick, Pierrot.
Elinor Berry, Indian girl.

COMMENDATION FOR MR. CLARK

Editor Star:

Considerable criticism, both direct and indirect, has been made of one of our town officials, namely, Mr. T. P. Clarke, Superintendent of Streets.

It is a well known fact that there are people in this world of ours who are ever ready to find rault, never commending, even though the thing which has been accomplished has been beneficial to them or to the public at large.

Previous to the heavy and almost continuous snowfall this month, as stated by Mr. Clarke in his report to the Selectmen, but one complaint had been received relative to his work, and this unnecessary. Before one criticises, it would be well to learn the facts in the matter at issue, weigh them, and if found lacking, make criticisms directly to the party responsible who will undoubtedly be able to give sufficient reason for his words or works or provide the necessary remedy.

Investigation of conditions has proved that Mr. Clarke has been greatly handicapped owing to the inability to procure sufficient help. It has been necessary that the men in his employ work several hours overtime nearly every day for the past three weeks. The men and horses are tired out under the heavy strain placed upon them, and if their work has appeared to "drag," why should the men or the head of the department be criticised? As previously stated, one should get the facts.

The question has been asked through The STAR where Mr. Clarke has been during this period. Where would one expect to find the manager of a corporation or any official of any concern whether it be private or public? Should it be necessary that he follow his foremen or his assistants around his plant, business house or township? Those who know Mr. Clarke are fully aware of the fact that he has been "on the job" both early and late, and that his work has not been done wholly by telephone from his office nor his home.

In view of these facts, I, and I voice the opinions of many of our townspeople, take this opportunity to state that the work done by Mr. Clarke and his department should receive just acknowledgment and highest commendation.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Among the recent activities at the High School which were of special inerest may be noted the following:

Scenes from the Odyssey were dramatized by members of the college division of the Freshman Girls and presented in the assembly hall.

A Lincoln program was prepared by the American History pupils and given before the school on February 12. The program was in charge of the President of the Student Council.

Miss Elizabeth Fisher, teacher of history in the Lowell Normal School spoke before the girls of the Junior and the Senior classes with reference to preparation for teaching and the advantages offered by the school she represented.

February 20, Mr. Chidley gave a forceful, interesting and most helpful address before the school on "Washington's Message to the people of today."

Mr. Arthur R. Kelman is teaching Bookkeeping and Community Civics. Mr. Kelman formerly taught at Colby Academy.

THE FORTNIGTHLY NOTES

As was announced at the last meeting of The Fortnightly, the program of the next regular meeting, which will occur March 8, will not be presented as announced in the Year Book. A number of reasons have conspired to make it seem advisable to the Program Committee not to attempt to give a pageant at that time. The Committee, however, feels assured that in presenting "Old Tales Retold" it will give the Club a program quite as pleasing as the pageant would have been. The entertainment consists of familiar old stories, charmingly told and illustrated by tableaux in which members of the Club are grouped to represent pictures of well known artists, including those of Maxfield Parrish, Edmund Dulac, Jessie Willcox Smith, and Arthur Rackam. In addition to this there will be an exhibition of toe dancing.

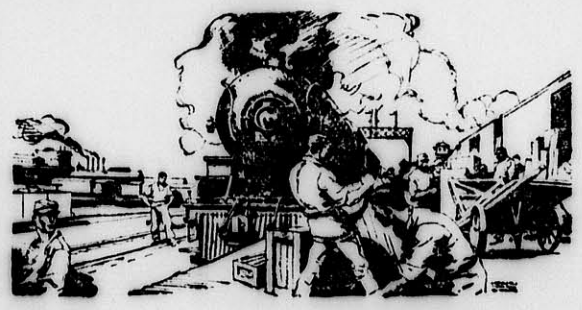

Baseball's Beginning.

Abner Doubleday of Cooperstown, N. Y., in 1839, was the first to prepare a diagram of the baseball diamond. The Knickerbocker club, founded in New York city in 1845, is said to have been the first baseball organization.

They couldn't be built now for twice $71,000

When the talk turns from politics to railroads, and the traveler with the cocksure air breaks in with, "There's an awful lot of 'water' in the railroads," here are some hard-pan facts to give him:

American railroads have cost $80,900 a mile—roadbed, structures, stations, yards, terminals, freight and passenger trains—everything from the great city terminals to the last spike.

A good concrete-and-asphalt highway costs $36,000 a mile—just a bare road, not counting the cost of culverts, bridges, etc.

Our railroads couldn't be duplicated today for $150,000 a mile.

They are capitalized for only $71,000 a mile—much less than their actual value. Seventy-one thousand dollars today will buy one locomotive.

English railways are capitalized at $274,000 a mile; the French at $155,000; German $132,000; even in Canada (still in pioneer development) they are capitalized at $67,000 a mile. The average for all foreign countries is $100,000.

Low capitalization and high operating efficiency have enabled American Railroads to pay the highest wages while charging the lowest rates.

MORTGAGEES' SALE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Isabelle M. Carter to Frank L. Ripley and Freeland E. Hovey, dated November 1, 1917, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, book 4173, page 238, for a breach of the condition contained in said mortgage deed, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction upon the premises on SATURDAY, the sixth day of March, A. D. 1920, at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:

The land in Winchester, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, shown as lot four (4) on a plan entitled "Plan of land on Sheffield West, Winchester, Mass., belonging to F. L. Ripley and F. E. Hovey dated May, 1909 W. J. Dotten, Engineer" recorded with said Deeds, book of plans 179, plan 6.

Said tract of land contains ten thousand, seven hundred and seventy-five (10,775) square feet and is bounded:

Easterly by said Sheffield West, eighty and 25-100 (80.25) feet;

Northeasterly by other land of said Ripley and Hovey, one hundred twenty-four and 70-100 (124.70) feet;

Northwesterly by other land of said Ripley and Hovey, eighty-three (83) feet, and

Southerly by lands now or formerly of Archer D. Friend and shown as lot three (3) on said plan, one hundred thirty-eight and 95-100 (138.95) feet;

Together with the right to pass and re-pass with teams or otherwise from the rear of said lot four (4) over other land of said Ripley and Hovey to and upon a private way fifteen (15) feet wide which lies along the Easterly bank of the brook and on land adjoining the Westerly line of land of Blaikie to Everett Avenue.

Said lot is subject to the following restrictions, to wit:

REPUBLIC OF IRELAND LOAN

With the appointment of Henry M. Longfield as local chairman, everything is at present in readiness in Winchester for the great Drive on behalf of the Republic of Ireland Loan, which is to be conducted in this Town beginning Sunday, Feb. 29th.

The Hon. Eamon de Valera, President of the Republic of Ireland, has appointed John F. Harrigan of Worcester, as his special representative to supervise the Drive in Massachusetts. Mr. Harrigan is one of Worcester's leading business men, and last September was elected State President of the Friends of Irish Freedom, and associate organizations.

Upon him devolved the selection of a chairman for each of the cities and towns in Massachusetts. His knowledge of men and conditions fitted him admirably for this duty, and under his leadership, there is every indication that the Drive in this State will be an unparalled success.

In a statement issued today Mr. Harrigan said: "President de Valera is at present unique among the leaders of the world. No other man stands more surely for human freedom. He is in this country presenting the clams of the Republic of Ireland to recognition as a free nation among the nations of the earth. He is here also seeking aid from the people of America to maintain in its struggle to keep alive and to function while the matter of recognition is pending. He is not here to beg. He is here to ask the lovers of liberty to show that love in a substantial way by subscribing to the certificates which have been issued in the name of the Irish Republic.

"The Irish Republic is not a dream. Today it is a fact. It represents the will of a great majority of the Irish people at home reinforced by the support of the Irish people all around the world. There is not an Irishman or woman anywhere in the world today who is not standing a little straighter because of the wonderful struggle of the Republic of Ireland, menaced as it is by all the machinery of oppression. Even those who are several generations removed from the old land, are proud today as never before to be descended from a country which has displayed such unity, such stability of purpose, such determination that its cause shall prevail.

THE COLLECTION of telephone bills that remain unpaid after the reasonable specified date is—

WASTEFUL — Because it consumes in work that should be unnecessary, time, effort and expense that might be better devoted to necessary work.

EXTRAVAGANT — Because it lavishes upon work that should be unnecessary, the time, the effort, the expense, that might otherwise be concentrated on the important business of keeping telephone service up to standards.

TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS can make a large part of this collection work unnecessary, just by paying their telephone bills within a reasonable time.

After a day of drizzle another snow storm, footing nearly seven inches, opened up Wednesday morning early. With the great volume of snow already on the ground, this storm put everything travelling out of commission in short order. The trains were badly tied up during the forenoon and the electrics while they were able to keep the two lines open, ran only spasmodically. The storm cleared up about noon, fortunately for everyone, leaving a still greater accumulation of snow to obstruct traffic and business. Many people predict that the coming spring will see the greatest freshets in this section we have ever had.

Two young girls were investigated this week by truant officer Nathaniel M. Nichols and found to be veritable Bolshevists so far as the public ownership of property is concerned. These children, about 8 and 9 years of age, were found to have stolen articles from many stores in Winchester and Woburn, besides from their school building. Owing to their tender years, their case is under advisement. They were caught stealing at the STAR office early in the month but this fact did not stop the practice.

VOL XXXIX. NO. 37 WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY MARCH 5 1920 PRICE FIVE CENTS

WILLIAM PARKMAN TEMPLE SITE SELECTED

William Parkman Lodge has authorized the trustees of the Building Fund to secure about 20,000 sq. ft. of the Pattee estate at the corner of Church and School streets as shown by the above sketch for a site for the proposed Masonic Temple.

It is expected that the rest of the lot which as a whole includes the triangle bounded by Church, School and Dix streets, will be used by the Trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Society for a church and a parsonage.

In order to purchase this site it is necessary that the subscribers to the Masonic building fund shall within a few weeks pay in about $10,000. A substantial part of this amount is already pledged and a part has been paid. The treasurer, Mr. Vincent Farnsworth, is in California for a few weeks, and some payments have been made to the Chairman, Mr. George S. Littlefield. Any of the Trustees will receive the subscriptions.

The present option on the site expires on March 22, though it probably can be extended. It is however, desirable that the funds be available before that date.

The full list of trustees is as follows:

George S. Littlefield
Jere A. Downs
Vincent Farnsworth
Alfred H. Marchant
George E. Willey
William M. Belcher
Daniel B. Badger
Robert F. Guild
William M. Little

It is reported that the intention of the Methodist Society is to alter the present brick residence on the estate and use it as a church edifice. This is admirably adapted for this purpose and the plans as tentatively set forth show a most attractive exterior and interior. The present brick stable will be also redesigned and altered, so that it can be used as a parsonage.

Altogether the development of this property promises to be one of the finest additions to Winchester's already enviable collection of public and semi-public buildings.

TOWN MEETING

Movies Rejected and New Sidewalks To Be Built

The annual town meeting of 1920 opened on Monday, and aside from the interest in the election during the day, called out the biggest crowd in the evening to be seen for a number of years. Not only were the voters themselves in such evidence; the ladies were equally interested, and before 7.45 both galleries were filled to their capacity and the SRO sign hung out by the two genial police officers who had hard work convincing the later attendance that the law prescribed a limit, which had already been reached in that part of the hall. Many who desired to watch proceedings from the balconies were thus disappointed. On the floor of the hall many new faces were noted among the large audience, and this attendance too, was large, overflowing into the small hall. Over 900 people were present.

The chief interest centered in the anticipated argument over the grant of a moving picture license. This was brought up early in the evening, and as had been somewhat anticipated, was settled, with but one speech, Mr. Tuck favoring the grant, by an overwhelming vote against. The motion that the Selectmen be instructed not to grant the license was offered by Mr. George E. Willey, and aside from the remarks by Mr. Tuck there was no discussion whatever. Mr. Tuck doubted the vote by acclamation and asked for a count, but his desire was not shared by the required number of voters and no count was taken.

The real point of the evening's session centered around the question of new sidewalks, and the meeting, when it adjourned, had only just reached that part of the budget. This subject was first brought up in questioning the decision of the Finance Committee in paying for the Highways and Bridges appropriation from revenue instead of by a bond issue. From this beginning the discussion of whether the Town should enter into a more extensive sidewalk program this year came up, and after a discussion which took the larger part of the evening, a bond issue of $20,000 was voted for this purpose, the meeting then adjourning.

The meeting was a little late in opening, due to the large attendance, Moderator Ives waiting until all of the late-comers had found seats. The meeting opened with the Moderator reading the results of the election held during the day, and while there was no applause, there appeared to be no dissatisfaction over the results.

Following this the newly elected officers were sworn in, including Assessor George H. Carter, who required a separate oath.

Article 2. The report of the town officers and Finance Committee was accepted as printed.

Article 3. It was voted to raise the sum of $54,000 by revenue to meet the payment of bonds and notes becoming due in the current year.

Article 6. This article was taken up on motion of the Treasurer, who was duly authorized to borrow money in anticipation of revenue.

Article 17. This article was taken up by request of Mr. George E. Willey, who offered a motion that the Selectmen be instructed not to grant a license for moving pictures. Mr. Al-

LECTURE MARCH 16th

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, announces a free public lecture on Christian Science by John C. Lathrop, C. S. B., of Brookline, member of the board of lectureship of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, to be given in the Winchester town hall on the evening of Tuesday, March 16th, at eight o'clock.

Professor Albert C. Knudson

MEN'S CLASS, FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Begins Sunday Morning

Under the auspices of the Men's Club, of the First Congregational Church, Professor Albert C. Knudson, of the Boston School of Theology, has been engaged to lead a series of Sunday morning discussions on "Old Testament Prophecy and Present-Day Problems." Professor Knudson is thoroughly acquainted with his field and is a young man of progressive tendencies and practical outlook. He will make these talks of vital interest to the average man. The class will meet at the close of Morning Worship, in the church auditorium and a general invitation is extended to all who are interested. The dates and subjects are as follows:

March 7. "What The World Owes to the Hebrew Prophets."
March 14. "Amos and the Problem of Social Justice."
March 21. "Socialism and Religion."
March 28. "Hosen and the Problem of Redemption."
April 11. "Isaiah and the Problem of World Peace."
April 18. "Jeremiah and the Question of Personal Religion."
April 25. "Ezekiel and the Question of Organized Religion."
May 2. "Deutero-Isaiah and the Question of a World Religion."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

At the assembly of Feb. 27 Mrs. Butler Wilson of Boston held the attention of the school for a half hour as she traced the loyalty and bravery of the Negro in the wars waged by the United States from the Revolution through the last world war.

The War Department has recently been conducting an essay contest in the public schools throughout the country. Representatives from the four classes entered this contest and the judges decided that the paper of Ruth Farnham of the Senior Class was the best one submitted to them. Her essay has been sent to the recruiting officer of this district who will enter it in further competition with essays sent from other schools in this state.

Harriett Eustis of the Junior Class leads the school in scholarship for the half year just closed.

Programs are being prepared by two English classes for presentation before the school at later assemblies.

REV. CLIFTON H. WALCOTT ACCEPTS BAPTIST PASTORATE

To the Members of the First Baptist Church, Winchester, Massachusetts.

The hearty and unanimous call to become the pastor of the First Baptist Church, Winchester, has been received by me through the kindness of your committee. It has been carefully and prayerfully considered, and under the same conviction in which it was tendered, the leading of the Spirit of God, I accept this call in the faith that God will bless this union of pastor and people.

Many considerations have entered into my decision, in fact circumstances for several months have seemed to conspire to make this decision inevitable. A divine Providence, I believe, is in it all; I accept it gladly as God's will.

The challenge of a big constructive task draws me toward you. The most earnest Christian zeal tempered with Christian love and backed by the unmeasured consecration of both pastor and people, will be required to achieve the task, as we labor together with God. Great things are afoot in the church world today, and it is a joy to have a part in them.

It is my purpose to close my work in Sharon on Easter Sunday, and to begin my ministry with you on Sunday, April 11th. To the new fellowships in the service of our common Lord and Saviour I shall look forward prayerfully and joyfully.

Sincerely yours
CLIFTON H. WALCOTT

WARNING

The attention of the business men and storekeepers in the centre of the town and in sections in low land adjacent to the ponds and streets is called to the probability of floods which are likely to occur in the near future because of the abnormal quantity of snow and ice on the ground.

You are urged as a matter of precaution and prudence to take such measures as seem best to you to protect from damage by this anticipated flood and high water your goods and merchandise which may be stored in your basements and cellars.

This warning is given in the hope that none of our local merchants will be put to loss on account of conditions for which none of us are responsible.

Don't be caught napping.

GALUSHA—LUTHER WEDDING

At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Rufus Bishop Galusha of 5325 Eleventh avenue, Los Angeles, Miss Ora Wilson Galusha, formerly of this town, and Dr. Clarence Vedder Luther of Portland were married last week by Prof. D. F. Estes of Colgate University assisted by Dr. E. C. Franklin of Los Angeles. The house was decorated with an abundance of acacia blossoms and palms. The Galusha family has not been long located in Los Angeles, but in Boston and elsewhere in New England the bride and her family are well known. Dr. Luther is a member of the Multnomah, Mazama and Laurelhurst clubs and of the Psi Omega Fraternity. He is a Thirty-second Degree Mason and a Shriner. Prof. Estes, who is an uncle of the bride, officiated at the marriage of her parents in Vermont.

TOWN ELECTION

Large Vote Results in Near Turn to License

The outstanding feature of the annual town election of Monday was the large vote given to the license for the sale of intoxicating liquors. It is thought that had the entire number of voters who attended the polls have voted on this question the town might have gone to the wet column for the first time in its history. The vote stood 461 yes to 581 no, with 273 blanks.

The total vote amounted to 1315 men and 22 women. Last year's vote was 1266 men and 107 women, notwithstanding the fine weather we had in 1919.

As a result of the election the following Selectmen were elected:

James W. Blackham
George M. Byrne
Joseph A. Dolben
Arthur A. Kidder
William L. Parsons

The contest included nine names, but the five elected carried a good majority. Mr. Edward P. McKenzie was the sixth man on the ballot, but he was quite a distance down in the number of votes. Former chairman Arthur A. Kidder received the largest vote—1004. He was the only candidate to top the thousand mark and that a Selectman, running for a contested office, should receive the largest vote is unusual, testifying to Mr. Kidder's popularity.

The morning vote was very heavy, the corps of monitors placed about town to see that no one got away until he had visited the polls evidently attended to their duties in a very efficient manner. After the noon hour the vote was very small and straggling, and the result was announced within a short time after the closing of the polls.

The election officers handled the work in our usual efficient manner and were served the usual lunch at noon.

The result of the election was as follows:

VESPER SERVICE 4 P. M. SUNDAY

At First Congregation Church

At four o'clock on Sunday afternoon, there will be a Vesper Service, at the First Congregational Church, which should attract a large audience Rev. Frank Oliver Hall, D. D., will give the address. Subject: "If I forget Thee, O America." Those who heard Dr. Hall when he spoke from the same pulpit at a morning service some weeks ago will be glad to avail themselves of a second opportunity to do so. The music will consist of soprano solos and violin selections, rendered by Miss Mary Lester and Miss Joyce Bigelow, of Boston. Miss Lester has a voice of rare quality, fresh, rich and compelling, while Miss Bigelow is a violinist of marked ability, who plays with unusual feeling and expression. Both young artists have studied under the best teachers and win acclaim and enthusiastic applause from each audience before whom they appear. The public is most cordially invited to attend this service.

REV. JOEL H. METCALF RESIGNS

Will Go With Unitarian Commission To Transylvania

Announcement is made this week of the resignation of Rev. Joel Hastings Metcalf, pastor of the Unitarian Church. His resignation will take effect September first. Mr. Metcalf has been one of the most popular ministers this town has had. His friends number every man, woman and child in Winchester who is acquainted with him, besides others who know him through his work and accomplishments. He was one of the first to offer his services in the Great War and he served over seas with bravery and efficiency.

Mr. Metcalf has been selected as one of a commission of three to carry physical aid and moral encouragement to Unitarian Churches in Transylvania. He will sail on the S. S. Baltic from New York on Saturday, March 13. The trip to Transylvania will take the Commission through England, France Switzerland, Italy Jugo-Slavia and Roumania. Mrs. Metcalf and Miss Rachel Metcalf will

REPUBLICAN LEAGUE DINNER, THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1920

There are going to be so many good things take place on this evening that we are not going to tell you about them all at once but break the news gradually.

Albert Edward Brown, the Celebrated Baritone, known to many of us, assisted by an orchestra of eight pieces, will conduct the Community Singing, and the rafters of the Town Hall should ring on this evening as they never have before.

The dinner, yes, it is going to be a real one. Below we give you the menu, it speaks for itself, and you can be prepared to do same justice.

Menu

Crape Fruit Cocktail
Chicken Soup Wafers
Rolls & Butter Queen Olives
Baked Chicken Halibut, Hollandaise Sauce
Parisienne Potatoes
Roast Sirloin of Beef, Jardiniere Sauce
Mashed Potatoes Green Peas
Banana Fritters Raspberry Sauce
Fresh Shrimp Salad
Frozen Pudding, Harlequin Ice Cream
Raspberry Bombs, Country Club Ice Cream
Assorted Fancy Cake
Macaroons Kisses Lady Fingers
Coffee

Next week we will give you the names of the Orators for the occasion, but you can rest assured they will be good ones.

One little tip:—Just as we expected, the tickets are going like Hot Cakes. If you have not secured yours take our advice and do so at once. Owing to the capacity of the Town Hall, the number is limited to 450, and they will all be gone long before the 18th of the month. A committee of sixty have the tickets for sale; but, if you have not seen any of them yet, call up either Mr. Wallace F. Flanders, or Mr. Willard T. Carleton and secure your reservations.

VOTE TO BE RECOUNTED

Yesterday afternoon a petition for a recount of the town vote cast Monday was filed by Whitfield L. Tuck and thirteen others. Mr. Tuck claims he received the election as a third Constable of the Town. The petition reads in part: "We have reasons to believe that the records made by the election officers of the Town of Winchester are not complete, but they are erroneous; that there were certain votes that should have been counted for Whitfield L. Tuck for the office of Constable that were not so counted for him and must have been counted for one or both of the other two candidates, William R. McIntosh and Edward F. Maguire, and that the recount will effect and make clear the election of Whitfield L. Tuck to the office of Consable," etc.

The petition is signed as follows:

Whitfield L. Tuck
John C. Leonard
Edward Callahan
Stephen T. Allison
Patrick C. McGourty
Patrick Murphy
Michael Dolan
Michael J. Flinn
Patrick E. Fitzgerald
Andrew J. Flaherty
Jeremiah O'Connell

SUNDAY MASS MEETING

The mass meeting at the First Congregational Church, held on Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the State Committee on Censorship for Moving Pictures was well attended. The primary interest here in the matter was through the question of the granting of a license for movie shows in Winchester, but the meeting was called for the purpose of enlightening citizens in the moving picture censorship as is now being fought out in the State. Mrs. Ralph M. Kirtland of Malden, chairman of the Malden Board of Censors, was the speaker, and she gave a very interesting talk. She was followed by Dr. Frank Oliver Hall, for a considerable time a member of the National Board of Review. Dr. Hall spoke at length and presented an interesting side of the situation. He in turn was followed by Rev. Howard J. Chidley. Mr. Chidley took issue with Dr. Hall, and spoke from his experience in the past and what it is desired to accomplish at this time. His talk was quite satisfactory to his hearers.

Zero weather was again experienced this week, the themometer in the centre registering 0 Tuesday morning.

The Whitney Machine Co. had a large shipment of its machines in the S. S. Bohemian, wrecked near Halifax Monday night.

YOUR TOWN AND MINE

The following little play written by Miss M. J. Davis, a teacher in the Wadleigh school was presented by some of her pupils at the meeting of the Equal Suffrage League in Assembly hall on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Davis is doing genuine service toward good town government in this awakening the interest and pride of boys and girls in their own town. The children were very natural in their characters and presented Town Government in a most intelligent way.

There are five short scenes, showing how Tony, an Italian gardener, learns about his town through the kindness of Mr. Smith his employer. Mr. Smith and Tony appear in the first scene. This is just outside Mr. Smith's house. The second scene is at the Town Hall, where Tony learns about the work of some of the officials there. The third and fourth are on the street where they meet a member of the Board of Health, a Public Health nurse, a member of the School Board, the Fire Chief and the Chief of Police. After a trip around town Mr. Smith and Tony return to Mr. Smith's home and just outside the house are joined by Mr. Smith's son Tom, and Tony's son Johnny. Here is shown something of the patriotic work they are both getting in school.

The following took part:

Mr. Smith, Daniel Kelley, Jr.
Tony Russo, Howard Pecker
Chairman of Selectmen, Richard Clark
Four other Selectmen, Hall Gamage, Malcolm Jones, Sidney Peer, Fred Cole
Supt. of Streets Robert Larrabee
Inspector of Buildings, Clarence O'Donnell
Member of Board of Health Richard Cloutman
Public Health Nurse, Dorothea Ashton
Member of School Board, Harry Hegel
Fire Chief Harold De Courcey
Chief of Police, Norman Harrold
Conductor for trip around town, Bruce Bond
Tom Smith, Norman Ash
Johnny Russo, Henry Small
Mary Smith, Mary Whittington
Her three friends, Marion Twombly, Eleanor Hollins Charlotte Healey.
Pianist, Ruth Chamberlain
Violinist, Kendall North
Clarinet, Richard Cloutman

Following the play, Mrs. George Root spoke briefly, but very much to the point on the subject of "Our Foreign Born Neighbors." She related three incidents which proved conclusively that the work which is being done for those who have come from foreign shores is bearing fruit in loyalty and patriotic service to an adopted country.

LADIES' FRIENDLY LUNCHEON

The Ladies' Friendly Society will have a luncheon on Tuesday March 9, at 1 P. M. Mrs. Wallace Flanders and Mrs. F. C. Alexander will have charge of the luncheon. At the meeting, following the luncheon, at 2.30 Rev. A. C. Dieffenbach, Editor of the "Christian Register" will speak on "Spiritual Law and Personal Efficiency." Miss Gertrude Felber will render violin solos.

NO FALSE STATEMENT BY MR. CRAUGHWELL

As I believe every laborer who is a citizen of this Country and a resident of Winchester has a fundamental privilege to exercise, namely to participate in the activities of his home town not for his own individual selfishness to wear a crown, but to present facts to the tax payers as he sees them. This I have endeavored to do in the past and what has been the result? I have been dogmatically criticized and humiliated.

I assure you Mr. Editor that it certainly is embarrassing to have folks make false statements in order that you may be injured, so to speak, at the polls. Last week a few propogandists asserted that I said certain things about a town official. The gentlemen investigated and informed me that the statements were unfounded; but the polls were closed when the error was discovered.

Now Mr. Editor any statement that I ever made in regard to municipal affairs was on the floor of the town hall, or through the columns of the STAR with my signature at the bottom of my article.

In conclusion for the benefit of some folks, I intend to sever my relations as a laborer for the town, a politician and a correspondent to your valuable paper, by being conspicuous by my absence at town meetings and reading other folks' articles instead of having them read mine.

I remain very truly yours,
PATRICK H. CRAUGHWELL

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. DEATH OF MRS. JULIA H. PLUMMER

Word was received this week of the death on Feb. 26th at Berkeley, Cal. of Mrs. Plummer. She was the widow of the late David Plummer and resided in Winchester from 1884 to 1906. Her death was caused by bronchial pneumonia after an illness of a week.

Mrs. Plummer was a native of Montpelier, Vt., being the daughter of Paul nd Clarissa (Hamlin) Hathaway. When a resident of this town she attended the First Congregational Church and was a member of the Western Missionary Society and also of The Fortnightly.

She leaves two sons, Harold Hathaway Plummer and Walter Irving Plummer, and one daughter, Mabel Davis Plummer.

MISS JENNIE E. SKINNER DEAD

Miss Jennie E. Skinner, for 26 years a public school teacher in the city of Woburn and for a number of years a well known resident of this town, died Monday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. John K. Murdock, 10 Francis street, Woburn.

Miss Skinner was born in Pictou, N. S. October 28, 1839, daughter of Capt. Donald and Annabelle (Lorraine) Skinner. Her father, who was a ship captain, was lost at sea while trying to save a group of shipwrecked Irish immigrants.

Miss Skinner began her life work in her native country. Going to Woburn, she was enrolled as a teacher in 1873 and taught continuously until 1899, when failing health compelled retirement. She leaves another sister, Mrs. Margaret McKay of Pictou, N. S. and a brother, James Skinner of Woburn.

She was closely identified with woman suffrage, the W. C. T. U. and the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and was a member of the Woburn Woman's Club and the First Congregational Church. Funeral services were held at 10 Francis street Woburn, Wednesday at 2.30 P. M.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Tuesday and Wednesday, March 16 and 17, there will be held at the W. C. T. U. headquarters, 541 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, a sale for the benefit of the Jubilee fund. In order to complete the articles begun at the last meeting in preparation for this sale, the local Union has decided to hold its March meeting Friday, March 12, at the home of Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton, 30 Vine street. This will be an all-day meeting and members are urged to come early in order to accomplish all the work planned. It will be remembered that the February meeting was held on one of the worst days of this inclement season, and therefore but a small portion of the articles to be sent were completed. A box luncheon will be the order of the day and a brief business session at 3 o'clock, at which will be reports from the County Convention held February 18.

Members of the Union are rejoicing that Winchester was not included in the list of towns that went "wet" at town meeting Monday night. No small share of the credit of this is due to the energetic work of the president of the local union and her helpers.

PROPERTY VALUES HAVE INCREASED—Have You Increased Your Insurance?

In five years, building cost has increased about 65 per cent; furniture cost, about 127 per cent, and clothing cost, about 129 per cent. Consequently, there has been a great increase in the values covered by the usual policy on dwelling houses and their contents.

If you were burned out today, would your loss draft from the insurance company pay its rightful share of the present cost of replacing your property?

If you have not enough insurance, permit us to consider with you what amount you should carry.

Sheets and Pillow Slips

A FEW MORE DON'TS

Help your sheets & pillow slips

Don't allow your sheets to come in contact with the bed springs. (Cover the frame with some washable cloth. Sheets are then protected from sharp metal corners and rust).

Don't use sheets for wrapping soiled laundry. (They are too delicate to use as containers).

Don't use pillow slips for laundry bags. (It strains the material, and often times makes holes and slits in the fabrics).

join Mr. Metcalf in France during the summer. Rev. Sydney B. Snow, another member of the Commission, is a former Winchester man, and he too, served overseas.

Mr. Metcalf's letter of resignation to his church is as follows:

Winchester Mass.,
February 27, 1920

To the Members of the Winchester Unitarian Society:
Dear Friends:

I have been elected as one of a Commission of three to carry physical aid and moral encouragement to our Unitarian Churches in Transylvania.

For over 400 years these co-religionists of ours have held aloft the torch of religious liberty and in spite of countless persecutions have maintained their existence only again to suffer for their faith in a rational religion and be in danger of extinction.

This call to service, coming as it does entirely unexpected and unsolicited, appeals to me as a work which I should like to do and am in some respects specially fitted to do.

I had hoped to complete my ten years of service with you which I have always felt is as long as is good for a parish in our modern life. This call to foreign service will make it impossible for me to do this. The health of my wife also is such as to demand a number of months of complete freedom from the cares of a parish which when she was well has always been her pleasure.

It seems best therefore, that our relation as pastor and people should be severed. After consulting with the Standing Committe I have decided to present my resignation to take effect September 1st, 1920.

Permit me to thank you all from the bottom of my heart for your loyal support through over nine years of service during which so far at least as your minister has known, there has been only unnumbered kindnesses from you all.

With best wishes for your individual future and prayers for your collective endeavor to further the cause of pure Christianity in the world, I am,

Very cordially yours,
Rev. J. H. Metcalf, Ph. D.

The appointment of Mt. Metcalf to the relief commission to Transylvania is contained in the following letter taken from the Unitarian Church Calendar of this month:

American Unitarian Association
February 13, 1920

My dear Mr. Metcalf:

In behalf of the Commission on Hungarian Relief I have the pleasure of inviting you to be one of the representatives of the Unitarian churches to visit Transylvania and to bring material and spiritual aid to our fellow-Unitarians in that distressed land. It is our hope that our representatives can sail early in March and it is our expectation that they will be able to reach America, on the return voyage, by the first of July. Similar invitations are going to Rev. Sydney B. Snow and to Mr. Edward Witte, and it is our intention to be guided by the investigations and reports of this advanced party in regard to sending additional representatives, and particularly in sending out experienced women helpers.

We expect to be responsible for your equipment and traveling expenses and to care for the supply of your pulpit during your absence.

I am writing to Mr. Robert Metcalf, the chairman of your Parish Committee, asking the Committee to grant you leave of absence to undertake this service and expressing our readiness to adopt any financial arrangement in regard to your salary which will be acceptable to him and his associates.

I greatly hope it will be possible for you to accept this commission and to go to the relief of our harassed fellow-Unitarians in a forgotten corner of Europe.

Cordially Yours,
SAMUEL A. ELIOT

A special service will be held in King's Chapel on Sunday afternoon, March 7, at half past three o'clock, to send solemn greetings to the distressed ancient Unitarian churches in Trasylvania, and to commission a Unit to start immediately to relieve their need. The Unit will consist of Rev. Sydney B. Snow of King's Chapel, Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, of the Winchester Unitarian Society, and Mr. Edward B. Witte, a member of the First Unitarian Church of Buffalo, New York.

The speakers will be the Rev. William H. Drummond of London, England, who recently went to Transylvania on behalf of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association and the American Unitarian Association, being the first Englishman to enter this part of Hungary since 1914: and the Rev. Samuel A. Elliot D. D., president of the American Unitarian Associationn. The Rev. Howard N. Brown, D. D., of King's Chapel, will conduct the devotional service, assisted by the Rev. Eugene R. Shippen of the Second Church, Boston. The chorus choir of men's voices under the leadership of Dr. Richard C. Cabot will assist in the worship. A collection will be taken for the Hungarian relief.

Admission until 3.15 will be exclusively by card to be presented at the School Street entrance to King's Chapel. After 3.15 the Tremont St. doors will be opened to the Public.

The Unitarians in Transylvania

Transylvania is a beautiful mountain region in what was the eastern part of Hungary. Under the Treaty of Peace this land has been detached from Hungary and brought under Roumanian rule. In Transylvania there has existed for nearly four hundred years a vigorous body of Unitarian churches. Until interrupted by the war, American Unitarians had long enjoyed happy fraternal relationships with the people of these churches. Their representatives have visited the United States and have spoken in a number of our churches. Many American Unitarians have visited Transylvania and have been hospitably received by the Unitarians there. The Unitarians of Great Britain have had the same friendly relations with the Unitarians of Hungary, and several of the Hungarian Unitarian Ministers have been educated in English colleges.

The name "Unitarian" was first used in Transylvania. The first great leader was Francis David, a contemporary of Martin Luther. When the Protestants cast off the authority of the Roman Church, men asked what authority should take its place. Luther fixed upon orthodox Protestantism the authority of the Bible. But Francis David, with clearer spiritual vision, asserted that man's spiritual life is not subject to any external authority either of church or book.

The American Unitarian Association proposes to send representatives at once to Transylvania, to strengthen the hearts of the ministers and people and to carry substantial aid. The need is for material assistance, and also for spiritual strength and fortitude that comes of knowing that friends are sympathizing and helping. It is hoped that $50,000 will be contributed to help save these people from suffering and starvation, and this fellowship of brave liberal churches from annihilation.

Send contributions to Isaac Sprague Treasurer, 25 Beacon Street, Boston, or to Mr. Kenneth Pratt for that purpose.

MACHINE GUN ASSOCIATION OFFICERS

The Winchester Machine Gun Association held its annual meeting, combined with an entertainment and smoker, at the Calumet Club on Friday evening with a large attendance. Mr. Harry A. Norton, the retiring president, under whose administration the organization has enjoyed a most successful year, presided in opening the meeting, later giving way to the newly elected president Mr. Wallace F. Flanders.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Wallace F. Flanders
Vice- Pres.—Charles I. Lampee
Treasurer—H. Wadsworth Hight
Secretary—Robert M. Stone

Executive and Entertainment Committee—Dr. J. Churchill Hindes, formerly Lieutenant of the Company, Lieutenant Seymour B. Willett and Sergeant John W. Johnson.

The entertainment followed the election, the program including singing by several soloists, work by one of the well known mental calculators, readings and stories and vaudeville by professionals from the Keith circuit. Refreshments followed the entertainment.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

March 2, 1920

The Board elected at the Town Meeting March 1, 1920, namely, Arthur A. Kidder, George M. Bryne, James W. Blackham, William L. Parsons and Joseph A. Dolben met at 5.35 P. M. for organization.

After Mr. Kidder's name was put in nomination by Mr. Byrne, the Board proceeded to ballot for the election of a chairman. The vote showed that Mr. Kidder was unanimously elected chairman.

After completing its organization, the Board voted to proceed immediately to transact the regular business.

The records of the meeting of February 23 were approved.

Collector of Taxes' Dep't (Deputy Collector): A letter was received from Mr. William H. Stinson, Collector of Taxes, asking for authority to appoint a Deputy Collector of Taxes in accordance with Acts of 1909, Chapter 490, Part 2, Section 82. Complying with Mr. Stinson's request the Board voted to authorize him to appoint a Deputy Collector of Taxes.

Burial Agent of Deceased Soldiers and Sailors: The matter of designating a Burial Agent of Deceased Soldiers and Sailors made necessary by the resignation of Mr. Henry Smalley was laid over one week.

Board of Appeal: The appointment of a member of the Board of Appeal made necessary by the resignation of Mr. Walter S. Wadsworth was laid over one week.

Wedgemere Avenue: A petiton was received signed by Mr. Charles N. Eaton and 26 others calling the Board's attention to "the surface condition of Wedgemere Avenue and the fact that this street remains unfinished, although 90 per cent of the lots are built upon, and the Town is receiving taxes upon a substantial amount of property.

The petitioners further state that improvements to this street should be made in the near future and request the careful consideration of the Board in regard to the matter. This matter was laid over for future consideration at a time when other street matters will be considered.

The Clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Eaton, the first signer of this petition, of this action taken by the Board.

The meeting adjourned at 6.55 P. M.

WINCHESTER GRANGE NOTES

The next regular meeting of Winchester Grange will be held next Tuesday evening at Lyceum Hall promptly at eight o'clock. Winchester and Somerville have entered into a contest to see which grange will secure the highest score for opening the grange meeting promptly.

Winchester Grange has been running a series of whist parties and has decided to continue the work of securing a working fund by continuing the parties at the granger's houses. The first house party will be held at Mrs. Frank Nagle's home, 135 Washington street, on Monday evening, March 8th. Miss Mary Gustin and Miss Helen Brownell have been appointed a committee to secure the prizes. Mrs. Helen Dewar, Lecturer of Winchester Grange is chairman of the whist party committee.

The first and second degrees are to be conferred on a class of candidates on March 23. Winchester Grange is forming a ladies degree staff and will be ready to confer the third degree at the first meeting in April which will be April 13th. Mrs. Marguerite Hanlon and Burton C. Caldwell are the Degree Staff Officers. The officers of the Degree Team are:

Master, Mrs. Marguerite Hanlon

Executive Committee, Mrs. Delia McKee, Mrs. Ordelia Osborne, Mrs. Elsie Mobbs.

WOBURN ASSOCIATION HERE

Rev. H. J. Chidley D. D., and Rev. S. W. Adriance entertained the ministers of the Woburn Association of Congregational Ministers on the afternoon of Monday, March first. The meeting was held in the pastor's study of the First Congregational Church, and was more largely attended than any similar meeting during several years. This was the more noteworthy when the almost impassable condition of the roads is remembered. Twenty-two clergymen were present. Dr. Chidley read a number of American and British War poems, the reading being followed by a general discussion of the question, "Does War Foster Permanent Idealism?" Rev. George M. Butler, formerly pastor of the Mystic Congregational Church in Medford, but now residing in Cambridge, read a most interesting paper on Theological Education of today, treating the subject as to its advantages and deficiencies. In connection with this paper, the ministers, one by one, answered the questionaire, "In the light of your experience, and observation, what would you put into the theological curriculum?" It is doubtful whether in the history of the Woburn Association a more enthusiastic and profitable session has been held. After the meeting, Mrs. Coville, the gracious hostess at the Winchester parsonage, and Mrs. S. W. Adriance served the clergymen with refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Walsh, the wife of Rev. F. W. Walsh of North Reading. The printed program announced that "ministerial cakes and ale" would be dispensed. The "ministerial cakes" proved to be doughnuts and cheese and most delicious apples, while the "ministerial ale" was that familiar old-time beverage, sometimes called "Adam's Ale," accompanied by an exhilarating cup (or two cups, if desired) of most deliciously-brewed coffee.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Many a hopeless fight has been won because some fool didn't know it was hopeless.

It takes a big man to stand failure, and a bigger man to stand another man's success.

What makes fast living so dangerous is the fact that it is generally done on a crooked road.

There are only two ways to get rich—make and save; and neither one is any good with the other.

Contentment is never begotten by regret.

We quote from the STAR of March 7, 1919: "With the departure of the snow and the drying out of the grass, brush fires were numerous during the week." Do you think you could possibly start one this year?

As yet no reported statement regarding the condition of the census in this town has been made by officials in charge. In view of the unsettled situation it would seem that our residents are entitled to some official information on the subject, for there are still houses and families reported daily as not yet enumerated. Unless some such statement is made, it looks as though the official record will never be accepted as accurate by our residents. As an outcome of the letter printed in our last issue under the signature of Census Enumerators, one of the enumerators has visited this office and disclaimed all knowledge of the communication. As an illustration of the methods employed in taking the census, one resident informs us that she was stopped by an enumerator on the street and plied with questions, the enumerator having neither pencil or paper, nor other visible means for recording the information. When questioned he stated that he was capable of carrying this and much more information in his head. All this does not tend to place public confidence in the figures which may be returned from this town. The returns of the Assessors and the Custodian of Schools will probably be carefully watched for a comparison.

Never before have the conditions for a flood been so propitious in this section as at the present time. We trust everyone will take heed of the warning published in this issue and take every means to protect property. As an illustration of what may be expected under certain conditions, we print the following letter from our Town Engineer, Mr. James Hinds, received by the Selectmen this week:

March 2, 1920

Board of Selectmen,
Gentlemen:—

I wish to call your attention to the conditions prevailing at this date which tend toward, in my opinion, the great liklihood of a flood, and to suggest that all possible precautions be taken against damage which is almost sure to occur if the flood takes place and, also, to suggest that all possible preparations be made in advance to quickly and effectively handle any bad and dangerous condition which may arise.

The abnormal quantity of snow and ice on the ground at this date, March 2, and the fact that no thaws have occurred up to now, seem to me to make conditions very favorable to floods which are likely to cause great expense to the public and to private owners of property.

There are a few strategic points which ought to receive especial watchfulness and attention. There are the culvert of the Boston and Maine Railroad, a short distance south of the Winchester Highlands station; the bridge in Main street at Wedge Pond; the bridge in Mt. Vernon street, the two temporary bridges in park land in the "street across the pond," and the Bacon street bridge. It is very possible for the ice when it breaks up in the very near future to join against these bridges and to pile up, thus preventing the rapid and easy escape to Mystic Lake, and thereby causing flooding from back water resulting in damage to public and private property, particularly in the centre and in land adjacent to the streams and ponds.

It is very possible that many if not all cellars in the business section may be flooded causing damage to merchandise of various kinds stored in those cellars.

While the town may not be responsible for damage caused by the anticipated floods, it would seem to me to be only a matter of ordinary and proper prudence to give warning to our store keepers and business men to take such measures as they can to protect their goods and property.

It seems, also, that the two booms placed by the Park Board in the waterways, under their control ought to be removed so that ice and other floating material may not pile up and obstruct the free flow of water.

These suggestions are offered at this time so that, if your Board has not as yet given consideration to this matter, it may be before you for such action as may seem proper to you.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES HINDS
Town Engineer

NOTABLE VICTORY FOR WINCHESTER MAN

Ex-Representative William A. Kneeland of this town is one of the successful attorneys in a litigation which has ended in a notable victory this week after a protracted struggle and which has excited wide spread interest throughout.

After George W. Coleman had stolen over $300,000 from the City National Bank of Cambridge in a sensational manner the Bank was closed on February 21, 1910 and Ex-Gov. Bates, as receiver, brought an action against the directors to hold them responsible for the heavy loss to the depositors and stockholders. Mr. Kneeland was Mr. Nay's associate as Counsel for the receiver and for ten years they have been fighting the matter in both the District Court and the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The case was then carried by the directors to the United States Supreme Court at Washington and was there argued the middle of January. With remarkable promptness the United States Supreme Court handed down a decision this week Monday affirming the lower Courts in holding the Estate of the President Edwin Dresser, now dead, liable for $264,000, on the ground that ample warnings were given him of Coleman's theft and he should have heeded them, and further awarding interest amounting to more than $30,000 which was denied by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

As Mr. Dresser died leaving a very large estate there will be no difficulty in collecting this judgment and the receiver will be able to pay the depositors in full and also probably for part of the assessment made upon the stockholders. The case has been followed with great interest by the public and is a most salutary decision in laying down the law that a director of a bank must be something more than be a dummy and must actually direct.

BIRTHS

A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Carboneau of 3 Irving street.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Morrissey of 210 Forest street are the parents of a son, born at the Winchester Hospital.

A daughter was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. William Goodnough of 25 Farrow street.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Anderson of 688 Main Street are the parents of a daughter, born Thursday at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of 14 Russell road are the parents of a son, also born at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Miller of Lagrange street are the parents of a daughter, Harriet.

A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Glendon of 24 Ware road.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Penny of Winchester Place, are the parents of a son born Sunday February 22.

Mr. and Mr. William A. Joyce of Washington street are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

MUSIC GARDEN

The regular monthly meeting of the Music Garden of this town was held Tuesday evening at the home of Joseph Adams on Grove street.

Both the active and associate membership quota of this organization of music-lovers is rapidly reaching the limit. Among those recently voted into membership are Mr. D. R. Beggs and Miss Isabel Beggs of Everett avenue. The June meeting will be guest's night.

The program of Tuesday evening follows:

DOMINIC RYAN

Mr. Dominic Ryan, an old and well known resident of this town, where he has lived for the past 35 years, died at his home on Lebanon street yesterday morning after a long illness of tuberculosis. He was 59 years of age. Besides his wife, who was Miss Mary O'Rourke, he leaves one son, Pierece J. Ryan, and two daughters, Mrs Augustus Masse of Somerville and Mrs. C. M. Smith of this town. He also leaves one sister and three brothers.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

Mrs. E. B. Horne of Prospect street leaves today for a stay at Hot Springs Va.

Ernest E. Nelson, whose divorce case is occupying space in the Boston papers, came to Winchester in October 1916, purchasing a house at 11 Harrison street. He left this town early in 1918, the house being still owned by his wife.

SMITH COLLEGE CLUBS

At a meeting of the Smith College Clubs from all over the country held last week at Northampton, Mrs. Robert B. Metcalf and Mrs. T. Grafton Abbot were the Winchester delegates. At that time, which marked the close of the first five weeks of the drive for a Four Million Dollar Endowment Fund for the College, the two million dollar mark had been passed, but the more serious part of the campaign is still before the college and its friends, as during the time in which it was hoped to accomplish the greater part of the work arrangements were so handicapped by the influenza epidemic and the unprecedented weather conditions. Greater Boston is at present more than $100,000 behind in the raising of its quota, but it is hoped under more favorable conditions in the near future that a part, at least, of this will be raised in the next few weeks.

MRS. ANNIE DOLAN

Mrs. Annie Dolan, aged 40 years, widow of James Dolan of 1 Eaton court, died early Wednesday after a brief illness at her residence. Mrs. Dolan was born in County Cork, Ireland, and resided in Winchester for 30 years. She is survived by her father, Jeremiah Lucy of Winchester; two sons, James H. and Jeremiah J. Dolan, and a daughter, Miss Anna M. Dolan; also four sisters, Mrs. Michael P. Murphy, Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, Mrs. Timothy Callahan and Mrs. Michael C. Ambrose of Winchester, and by two brothers who live in the West. The funeral services will take place this Friday morning at St. Mary's Church.

HAMILCAR W. RICE

Mr. Hamilcar W. Rice, aged 90 years, died at 79 Church street, where he made his home for the past five months, on Sunday. He was a native of Southboro and was the son of Barnaby and Betsey (Lawrence) Rice. He leaves two sons.

The funeral services were held at Mt. Auburn Chapel on Wednesday forenoon at eleven, the interment being at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

COMMUNION BREAKFAST FOR K. OF C.

Winchester Council, K. of C., voted at a meeting of the council Tuesday in the K. of C. rooms, Main st., to receive Holy Communion in a body at St. Mary's Church on Palm Sunday morning, March 28. A Communion breakfast will also be held after the mass on Palm Sunday. Announcement was made by the committee in charge of the presentation of the comedy, "A Pair of Sixes," that the play will be presented on the evening of April 7, in the Town Hall.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The annual dinner and election of officers of the Calumet Club will be held at the club house on Saturday evening, April 10th.

The regular meeting of the Western Missionary Society was held on Thursday, February 4, with 60 ladies present. A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Cowdery ad Mrs. Connell. At the close of the business meeting, Dr. Cyrus Richardson, gave a helpful talk on "Ye are the Light of the World."

An automobile owned by Dr. Langley of West Newton and driven by Harry Sprous, chauffeur, broke a wheel Wednesday night when it skidded into a deep drain cut in the ice at the corner of Washington and Eaton streets.

It is reported that the strike at the Beggs & Cobb patent leather factory affects about 200 men. Wednesday morning the shop was opened up by strike breakers imported from Boston by trucks. These men are now working under a police guard from Winchester and Woburn.

Supt. of Schools, John R. Fausey, spoke at the High School yesterday afternoon to the teachers, giving a report of the meeting of the Department of Superintendent of the National Education Association, held at Cleveland, February 23-27, which he attended.

There was an attendance of about 125 members and friends at the lecture by Peter McQueen in the town hall, Wednesday night under the auspices of Winchester Post, American Legion. It is regretted that the attendance was not larger, for Mr. McQueen gave a very fine talk.

It is reported that Mr. W. L. Tuck and Mr. P. E. Fitzgerald, who are interested in placing Mr. Tuck on the list of Constables, have taken up the matter of Mr. James S. Allen Jr., serving for a fourth term on the Finance Committee. According to their contention a member may serve but for three years.

MISS MARIANNA E. CLARKE

Miss Marianna E. Clarke, a resident of Winchester for over 20 years, died at the home of Mrs. Neva MacLellan on Highland avenue early yesterday morning of heart trouble. She was 81 years of age and leaves no immediate relatives. Funeral services will be held at Mt. Auburn chapel on Saturday morning at ten o'clock, conducted by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all those who by word or deed, cheered and comforted us when the dark clouds gathered, and by their tokens of friendship and esteem brightened the hour of sorrow.

Mrs. J. A. Stearns,
G. Edmund Stearns.

MISS MARY KEADY

Miss Mary Keady passed away on Sunday at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Patrick Keady, 846 Main street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Mary's Church yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. The interment was in Calvary cemetery.

SOME BIG GAME THAT T. R. MISSED

Speaking of the brontosaurus, if any one ever did, one might paraphrase Gelett Burgess:

"I never saw a dinosaur,
I never hope to see one."

Yet, according to reports accredited to Mr. Capell, Belgian explorer, a live dinosaur, a brontosaurus, has been found in Africa.

Now that the dinosaur is with us, potentially, big game enthusiasts will be interested in this description of prehistoric big game, quoted from a communication to the National Geographic Society by Barnum Brown:

Today we must go to Africa for the biggest game; but there was a time in the dim distant past when America produced animals larger than any now living. That was so long ago that nothing remains of these creatures except their bones, and they are turned to stone.

The animals are dinosaurs; for the moment we will call them lizards—not the creeping, crawling kind, but huge reptiles that stalked upright through the jungles, rivaling in size the elephant, the hippopotamus, and the rhinocerous.

The place is Alberta, Canada, and the time of their existence 3,000,000 years ago.

In these marshes of prehistoric times dwelt a host of reptiles, some large, some small, and of various forms, flesh-eaters and herb-eaters, but all sharing certain characters in common and known as dinosaurs. Not any were closely related to any living reptile, yet they had some characters common to the lizards, crocodiles, and birds.

Of the kinds characteristic of the period one species, an herb-eater named Trachodon, was more than 30 feet long and about 15 feet high when standing erect. Its head, with broadly expanded mouth, resembles that of a duck, but back of the beak there are more than 2,000 small teeth, disposed in many vertical rows, each containing several individual teeth, the new ones coming up from below as the old ones wore out.

The long hind legs terminated in three large hoofed toes, and the shorter, slender front feet were partly webbed. A long, thin, slender tail acted as a powerful swimming organ, and the body was covered with rough tuberculate skin. Having no means of defense, it lived chiefly in the water, where it was free from attacks of the flesh-eaters.

Along the shores lived Ornithomimus, a bird mimic, as the name implies, one of the most remarkable of the dinosaurs. A skeleton found in 1918 shows it to have been a toothless creature, the jaws sheathed like the beak of a bird.

The bones were light and pneumatic like those of birds, but the skeleton closely resembles that of the flesh-eating dinosaurs. It was about 12 feet in length, with long, slender hind legs and shorter front legs. This was an agile creature, different from the typical flesh-eaters in feeding habits and doubtless a shore-living type that may have fed on crustaceans.

On land there were hoofed quadrupedal herbivorous kinds, some, like Monoclonius, having an immense skull, six feet in length, with three horns, a short one over each eye and a longer one above the nose. The jaws terminated in a sharp clipping beak, like that of a turtle, and further back in the mouth there were rows of double-rooted teeth. The back of the skull was developed into a broad shield with scalloped border, extending over the neck. It was ancestral to the later Triceratops.

Strangest of all was the herbivorous Ankylosaurus, a stocky, shortlegged, big-bodied creature, completely encased in armor. Dermal plates covered the skull, followed by rings of plates over the neck and rows of flat plates over the back and hips. Its tail terminated in a huge club and the belly was covered by a pliable mosaic of small, close-set plates. It was further protected by a movable plate that could be dropped down like a shutter over each eye, thus completing its protection from insects and formidable foes.

SAVING THE ELK

"A tragedy that all lovers of wild life, big game, and noble animals have feared for years now is being enacted," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"The American elk is being driven from his last stronghold in Yellowstone National Park, 'at the top of the United States,' and faces slaughter, freezing and starvation in the borderlands to the north and south of the park. Horace M. Albright, superintendent of Yellowstone National Park, who is keenly alive to the great danger, furnished the material for this bulletin.

"The menace to the elk arises because o the unprecedented early winter this year. On October 22 occurred the worst snow storm Yellowstone Park has known since one far later in the season, in January 1891. The elk's existence depends upon his freedom to wander from the highland snows to the shelter and forage of the valleys below. The early blizzard drove him outside the protection of the national reservation into the midst of the open season for hunting in the two adjacent States.

"The southern herds followed the rivers, which flow out of Yellowstone in all directions, to the famous Jackson Hole country, once the haunt of bandits and cattle thieves, where human life now is safe, but where this self-same influx of civilization spells death for the elk. The northern herds descended into the Montana borderlands where settlements have flung a wild barrier across the edge of the park.

"Wholesale shooting of the elk was the first consequence. Much of this shooting according to reports received in Washington, did little credit to the sportsmanship. Marksmen did not trouble to follow and capture animals they had wounded. Their sheltered life in the national reservation has made the elk tame; and they wandered into many a backyard to find unexpected enemies. It is estimated that between 5,000 and 10,000 elk already have been killed off.

"But this shooting does not mark the climax of the tragedy. As noted, the settlements have cut off the grazing lands. There is some provision for the southern herds, though woefully inadequate, but practically none for the northern herds.

"The protection afforded the elk which strayed into Wyoming is that of the State game preserves, known as the Hoodoo, Shoshone and Teton. Further protection is that afforded in a limited way by the Winter Elk Refuge at Jackson, Wyoming, founded by the Biological Survey. There hay is raised for feeding the elk, but far from enough is on hand for the feeding of the thousands forced out of the park, and even out of the reservations, by the early winter. The severity of the weather may be gauged from the fact that snow was from 15 inches to 4 feet deep, and the temperature went to six below zero in some localities.

"In ordinary winters the animals remain in the park; in more severe ones, when the cold and snows come late, the preserves and the refuge have taken care of many of them. They did not come done until atter the expiration of the open season for hunting; December 1, in Wyoming, and recntly extended until Decmber 25, in Montana.

"Already steps are being taken, in the face of this critical emergency, to save the elk, just as the native Indian, the indigenous buffalo, and those insensate patriarchs, the sequoia trees, were saved in time to avoid their complete extermination.

"These efforts have a three-fold objective. The first looks toward the inclusion of the great game preserves about the Teton Range and the headwaters of the Yellowstone, an area of some 1,200 square miles, in Yellowstone Park. Incidentally the haven afforded for the elk is but one argument for this addition to the park now that recent explorations have shown the region south of Yellowstone to be a land o natural beauty and more rugged scenery than the marvelous wonders of the Yellowstone itself.

"An effort is being made to enlarge the elk refuge, so that when the animals are driven even farther south than the park addition would extend, they still may be cared for despite the encroaching settlements. A third line of effort looks toward a similar farm in Montana. Agitation for more stringent state game laws, which would include protection of females, marks another possible phase of the movement.

"Once the elk was the widest ranger among American hoofed game animals From Canada to points near what now is the Mexican border, and from eastern seaboard to the Pacific coast, the elk, like the buffalo made itself perfectly at home at sea level or at on the timberline mountain peaks. But it did so by moving with the change of season, rather than by adapting itself to its environment, and burrowing through snow, as its cousin, the buffalo is more willing to do."

In describing the elk the bulletin quotes from 'Wild Animals of North America," a publication of the National Geographic Society, as follows:

"By a curious transposition of names the early settlers applied to the American wapiti the term elk, which belongs to the European representative of our moose. Our elk is a close relative of the European stag. It is the handsomest, and, next to the moose, the largest member of the deer family in America. The old bulls, weighing more than 800 pounds, bear superb widely branched antlers, which give them a picturesque and noble mien. This is the only American deer which has a well marked light rump-patch. The young, numbering from one to three, are white spotted, like the fawns of other deer.

"Elk are the most polygamous of all our deer, each bull gathering a small herd of cows during the fall. At the beginning of the mating season the bulls wander widely through the high forest glades, their musical bugling piercing the silence with some of the most stirring notes of the wilderness. Amid the wild grandeur of these remote mountain fastnesses the appearance of a full antlered buck on the skyline of some bare ridge presents a noble picture of wild life."

Peculiar Strike.

One of the novel strikes on record was that of smugglers which occurred on the German-Polish frontier some years ago. Extensive smuggling operations were being carried on, principally through women who crossed into Germany two or three times a day in rugged clothing, returning in costumes of the latest fashion. From the smuggling organization the women received less than 50 cents a day, so they struck for higher wages, and won.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE

"Bab," with Helen Hayes in the title role, enters upon its fourth week at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, Monday night and has proved itself one of the biggest comedy successes Boston has known in years. Written by Edward Childs Carpenter, author of "The Cinderella Man" and other stage successes, from the sub-deb stories of Mary Roberts Rinehart, Bab has a very wide appeal to playgoers, and Helen Hayes, who is still in her teens, has made nothing short of a sensation by her clever acting of the school girl whose romantic nature gets her into all sorts of difficulties. Miss Hayes is surrounded by a cast of note, including Tom Powers, a former lieutenant of aviation, Grace Henderson formerly of the Lyceum Theatre Stock Company, in New York; George Alison, Arthur Eldred, Katherine Alexander, Claribel Cambell the original Myttyl in "The Blue Bird," Junius Matthews, and others.

The matinees at the Hollis have been thronged since "Bab" opened there.

DOES IT PAY TO ADVERTISE?

Do you know that The National Biscuit Co., was on the verge of failure until they hit on the title "Uneeda Biscuit" and that, since then they have had over four hundred lawsuits to protect it? That they value that trade-mark now, at six million dollars?

That Spearmint Gum, as a trade-mark is valued at seven millions?

That the Fairbanks people value their trade-mark "The Gold Dust Twins," at ten millions?

That "Ivory Soap" in the magazines alone uses $450,000 worth of space a year which at 3c per cake wholesale, represents fifteen million cakes?

These are but a few of the advertising statistics (facts) brought out in the bright Farce Comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," to be presented by the members of "The Brookline Catholic Club," Dramatic Class at Winchester Town Hall, Wednesday evening, March 17th under the personal direction of Charles J. Harrold for the benefit of St. Mary's Charity Fund.

TOWN MEETING

len of the Finance Committee stated that his committee as a majority were in accord with the motion. The motion was carried.

Article 4. This article, containing the usual budget, was preceeded by a statement of policy by Mr. Allen of the Finance Committee.

Mr. Allen reviewed the policy of the committee in general and in particular spoke of the tax rate. At the time of printing the report the committee made recommendations, which if followed, would leave a tax rate of about $24.75. This rate was considerably upset, however, by the extreme winter and the snow and ice. First $3000 was added to the snow and ice account; then the sum was raised to $10,000, and already $9617 has been spent, with an anticipation of $5000 more to come, thus raising this appropriation to about $15,000.

In addition to this unlooked-for expenditure, the fire department appropriation would have to be enlarged through the hiring and stabling of horses. This would add at least $575. He understood that the committee on the Memorial was not ready to present its report and that $2000 would be recommended for this committee to prepare a more definite report. The west side reservoir was in need of attention, taking $100 for a committee to investigate, and the Water department had convinced the committee of the necessity of new tree planting around the reservoirs in the Fells. Altogether $1500 more would be needed, making a total increase of about $10,000.

This would make an estimated tax rate of $25.32, although even with this rate Winchester will still be among the lowest towns hereabouts. All this was introduced in view of urging the voters to adhere to recommended appropriations.

Mr. Preston Pond then spoke with reference to the Finance Committee's report. He took exception to the committee's recommendation for financing sidewalks, highway construction, surface drainage, sewer, etc., by revenue. According to his views this could better be done by a bond issue which more proportionately placed the burden.

Mr. Allen of the Finance Committee replied. He held to his position that it was better to pay as you go for these items which required appropriations of approximately, the same amount each year. He said his committee had made fairly generous increases in salaries, although not so much as the committee would like to make. In the matter of wages, he said that as the pay of the town laborers rested with the Selectmen, his committee had based its report on a possible wage of $4 a day.

Following this discussion the budget was taken up and appropriations made down the list to Highways and Bridges. When this department was taken up, Mr. George T. Davidson offered a motion for the appropriation of $20,000 by a bond issue for the construction of sidewalks. He spoke to his motion, stating that but $6000 would go for granolithic sidewalks under the committee's appropriation, with about $1000 of this for tar macadam and gravel. He felt sidewalks were badly needed on some roads which at present have none, the quantity of automobiles forbidding the use of such roads for pedestrians. New property too, he felt, should receive consideration when sidewalk work was desired.

This motion was followed by a motion to reduce the Highway account by $5000—the amount appropriated for granolithic sidewalks. Together with the discussion came the matter of financing by bonds or revenue, and Moderator Ives held matters up for a time by ruling that Mr. Davidson's motion could not be taken up until later. Mr. Joslin wished to refer the matter back to the Finance Committee to present later after considering Mr. Davidson's motion.

Chairman Allen stated at this time that perhaps it would be better to thresh out the matter of financing then and there. He gave a very clear and connvincing argument in favor of paying for the appropriation by revenue rather than a bond issue. The Town, he said is soon to face a large building program, including besides the soldiers' memorial, a number of new school buildings. If the regular debts occuring each year are cared for as incurred, the Town will be in much better shape to care for the anticipated bond issue on the buildings.

Mr. Allen did not oppose a bond issue for extraordinary expenses; he claimed the Highway and Bridges account as it stood was a regular bill which was contracted by the Town in substantially the same amount every year.

Mr. McCarron desired information as to how far the Town had kept up its sidewalk construction during the War. He thought possibly it had allowed the regular work to be reduced until a larger program was now needed. In reply Mr. Allen stated that the work had kept abreast of the growth and usual needs of the Town.

During the discussion of the matter of wages in various departments was brought up, one of the several motions being that the salary of Miss Mabel Stinson, general clerk, be raised to $1,600. This was discussed, but finally dropped upon the statement that the $1,450.00 recommended was the sum named by Miss Stinson herself.

Moderator Ives then took a hand in the discussion, as matters appeared to be getting tangled up between motions and substitutes. Mr. Allen withdrew his motion and Mr. Davidson renewed his motion.

Mr. Snyder favored the bond issue for $20,000 for sidewalks, and other speakers who entred into the discussion included Messrs. Rowe, Newman, Harris, Pond, Allen, Carhart and McCarron.

A bond issue requires a two-thirds vote, and the result of the vote was 260 Yea, 105 Nay; a totol of 365 votes.

The meeting then adjourned to Monday night at 7.45.

The following appropriations were made in the regular budget:

Assessors'	$ 2,635.00
Auditor	1,100.00
Board of Survey	100.00
Bridges and Main Street Construction	2,909.05
Cemetery Maintenance	9,100.00
Claim Account	6,500.00
Clerical Assistance	2,530.00
Collector of Taxes	3,365.00
Committees	1,400.00
Contagious Diseases	1,842.94
Election and Registration	980.00
Engineering	6,225.00
Fire Department	25,050.00
Gypsy and Brown Tail Moth	6,000.00
Health Department	10,400.00

NOTES

It is said that some other appropriations besides sidewalks will come in for a bond issue.

Miss Mabel Stinson, the pleasant and accommodating general clerk at the Town Hall, came very near receiving an unexpected raise in her salary.

The opponents of "movies" evidently felt pretty secure in their position, for they did not even reply to the one speech in opposition. They probably did not leave their amunition at home however.

The opinion of some of our successful business men in methods of financing the town is interesting to note. Winchester is blessed with some pretty able men, and it has never yet been accused of making any financial errors.

The newly elected Selectmen held quite a reception at the close of the meeting. Judging from the number who were waiting to shake their hand, it is a wonder that their election was not unanimous.

The ladies evidently put all their efforts into opposing "movies," for the number who voted was about one-fifth of that of last year. Evidently schools have ceased to be the vital problem of last year. In this connection it is gratifying to note that a recent report is to the effect that our schools have shown a great improvement during the past fall and winter.

Mr. Tuck was not far from right when he termed it "the middle of the road town meeting."

It looks as though the tax rate may go up 50 per cent. if desired improvements are carried out.

The Finance Committee continues to have an able leader. Mr. Allen presented his case in a clear and convincing manner, and early won the confidence of the meeting.

Interesting and important articles are still to be acted upon. Lend your presence next Monday night.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

As has already been announced the pageant scheduled in the Year Book for the next regular meeting of The Fortnightly, occurring March 8th at 2.30 P. M., will not be given. In its place the program committee offers a very pleasing substitute in "Old Tales Retold." The entertainment which will consist of songs and readings, illustrated by tableaux, taken from familiar old stories, most enjoyable because of their association with days when an imaginary world was a real world, of solo dancing and of music, is under the direction of the Art Committee which has spared nothing to make this a most pleasing afternoon. (It will be of interest to those to whom the name of Miss Betty Sweetser, given in the program below is familiar, to know that she was formerly a resident of Winchester). The program is as follows.

Acting upon the recommendation of the Federation Committee on Resolutions, the Membership Committee of The Fortnightly has endeavored this year to carry on a drive for new members. Any Winchester woman, who may be interested in joining the Club may learn how application should be made by applying to the chairman of the Membership Committee, Mrs. W. J. Drisko, telephone number 812-W; or any member of that committee or of the Advisory Board would gladly give her the information. As the Club year is nearing its close, let the women of Winchester prepare for a bigger and better Fortnightly in the new year.

PROBATE AND OTHER COURT NEWS

The will of Eliza W. Frost of Winchester who died December 20, 1919, has been allowed by the Probate Court. Fred M. Lamson of Marshfield and Leon M. Abbott of Plymouth have been appointed executors. They have each given a bond of $50,000. The estate is valued at $52,500; $50,000 in real estate and $2,500 in personal property.

The will of Mrs. Margaret H. Wentworth who died December 25, 1919 has been allowed. Royal S. Wentworth of Chelsea, a son, has been appointed as executor and has given a bond of $36,000. The estate is valued at $38,000.

WANTS OFFICE OF CONSTABLE

Mr. Whitfield L. Tuck, who received one vote for Constable at the town election Monday, filed his formal acceptance of that office at the town hall early Tuesday morning. The ballot called for the election of only two Constables, the nominees, Messrs. Edward F. Maguire and William R. McIntosh, being elected. Mr. Tuck claims that the town originally elected three and that this number was never reduced, the third Constable simply being dropped from the ballot several years ago.

According to Town Clerk Carter, Mr. Tuck's assertion is not admitted, although Mr. Carter states that it was found to be very difficult to find citizens who were willing to serve as Constables, the office carrying no renumeration with it, and for a number of years citizens elected to the office refused to take the oath.

Mr. Tuck, who is supported in his contentions by Mr. P. E. Fitz... is reported as prepared to push the question.

CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

March 15, 4 P. M.

A PAGEANT

"The Builder of the City of God." This picturesque, simple and persuasive pageant, is one of the attractive features of the Nation-Wide Campaign. Every parish in the Diocese of Massachusetts has been asked to present it at some church service. Members of the Church School provide most of the characters and give the pageant as part of their program in the Nation-Wide Campaign.

The pageant seeks to present with dramatic vividness the motive of the Nation-Wide Campaign and the mission of the Church. Among the characters are "Sundry Workmen," builders of the City of God, such as an architect, a painter, a stone mason, a sculptor, etc.; certain "symbolic figures" such as Complacency, "Little Vision," etc., a few special workmen such as a vestryman, teacher, priest, etc.; the challenge-bringers among whom the Spirit of the Nation-Wide Campaign is the leader; and others, including the Choir of confident Hope.

The action is divided into three episodes. The first shows the builders returning from their daily toil to meet the pleasant allurements of complacency and her companions, who offer them the sweet food of Self-Content. The second episode introduces as challenge-bringers, Missions, Religious Education, and Social Service, each of whom call the builders to nobler effort. The third reveals as challenge-takers the two triumphant characters—Glad Consecration and Venture for God.

MRS. MARY CULLEN

Mrs. Mary Cullen of 10 Hill street passed away at her home early Wednesday morning. Mrs. Cullen has been suffering for the past two weeks from a bad heart attack but had apparently improved to such an extent that her complete recovery was expected and her death came as a severe shock to her many friends.

Mrs. Cullen was the widow of the late James Cullen and has been a resident of the east section of the town since 1883 when the family moved here from Woburn. She was one of the best known residents of that district and will be mourned by scores of friends who grew to appreciate her kindly disposition and many generous acts.

Solemn High Mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Mary's Church Friday morning at 9.

Mrs. Cullen is survived by two sons, James of Lynn and Benjamin F., of Woburn, four daughters, Mrs. George R. Poland, Mrs. Harry E. Brown and Mrs. William E. McDonald, Jr., of this town, and Miss Margaret E. Cullen of the Chelsea Marine Hospital and two sisters, Mrs. Cecilia McLaughlin of Woburn and Miss Ann Maraghy of Boston.

FRANKLIN E. UDEL

Franklin Edward Udell, the four year old son of Gladstone S. and Susanna C. Udell of 23 Garfield avenue, died at the Homeopathic Hospital, Brighton, Tuesday, he having been taken to that institution that day.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Team 21, leading division B in the Calumet mixed bowling tournament, held its place at the top of the list Monday night by winning all three from team 24, the latter organization being absent. Team 20, standing in second position, dropped one point by one pin to team 14, while team 22 won all three points from team 23. Mrs. Jennings led the ladies. She rolled a total of 174 on a string of 88. Mrs. Wm. A. Kneeland got 168 with 100, Mrs. Lord 166 with 89, Mrs. Bowe 90, Mrs. Tuttle 87 and Mrs. Harrington 81. Mr. Bennett rolled a total of 201 with 106, Mr. Speedie 113, Mr. Breen 110 and Mr. Sawyer 101.

Team 4 won three from 6, 1 three from 5 and 7 two from 3 in Tuesday night's matches. By these wins 7 takes a drop from second position, 1 going up, with 4 taking second position. The scores were excellent. Mrs Thompkins led the ladies with a total of 195 and a single of 103. Mrs. Crafts rolled the best single, making 110, with a total of 184. Mrs. Comins got 193 with 101, Mrs. Simonds 173 with 92, Mrs. Carleton 171 with 94, Mrs. Cutter 162 with 81, Mrs. Barr 160 with 82, Miss Thomas 93 and Miss Fenno 88. Mr. Comins with a total of 225 on a string of 119, led the gentlemen. Mr. Goldsmith got 223 with 121, Dr. Cutter 208 with 119, Mr. Weed 204 with 117, Mr. Simonds 204 with 105, Mr. Crafts 102 and Mr. Thomas 100.

Wednesday night's matches resulted in team 15 taking all three from the leaders, team 21. This dropped 21 into third place, 15 taking the lead. 16 got two from 18 and 13 two from 17. Mrs. Towne led the ladies with 178 on 96. Others to roll up were as follows: Mrs. Proctor 172 with 87, Mrs. Soutter 169 with 86, Miss Barnes 168 with 92, Mrs. Tuttle 168 with 91, Mrs. Goff 167 with 86, Mrs. Bowe 164 with 94, Mrs. Priest 86, Mrs. Willey 85. Mr. Sargent led the gentlemen with 208 on 116, Mr. Soutter 206 on 106, Mr. Aseltine 201 on 111, Mr. Clark 200 on 111, Mr. Blank 109, Mr. Rogers 104.

Published by the
WINCHESTER BOARD OF HEALTH

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed ten per cent.

TOWN MEETING

Sidewalk Bond Issue Reversed Into Revenue — Police Get New Ford Budget Finished

The second session of the annual town meeting held Monday evening drew another big crowd, notwithstanding the bad traveling and the fact that no cars were running at all on the Arlington line. From this year's attendance at election and town meeting it looks as though our Winchester citizens need some such challenge to their ability and hardiness as presented by the elements this year to bring the best results in attendance. At any rate, the mildest of weather could have brought out no better meetings thus far. As also on the preceding week, the balconies were well fifilled with ladies, all of whom followed the debate with interest, especially the school teachers.

The meeting opened on Article 4 continuing with the usual budget of appropriations, Moderator Ives presiding. The outstanding features of the work accomplished was the reconsideration and rejection of the previous vote of $20,000 for sidewalks on a bond issue, and appropriating $10,000 for this purpose by direct taxation. In this revision the pay-as-you-go advocates had much the best of it, although the advocates of financing by bonds fought hard.

The meeting succeeded in finishing the budget, ready to open up on the regular warrant articles at the following session. Several of the appropriations were increased, notably the Snow and Ice Account, Parks and Playground, Town Clerk's Department and Water Construction. The attempt to increase the Poor appropriation by $2,000 was rejected, and the Police Department was granted the privilege of buying a new Ford.

Chairman Charles E. Kendall of the Water Department presented some interesting facts in connection with our water supply. He gave an estimated value of our reservoirs at between two and three million dollars, and reported the possibility of the Metropolitan Water Board taking over our supply in the future as a reserve. He stated that we are the only town or city in the State owning and controling its own supply of water having reservoirs bordered by no human habitation whatever, and that this condition would always continue.

The Water Department propose to clean out around the shores of the reservoirs, build some needed rip-rap and plant in all some 15,000 evergreens. A 30 foot grass plot will be maintained around the shores. This appropriation was increased by $3,000.

The first business of the evening was a correction of the appropriation for Cemetery maintenance, the previous vote appropriating $9,100 containing an estimated revenue of $3000 which should have made the appropriation $6,100. This sum was voted upon reconsideration.

When the vote of $20,000 on a bond issue for sidewalk construction was passed last week, it provided for a seven year term of bonds. Following the meeting it was found that the statutes provided that such bond issues should not run for over a term of five years. In order to correct this vote a reconsideration was carried and a corrected vote offered.

It had been expected that this matter would be only a formality, but no

THE BLIZZARD

Worst Storm of Winter Was That of Saturday

Winchester, in common with the rest of New England, experienced the worst storm of the winter last Saturday. Coming as it did, after travel and transportation had been so hampered by previous extreme storms, it completely paralyzed this section, although the town was much more fortunate than almost every surrounding place.

The day followed one of the first spring-like days thus far enjoyed. It opened with a downpour of rain which soon made the streets avenues of slush and water, but no sooner had this condition really reached its full proportions than the wind went into the northwest and the temperature took a sudden drop, the rain turning to sleet and then to fine snow.

By nine o'clock a howling blizzard was in progress, the thick, fine snow being driven by a 70 mile wind with a force that made it almost impossible to face it in any exposed places. This condition continued until after one o'clock, when the storm gradually abated. The cold was intense, aggravated by the searching wind, and many persons who left their homes early in the day were insufficiently clad to meet the freezing weather.

The water and slush froze within what seemed a few minutes, making the streets and paths rough and slippery, and as night approached the cold became intense, freezing everything solid, even water to a depth of a foot.

Early in the morning the Arlington electrics were put out of commission by the water, which in some places covered the tracks 15 or 20 inches deep. With the change of weather around nine, cars began to get through but these were soon stuck at various points along the line. Two were stuck on Forest st. and a plow ran off the track on Church street.

The Woburn line managed to keep cars running at intervals, sufficient to to keep its tracks clear, but the Arlington line was buried under snow and ice so deep that Sunday night, after viewing the situation, the officials decided to give up the struggle to open it until warm weather came to its aid.

The railroad ran its trains better than during the two previous big storms, local trains continuing through the day, although not on time. Many trucks and pungs were stuck at various places about town, in many instances the horses being taken out and the pungs left where they were. In other cases such available horses as could be used were put at work getting the stalled trucks and pungs to temporary refuge.

By Monday the train service was restored, and although the Woburn line of electrics had but six cars in operation it made half hour trips to Winthrop Square from Woburn, its line being out of commission north of that city.

The Arlington line looked as though it was closed for several weeks. Some of its track was under 15 inches of ice, its equipment was in bad shape and the men worn out with the inssessant struggle. It was at this time that Town Engineer James Hinds got in touch with the officials of the road and the Selectmen, which resulted in an agreement being made for the assistance of the town men in cooperation with the road in making an effort to open the line.

Accordingly work was commenced Tuesday afternoon, 15 town men, together with a gang of 35 men from the road, starting in. By late Tuesday evening the road had been opened as far as the centre, the thawing weather greatly aiding the operations. By Wednesday morning the line was opened to Cambridge street and cars were running on regular schedule to Stoneham, and Winchester residents may thank their efficient town officials that they are enabled to ride in the cars today.

REPUBLICAN LEAGUE DINNER

As stated in our last issue—we would give you the list of speakers for this occasion at this time—it is with a great deal of pleasure and a source of gratification to the committee that they have been enabled to secure the following:

To represent our Town—Rev. Howard J. Chidley, D. D.

To represent our State—Hon. Joseph E. Warner, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

To represent our Nation—Hon. Frank Crowther, Congressman of the 13th District, New York.

Dr. Chidley needs no introduction to a Winchester audience. Likewise the Speaker of the House is well known to most of us., Congressman Crowther comes on directly from the busy hum at Washington especially for this occasion to give us real facts as to the important projects now before us. He is recommended as a live wire and one of the finest orators in Congress today.

Our ticket committee report that up to the present time about 375 tickets have been sold. This leaves only 75 to be had, when the limit will be reached. If you have not secured yours, we advise doing so without delay.

There is no question but this bids fair to be one of the most elaborate affairs of its kind ever held in our town, and you will miss a great treat if you are not present.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

March 8, 1920

The Board met immediately after town meeting, at 10.10 P. M.

The records of the meeting of March 2 were read and approved.

Measurers of Leather: An application was received from Mr. John J. Laughran, 419 Washington street, Winchester asking for a license as a measurer of leather. This matter was referred to the Sealer of Weights & Measures for report.

Snow and Ice: A letter was received from the Superintendent of Streets stating that he had carried out the Board's order and notified the storekeepers to use every precaution against the possible occurrence of flood due to the excessive amount of snow and ice. In his letter the Superintendent states that the strategic points mentioned by the Town Engineer are receiving the department's attention and several others are also being carefully watched. The letter was ordered filed.

The meeting adjourned at 12.05 P.M.

Last Nights Session
TOWN MEETING

Motor Bus for School Children and No Educational Survey

Last night's session of the annual Town meeting was attended by a very small number of voters in proportion to the gatherings at the two previous sessions. The important accomplishments of the meeting were the unexpected decision to invest $2,000 in a motor bus to transport school children, the acceptance of the revision of the By-Laws or the "new building laws," so-called, and the rejection of an appropriation for an educational survey. The Town also voted to increase its School Committee to six members. The meeting adjourned following a debate of about forty minutes on the proposed Memorial.

Under Article 5, calling for reports of committees, it was voted to accept the draft prepared and printed by the Committee on the revision of the Building Laws and to discharge the committee. Mr. F. E. Rowe offered a motion which was accepted, that it was the sense of the meeting that the Finance Committee consider monthly meetings throughout the year, that it might keep in touch with town departments and familiarize itself with town affairs.

Mr. George B. Hayward reported for the committee appointed to consider the letting out of contracts for material and supplies in a rather extensive report, the substance of which was that more efficiency could be attained in this direction by a closer cooperation of departments. This committee was then discharged after acceptance of its report.

A motion by Mr. Davidson that a committee of five be appointed to report at the next town meeting upon the desirability of dividing the Town into voting precincts was carried. His idea was that two precincts should be formed, one with voting space at the town hall and the other at Wedgmere.

A motion for a committee to revise the By-Laws relating to Water and Sewer was carried. Chairman Kendall explained that with the metering of the town much of the present matter had been superceded. This committee is to consist of the Water and Sewer Board and two other citizens, and is to be appointed by the Moderator.

Under Article 29 it was voted that a committee of seven be appointed by the Moderator, to consist of one or more Assessors, two members of the Finance Committee and Town Planning Board, and report at a subsequent meeting with respect to the system of assessing the taxable property of the town.

It was voted that the Moderator appoint a committee including the Water and Sewer Board and three other citizens to investigate and report on the reservoir on the West Side. $100 was allowed the committee for expenses.

Under Article 12, to see if the Town will vote to raise a sum of money for the erection and furnishing of one or more school buildings, etc., it was voted that a committee of seven be appointed by the Moderator, consisting of the School Committee, one member of the Planning Board and three other citizens, and report on this matter at a future meeting.

Under Article 13, $2,000 was voted for a motor bus to transport school children from remote parts of the

THANKS TO TOWN AND OFFICIALS

Supt. A. L. Gibson of the Arlington Division of the electric lines, has made the request that the STAR express his thanks to the Town of Winchester and its officials, Mr. Kidder of the Selectmen, Mr. Clark of the Highway Department and Mr. Hinds of the Engineers Department, for the efficient and prompt assistance in clearing out the Stoneham-Arlington line.

According to Mr. Gibson, who by the way, is himself due for considerable credit for efficient work, this town and the attitude of its officials is responsible for the running of cars today. Not only did Winchester furnish aid for two days in clearing the tracks, but it continued the work on the second day over the Arlington line until into the evening.

The cars were running from Wakefield to Arlington, clear through the whole line, on Wednesday night. Mr. Gibson reports that he had every assistance from Supt. of Streets Clark in the work, and the democratic spirit of the town is thoroughly appreciated.

TUCK GOT THREE VOTES

Upon the petition of Whitfield L. Tuck, for a recount of votes for Constable cast at the recent town electon, a recount was held by the Registrars of Voters at the town hall on Wednesday night. As a result, Mr. Tuck was accorded three votes, Edward G. Boyle one and Simon D. Barksdale one.

The result as it now stands is as follows:

Edward F. Maguire	966
William R. McIntosh	934
Edward G. Boyle	1
Simond D. Barksdale	1

Mr. Tuck asked to be sworn into office at the conclusion of the recount but Town Clerk Carter decvlined to do so, as the warrant only called for two Constables. Mr. Tuck claimed that although the warrant called for but two, there should be three, and that the Town had so voted in some past year.

MR. METCALF RECEIVES CALL TO PORTLAND

Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of the Unitarian Church, who sails from New York on the SS Baltic for Transylvania, has received a call from the First Unitarian Church of Portland, Me. Mr. Metcalf tendered his resignation to the local church last week.

MANY FAMILIES WITHOUT COAL

The coal shortage in many houses, steadily growing through the recent severe weeks of wintry weather which have made our roads impassable, reached a climax the first of the week after the blizzard. Many cases of actual suffering were reported, and the local coal dealers although they have been making every endeavor to supply such urgent needs, found themselves wholly unable to cope with the situation.

Deliveries have been made on every day, including Sunday's the drivers giving up only last Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

On Monday Charles A. Lane of the Parker & Lane Co. presented the situation to Chairman Arthur A. Kidder of the Board of Selectmen. Mr. Kidder immediately took steps to aid the residents and placed four town teams at the disposal of the coal firms for emergency use, and these teams have been busy since conveying coal to families which were destitute.

The extreme winter has depleted almost every bin in town, no one, even those who took in a most abundant supply last summer having sufficient coal to last through the season. In hopes of a break in the weather, many deferred ordering until their supply had become so low that coal was needed immediately.

In other towns some of the dealers have discontinued their telephones, being unable to make deliveries. Winchester is more fortunate and its dealers will give every possible assistance. The Selectmen are to be commended upon their prompt recognition of the situation and their aid will be gratefully received by many families.

Winchester has plenty of coal, fortunately, and its only problem is delivery.

FORMER EDITOR OF YOUTH'S COMPANION TO SPEAK IN WINCHESTER

Dallas Lore Sharp, Professor of English at Boston University, and Farmer of Hingham, Mass., is widely known through his books and lectures on Nature subjects. The fact that he has been selected as the biographer of John Burroughs is suggestive of his standing as a writer and naturalist.

As the father of four growing boys, schools, as well as boys—and of course girls—are very live subjects to Prof. Sharp. During the last year, his ideas on Schools and Democracy, as expressed through the Atlantic Monthly, have created a great stir, and words and phrases from his articles have found their way into the vocabulary of educators from coast to coast. Naturally, a desire to see and know the genial personality back of the writer has resulted in innumerable calls for lectures. Winchester is indebted to The Fortnightly for the privilege of hearing him at its next regular meeting, on March 22, which is open to the public.

PROF. PEABODY TO SPEAK AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

Dr. Peabody was for many years Professor of Christian Morals in Harvard University, and Professor of Homiletics in the Harvard Divinity School. In the latter office he had much to do in training and inspiring a large number of the Unitarian Ministers now in active service.

His books among which are, Jesus Christ and the Social Question, Mornings in the Cottage Chapel, Afternoons in the Cottage Chapel, have won for him an audience far wider than that provided by the Unitarian fellowship. By many he is regarded as the ablest preacher in our denomination, while among the Evangelical Churches he is regarded as the most representative Unitarian.

MOUNT HOLYOKE TEA

The alumnae of Mount Holyoke College met Wednesday at the home of Miss Elsie Belcher for a discussion of ways and means to raise the Winchester quota for the $3,000,000 Endowment Fund. It was decided to have a Mary Lyon Tea and Food Sale the last of March; also to join with the Arlington Alumnae in a "movie" night in April. Tea was served and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed by all present.

Mount Holyoke has met this week with a great loss in the burning of one of the dormitories, Safford Hall. Because of the deep snow the Holyoke fire apparatus was unable to reach the college, and except for the wonderful work done by the students and faculty the loss would have been much greater. This fire makes the raising of the $3,000,000 Endowment Fund even more imperative than before, since $1,000,000 is to be used for new buildings, among them a new dormitory, which now is an immediate necessity.

K. of C. BUILDING CORPORATION

The Winchester Council, K. of C., building corporation has been organized for this year with these officers and directors: Frank J. O'Hare, president; Luke P. Glendon, vice president; Daniel F. Dineen, secretary; Henry Longfield, treasurer; James W. Haggerty, George R. Poland, Daniel Reardon, Michael E. O'Leary, Rev. Fr Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and Dr. Richard W. Sheehy.

The members of Winchester Council will present the play, "A Pair of Sixes," in the Town Hall, April 7, in aid of the building fund.

EPIPHANY MEN'S CLUB OFFICERS

The election of officers of the Epiphany Men's Club was held on Friday evening at the Parish Hall, Church of the Epiphany. The following officers were elected:

President, Douglas N. Graves
Vice-President, William F. Stearns
Secretary, George E. Moffette
Executive Committee, Preston Cotton, Chairman; Raymond Merrill, Robert V. Davis.

Following the business meeting Mr. John Quincy Adams of Boston gave an interesting talk on "The Layman and the Church." There was a large attendance and the evening closed with refreshments.

ENDEAVOR SOCIAL

The Christian Endeavor Society, of the Second Congregational Church, held a Union Social on Tuesday evening, March 9, at 8.00 o'clock.

The Churches represented were Woburn Congregational, Woburn Baptist, West Medford Congregational and West Medford Baptist. Owing to the tie-up on the Arlington-Stoneham line, the young people from the Arlington Churches were unable to attend.

Many games and singing were enjoyed during the evening, after which refreshments were served.

The guests left after having spent a very pleasant evening.

NEW MASONIC LODGE

A dispensation to organize a new Masonic Lodge in Winchester, to be known as Mystic Valley Lodge, has been granted by M. W. Arthur D. Prince, Grand Master of Masons in Massachusetts to Rt. Wor. Bro. William M. Belcher, Bros. Amasa Harrington, Harris M. Richmond and others.

WILL RESTORE UNITARIAN CHURCHES IN HUNGARY

Rev. Sydney B. Snow, Rev. Joel H. Metcalf and Edw. B. Witte Consecrated

On Monday at 3.30 p. m., in King's Chapel, at Tremont and School streets a most significant service was held, when three Unitarians, two clergymen and one layman, were consecrated for special service, preparatory to their going to Hungary to work for the restoration and upbuilding of the Unitarian churches and the Unitarian residents of that country.

The three men who have volunteered for this service are Rev. Sydney B. Snow, associate minister of King's Chapel, Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of Winchester, and Edward B. Witte of Buffalo, N. Y. All three had experience abroad with the American expeditionary forces during the World War, and will go as representatives of the Unitarians of the United States, who are raising a fund of $50,000 to provide for the relief work.

The Unitarian churches in Hungary are mostly in the far eastern part of the Kingdom, where they were established in the time of Martin Luther, maintaining their existence ever since. They are located in territory which has been ceded to Rumania, but without safeguards for that religious freedom. For that reason this assistance is being sent to them.

Mr. Snow during the war, was associated with the Food Administration and also served as field director for the American Red Cross in the Third Naval District. He sailed for France in November 1918, and went with the victorious American Army into Germany, where he served with the Educational Corps in Coblenz.

Mr. Metcalf has been minister of the Unitarian Church of Winchester since 1910 and is famous because of his astronomical achievements, having discovered several new celestial bodies, with the aid of a telescope set up by him at his home in Winchester. During the war he was a Y. M. C. A. secretary in France, was under fire several times, and at one time suffered severely from shell shock.

Edward B. Wittt is a senor at Harvard College, but has given up his studies to go on this mission. He is an ensign in the Naval Aviation Reserve and saw active service abroad during the World War, volunteering when war broke out and training at Technology Field.

It is expected that the three men will leave Boston this coming week for New York and will sail from there Saturday, March 13, going to London, then to Paris and from there eastward to Hungary.

The service of consecration included an address by Rev. William H. Brummond of London, the only Englishman who has been able to get into Hungary since hostilities began. He described the conditions there. Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, DD., president of the American Unitarian Association, gave the charge to the three men, and Rev. Sydney B. Snow replied for them. The service of worship was conducted by Rev. Eugene R. Shippen of the Second Church, and there was music by the men's choir under the leadership of Dr. Richard C. Cabot.

The service included Holy Communion, administered by Dr. Howard N. Brown, minister of King's Chapel, assisted by Rev. Louis C. Cornish and Rev. Henry Wilder Foote.

SAVE THE CHILDREN !

Philip Sheppard, M. D., D. C., of Hotel Oxford, Copley Square, Boston, Mass., Physician, Chiropractor, and Citizen of this Country, recently returned from his duties in the warfare on the Huns, says: Save the children!

That the mothers of the Twentieth century will go down into history as being true patriots. They have tearfully, ungrudgingly and bravely given of their own flesh and blood that true Democracy might prevail throughout the world and that the strong arm of Imperialism should be shattered once and for all. Now since the war is won it can be said, in more ways than one, that it was won by the Mothers of the Country.

But, listen, you Mothers, who sent your dear boys "over there" to fight for world wide liberty, also have a duty to perform with reference to the babes in your arms and your sons and daughters of tender age. Do you know that not very long ago, at the Y. M. C. A. at Kansas City fifteen hundred boys were examined and fifty percent of them were found to have some form of spinal trouble?

If your little baby is sick, weak, puny or not properly developed in some part of the body there must be a Cause and nine times out of ten it is found in the spine. Do not wait with the expectation that the baby will outlive the weakness; have the spine palpated and if necessary adjusted. Many a boy, many a girl has gone to a premature grave or lingered through life a miserable cripple when a Spinal Analysis made in infancy would have detected some weakness which Chiropractic Adjustments would have corrected.

NATURE IS THE ONLY TRUE HEALER. Spinal Adjustments eliminate the cause of the trouble and MOTHER NATURE HEALS. You say, "Oh, yes, that's a beautiful theory, but like all other beautiful theories, it's too good to be true." It is not only a beautiful theory, but it is beautifully true, as the thousands of men and women who have been helped will attest any day.

"SAVE THE CHILDREN." The children of to-day will be the men and women of to-morrow. You can do this by safeguarding their health while they are still in your arms. My advice to all is See Your Local Chiropractor.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. WINCHESTER 5—BROCKTON 33

The Winchester High School boys basket ball team was defeated by the Brockton High five Friday afternoon at Brockton by the score of 33 to 5. Both teams played a fast game. Brockton kept the ball on her side of the floor most of the game and had a large number of trys at the basket. Considering the condition of the Winchester team they did well to hold their opponents to a score of 33.

The summary:

Goals form the floor; Morse 6, French, Frevegar 3, Howard. Goals from fouls: French 3, Morse 10. Time one 15 minute and two ten minute periods. Score Winchester High 5, and Brockton High 33.

PSYCHOLOGY THE POWER OF SUGGESTION

A short time ago, a Professor of Physchology showed 40 Vassar girls two samples of satin; one pink, one blue, same grade, same value, same artistic worth.

One he described as a delicate warm old red, the other as a faded blue; then he asked them to name their choice.

Thirty-nine out of the forty picked the old red. Why? Because they had been told that it was warm and delicate. No faded blue for them. What did it? The Power of Suggestion. Ambrose Peale says, that 99 percent of the people are sheep, and that if you tell a man something often enough and hard enough he will not only believe you, but will think it his own idea, and will fight for it.

Who is Ambrose Peale?

Why he is the Press Agent appearing with "It Pays to Advertise," to be produced at the Town Hall, next Wednesday evening, by members of the Brookline Catholic Club Dramatic Class, under the personal direction of Charles J. Harrold. You can't afford to miss this screaming farce.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DOLAN

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Dolan widow of James Dolan of 1 Eaton court took place at 10 o'clock Friday morning at St. Mary's Church. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Francis E. Rogers with Rev. Dr. John W. H. Corbett and Rev. Fr. Walter Fegan of St. Charles' Church of Woburn as sub-deacon.

The pall bearers were Joseph Chamberlain and Timothy Callahan sons-in-law, William Crampton and Hugh J. Skerry of Winchester.

The floral tributes, notably from the Standard Oil Company fellow employees of James H. Dolan, son of the deceased and the associates of the daughter of the deceased, Miss Anna M. Dolan, at the Galvin Florist Company of Boston, Winchester Council K. of C., members and friends were very numerous and beautiful.

The interment took place in Calvary Cemetery, East Woburn. The committal prayers at the grave were recited by Fr. Corbett and Rogers.

When putting winter clothes away,
All germ life should be killed,
No soil or stains allowed to stay,
For without cleansing they are filled.

The BAILEY PROCESS this will do,
They will come back both fresh and new
As care and time have thus been spent,
To make you happy and content.

"And There Wasn't the Slightest Smell From Dead Rats."

Writes John Simpkins, farmer of Annadale, N. J. "Rats were costing me hundreds yearly; tried dogs, ferrets, poison, could not get rid of them. Bought $1.00 pkg. of RAT-SNAP (5 cakes). Used half, not a live rat since. Dead ones aplenty. I like RAT-SNAP because after killing rats it dries them us—leaves no smell." Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Leaders Continue to Win as Tournament Nears Close

Leaders in the mixed tournament at the Calumet Club continue to win in their matches. On Monday night team 15, in second place in Division B, again got three points, while on Tuesday night team 4, occupying a similar position in Division A, made a two and one win.

Monday night's matches were productive of some low rolling by teams, although some individuals were well up in scores. Team 24 took two from 21, 15 all three from 23 and 15 all three from 19. Mrs. Proctor led the ladies with a total of 168 on a string of 94. Others to roll up scores Mrs. Parsons 164 with 85, Mrs. Clark 161 with 92, Mrs. Nash 83, Mrs. Rogers 82, Mrs. Soutter and Mrs. Fenno 81 each, Mr. Soutter 214 with 110, Mr. Willey 112.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Two thirds of the boys who went from our school to Dartmouth College last September passed all their mid year examinations. This reflects special credit upon the instruction received in the Winchester High School in view of the fact that it is reported that only 15 per cent of the Freshman Class at Dartmouth passed the mid year examinations without any condition.

We are not moving along in a rut. Several times, recently, classes have carried on recitations themselves owing to absence of the teacher. Pupils in the Mathematics Department are taking Calibrating Tests. A Wireless Club is showing much interest in this branch of Science, and on one occasion a boy who couldn't attend a meeting of the class communicated with the teacher by wireless. Visit the school and find out what a socialized recitation really is; it may surprise you to see a pupil sitting at the teacher's desk conducting a part of the recitation with the teacher acting in a merely advisory capacity. This develops leadership, initiative and confidence among the pupils, and is part of the work we are trying to do, namely to make good citizens.

A LIFE WELL LIVED

To those who knew her well the passing away of Mrs. Annie Lucey Dolan calls for more than casual mention. She was in many ways a remarkable woman. Left a widow with three little ones dependent upon her exertions, she bravely faced the problem of making a home and giving them the right kind of training. To do this she chose the work she felt best qualified to do and day after day for seventeen years she devoted herself to the task of making comfortable the homes of others that she might have her own home. For a few months before the end she had the pleasure of living in the new home she had earned and in which she hoped to spend many days of less strenuous life.

Loyal, dependable—she always kept her word even at great sacrifice—cheerful, no matter how troubled, she gave not only the efficient service which might be demanded but also a genuine but unobtrusive interest in those whose good fortune it was to have her weekly visits. How this was appreciated is shown by the long terms of this relationship, some almost the whole period of her widowhood. Those who thus knew her mourn the loss of a friend who had won their respect and affection.

Her devotion to her children made her take an interest in questions of public welfare and she was quick to grasp and interpret forward movements. To her children she has left an enduring heritage in her example, which may well be an inspiration for all. She has fought a good fight, she has kept the faith, and henceforth is laid up for her a crown of righteousness. W. H. H. T.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE WINCHESTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Mothers' Association was started thirty-two years ago. For twenty years altho' undenominational in spirit, the meetings were held in private houses mostly Congregational, with neighbors always welcome.

In 1907 the Association was thrown open to Mothers of all the town and teachers included.

A yearly fee of 25 cents was then charged. The Social hour was cared for by committees in rotation, and cost but little. Then also, were planned and carried out for several years, monthly social meetings between parents and teachers. These were generally by one school at a time, and came in the middle of the time between regular meetings. An occasional evening meeting for the opportunity of fathers, once or twice a season.

During the season of 1908-9 the Association was honored by a formal invitation from the School Board to make its future home in the High School Building, room 30 being offered to it. In two more seasons, room 30 was outgrown, and the Assembly Hall has been used since. The Library also, for the Social hour, and a shelf for the small library of the Association. Little children who could not be left at home have been cared for by a kindergartner in the Teachers' Room.

The Board of Management has been made up of Mothers from the different churches, and from all parts of the town.

The regular meetings have been varied by a garden party in June and a Christmas Sale in December. The meetings occur on the third Wednesday of each month except July and August.

The Association has always held to the utmost simplicity of form, the least possible of distracting business, and the least possible of money, and the most of service and friendly social spirit.

The Association is and has always been virtually a parent-teachers' Association, fathers being always welcome and teachers always among its members.

Its aim has been mutual helpfulness in all matters concerning home and school life, chiefly the home, as out of it are the "issues of life," to the children.

The following suggestions quoted from the recent "Report of the Committee of Fifteen" show where the Association can put in needed help.

"The sympathetic cooperation of the parent is urged."

"More social affairs for teachers, pupils and parents."

"The teachers invite, and the Committee fully endorses, the revival of that good old fashioned custom of visiting the schools."

The deferred annual meeting of the Mothers' Association will be held on Wednesday, March 17 in the High School Assembly Hall at 3 o'clock. Election of officers and social hour. A large attendance is urged.

MRS. ELIZABETH CULLEN BURIED

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Cullen, widow of James Cullen of 10 Hill street took place at St. Mary's Church Friday. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Dr. John W. Corbett, with Rev. Fr. Francis E. Rogers as deacon and Rev. Fr. Walter Fegan of St. Charles' Church of Woburn as subdeacon.

There was a large attendance at the funeral services of members of the Married Ladies' Sodality, of which Mrs. Cullen was a member. Many floral tributes from friends of the deceased and of her sons and daughters and their business associates, covered the casket.

The pallbearers included Michael Sullivan, John F. O'Connor, John McCarron, Thomas Kelley and Mark Kelley of Winchester and Thomas Smith of Worcester. The interment took place in Calvary Cemetery, Woburn.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

It takes an expert to impress us with how little we really know.

Some busy people are like horses in a pasture: they run around a lot and never get anywhere.

The labor question will never be solved until necessity for work is eliminated.

Science tunnels mountains while faith is figuring to move them.

Lots of people never cast their bread on the waters until it gets so stale dog's won't eat it.

And still we find some people "who do so love the winter."

There has been some criticism this week over the Highway Department throwing snow onto the tracks of the Stoneham electrics. Insomuch as this was done, and as it was done only as a measure of safety and without any rancour or enmity, an explanation should be made. On Monday it was announced that attempt to operate the road would be given up. The storm had made many places, especially on Washington street near Cross and Westley streets, almost impassible, it being hardly possible for a vehicle or sleigh to turn into some of the cross streets. To obviate this condition, and especially to afford fire protection in case the apparatus had call on these streets, Supt. of Streets Clark had various portions of the track filled in to make cross-overs. This was done only where necessary and only as a measure of safety. When it was decided Monday night to dig the electric line out, these cross-overs were removed.

CITIZENS SHOULD ATTEND TOWN MEETING

To the Editor of the Star:

There are many good and sufficient reasons why citizens should be faithful in their attendance at Town Meeting. I had never supposed, however, that among these could be counted the fear that at a subsequent meeting, the minority would take advantage of a technical error in a former vote to make null and void the will of the majority.

On March 1st, one of the largest and most representative meetings ever held in Winchester, after prolonged and exhaustive discussion, voted 260 to 105, an issue of bonds. Owing to an error in this vote, the matter came up for reconsideration at the Meeting on March 8th, at which the attendance was very small. Here the discussion was again prolonged upon the initiative of the minority although it developed no new arguments pro or con. At length, upon division, it was found that the motion was lost by a few votes, and that a minority of 85 had succeeded in reversing the verdict of 260 to 105 of the previous week.

This sort of maneuvre might be not unexpected from an assembly where the Parliamentary strategy of Ward Politics is the rule, but one does not look for such action in a town like Winchester. This somewhat sharp practise has not occurred before, so far as I can recall, and, I think, should not occur again. The minority should be content and should not, unless upon new and important evidence, seek to overturn the will of a large majority, which has been previously expressed.

The mutual confidence between citizens of our Town is paramount, and transcends in importance any question affecting the material interests of the Town.

HENRY T. SCHAEFER DEAD

Word was received Saturday of the death of Mr. Henry T. Schaefer at Jacksonville, Florida, after a protracted illness. Mr. Schaefer will be remembered as a former well known resident of this town. During his residence here he was active in politics, as he was in subsequent years in State activities. He was one of the best known Democrats in this section.

For the past 17 years Mr. Schaefer had resided in Jamaica Plain. He was 69 years old, and for many years was engaged in the oil business.

Although born in New York, Henry Schaefer spent practically his entire adult life in Massachusetts, where the part he played in State politics will be remembered many a day. He was one of the most vigorous and fearless political figures in the field.

He became prominent in the business and the social life of Boston soon after he established himself here, and was known as an able student of economics, and a keen investigator of industrial development.

His political activities were practically confined to the Democratic party, although in 1912, he had some defection to the ranks of the Bull Moosers. He was an alternate to the convention in Chicago in 1896, when Bryan was given his first nomination, and it was during this time that he became closely allied with George Fred Williams, and proved himself one of the shrewdest political workers in the Bay State.

Later, after the formation of the Bryan Club, of which Mr. Schaefer was selected as Chairman, he conducted the fight for the Democratic candidate for President in a manner that drew praise from Bryan himself. He held position as member of the Democratic State Committee for eight years, and was an advisor for many years after.

In 1904 he was unsuccessful candidate for Secretary of State. In 1906 his sensational charges that he had been approached and asked how much money he would contribute if he were given the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, brought about one of the liveliest political rumpuses in recent political history in this State. There was a full jury hearing and much fireworks, but the sole result was that the jury reported "no bill."

In 1915 he declined to run for the position of Secretary of State. The chief thing that characterized Mr. Schaefer's political life was his aim to unify and harmonize the political actions of Bay State Democracy.

GRANGE NOTES

Winchester Grange held a very interesting meeting at Lyceum Hall on Tuesday evening, March 9. Much business was transacted and a lively rehearsal of the ladies degree team finished the evening.

A good number of candidates were balloted for that they may be given the first and second degrees at the next regular meeting Tuesday evening, March 23.

Miss Lillian Breslin of Woburn Grange the Master of the Star Ladies' Degree Team very kindly came to Winchester on Tuesday to coach the team for Winchester.

Past Master Albert Little of Woburn Grange resplendent with his new past master's jewel was present also Mrs. Little both of whom gave a short address, complimentary to our good fortune in securing Master Frank T. Marston to serve in that office.

For the lecture hour, our worthy Lecturer, Mrs. Helen E. Dewar prepared a snipping party. A line was fastened across the hall on which were hung small inexpensive packages and every one who paid a nickel was blindfolded and given a pair of scissors with which to snip a package. Besides lots of fun a small sum was realized. Refreshments were served and business resumed.

The same committees were appointed for the next whist party which will be held in Lyceum Hall on Tuesday evening, March 30.

The third and fourth degrees will be conferred on the same class of candidates at the first meeting in April.

Winchester Grange received a cordial invitation to visit Malden Grange on March 26 to hear a stereopticon lecture by the Hood Milk Co. Those who did not attend the meeting on Tuesday evening and who wish to go to Malden please send their names to our secretary. Mrs. Caldwell as Malden Grange would like to know how many to provide refreshments for.

A new quarter will soon be over and those in arrears with dues would help greatly if they would attend to the matter.

We look for a large attendance at the next meeting March 23 to welcome the new members. Please everybody make an effort to be present.

MRS. WILLIAM G. CHAFEE

Mrs. Emma A. Chaffee, widow of the late William G. Chafee, aged 90 years and one of the oldest residents of this town, passed away at her home on Pine street, Monday of infirmities due to her advanced age.

Mrs. Chafee was born in Lowell and was the daughter of Levi and Cynthia (Kimball) Carter. Until she was seven years of age she made her home in this town with her aunt, and later came here to make her permanent home. Aside from her early residence here she had resided in Winchester for a period of about 68 years.

She married William G. Chafee of North Woodstock, Conn., in 1855. He died in 1906. In 1851 she united with the First Congregational Church, of which she was a member at the time of her death, as well as of the Home Missionary Society and the Foreign Missionary Society. She leaves one daughter, Miss Mary S. Chafee of this town.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Richardson at the residence on Wednesday afternoon at tow. There was a large attendance of old friends and many beautiful floral tributes. The interment was in the family lot in Wildwood cemetery.

Last week in a Boston office I was introduced to a man who certainly believes in Life insurance.

He carried it when he had to borrow to pay premiums, and at times his Life Insurance was his only asset.

He is now wealthy and carries over Seven Hundred Thousand Dollars on his life.

His most certain asset.

He has the limit in the Northwestern, and I should like to quote his remarks concerning that company but modesty forbids.

He began with a small amount and increased it as rapidly as possible. Moral?

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Pullen, assistant to Mr. Chidley fell on the ice Wednesday and severely sprained her ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Gyzi of Lawrence street suffered the death of their infant daughter, Marga, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Porter of Vine street are the parents of a son, born Tuesday.

Mr. George H. Huse, formerly a well known resident of this town, is spending the winter at the Forest Inn, Summerville, S. C.

The High School Recorder for March was issued yesterday. It is one of the most attractive numbers thus far this season. The Recorder is printed at the STAR office.

A meeting of the Auxiliary of Winchester Post, American Legion, was held last evening at the residence of Mrs. Annie Bennett, 202 Washington street.

The Winchester Democratic Town Committee organized on Wednesday night with Edward F. Maguire chairman, Patrick E. Fitzgerald Secretary and Whitfield L. Tuck Treasurer.

Mrs. William E. Cummings of Elmwood avenue suffered the death of her brother, Frank P. Crawford, in North Carolina, this week. The remains are to be brought here, and funeral services will be held in the Forest Hills chapel Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Henry Emerson was very painfully injured on Friday morning of last week while in a taxi on the way to the train. The taxi skidded on the ice and threw Mr. Emerson through the windshield badly injuring his nose and face. After being attended by a doctor, he returned home. The accident was unavoidable on account of the uncertain going.

The big factory of Beggs & Cobb has been closed down during the week. The strike in progress in the patent leather factory had slowed the work up only a small portion up to Saturday, new men being taken on constantly to fill the striker's positions, but the storm made the roads impassable, and it was deemed best to close during the week, the other big factory being closed to allow the completion of new construction now going on.

On Wednesday morning the gates at the Converse Dam on Main street were opened by the town engineers for the first time since the structure has been completed. It is thought that by doing this the water will be somewhat lower and give relief to the flooded cellars in the centre. By the opening of the gates two 30-inch pipes are put in commission, carrying the water under the dam. With the opening of thawing weather many of the cellars in the business portion of the centre are flooding.

Along the banks of the be-willowed Aberjona river in Winchester a number of canoes are hibernating under drifts of snow, but I'll wager these same cockles will be very much in evidence when ice has disappeared—and that should be about Patriot's day or thereabouts. A favorite trip for the venturesome canoeist of Winchester takes in the lakes, Mystic river and Boston harbor, and, on occasion, canoes have successfully undertaken coastwise passages to the enchanted isles of the gulf of Maine. Bob Dunbar in the Boston Herald.

SPECIAL BOWLING FOR LADIES

Town. This required a rising vote and was carried 56 to 43 after a vote by acclamation appeared to reject the motion.

Under Article 15 it was moved that $2,000 be appropriated for a School Survey, Chairman Parsons of the Committee of Fifteen explaining that by applying to the Department of the Interior, the United States Government would cooperate in such a survey and stand half the expense. The meeting did not want the survey, however.

Article 14 called for a dental dispensary, and $1900 was moved for its establishment with dental chair, fixtures, etc., in the Prince School, but after Chairman Allen had explained the $500 was allowed for the work which could better be done in the local dental offices, the motion was rejected.

It was announced at this time that the tax rate figured at $25.29.

Under Article 16 it was voted to increase the School Committee to six members, two to be elected annually when in force.

Article 24, the Building Laws, so-called, was voted, the meeting deciding to adopt the draft presented by the committee. It received Mr. Charles T. Main's approval although others opposed adoption and thought the action hasty.

Article 18, the permanent War Memorial, evolved into a lengthy discussion. The Committee presented its report for a building on the northerly part of Manchester field, suitable for athletics and recreation and housing the local Legion, recommending the appointment of a committee of five, with $2000 for expenses, to report at the next annual meeting.

The opposition was to the committing of the Town to a special form of memorial and in advocating raising the money by free will offerings rather than taxation, and it was after the debate had carried the meeting along to 10.30 that a motion to table was made and the meeting adjourned.

NOTES

Mr. Hall's humor again appeared. Did Mr. Ives see it?

From published reports it appears that we might well have a larger School Committee. The ladies will be represented of course.

Several of the committee reports were quite lengthy, and should be published for the benefit of those who were not able to attend the meeting.

The West Side reservoir is reported in bad shape, and its investigation is said to be much needed, opinion being divided on a new tank or repairs to the present one.

The victory of the School Committee in carrying its motion for a motor bus led it to try its luck again on the dental dispensary, but Chairman Allen attended to that.

The Education Survey rejection seemed poor economy. Many citizens agreed with Mr. Parsons that this could well be undertaken with the cooperation of the U. S. Government.

A well atended meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion was held at the home of Mrs. Annie Bennett, Washington street last evening. Plans are underway for a food and fancy work sale to be held early in May. The Ladies are selling a box of jellies etc., for the sick World War Veterans, at the Chelsea hospital.

GOOD COOK TO BE ENVIED

Always Sure of Popularity is the Person Who Can Concoct Dishes That Are Appetizing

To prove that there is nothing intrinsically humble or shameful in cooking it is only necessary to mention a hunting or fishing party. The man who can turn out a palatable dish is envied and lauded. The college girl who can concoct midnight suppers over a can of frozen alcohol or a gas jet is sure of popularity. Many of the great men of the earth have practiced cooking as an accomplishment. Louis XV, one of the extremest connoisseurs in the art of living, prided himself on his coffee. One of the most famous of table sauce was invented by a gentleman of Worcestershire. Many great ladies of olden times used to exchange recipes. Sir Kenelem Digby, an adventurous and scholarly soul, left a fat volume full of them, ranging from simple apple sauce to the most refined elaboration of game.

It is not even necessary that cookery should aspire to the phase called "fancy" to be artistic. Above all, the sauce, that idol of the professional chef, should be dethroned from its bad eminence. The sauce is the mother of nightmares. The dish itself and not it accompaniments, is the thing. Cooking is real, cooking is earnest, and the gravy is not its goal.—Exchange.

PEARLS

A pearl is built up in layers, like an onion. The layers are very hard, but with sufficient skill one layer after another may be removed or "peeled." Sometimes a pearl that appears dull, spotted or imperfect in shape, when peeled yields a gem of great value. Dull rough pearls, bought for a few dollars, are sometimes sold for many hundreds of dollars after having been peeled.

LADIES FRIENDLY LUNCHEON

The Ladies Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church, held their monthly luncheon, on Tuesday March 9, at one o'clock. Mrs. Wallace Flanders and Mrs. F. C. Alexander had charge of the luncheon and the menu was excellent.

It was with regret that Rev. and Mrs. Metcalf were not present, as this was the last gathering at the church, before Mr. Metcalf started for his Hungarian Exposition. A message of good cheer was sent to Mr. Metcalf and one of love to Mrs. Metcalf, who is at present at the Metcalf hospital, Winthrop, Mass.

After luncheon the regular meeting of the Alliance was held with very good attendance. Miss Gertrude Felber rendered two very delightful violin solos, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. A. H. Abbott. Rev. A. C. Dieffenbach, editor of the Christian Register, was the speaker and his talk on "Spiritual Law and Personal Efficiency," was most interesting and he used the black board to illustrate his subjects.

When Honey Bees Will Sting.

Dark colors seem to be more offensive to bees than light, and the person dressed in dark garments should show more caution when handling these useful insects. Offensive odors are also objectionable to them, and the person recently returning from working in the stable or whose perspiration has a distinct odor should show some discretion in making himself familiar around the beehive.—Clintonville Gazette.

MORTAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

WINCHESTER TRUST COMPANY

PEARY'S EXPLORATIONS IN THE FAR NORTH

By Gilbert Grosvenor
President of the National Geographic Society.

It has been my privilege to know Admiral Peary intimately for twenty years, and I find it difficult to express my admiration and affection for his personal qualities, the bigness of his heart and personality, his loyal devotion to his friends, his rugged integrity and his love for everything American.

The struggle for the North Pole began nearly one hundred years before the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth Rock, being inaugurated (1527) by that king of many distinctions, Henry VIII of England.

Scores of hardy navigators, British, French, Dutch, German, Scandinavian, and Russian, followed Davis, all seeking to hew across the Pole the much-coveted short route to China and the Indies. The rivalry was keen and costly in lives, ships, and treasures, but from the time of Henry VIII for three and one-half centuries, or until 1882 (with the exception of 1594-1606, when, through Wm. Barnets, the Dutch held the record), Great Britain's flag was always waving nearest the top of the globe.

Immense treasures of money and lives were expended by the nations to explore the northern ice world and to attain the apex of the earth. But all efforts to reach the Pole had failed, notwithstanding the unlimited sacrifice of gold and energy and blood which had been poured out without stint for nearly four centuries.

A brief summer excursion to Greenland in 1886 aroused Robert E. Peary, a civil engineer in the United States Navy, to an interest in the polar problem. Peary a few years previously had been graudated from Bowdoin College second in his class, a position which means unusual mental vigor in an institution which is noted for the fine scholarship and intellect of its alumni. He realized at once that the goal which had eluded so many hundreds of ambitious and dauntless men could be won only by a new method of attack.

The first arctic problem with which Peary grappled was considered at that time in importance second only to the conquest of the Pole; namely, to determine the insularity of Greenland and the extent of its projection northward. At the very beginning of his first expedition to Greenland, in 1891, he suffered an accident which surely taxed his patience as well as his body, and which is mentioned here as it illustrates the grit and stamina of his moral and physical make-up. As his ship, the Kite, was working its way through the ice fields off the Greenland shore, a cake of ice became wedged in the rudder, causing the wheel to reverse. One of the spokes jammed Peary's leg against the casement, making it impossible to extricate himself until both bones of the leg were broken. The party urged him to return to the United States for the winter and to resume his exploration the following year. But Peary insisted on being landed as originally planned at McCormick Bay, stating that the money of his friends had been invested in the project and that he must "make good" to them. The assiduous nursing of Mrs. Peary, aided by the bracing air, so speedily restored his strength that at the ensuing Christmas festivities which were arranged for the Eskimos, he outraced on snowshoes all the natives and his own men!

In the following May, with one companion, Astrup, he ascended to the summit of the great ice cap which covers the interior of Greenland, 5000 to 8000 feet in elevation, and pushed northward for 500 miles over a region where the foot of man had never trod before, in temperatures ranging 10° to 50° below zero. Imagine his surprise on descending from the tableland to enter a little valley radiant with gorgeous flowers and alive with murmuring bees, where musk oxen were lazily browsing.

This sledding journey, which he duplicated by another equally remarkable crossing of the ice cap three years later, defined the northern extension of Greenland and conclusively proved that it is an island instead of a continent extending to the Pole. In boldness of conception and brilliancy of results these two crossings of Greenland are unsurpassed in arctic history. The magnitude of Peary's feat is better appreciated when it is recalled that Nansen's historic crossing of the island was below the Arctic Circle, 1000 miles south of Peary's latitude, where Greenland is some 250 miles wide.

Peary now turned his attention to the Pole, which lay 396 geographical miles farther north than any man had penetrated on the western hemisphere. To get there by the American route he must break a virgin trail every mile north from Greeley's 83° 24'. No one had pioneered so great a distance northward. Markham and others had attained enduring fame by advancing the flag considerably less than 100 miles, Perry had pioneered 150 miles, and Nansen 128 from his ship.

His experiences in Greenland had convinced Peary, if possible more firmly than before, that the only way of surmounting this last and most formidable barrier was to adopt the manner, and life, the food, the snowhouses, and the clothing of the Eskimos, who by centuries of experience had learned the most effective method of combating the rigors of arctic weather; to utilize the game of the northland, the artic reindeer, musk ox etc., which his explorations had proved comparatively abundant, thus with fresh meat keeping his men fit and good-tempered through the depressing winter night; and lastly to train the Eskimo to become his sledging crew.

In his first north polar expedition, which lasted for four years, 1898-1902, Peary failed to get nearer than 343 miles to the Pole. Each successive year dense packs of ice blocked the passage to the polar ocean, compelling him to make his base approximately 700 miles from the Pole, or 200 miles south of the headquarters of Nares, too great a distance from the Pole to be overcome in one short season. During this trying period, by sledging feats which in distance and physical obstacles overcome exceeded the extraordinary records made in Greenland, he explored and mapped hundreds of miles of coast line of Greenland and of the islands west and north of Greenland.

On the next attempt, Peary insured reaching the polar ocean by designing and constructing the Roosevelt, whose resistless frame crushed its way to the desired haven on the shores of the polar sea. From here he made that wonderful march of 1906 to 87° 6', a new world's record. Winds of unusual fury, by opening big leads, robbed him of the Pole and nearly of his life.

The last Peary expedition 1908-1909 resulted in the discovery of the Pole and of the deep ocean surrounding it. The 396 miles from Greely's farthest had been vanquished as follows: 1900, 30 miles; 1902, 23 miles; 1906, 169 miles; 1909, 174 miles.

No better proof of the minute care with which every campaign was prearranged can be given than the fact that, though Peary has taken hundreds of men north with him on his various expeditions, he has brought them all back, and in good health, with the exception of two, who lost their lives in accidents for which the leader was in no wise responsible. What a contrast this record is to the long list of fatalities from disease, frost, shipwreck, and starvation which in the popular mind has made the word arctic synonymous with tragedy and death.

Thus Robert E. Peary crowned a life devoted to the exploration of the icy north and to the advancement of science by the hard-won discovery of the North Pole. The prize of four centuries of striving yielding at last to the most persistent and scientific attack ever waged against it. Peary's success was made possible by long experience, which gave him a thorough knowledge of the difficulties to be overcome, and by an unusual combination of mental and physical power—a resourcefulness which enabled him to find a way to surmount all obstacles, a tenacity and courage which knew no defeat, and a physical endowment such as nature gives to few men.

It has been well said that the glory of Peary's achievement belongs to the world and is shared by all mankind. But we, his fellow-country men, who have known how he struggled these many years against discouragement and scoffing and how he persevered under financial burdens that would have crushed less stalwart shoulders, specially rejoice that he "made good at last," and that an American has become the peer of Hudson, Magellan, and Columbus.

Peary's first address to the National Geographic Society was in the fall of 1888, when The Society was only a few months old. He then described an expidition which he had led across Nicaragua. He has been actively associated with its work ever since those early days, and on his return from each of his expeditions to the far north, his first public address was to the National Geographic Society. His last public appearance was on the platform of the National Geographic Society when in January, 1919, he introduced Stefansson, who had just returned from the Canadian North.

In 1907, he was presented the Hubbard Gold Medal of The Society by President Roosevelt, and in 1909 a Special Gold Medal for his discovery of the North Pole and later was a member of its Board of Managers for years.

A NEW COAT-OF-ARMS

The Canadian Government is considering adopting a new coat-of-arms for the Dominion—one which shall represent all the provinces in the Confederation. The present coat of arms is representative of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick only, for those were the original provinces; and since it was adopted, in 1858, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia have entered the Federation, Manitoba has been constituted, and finally Saskatchewan and Alberta have been carved out of what were the Northwest Territories. When a design emblematic of these nine provinces has been chosen by the committee and approved by the Government it will be submitted to the Royal College of Heralds in England to be registered. A royal warrant delaring it the official arms of Canada will then be issued.

sooner had the subject been opened up than opposition arose. Mr. A. S. Hall advocating the rejection of the bond issue. He felt the sum of $20,000 was large when it was taken into consideration that one-half the sidewalk costs were paid by abutors. Present costs were high now and to borrow at this time and pay off in five years represented no advantages; the Town had better pay and be done with it rather than put it off till tomorrow. He did not oppose good sidewalks and was willing to put $10,000 into them on a revenue appropriation, and he proposed increasing the Finance Committee's recommendation by that amount.

Mr. Davidson stated that the abutors' half on sidewalk costs went into revenue and was not used for additional construction. He felt the work of construction was needed to keep labor employed. The appropriation, if raised by revenue, would increase the tax rate to $27 or $29, and this would not attract new residents or development. $20,000 would build today three to six miles of sidewalks; the Finance appropriation would build about one half mile. The Selectmen were unable to provide for the construction of sidewalks for all who applied for them, and many petitions had been carried over.

Chairman Allen of the Finance Committee still opposed the bond issue and thought it far better to construct what we can out of revenue. He stated that such petitions as had been carried over amounts to $1,700 and as the committee recommended an appropriation of $5,000, these and incoming petitions would be cared for. A bond issue meant not simply $20,000, but rather $23,000 in five years, and at top prices for construction.

Mr. Preston Pond, a previous advocate of the bond issue, again presented this side of the case, citing some of the poor sidewalks in the neighborhood of the Chapin and Washington schools, and at the Medford line.

Mr. Newman stated that the $1,700 applied for last year by petitions represented only such work as the Town could not provide for, and incoming petitions would be greatly in excess of that sum.

Mr. McGaragle arose to propound two questions, which he propounded and which were not at that time answered, they requiring time for reflection.

Mr. Snyder favored a bond issue and Mr. Rowe thought that as the previous session had voted the issue, the meeting should stand by that decision. Mr. Allen then answered Mr. McGaragle's questions propounded previously, evidently to that gentleman's satisfaction. He stated that it was no idea of his to open up discussion again on the matter, but as it had been done, and as the meeting contained citizens who were not at the previous meeting, he felt it proper to again state the Finance Committee's position, especially as this committee can forsee in the near future important and large expenditures which will have to be financed by bond issues.

Mr. Davidson stated that the Town can borrow $375,000 within its debt limit and can go outside if necessary. It need not worry about a few small things which the Finance Committee had in mind. Mr. Hall spoke again in opposition.

A Rising vote was called, two-thirds affirmative being necessary for the bond issue. The vote resulted in 124 yea, 85 nay, the bond issue being lost on the two-thirds vote necessary. Mr. Hall then moved an increase of $10,000 to the Highways account for sidewalks, which was voted, making the appropriation $87,037, $17,800 of which is for sidewalks.

The appropriation for Fire Department was raised $150 without discussion to care for increased expense due to employment of new men who had reached the maximum salary.

Article 9 was taken up during the appropriations and the Selectmen authorized to appoint an Inspector of Wires at a salary of $300.

When Parks and Playgrounds was reached Mr. Davidson moved an increase of $1,500, making the total $7,800. This increase he explained was for the construction of a path from Mt. Vernon to Nelson street, around the pond.

Mr. Allen stated that of the appropriation recommended $1,000 was for this purpose, it appearing under pay roll; if the addition asked for was granted, it would make this part of the appropriation $2,500.

Mr. Davidson stated that the increase in pay roll was for hiring an additional man, the two now employed being unable to take care of all the work.

A rising vote granted the increase, making the appropriation $7,800.

Mr. Davidson moved an increase in the Poor appropriation of $2,000. He stated that while the Town could spend as much on poor as was necessary, it only received consideration in reemburscement from the State on its voted appropriation and it was necessary to spend a larger sum, such sum should be appropriated. His motion was opposed by Mr. Allen and lost on the following vote.

The school appropriation came in for some discussion, Mr. Tuck moving to cut the Superintendent $1,000 and add this amount to the salary paid the five lowest salaried teachers. Mr. Allen pointed out that the teachers had been granted a flat increase of $200 dating from December and that the Town did not fix individual salaries for the school staff. The appropriation as recommended was passed.

There was some discussion over the salary of the Town Clerk. The Finance Committee recommended $512.50, and Town Counsel Joslin explained that this office carried with it outside renumerations which had at various times been allowed and refused the Clerk. In order to settle the standing in the matter he proposed an increase in salary to $712.50. This was voted.

The Water Department asked for an increase of $3,000, chairman Kendall speaking in effect as previously recorded. This was granted.

NOTES

Mr. Craughwell was missed.

Mr. Snyder favored the bond issue; but not in his usual vigorous style.

Where were those five lowest paid teachers, and what were their emotions.

Lawyer Hall has a lot of dry humor. You would know it the minute you saw him.

Mr. Willey performed his labor last week. He was not present—evidently interviewing a prominent Republican speaker.

Some had pedicted a meeting so small that it would be necessary to adjourn it. Nevertheless it was noticable that all the prophets were present.

Town Clerk Carter appeared satisfied, for he could place every confidence in Mr. Joslin. How Mr. Fausey felt one could not tell, but the meeting gave him its confidence.

Chairman Allen of the Finance Committee continues to prove an able leader with an intimate grasp of all town affairs, as well as a fluent speaker who has the happy faculty of carrying an argument without personalities or rancour.

Even if he has served three years on the Committee, he may well be continued in that important office.

The advocates of the bond issue represented a strong group of citizens, but outside of Mr. Davidson and Mr. Pond no one appeared to be really enthused over the question.

Mr. Kendall presented some interesting facts concerning our water supply. It is gratifying to have a public official who takes such a working interest in the department placed in his care. Is it possible to construct a reservoir in the west side hills? He can probably tell us.

If the meeting is to be further favored by the gentleman who propounds questions, it should prove attractive to our lawyers. His nimble mind travels fast, and his tongue keeps pace with it. His question No. 1 appeared as clear as mud to most of the voters, but his No. 2 required thought. However, Chairman Allen solved it, although it took a pencil and paper to do it.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Attention is called to the regular meeting of The Fortnightly which will occur one week from next Monday afternoon, March 22nd. Dallas Lore Sharp will lecture. As this meeting is one of the "opportunities" of the Club year, and as many besides members of the Club, will be eager to hear a man so well known through his lectures, magazine articles and books, it was voted at the last meeting to make this a Public Meeting, admission fee to be paid at the door.

To this meeting the girls of the Junior and Senior Classes of the High School and daughters of members, above these classes and under twenty years of age are invited as guests of the Club. Tickets for the High School girls may be obtained at the Office. Members of the Club who have daughters "above these classes and under twenty years of age" may obtain tickets by applying to the Treasurer, Mrs. F. A. Scales, telephone number 688-W. As Mr. Sharp has such a fund of knowledge of things of vital interest to boys, the Executive Committee feels that the boys of the Junior and Senior classes of the High School will find both pleasure and profit in this lecture, and extends to them the invitation to be guests of The Fortnightly on that afternoon. They may obtain tickets at the High School Office.

Among the coming events of the Club, in which it is hoped every member will consider herself a part, will be a Conservation Conference toward the latter part of April, probably the 23rd, in the Unitarian Church. This is to be an all day conference. All Club members of the State are invited and especially those of the Sixth District to which we belong. As plans are perfected, further information will appear. Early notice is given that Club women may reserve this date for this important Club event.

The next meeting of the Literature Class will be held in the High School Library, on Monday, March 15th, at 3 o'clock. The program is in charge of Mrs. Charles Dutch. The subject is Life and Works of Merrick, the young English author for whom Henry James and Dean Howells stand as sponsors. Tea will be served. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested.

At the regular meeting of the Club held Monday, March 8th, Mrs. G. F. Wingate was announced as auditor for next year.

It was voted to take fifty dollars from the Philanthropy Fund for the work of the American College at Springfield and twenty-five dollars from the same fund for the Winchester Y. D. Boys. It was also voted, on recommendation of the Executive Board, to give the apparatus from the Chapin School playground to the Park Commission. The Executive Board also brought a recommendation, to be voted upon at the next meeting, that the money from the Vacation School Fund and the Playground Fund be transferred to the Building Fund. At the conclusion of the business meeting the President again called attention to the appeal from the Parker Hill Hospital for jelly and preserves for the invalid soldiers there. Such donations should be left at the Winchester Exchange.

The entertainment of the afternoon, for which the program was published in the last issue of "The Star," was a great success. Mrs. Whittam, who arranged "Old Tales Retold" showed a true artistic sense in the reproduction, in tableaux, of the masterpieces of the modern artists, Maxfield Parrish, Jessie Wilcox Smith and Edmund Dulac; also in the readings which she gave to accompany them. But all this might have been ineffective had it not been for the careful posing of those who served as figures in the pictures reproduced. Miss Brenda Bond was delightful in the songs which accompanied the tableaux from Mother Goose. Little Betty Sweetser was grace itself in her artistically rendered solo dances. And Mrs. Lefavor accompanied both songs and dancing with her usual skill. The program was in every way a credit to the Art Committee who had charge of it, and who had spent much time, thought and energy in its preparation.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE

"Bab" with Helen Hayes, and a distinguished company begins its fifth big week at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, Monday night, and appears to be established as one of the outstanding comedy successes of many years. This play, written by Edward Childs Carpenter from the famous sub-deb stories of Mary Roberts Rinehart, has an appeal to all ages of playgoers, by reason of its humorous situations, and its breeziness, and Miss Hayes, a new star on the theatrical horizon, has created nothing short of a sensation. Many critics predict that she is destined to become the successor of Maude Adams, whom she resembles in many respects. Physically, she is the ideal of the character of the romantic schoolgirl depicted by Mrs. Rinehart, and laughs abound throughout the performance at the Hollis. The supporting company includes a notable cast, among them being Tom Powers, the creator of the role of 'Oh, Boy,' George Alison, Arthur Eldred, Grace Henderson, Katherine Alexander, Claribel Campbell, Helen Gurney, Junius Matthews, and Raymond Griffiths.

TREMONT THEATRE

Next Monday at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, Marc Klaw will present his big musical attraction, "Dere Mable." In a season which has brought so many brilliant musical attractions this announcement will come as most pleasing news because advance reports have proclaimed that this attraction ranks in quality with the best of the season's offerings.

"Dere Mable" has been suggested in characters by the famous letters of Edward Streeter who made of his hero, "Bill," one of the best loved of comic personages. This was gained through his letters to his sweetheart, whom he affectionately termed in his bad spelling, Dere Mable. The plot of the present piece, for it has a clearly defined and swiftly moving humorous story, concerning Bill's adventures once he has returned home fresh from his triumphs as a decorated hero. His honors were easily and pleasantly borne while in the service, but it is a different story when he lands home.

The part of Bill is taken by Louis Bennison, a young comedian of quick rise to fame in his craft who first burst upon Broadway with consequent enthusiastic acclaim in "Johnny Get Your Gun." Sam Ash, the young singer reputed to have the best tenor voice on the comedy stage and to be an excellent comedian as well, will also be seen in the cast. The beautiful Norma Brown will bestow her breezy and charming personality on Mabel, and others in the cast will be Robert Woolsey, Elizabeth Jones, Sidney Reynolds, Frank Watzman, Frank Walsh, Jack Russell, James Horton, Edwin Forsberg, Jack Rafael, and Max Myers. There is also a stunning chorus of beautiful young women who have been styled, "A coterie of capering captivating choristers."

The engagement is limited to three weeks only. The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given, and mail orders will be carefully filled.

Among the features in prospect are summer hikes under the guidance of the counsellors. The club is meeting Saturday afternoons at three in the church.

Charles L. Crockett, alies Ralph Wilson, known to the police as the "Schoolhouse Thief" was given 3 to 3 1-2 years in State's Prison by Judge O'Connell in the superior criminal court at East Cambridge Tuesday after he had pleaded guilty to eight out of nine indictments which charged him with breaking and entering. The indictment that Crockett was sentenced upon charged him with breaking and entering a school house in Medford. Dist. Atty. Tufts asked that a state's prison sentence be given to Crockett.

Crockett was arrested in Winchester last January and confessed to breaking and entering the high school in Winchester and schools in other cities and towns.

The Young People's Society for Christian Endeavor at the Second Congregational Church is planning a strenuous year. A budget system of handling finances has been successfully inaugurated and the Society has determined on a membership of at least a hundred active workers before the end of the year. It has accepted the challenge of other societies of Sagamore Union to develop the largest percentage of expert Endeavorers. The Society will open the doors of the church to the entire community on March 26th, at which time a play and musical entertainment will be presented, the proceeds going toward pushing the income side of the budget "over the top."

FIRE TUESDAY MORNING

The fire department was called out at five minutes of two Tuesday morning for the first serious fire to occur since the first big snow storm made its appearance. The blaze was in a new bungalow on Woodside road being erected by Mr. Herbert E. Gleason. It evidently caught from salamanders being used to dry plaster.

The inside of the house was badly gutted and the damage will be nearly complete. The fire apparatus had a hard time reaching the fire on Woodside road, although little difficulty was experienced up to that point. Two hours' work was necessary before the fire was extinguished.

M. FORREST C. RIVINIUS

Mr. Forrest C. Rivinius of Cambridge father of Mr. George A. Rivinius, passed away on Wednesday afternoon after a week's illness of pneumonia. He would have been fifty-eight years old on the 28th of this month.

Besides his wife, who was Mary Ambrose, daughter of Judge Ambrose of Nebraska, and his son, he leaves three grandchildren, Rosamond, Geo. Jr., and Ellen Marian.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL GRADUATION

All friends of the Hospital and of the nurses are cordially invited to attend the graduation exercises to be held on Tuesday, March 23rd at 8 P. M. in the High School Assembly Hall.

The graduating class numbers seven this year the Misses Jessie Davis, Louie Dempsey, Helen Johnson, Ellen Johnson, Elizabeth Rattrey, Margaret Reynolds and Gertrude Snow.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending March 18: Diptheria 2, influenza, pneumonia 2, measles 1, mumps 1.

If you want your little daughter to wear the daintiest and most unusual frocks see "ad" of Winchester Exchange in center of back page.

ST. MARY'S REUNION

The annual reunion of St. Mary's Parish was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening, taking the form of a St. Patrick's Night entertainment. There was a large attendance, members of the parish turning out in force for this, the largest Spring affair which is held by the Church.

The feature of this year's program was the presentation of the play, "It Pays to Advertise," given by members of the Brookline Catholic Club under the direction of Mr. Charles J. Harrold.

The cast was as follows:

Mary Grayson	Mary Coughlin
Johnson, The Butler	John Dunn
Countess DeBourien	Sara Cunniff Freseau
Rodney Martin	Henry Coffey
Cyrus Martin	Fergus Hickey
Ambrose Peale	John Hickey
Marie	Charlotte P. Rowe
Bill Smith	John P. Hart
Miss Burke	Peggy Mullowney
Donald McChesney	W. R. A. Kenneally
Ellery Clarke	Joseph J. Meade
Bronson	John McSweeney

The affair was in charge of the following executive committee:

Margaret Benet, Chairman
Henry Maguire, Head Usher

Mary Murphy	Florence McCarthy
Anna Leahey	Alice McCauley
Frances Fitzgerald	Esther McCauley
Josephine Glendon	Alice O'Connell
Lucy Glendon	Elsie O'Connell
Lorretta Hayes	Madeline Reardon
Margaret Leahey	Esther Russel
Mary LeDuc	Martha Russell

To the members of the Brookline Catholic Club Dramatic Class, of which Mr. Charles J. Harrold of this town has been coach for the past fifteen seasons, credit must be given for presenting one of, if not the best, amateur performances ever seen in this town.

The members of the Kum-o-Misit Club acted as a reception committee and as ushers, with Mr. Henry Maguire as chief usher.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

At a dinner Wednesday evening, March 17, given at the home of Mr. Frank A. Cutting, the engagement was announced of his daughter Esther, to Mr. Rufus C. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus L. Clark, all of this town.

The guests of the evening were Misses Marjorie Wait, Dorothy Kerrison, Dorothea Norton, Edith Fenno, Ellen Goddu, Ruth Caldwell, Ina Brown, Irene Lord, Helen Woods, Marjorie Waldmyer and Mrs. Clinton K. Seymour, all of Winchester; Miss Dorothy Jones of Boston and Mrs. Walter York of Somerville.

Miss Cutting is a graduate of the Winchester High School and of National Park Seminary of Washington, D. C. She is now an agent of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Clark attended Williams College where he was a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity. At present he is associated with the Potter Confectionary Co. of Cambridge.

TOWN MEETING ENDS

Fourth Session Completes Warrant for 1920

The fourth session of the annual town meeting held Monday night completed the warrant for this year, the session holding out until ten-thirty. There was a very fair attendance, the meeting being much larger than that of last week Thursday night, but hardly so large as the first two sessions.

The outstanding features of the meeting were the reconsideration of two previous votes and the reversal of former action. It was decided almost unanimously to have the school survey, and likewise decided not to purchase the motor bus for transporting children to and from school for the outlying districts.

The appointment of a committee to prepare plans for a Permanent Memorial on Manchester Field was carried through as first proposed at last week's session, Mr. Sherman reading a letter from Mr. A. S. Hall, one of last week's objectors, stating that he had changed his mind, and Mr. Preston Pond, the other objector, not being present.

Of importance to town laborers on the pension roll was the appropriation of $300 for providing some work for them to increase their allotment of $1 a day. While it is doubtful if these old and faithful servants of the town will ever be called upon to perform any laborious labor, the vote and appropriation had to be so passed to place it outside the statutes.

The Chief of the Fire Department and the permanent men in the Department are now under civil service rules by the acceptance of the two acts providing for this, and Mrs. Florence G. Taylor of Stevens street was given permission to purchase a small strip of the Highland School lot for the purpose of making a driveway to give access to the rear of her house.

$750 was voted for plans and specifications for a new Bacon street bridge, and the Park Board was granted the sum of $937.50 for the parcel of land owned by Mrs. Hannah Proper at the north end of Judkin's Pond near Nelson street.

An appropriation of interest was the $500 granted for expenses necessary at the bath houses on Mystic Lake, after the Town had voted to take these houses and open them for use of the children.

Dr. Brown and Dr. Allen were assured that their bills for services rendered Albert R. Libby, injured by the breaking of a ladder during firemen's practice at the Prince School, would be promptly paid.

It was voted to accept, relocate, alter and widen Park street.

The meeting opened on Article 18, the Permanent Memorial to those who took part in the recent war. Notwithstanding reports of a big attendance of members of Winchester Post, American Legion, who were said to be going to turn out in a body, there were very few Legion men present. As a matter of fact, there has never developed the slightest degree of opposition to this memorial, the citizens having always acted unanimously upon it thus far, and such discussion as developed last week was only in the question of ways and means.

Mr. Roland H. Sherman of the committee previously appointed to consider the matter, again read the committee's report, which was presented the previous week, and explained in detail the work, consideration and steps taken in making its decision. He read a letter from Mr. Alfred S. Hall, stating that Mr. Hall approved the report. Mr. Hall last week rather favored further consideration of the form and location of the memorial.

He stated that various sites had been considered, all of which would entail considerable expense; by placing the memorial on Manchester Field all of the money appropriated would be available for the building. The type of building, he explained, had not been definitely decided upon, such description as had been made being purely tentative and suggestive of what might be placed on the field.

Chairman Allen of the finance committee read a letter from Mr. F. S. Snyder, who counselled delay rather than too hasty action. He felt that the field might not prove to be the best location, especially if a hall was to be included in the biulding, as the trains would hinder its use, and its location would not be particularly convenient to the west side of the town. He thought the matter might better be referred back to the committee through the year.

Dr. Dennett thought that the Legion itself had not yet been heard from, the approval of the plans having been made by meetings which embraced a comparatively small portion of the service men, and thus far the majority has not spoken.

The following vote was passed:

Voted: That the report of the Committee on War Memorial be accepted;

That a permanent memorial be erected to the citizens of Winchester, who, as members of the military and naval forces of the United States, or, as members of other war work service overseas, participated in the recent world war;

That the memorial be in the form of a building especially adapted to athletic and recreational purposes, with a memorial entrance and approach, in which shall be rooms set apart for the special use of the local Post of the American Legion;

That it shall be erected, if possible, on the north side of Manchester Field;

That it shall be erected as soon as practicable;

That it shall be paid for by the Town;

That it shall be maintained by the Town, with such assistance from the Post of the American Legion as may be deemed equitable and just;

That a committee of five be appointed by the Moderator to prepare plans, secure a site for, and an estimate of the cost of erection and

A LECTURE ON Christian Science

BY
JOHN C. LATHROP, C. S. B.

Christian Science: Its Naturalness, Simplicity, and Practicality.

John C. Lathrop, C. S. B., of Brookline, Mass., a Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, delivered a lecture Tuesday evening under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Winchester, in Winchester, Town Hall.

The lecturer was introduced by the First Reader, Mr. Frank W. Jones.

Mr. Lathrop in his lecture said:

From time immemorial men have sought more or less intelligently a salvation from sin, sickness, and death. In Old Testament times good people constantly craved a saviour who would free them from the bondage of sin and fleshly burdens. This expression came, not as was expected, through a personal power with splendor and physical force, but through the birth and development of a teacher, who was more purely to reveal and demonstrate the doctrine of Truth and Love to mankind.

The Bible records that before Jesus made his complete demonstration over material law in his resurrection and disappearance from material sight he said to his disciples, "I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth." At another time when impressed by Peter's recognition of the Christ, Truth, he said, "Upon this rock [or understanding of the Spirit of truth] I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." It is of prime significance that Jesus had withheld a higher teaching from his disciples because of their mental unreadiness to "bear [it] now," which higher teaching would be revealed in the fullness of time, through "the Spirit of truth" who "will guide you into all truth."

This great fact, that the Spirit of truth has come and is now leading the world into all Truth, has become historical. For over fifty years it has been conclusively demonstrated by countless cases of mental reform and physical healing. In the year 1866, Mary Baker Eddy, a New England woman of Puritan forbears, through a purified state of mental readiness, discovered the divine Principle of being; and through further inspiration gradually developed the spiritual rules, which assumed a method or system of healing and reform which she was divinely led to name Christian Science. The discovery was made through her own physical recovery from an internal injury which attendant physicians pronounced fatal. Left alone she turned to her Bible, opened at the ninth chapter of Matthew, read Jesus' healing of the palsied man, and immediately the deep significance of the relation of sin, fear, and material beliefs, as the

The Winchester Republican League dinner, held last evening in the Town Hall, was attended by over 400 diners, to which were added ladies and other spectators who filled the balconies and swelled the total attendance to over 600 persons. The affair was a big success, both politically and financially. Held primarily for the purpose of raising Winchester's Quota of $4,000 for the support of the Republican party, the evening furnished one of the biggest political gatherings ever held here, and the speaking and music was such as to give added pleasure and satisfaction aside from the party gratification over the affair from a political viewpoint.

To Mr. George E. Willey, head of the local organization, all credit is due for its success. Decorations composed wholly of beautiful United States flags transformed the hall and made a fitting setting for the evening, and the music, both orchestral and vocal, to which the community singing led by Mr. Albert Edmund Brown, was a big feature, was in keeping with the remainder of the program.

Mr. Willey presided, the head table, with the officers and speakers, being placed on the stage. The dinner opened at 6.30, the gathering singing "America" at the conclusion of an introductory program by the orchestra. During the dinner, in addition to the singing, which included solos by Mr. Brown, John Thomas, the well known and versatile entertainer, created the proper atmosphere by some of his inimitable stories.

Chairman Willey, in opening the speaking explained the purposes of the League and its object, and the plans for the State and National Campaign. The following speakers included Hon. Joseph E. Warner, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Hon. Frank Crowther, Congressman of the 13th District, New York, and Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational Church. These gentlemen represented in turn, the State the Nation and our Town. To say that the speaking was a treat is to put it mildly, and they were each accorded the applause their remarks deserved.

The feature of the whole affair was the prompt subscription by those present to filling the Town's quota of $4,000. Sir. Charles A. Gleason marking off on a blackboard on a series of 40 one hundred dollar squares, the total sum pledged as the money was raised. Taken singly and as a whole the evening furnished a splendid example of what the united Republican party is capable of accomplishing here.

INFORMATION ON CENSUS TO COME

The following letter has been received by the Selectmen in reply to two communications to the district supervisor of the census:

Concord Jct., Mass.
March 10, 1920

Mr. Geo. S. F. Bartlett
Clerk of Selectmen
Winchester, Mass.
Dear Sir:

Your note of March 6, is at hand. As three enumerators are still working in Winchester and as I am following each of them, I cannot give you any details until the enumeration is completed.

I expect to get in touch with you on the complaints on Monday or Tuesday of next week and shall ask your Honorable Board to suspend its judgment until that time when I will be pleased to have all the enumerators before you.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN J. SULLIVAN
Supervisor 4th District Mass.

BOARD OF TRADE DINNER APRIL 6th

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade, combined with the annual dinner, will be held this year on Tuesday evening April 6th. The place of holding the affair has not yet been decided upon.

The decision was made by the members at the meeting held in White's hall on Tuesday evening. Owing to the inclement weather the meeting was small, but nevertheless several important matters were acted upon and interesting reports made by some of the committees.

Of interest to the members was the decision to introduce at the next meeting for action a proposed change in the by-laws relating to membership, it being the idea to enlarge the requirements necessary for joining in such a manner that the organization will give a broader scope to its list of members.

Mr. Nathaniel M. Nichols made a report on the matter of strip tickets on the Arlington electrics. Mr. Nichols had confered with Supt. Gibson, and the matter will be taken into consideration by the management of the road.

The nominating committee made the following report in presenting a list of officers for the coming year:

President, Arthur T. Downer
Vice-President, Harris S. Richardson
Secretary, Loring P. Gleason
Treasure, J. Albert Hersey
Directors, John C. Sullivan, Jr., Herbert Wadsworth, Jr., Thomas Quigley.

These officers will be voted upon at the annual meeting April 6th, the dinner in connection with which will be in charge of a committee consisting of the officers and additional members appointed by them.

MACHINE GUN CO. NEWS

It may be of interest to the many friends and ex-members of the Machine Gun Co. to learn of the promotion of Capt. Maurice C. Tompkins to Major of the Second Battalion of the 12th Regt. M. S. G. Major Tompkins was elected Captain of the Winchester Co. when it was first organized and mustered into the State service. The Company was first designated as the 48th Co., M. S. G. and assigned to the 12th Regt. as Co. F. This was in June 1917, since which time "Tommy" has given to the local company and also to the State Guard, the time, thought, study and energy that gave to us one of the best tactitionests and disciplinarians in the regiment.

Lieutenant Seymour B. Willett will go with Major Tompkins as Battalion Adjt. with rank of 1st Lieut. These changes resulted in 1st Lieut. Harold V. Hovey being appointed Captain, 2nd Lieut. George A. Rivinius to 1st Lieut. and Sergt. Henry F. Dearborn to 2nd Lieut.

Recently there has been much interest amongst the members of the Machine Gun Co., at the competitive drills, for which suitable prizes have been given. The competition of Class 2 resulted in John F. Warren being awarded first, and Carl Morse, second prize. Then later those who desired could enter class 1 which gave to J. E. Noonan first, and John F. Warren second prize. The prizes were awarded at a little lunch, served by the Company cook and the K. Ps.

It is the purpose of the officers of the Machine Gun Co. to provide from time to time such matters as will give the boys something to look forward to and what with competitive drills, shooting, lunches, etc. there will be something doing all the time.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Mothers' Association occurred on Wednesday afternoon in the Assembly hall. There was a good attendance and the reports of the year were read, which were very satisfactory and showed the valuable work of the Association. In the absence of the President, Mrs. Sache presided. After the business was transacted, Mrs. Sache read some interesting stories of boys. A unanimous vote of thanks was given Mrs. Harrison Parker for the valuable present of Hymn Books which were used at this meeting. The list of new officers is as follows:

President, Mrs. Fletcher Parker; First Vice President, Mrs. Reeve Chipman; Second Vice President, Mrs. Nathaniel G. Hill; Secretary, Mrs. Robert Bean; Treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Reed.

New members of Advisory Board from Churches, Mrs. L. M. Crowell, Mrs. Flavel Shurtleff, Mrs. W. H. Mulholland, Mrs. Bayfield Thompson, Mrs. Edward Russell, Mrs. Frank Jones, Mrs. Joseph Clark.

Housekeeping, Social and Music Committee to be appointed.

Library Committee, new member, Mrs. A. S. Higgins.

MORNING SERVICE A UNITARIAN CHURCH

Rev. Albert C. Dieffenbach, D. D., Editor of the Christian Register, will preach in the Unitarian Church next Sunday morning. A graduate of Johns Hopkins University and of the Divinity School at Lancaster, Pa., Dr. Dieffenbach was for a number of years minister of a large church in Pittsburgh, Pa., and later of the Unitarian Church in Hartford, Conn., from which he was called to be the Editor of the Christian Register. He was chaplain of the State Guard of Connecticut, and was sent abroad by the Y. M. C. A. to make an official tour of inspection of camp life following the armistice. He is a vigorous speaker and has been widely called upon by the Rotary Clubs and similar organizations as well as by the churches. Two of the leading editors in Boston recently said of him that he was the ablest editor of a religious journal in the United States.

ROGER W. BABSON TO SPEAK

Congregational Men's Club, Saturday Evening 7.45

Roger W. Babson, the statistician of Wellesley Hills will speak to the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church tomorrow evening on "Fundamentals of Prosperity."

The February issue of The American Magazine in an article entitled "The Man Who Was as Good As Dead," speaks of Mr. Babson as follows:

"One day back in 1902, a young man was sitting in the bedroom of a little house in Wellesley Hills. Although it was February, the windows were wide open and the young man and his wife were bundled in blankets and wraps to protect them from the cold.

For weeks he had lived in that room most of the time in bed, fighting a desperate illness.

"What is the matter with me?" he demanded for the hundredth time; and added, "I'm not going to be kept in ignorance any longer."

That time he got the truth. As gently as possible he was told that he had tuberculosis, not incipient, not a mere threat of the disease, but a fully developed case, which already had destroyed one lung and attacked the other.

"All right" he said. "Now, that I know what's the matter with me, I can go to work to cure it."

That young man was Roger W. Babson, known throughout the country today as a business statistician, the head of a large and unique organization, a virile and striking personality.

The story of his progress from that sick bed in a little rented house, to health, position, and prosperity, is a truly remarkable one."

All men of the Church and congregation with their friends are invited to hear Mr. Babson. Light refreshments will be served

SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH ROLL CALL

The Annual Roll Call and Supper of the Second Congregational Church was held at the Church on Friday evening, March 12. In spite of the inclement weather, about eighty members of the Church and Congregation sat down to a delicious supper served by a committee of the Bethany Society, consisting of Mrs. Winn, Mrs. Snow, Mrs. Tolman, Mrs. Belville, Mrs. Foster and Miss McElhiney.

After the supper, the acting Pastor Rev. Warren P. Landers, introduced the speakers with a few well chosen remarks. The central topic for the evening was 'The Community Church' and this was discussed in its various aspects by Mr. James M. Berry, a former Superintendent of the Sunday School, Mr. Clarence Buckmaster of the A. E. F. Mrs. Gertrude Mellet of Medford, an instructor in the Middlesex School of Religious Education at Stoneham, and Dr. Howard Chidley of the First Church. During the evening Miss Jean MacLellan accompanied by Mr. Henry Ekman, at the piano sang two groups of songs which added to the pleasure of everyone.

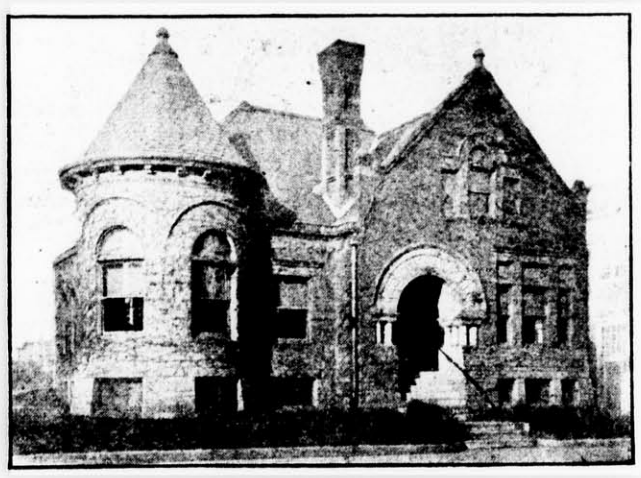

At the close the Roll was called by Mr. Frederick Trombley, Clerk of the Church. Altogether it was an evening of great inspiration and enjoyment, which will long be remembered.

The Winchester National Bank was the successful bidder this week for $250,000 worth of Town of Winchester bonds, its figure of 5.89, with 50 cents premium, being below the other bidders. The next lowest bidder quoted 5.90. This is the first time a local institution has taken Town bonds, and the transaction will doubtless prove of value, both to the Town and the Winchester National Bank.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

mental cause of all bodily ailments, dawned upon her thought. She suddenly awakened as from a dream, felt new life and strength, and arose from her bed instantaneously healed.

She soon had an ardent desire to put her discovery into writing for the deliverance of a waiting world. She realized, however, that the discovery must first be thoroughly proved, and after several years of conclusive demonstation in healing, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" was written, and became the textbook of Christian Science. In this inspired work Mrs. Eddy makes this significant statement: "Our Master healed the sick, practised Christian healing, and taught the generalities of its divine Principle to his students; but he left no definite rule for demonstrating disease. This rule remained to be discovered in Christian Science" (p. 147).

The material human will is the chief obstacle in the way of mortals understanding Christian Science. The natural spiritual fact of the allness of God, or Spirit, and of spiritual man and spiritual universe which the Bible teaches, is most unnatural to the material senses of mortals, whose god is matter, whose man and universe are material, and whose will or law is material opinion or belief. Matter seems to these material senses to be the great and only fact. Honest thinkers sooner or later learn that the so-called law of material belief, and its effect, called matter, is a contradictory, confusing, and false claim, and is wholly contrary to spiritual law. They come to see that material sense is no law nor lawmaker whatever. Matter is the opposite of Spirit in nature and expression, and being the very reverse of God it cannot be the creation of God, Spirit.

One of the common beliefs of life and intelligence in matter is the power that is given to a drug to restore health. This faith in matter in the form of a drug is more important and harmful than most forms, because it shuts the door on direct faith in God, Spirit, as the immediate and only restorer of health and life. What a god some people make of medicine! The drug is said to be given to assist nature to produce a cure; but the drug has no intelligence, it does not know where to go, then how can it assist nature in the cure of disease? Nature truly is the natural healer of disease, but matter is not nature. Nature, rightly understood, is the manifestation of divine Principle, and Principle, or Love, and the spiritual Life thereof are not expressed through a negative false belief called matter. Physicians say that you will get well if you have a good constitution and enough vitality, and that nature cures you, but what are vitality and a good constitution, and what is health?

HEALTH DELUSIONS

There are more delusions and superstitions about health than there are hours and days in the year. When I was a boy my mother ardently believed that a periodical throat trouble, caused by an elongated palate, which doctors said I had, could only be relieved by wrapping my throat with a piece of red flannel smeared with lard, camphor, and salt; and the flannel always had to be red flannel. When, soon after, my mother was healed in Christian Science, she immediately commenced healing others; and in two treatments, which she gave me fifteen minutes apart, that palate, which doctors said required a surgical operation, suddenly became so shortened that I have not known since that I ever had one.

Why is it not seen that the uncertainties in the progress of medicine, which history has shown, are due to the uncertainties of matter and material belief? When will all good people see that drugs do not, can not, restore health, since "in him [Spirit] we live, and move, and have our being?" And when will it be seen that matter is not a cause, but an effect, the effect of the material mind, and one goes badly astray so long as he deals with the effect,—so long as he drugs or treats it, fears or honors it?

Looked at materially there always will be something unsolved in regard to vitality and health, but it is found that Christian Science disentangles these forces, sets them free from their material complications, and reveals health and vitality to be spiritual qualities or forces. Christian Science teaches that there is one and one only real Mind, or divine Principle, which is all life, intelligence, and substance,—therefore, must include all true nature, vitality, and health. Therefore, when nature is healing the sick, it does not mean that some mysterious force is at work in matter, but it means that divine Principle or divine Mind is being naturally expressed through spiritual thoughts, through the good thoughts of hope, faith, and understanding, through the law of Life, Truth, and Love; such thoughts destroy the false beliefs of fear, disease, and sin.

A minister of the gospel once asked me: "In Christian Science you call God divine Principle. How can I possibly pray to a principle?" The answer is by understanding what Principle fully means. One must turn his thoughts away from matter, which contains no principle, to God, as the one infinite Spirit of Mind of the universe, including man. Christian Science teaches that God, Spirit, is the only cause, Life, intelligence, and power, therefore He is the divine Principle of the universe; and it teaches that man is His Image and likeness, therefore that man is spiritual and not material. This divine Principle of the universe and man is active, concrete truth, and as such is capable of being demonstrated in all human affairs. Such demonstration is made through prayer, according to the Christianly scientific method of Christian Science. The availability of the Christian Science prayer lies in its practical, workable nature. The Christian Science prayer works, or avails, just in so far as one understands and applies the divine Principle and rules of Christian Science to discordant mortal beliefs. This means that prayer is right thinking; and in order to pray aright one must learn to think aright, and in order to do this must learn of divine Principle.

Anyone can understand how Christian Science heals the sick, and anyone can be a practitioner and give a treatment in the measure that one obtains this understanding.

If Christian Science is truly natural it must be simple, because true nature is simple and sincere. A simple thing is one that is plain and simple; not complex. To be simple is to be clear, direct, humble, and unadorned; not combined with something else. Matter possesses none of these characteristics, but is complex, entangled, vague, and deceitful; for this is the character of the material mind. Matter is anything but simple. It is so complex and confused in material mortal belief that it never has been and never can be understood by this false belief.

The only substance that is simple, artless, and entire is Spirit, and its qualities are the same. Spirit is God, and God, good, is the simplest thing in the world to the good and pure-minded. "Blessed are the pure at heart: for they shall see God," said Jesus.

Jesus lived a life of simplicity, a life apart from matter or the flesh. He saw man in God's likeness and this "law of the Spirit of life in Christ

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

PROPERTY VALUES HAVE INCREASED—Have You Increased Your Insurance?

In five years, building cost has increased about 65 per cent; furniture cost, about 123 per cent, and clothing cost, about 129 per cent. Consequently, there has been a great increase in the values covered by the usual policy on dwelling houses and their contents.

If you were burned out today, would your loss draft from the insurance company pay its rightful share of the present cost of replacing your property?

If you have not enough insurance, permit us to consider with you what amount you should carry.

A Few Hints on Curtains

Help your south window curtains all you can. Lower the heavy shades to protect draperies from the sun. (Sun burns the fibre so that it often times crumbles when washed).

Don't allow curtains to flap in the wind. (Curtains are often torn by weight of the applique flapping when winows are open).

Shake the dust from your draperies whenever possible. (Dust and sun light are possitive enemies of curtains).

TOWN MEETING

equipment of said building, said committee to report at the next annual Town meeting, or any earlier special Town meeting;

That there be raised and appropriated from revenue the sum of $2,000 to be expended under the direction of said committee;

That the charge, control and construction of said memorial and its custody and care after construction shall be in a board of trustees, as provided for by Chapter 61 of the General Acts of 1919.

Chairman Allen then introduced a motion to place the Committee on Memorial as an additional committee to consider repairs and changes to the Town Hall, it being the idea that if the Memorial was erected certain changes might be made in the uses of the Town Hall, in which the matter of repairs would enter.

This motion met with opposition, being opposed by Mr. Maurice F. Brown and others. Mr. Brown thought that the employment of experts would be necessary in any case, and as the Town Hall had always been under the Selectmen, this board should attend to any such matter. Mr. Allen accepted Mr. Brown's views in that he moved to add the Selectmen to the committee.

Mr. Tuck moved that the committee be made up of the Selectmen and three or five other citizens, the Committee on Memorial being excluded. This was so voted.

Article 15, the School Survey, was then moved by Mr. Dunbar F. Carpenter. He made a good speech urging the adoption of the School Survey, entering into its scope and explaining its importance, and received well merited applause upon conclusion. Mr. Brown also urged the Survey. Mr. Tuck and Mr. T. H. Barrett opposed the survey, but a rising vote on reconsideration resulted in 140 yea to 9 nay, the original motion appropriating $2000 for such survey being carried.

Article 26 was then moved. Under this article a motion to appropriate $300 for additional pension for town laborers coming under the pension act was offered, it being the idea that the Town would spend the sum by providing some light employment. In explanation it was stated that these three men received about $1 a day, a sum in these days far under that needed even for the barest necessities.

Town Counsel Joslin stated that the Town could only appropriate for pensions the sum provided by the General Court; it had no alternative; if it was desired to increase the sum, the Town should go before the General Court and obtain its permission.

In reply it was explained that this money would not be appropriated distinctly as applying to the pension account, but would be paid for labor, the meaning and idea of its disbursement being apparent.

A rising vote was ordered on question, the appropriation passing 94 to 38.

The School Committee moved reconsideration of Article 13, whereby it had previously been granted $2000 to purchase a motor bus to transport children from the distant parts of the Town. It was stated that the Committee was now in doubt that this was the wisest plan, and it thought that perhaps the matter could be put over until next year, when it was thought some of these children would be placed in the schools of Arlington. It was not sure, furthermore, that the truck it had proposed to purchase would prove satisfactory. It now proposed to put the present truck used in an absolutely safe state by building a body to slide inside it, this body to have high sides and end. The reconsideration was carried and the appropriation of $2000 was killed.

Articles 20 and 21 were accepted without discussion.

Under Article 22, the sum of $5800 was appropriated from revenue to carry out the publication of the Historical Record under the direction of the committee, $800 to be expended this year.

Article 23 was carried, the Town agreeing to sell Mrs. Florence G. Taylor a strip of the Highland School lot 11 feet wide to make an entrance to the rear of her property for $300.

Article 19 carried an appropriation of $750 for berings, plans and specifications for a new Bacon street bridge, the same to be expended by the Selectmen.

Article 25 gave the Park Board $937.50 with which to purchase land for park purposes at the north end of Judkins Pond.

Articles 27 and 28 were taken up together, the sum of $500 being appropriated for maintenance of the bath houses on Mystic Lake, the houses to be used free by Winchester children.

Article 31, calling for a change of name of either Warren street or Foxcroft road, so that this way might have but one name on its entire length, was indefinitely postponed, Mr. W. E. Healey stating that the article was proposed by someone who was not directly interested, and that the residents all prefered the names to remain as they now are.

Under Article 32, Dr. A. L. Brown was awarded $627 and Dr. C. J. Allen $50 for services to Albert R. Libby after he was injured by falling from a broken ladder during fire drill at the Prince School a number of years ago.

Article 35, calling for the consolidation of the offices of Treasurer and Collector, was indefinitely postponed.

Article 30 placed a building line on each side of Spruce street.

Article 33 was indefinitely postponed and Article 34, calling for the relocation, alteration and widening of Park street was passed. This latter article provides among other things for taking a part of the corner at Main street and throwing it into the streetway making a better turn.

The meeting then dissolved.

Tuesday's Herald—"Woman Overcome by Gas at Telephone." Hot air

We have been remarkably fortunate regarding fires this winter, not having any up to this week of consequence. Let us hope that the rule of three will prevail, and no more will occur this month at least.

Mr. Whitfield L. Tuck has been adjudged a Constable by the Registrars of voters and has been sworn into office by Town Clerk Carter. Mr. Tuck apparently attaches more importance to the office than a few of our citizens, and as a matter of fact it will probably prove a source of relief to town officers to know that a resident is always available for this office. Just where the Registrars of Voters come in as a court of judgment in the matter is a bit puzzling, however.

REGARDING THE POND RECONSIDERATION

March 15, 1920

Editor of the Winchester Star,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

I am amazed at Mr. Pond's extreme agitation over the sad fate of the sidewalk bond issue. Such terms as "strategy of ward politics" and "sharp practice" when applied to eighty-five of our voters including the entire membership of the Finance Committee and many other prominent persons seem somewhat severe, even if allowance is made for the pangs of disappointment. Surely the action of the eighty-five under the leadership of the chairman of the Finance Committee and Mr. Hall in standing by their convictions and voting, as often as opportunity offered, in accordance with their consciences is no more exceptionable than the action of the proponents of the measure who, entirely without warning (for there was no article in the warrant giving express notice of a sidewalk bond issue), urged the passage of their proposition on an unsuspecting electorate. I do not wish to be considered, however, as intimating that the motion for bonds was in any way improper. It was quite the contrary, but it was unusual as was evidenced by Mr. Harris's point of order; and, although on a few occasions in recent years we have issued bonds under the general article calling for the usual departmental appropriations, the practice is not so common that the voters as a whole expect it.

Quite likely it has not occurred to Mr. Pond that if the gentleman from Winthrop Street (recently chosen constable by order of the Registrars of Voters) had not been so personal in his argument in opposition to the bonds they very probably would not have been authorized even the first time, and I feel sure that on mature reflection Mr. Pond will concede that it would have been highly unethical to have snatched a permanent victory from an unprepared opposition under such circumstances.

Yours very truly,
FRED'K MANLEY IVES

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

A Debating Club is being formed among the girls of the school. Representatives from each class have been elected to formulate definite plans for organization which will be presented to the girls later. The work this year will probably be confined to interclass debates. Why do not the boys organize or challenge the girls?

A class debate was held recently in the College section of the Freshman English girls. The discussion was upon moving pictures in Winchester and a keen interest was shown. A chairman was chosen by the class and showed ability in conducting the meeting.

At the Assembly on Tuesday last a program was given by a Senior English division. Ronald Hatch presided and announced the parious speakers who gave short reviews of books well worth reading. Much credit is due the pupils who arranged the very creditable program and spent time and thought in its preparation.

RECKONING ON THE FINANCE COMMITTEE

Editor of The Star:

In an article under date of March 11 the author brings out the lack of attendance at the second session of the town meeting sufficient to result in the overturn of a vote of the meeting on March 1st in favor of a bond issue for granolithic sidewalks. This incident might well be made the occasion of some consideration of our town government.

At present we are undertaking in a single annual meeting to hear and act upon reports of town officers and committees and to raise and appropriate sufficient and proper sums for maintenance and orderly development of our town so far as such maintenance and development can be cared for by town government.

When town meetings were first inaugurated in America life was so simple that those entitled to participate in town meeting had little trouble in coming to a conclusion on the few matters that must be passed upon, but, as time has gone on, our life is no longer a simple affair and it has become a grave question of just how in a town of 10,000 inhabitants with 2200 registered voters it is possible to intelligently consider and pass upon the multiplicity of details so that all departments may function properly and that the citizens may obtain the advantages and protection that a well ordered community should afford.

Those of us whose memories go back to town meetings of the seventies and eighties realize the constant desire of the officials of each department to obtain every advantage for their particular department and, frequently, as events proved, at the expense of equally necesssary and frequently more meritorious needs of the other departments. In the interest of a well ordered town it therefore, became necessary that some means be found to harmonize the needs of the different departments so that the welfare of all should be conserved. The appropriation or finance committee was the result. At first the committee was appointed by the moderator only after the town passed a vote to have such a committee, and the motion to have an appropriation committee was frequently the subject of bitter wrangling both as to the necessity and not infrequently as to the personnel. In 1913, however, the finance committee was more formally incorporated into our town government by the acceptance by the town of a by-law defining the method of appointment, nature of its duties, etc., of the finance committee.

It is now so thoroughly incorporated into our town government that it is unthinkable to do away with it without probably at the same time finding it necessary to very materially change our form of government. By the way, with woman suffrage so close to accomplishment, it will be necessary very shortly for the voters to seriously consider that with the doubling of the voters have come the complications that a town form of government was never intended to handle. If we admit the value of the finance committee would it not be well to thoughtfully consider just how far our citizens have gone in their belief in this committee? In my judgment the lack of attendance at our meetings is largely because of the belief of the voters in the conclusions of this committee. In other words I think that probably over fifty per cent of the voters would be glad to see the town clerk delegated to pass a vote approving in each case the conclusion of this committee. But in acquiring the habit of confidence and concurrence in the wisdom of the finance committee there has come an over confidence in the ability of the finance committee to carry to a successful issue its conclusions.

While a majority would acquiesce in its conclusions there is always an active minority which for one reason or another, sometimes good and sometimes evil, will not endorse in any wholesale way the conclusions arrived at. As a matter of fact no thoughtful citizen would desire that an appointed committee should do the work of the voters. The function of this committee is to harmonize after careful consideration the various needs of the town and it is distinctly the function of the town by many votes to pass upon, either approving or disapproving and never losing sight of the fact for a moment that it is not the part of the finance committee to usurp the duties of the voters.

All too few of our voters either by their presence or their active participation in debate on various matters are attending to their duties. Therefore it becomes increasingly important that if our citizens will not attend meetings that our town officers and especially our finance committee shall carefully guard the town's interests every moment. For instance in such a matter as caused the letter of March 11 there is no question in my mind that it was and is the duty of the finance committee to consistently defend its action even if it appears as if it were unmindful of a large vote of a previous meeting. We must bear in mind that the recorded vote for the bond issue was only 365, 260 for and 105 against, a total of less than seventeen per cent of the registered voters of the town. Again the vote that was offered was not put forth by a member of the selectmen of 1919 or of 1920. Again it must be conceded that when the vote passed is found to be illegal that there is some question in the minds of voters that it could not have been very carefully considered by its author. As I personally was in favor of a bond issue of $20,000 and an appropriation from taxation of $5000, I may be pardoned for writing that I am somewhat disappointed by the reconsideration. I do expect, however, the finance committee to stand by its guns and in such a case as arose I believe it to be its full duty to urge again the reasons which led it to its written conclusion. Some people think a baseball game is won in the first inning, but there is a dangerous chance of a successful come back not only in baseball but in town meetings.

We have probably less than one hundred consistent town meeting attendants, among our voters, and while the actual attendance may vary from six hundred to as low as a barequorum, the knowledge and judgment is constantly changing. Probably the town meeting judgment of the small number of constant attendants is better than that of a larger meeting, many of whom are present for only a single issue. There are obvious and invidious reasons for this. But we must remember it is well to consider that as the meetings grow smaller in numbers there is always the chance that the minority can come to the top and be a temporary and successful majority.

RELIGIOUS PAGEANT GIVEN AT THE CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

"Builders of the City of God," a Most Impressive and Beautiful Allegory As Presented in the Nation-Wide Campaign

The presentation of the pageant, the "Builders of the City of God" at the Church of the Epiphany, on Sunday, was remarkably impressive as a ceremony and beautiful as an allegorical spectacle. Eighty-four persons of all ages drawn from the parish took part contributing their share with reverence and feeling, to the development of the central idea of the Nation-Wide campaign of service of the church and the community.

When the challenge is brought by Victory, Religious Education, Social Service and Missions to the builders of the city, whose slowness and whose obstacles are made clear by the dialogue a great procession swept through the aisles of the nave up into the chancel to the singing of 300 voices. Each of the chief characters of the allegory was preceded by a boy bearing a banner to identify the person and his or her part. In his own pulpit, Rev. Murray W. Dewart was The Interpreter who brought out the force of the allegory as it proceeded. The Architect was Henry K. Fitts and his brother Rev. Frederick Fitts of St. John's Jamaica Plain, the Parish Priest.

B. W. Barnwell was the Spirit of the Nation-Wide Campaign and to him the appeal of the Child, represented by Dudley Cotton, Jr., accompanied by his father and mother, rouses the whole group to hear and to accept the challenge to consecration and to venture for God.

Victory, as a challenge-bringer was Mrs. C. L. Billman, Missions, John S. Higgins, Religious Education, Miss Katherine Starr, and Social Service Miss Phoebe May. Of the Challenge-Takers, Miss Dorothy Fessenden was Glad Consecration and Donald C. Starr, Venture of God. Of the builders, the workmen included Prescott Taylor, Gleason Buckley, Stephen Ryan, Stanley McNeilly and Theodore Clifton. The vestry man Douglas N. Graves, the teacher, Miss Ethel Davis.

Complacency, Little-Vision, Average-Goodness and Half-Selfishness were represented by the Misses Mary and Elizabeth Fitch, Miss Florence Murphy and Miss Ida Foster.

In the procession and in the chancel as the background of the effort and the field of service were men and women and children from the Church School representing all the nations of all parts of the world, wearing their national dress forming a group of singular color and beauty.

Deaconess Helen P. Lane was the director of the pageant and her aids were Mrs. George B. Kimball and Mrs. Stanley Fitch.

SHERBURNE—BLANK

Miss Barbara Blank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Blank of Highland avenue, prominent among Winchester's young people, was married on Tuesday evening at her parent's home to Dr. William Haven Sherburne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Sherburne of Page place, Woburn. The ceremony was attended only by members of the families and relatives, but the following reception included a host of guests from all of the surrounding towns as well as a large attendance of Winchester's younger society.

The ceremony took place at seven-thirty and was performed by Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church. Decorations of cut flowers, ferns and palms were effectively used. The living room was in green and yellow, with daffodils and asparagus fern, and the dining room was in pink, with sweet peas predominating. Other rooms were dressed with roses, pinks and other cut flowers.

The wedding march was played by a stringed orchestra, which later furnished the musical program for the evening. The bride wore for her wedding dress white satin trimmed with pearls and lace, its yoke being of Belgian lace brought home from war by the groom. Her veil was of tulle and was caught by a spry of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and sweetheart roses.

The couple were attended by Mrs. Willard Hudson, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor, and Mr. Robert B. Sherburne of Portland, Me., brother of the groom. Mrs. Hudson was gowned in pale green georgette and tulle trimmed with daisies. She carried a bouquet of freesia and acacia blossoms.

A reception, at which the young couple were assisted in receiving by their parents, followed the ceremony from eight to ten. The ushers included Mr. Willard Hudson of this town and Messrs. Charles Eliot, Robert Johnson and Clifford Shinquin of Woburn. About 150 guests attended the reception, and the couple were most generously remembered by many handsome gifts.

Dr. Sherburne served for a long period during the war, going over in July, 1917, with the Massachusetts General Base Hospital No. 6. For a time he was stationed at Bordeaux, France. Later he went into service at the front with the 32d Division, and he was also with the army of occupation. He entered the service as a Lieutenant, being advanced during service and holding the rank of Captain at the time of his discharge.

Dr. and Mrs. Sherburne will make their future home in Woburn, where Dr. Sherburne is practicing, upon their return from their wedding trip.

MRS. OSBORNE L. PORTER

Mrs. Carrie Ethel Porter, wife of Mr. Osborne L. Porter of 27 Vine street, died at the Woburn Hospital on Sunday night.

Mrs. Porter who was 32 years of age, was born in Prince Edwards Island and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Mellett, she having spent the larger portion of her life in this town. Besides her parents she leaves a husband and two children, one an infant son born Tuesday. Also a brother, Lee D. Mellett, of this town. She was a member of Victorial Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F.

Funeral services were held from the residence on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in charge of Frank W. Jones, Reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist. The internment was in Wildwood cemetery.

MT HOLYOKE COLLEGE ENDOWMENT FUND

Have you ever wished you could have known Mary Lyon in the older days when she was tramping the New England hills to collect money to start Mt. Holyoke Seminary? In the interests of the much needed $3,000,000 Endowment Fund for Mt. Holyoke College, Mary Lyon will pour tea in the High School Library on Friday afternoon, March 26, from 3 to 5.

Mary Lyon rag dolls will be there too, sure to appeal to anyone who has a Very Small Person to please. These dolls are a strictly 1920 edition of the traditional rag baby, durable, hygienic enough to suit the most fastidious, and with real button holes in the tiny garments.

There will also be on sale a quantity of carefully selected lingerie, given by a friend of the college.

Perhaps most appealing to busy housewives will be the table of home made food, as excellent in quality as it will be moderate in price.

The Winchester alumnae, with Miss Elsie Belcher as chairman, will act as hostesses.

MUTUAL INTERESTS

Did you ever think about your customers and realize that without them you would have no business.

Only be creating something and selling it to customers —or by selling something, labor, merchandise or capital —that someone else has created and placed in your hands to sell at a profit, can a business be established.

This is equally true in Banking. We need deposits of capital in the aggregate in order to become mutually helpful to our customers individually.

We pay interest on deposits above $300. Let's talk it over when you need help.

WHITING'S MILK

Nature's Spring Tonic

We quote Dr. Leonard Keene Hirshberg of Johns Hopkins University as follows:

"Morbid states of health and infections like influenza are most common among those who have forgotten that there is such an excellent preventative of sickness as MILK."

"Proofs in abuncance show that pasteurized milk is probably the greatest factor of safety for your nutrition and protection against disease."

"Milk used in combination with butter, or each used separately, either cold or warm, are excellent 'warders off' of that scourge called 'Spanish Influenza'. They act as preventatives because they build up bodily resistance to the disease."

Mrs. George C. Cotem of Easthampton is visiting her sister Mrs. D. W. Estabrook, Park Road.

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk by Mr. Paul C. Wilde of 39 Wildwood street and Miss A. Maud Smith of the same address.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Anna Laura Heffion, daughter of Mrs. Joseph H. Heffion of Myrtle Terrace, and Mr. James Benedict Morey of Buffalo, N. Y. The wedding will take place on Monday evening, April fifth, at seven thirty, at the First Congregational Church.

Mr. Luther Holton of North Franklin, Conn., a former well known resident of this town, remembered by many as conducting the large market farm at the Highlands, was in town this week visiting old friends. This was Mr. Holton's first visit to Winchester during the past 23 years.

On March 17th. Miss Patricia Mulrenan entertained many of her little friends at her home on 16 Oak street, it being her fifth birthday. Among those present were Norma, Bertha and James Beaton, Margaret, Montes, Maynard and Rhoderick MacDonald, John Stanley Jr., Elizabeth Loftus, Molly Mulrenan, Mary Lynch and Melvin, Ralph and William Carroll. Master Joseph Callahan entertained his playmates with solos. A collation was served and the children spent an enjoyable afternoon, after which they wished the young hostess many more happy birthdays.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Emma A. Johnson to the Winchester Co-operative Bank, dated, October 2, 1916, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4088, Page 44, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction upon the premises on Saturday, April 10, 1920, at three thirty o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein substantially described as follows, viz:

"A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Winchester, and being the whole of Lot 131, and fifteen (15) feet of the Southeasterly portion of Lot 127 on Plan of land in Winchester belonging to G. Edward Smith, G. F. Hartshorn, Surveyor, dated May 25, 1881 and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 70, Plan 48, being bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the Southeasterly corner of the premises on the Northwesterly side of Irving Street; thence the line runs Northeasterly by Lot 135 one hundred (100) feet to land now or formerly of Joseph Stone; thence turning and running Northwesterly by said land of Stone fifty (50) feet; thence turning at a right angle the line runs Southwesterly by the remaining portion of Lot 127 one hundred (100) feet to said Irving Street; thence turning the line runs Southeasterly on Irving street fifty (50) feet to the point of beginning. Being the same premises conveyed to the grantor by Flavel Shurtleff by deed dated July 1, 1915, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 3955, Page 512."

Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, tax titles, assessments or other municipal liens.

$10.00 in cash will be required to be paid at time of sale, and the balance to be paid within ten days from the date of sale at Room 220, 18 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass. Other terms and conditions made known at the time and place of sale.

NOTES

Constable Tuck has changed his opinion of the School Committee.

The Town should have sold that strip of the Highland School lot to Mrs. Taylor if for no other reason than to justify her confidence in allowing her husband to speak for her.

No, the ladies do not take part in town meeting—yet. All this reconsidering was done by the men themselves.

It should be noted that Chairman Arthur A. Kidder of the Selectmen is responsible for the bath house project on Mystic Lake. Mr. Kidder took this matter up with the Park Commission last year after the Wedge Pond controversy. Mr. Kidder has not appeared before the public in the matter, but he has the interests of the boys and girls at heart as well as other members of the community.

The statement that some of our Winchester children are going to go to school in Arlington is interesting. Why not give us more information concerning the matter.

The School Survey will now be undertaken. On the whole we think it a good move and can see no possible cause for regret. Most of us have been guilty of calling on the doctor when we really thought we had nothing much the matter with us.

Mr. Sherman, we think, presented the Memorial scheme in a very able manner, and we doubt if there are any of the service men but what are satisfied with the idea. Certainly a useful memorial is the only thing to consider, and if the trains are the only objection to its erection on Manchester Field, it's another good argument to get rid of the trains.

The decision not to saddle Town Hall alterations on the shoulders of the Memorial Committee was wise. How did Mr. Tuck put it over?

So. Mr. Carpenter is to be investigated. If he stands up under it as well as he presented his subject to the meeting he has our congratulations.

That motor bus appropriation was a surprise anyway, and killing it caused no pain to anyone.

Moderator Ives says Town Meetings are funning things. Perhaps he also has an opinion about their undercurrent.

The kids go swimming.

Jesus" will make anyone "free from the law of sin and death." Christian Science is this simple law of life and intelligence in Spirit, not in matter.

Christian Science goes to the root of evil or sin and finds it to be only the impersonal and false claim that there is a power apart from God, good. This false claim Mrs. Eddy calls mortal mind, as she says for want of a better term; and this mortal, material mind is the same carnal mind which is "enmity against God," and what Jesus called a liar from the beginning.

Christian Science shows how each individual can, and must, for himself overcome these subtle evil beliefs. It shows that these beliefs let loose are aggressive and are expressed through what is called will power or mental suggestion, which is only another name for hypnotism of mesmerism. And it shows that disease cannot be healed by willful thoughts or suggestion, since one error cannot destroy another error. Chistian Science shows that as the resistance of these false evil beliefs is not personal, therefore no personal harm can be done. This impersonal method of handling evil is the only method by which evil can be destroyed, and therein lies the great practicality of Christian Science. Any method that starts from the premise that the evil material sense is God-created or God-acknowledged starts ignorantly and falsely and has no perfect Principle with which to destroy error.

Chistian Science is pactical, as the healed and regenerated everywhere do gladly testify. Christian Science is a divine law or system of perfect rules to be proved, and while the absolute is always possible, no one must think that he is expected to attain it in any other way than by steps and stages. No one ever does so. Therefore he must not feel that he is required to give up everything that seems dear to him before he can take the first steps in Christian Science. Growth will forever be gradual. Whatever explains what fear, sin, and disease are, whence they originate, and, how they are to be overcome is eminently practical.

Fear is the shadowing torment of human existence that is responsible for more than half of human discord and disease. Christian Science shows that fear comes from ignorance or sin. It teaches one how to rise out of ignorance and out of sin, and thus prevent and heal all kinds of fear.

Christian Science destroys the fear of lack of supply with the same divine Principle with which it destroys the fear of contagion or disease, proving that there is no difference whatever between the law of wealth and the law of health.

According to the first chapter of Genesis, man is created in God's image and likeness and has dominion over all created things. Christian Science shows that when the temporal mortal man discovers that man is spiritual, and not material, he will realize that Life is eternal and ever present, and that mortal birth, decay, decrepitude, and death are only false material beliefs, over which man has full dominion.

Men and women of riper lessons and experience should realize their dominion over the mermerism of fear, limitation, and reversal. All persons should realize the danger of becoming self-satisfied, or satisfied with a "good enough" medicine or a "good enough" religion. Nothing in matter is good enough for one who is seeking freedom, peace ,and salvation.

The real church is a spiritual "house not made with hands," comprised of spiritual and right ideas, in other words, all that proceeds from divine Principle, Love. This is Jesus' church, which he foretold, built on the rock of spiritual understand, the one universal church. It is the divine ideal of the human church, the latter proving its utility by demonstrating the Holy Comforter or Christian Science, and ministering to the masses, to rich and poor alike. This is the function of the Church of Christ, Scientist, an organization established by Mary Baker Eddy in 1879, whose parent church, The Mother Church, is in Boston, Massachusetts, and whose branches, numbering over 1800, extend over the world.

Self-determination and self-development are now said to be the only road to liberty and progress. This is true and is the teaching of Christian Science. Self-determination, or the freedom of the individual to develop himself, are inborn and inalienable rights. They are really laws of divine Love and justice, forever governing and directing the man of God's creating.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The next regular meeting of The Fortnightly will occur March 22nd, at 2.30. Members are requested to be in their seats promptly that all business may be completed in the hour set aside for it. The entertainment of the afternoon is under the direction of the Committee of Civics and Thrift The lecture upon "Education and Democracy" to be given by Dallas Lore Sharp, will begin at 3.30 p. m. As has been announced, this is to be a Public meeting that those who are not club members may have the opportunity of hearing so popular a speaker as Prof. Sharp—justly popular not only because of the worth of his writings so widely read, but because of his genial personality, his kindly whimsical humor, and his intense interest in all living things, human and otherwise.

To this meeting the girls of the Junior and Senior Classes of the High School and daughters of members, above these classes and under twenty years of age are invited as guests of the Club. Tickets for the High School girls may be obtained at the Office. Members of the Club who have daughters "above these classes and under twenty years of age" may obtain tickets by applying to the Treasurer, Mrs. F. A. Scales, telephone number 688-W As Mr. Sharp has such a fund of knowledge of things of vital interest to boys, the Executive Committee feels that the boys of the Junior and Senior classes of the High School will find both pleasure and profit in this lecture, and extends to them the invitation to be guests of The Fortnightly on that afternoon. They may obtain tickets at the High School Office.

"Leonard Merrick, his Life and Works" was the subject of study at the meeting of the Literature Committee last Monday afternoon. The program was in charge of Mrs. Charles Dutch who gave a most comprehensive and interesting paper upon Merrick. She was assisted by Miss Hall and Mrs. Ely who read two short stories from "The Man Who Uunderstood Women." Tea was served by the committee.

The basket ball team of the local High School went to Natick Friday night to play a return game with the High School and were defeated by the score of 23 to 11. Natick played their usual fast game and their team work was in perfect running order during the entire game. Vallely was the best man for Winchester on shooting baskets and French shot most of Winchester's fouls. Hickey starred for Natick making 13 out of their 23 points. Winchester was again handicapped by the lack of some of their first string men and with substitutes their team work was badly interfered with.

The summary:

Goals from the floor: Vallely, Matthews, Bruce, Hickey 4, Wardell 4. Goals from fouls: French 4, Vallely 2, Hickey 5. Score, Natick High 23, Winchester High 11.

Churches all over Massachusetts are putting themselves in united alignment under the Interchurch World Movement as a result of the State Pastor's Conference which closed Wednesday in Boston. Over a thousand pastors of Protestant churches in this State attended, including Rev. S. Winchester Adriance and Rev. A. B. Gibbs of the First Congregational Church, Rev. E. B. Dolan of the First Baptist Church and Rev. Frank Oliver Hall, a Universalist, of this town.

With the heavy rain of Saturday the water in the river reached the highest made in years. Early Saturday morning the gates at the dam on Main Street were closed to raise the water to float over the ice which came down from the upper ponds. The closing of these gates which control two 30 inch pipes, made an appreciable raise in the water. Under the direction of the Park Board, William Nicholson and a gang of men cut channels through the ice in Black Ball Pond to prevent the possible breaking up of the ice and consequent blocking of the bridges below. Warm weather through the early part of the week made a great inroad in the snow and ice, and it now appears that the danger conditions have passed, although high water will probably prevail and flooded cellars will be the rule in the lowlands for some time yet.

During Sunday night the tool house at the plant of the rock and brick company at North Winchester just over the Woburn line was entered by parties unknown and a quantity of dynamite, fuses and detonators stolen. 75 pounds of dynamite and about 200 feet of fuse was taken. As yet the thief or thieves have not been apprehended, but the police are keeping a sharp look-out for them.

The fire department was called out for a roof fire at the residence of Mrs. Clara Shepard on Main street adjoining the Unitarian Church Monday shortly after noon. The fire, which evidently caught from chimney sparks, was noticed by town men working on the street in front of the house. They notified the Winchester Garage superintendent, who telephoned the fire station. Outside the necessity of new shingles, the damage was slight and the blaze quickly extinguished with a chemical line.

SOCIAL GET-TO-GETHER

The March Social Group, Chairman Mrs. William F. Edlefson with executive committee Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Dana and Miss Fontaine, presented a play, the Sleeping Car, by W. D. Howells, Friday evening, March 19, at 8.00 o'clock in the vestry of the Congregational Church. The capacity of the vestry was taxed to its limit, forcing a large number to stand all through the wonderfully well rendered play. The cast is as follows.

Mrs. Roberts	Irene Lord
Aunt Mary	Ruth Phippen
Porter	Harry Bigelow
Californian	George Willey
Mr. Roberts	Kenneth Caldwell
Conductor	Charles Lane
Willis Campbell	Harold Dorley
Country Rube	T. Parker Clarke
Actresses	The Misses Prime and Dearborn
Banjo Players	The Messrs. Neily and Leichty
Pianist	Mrs. William Lefavour

Other passengers in the Sleeper were Messrs. Powers and Harrold, the latter acting as coach and make-up man.

The realistic stage setting in the form of a full sized, six berth, sleeping car was constructed by Mr. George Hamilton and equipped with its furnishings by Mrs. Edlefson, Mrs. Dana, Miss Fontaine and Mrs. Dorley.

The play opened with a characteristically feminine talk between Aunt Mary and Mrs. Roberts the latter accompanied by her true to life six months' old infant. The expected arrival of a brother was the theme, which proved so exciting, that the interest of the entire sleeper was enlisted, tho at first grudgingly the stalwart Californian "six feet in his stocking feet and always in them," being the principal victim in the storm center taken as he was in turn, for the brother, some one's wife, a friend, her husband, a son and finally, as the misplaced baby. The unexpected arrival at Worcester of the young nervous husband, Mr. Roberts, and the official efforts of the conductor and porter added to the mix-up, which reached a climax when brother Willis came aboard at Framingham. The presence on the train of a theatrical troupe gave a chance to introduce clever vaudeville stunts in the form of musical numbers by Mr. T. P. Clarke trombone soloist, Messrs. Neiley and Leichty of Tech Glee Club, banjo artists, songs by the Misses Prime and Dearborn and Mr. George Willey, all accompanied by Mrs. Lefavour.

Knowing the personnel of the cast, it is superfluous to say, that the interpretation of each part was inimitable, causing great enthusiasm in the audience. Dainty refreshments were served in the adjoining room, ices and delicious home-made cake, by the committee, Mrs. Deborah W. Dorley chairman, assisted by Mrs. Bridge, Mrs. Little, Mrs. Redfern, and the Misses Parker, Parshley and Folts.

Too much credit cannot be given to Mrs. Edlefson for the success of the entire affair, her efforts including even the serving of a six o'clock dinner to the cast and active workers after the dress rehearsal. The evening proved a convincing argument for the proposed Parish House, as well as, a further exploitation of the unusual dramatic talent among Winchesterites.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Man Injured by Motor Truck Died Yesterday

Wednesday evening shortly before six o'clock, Frank H. Alexander of Billerica fell from a heavy motor truck on Main street in front of the residence of Mr. Frank H. Ripley and received severe injuries from which he died at the Winchester Hospital yesterday. He received five broken ribs and internal injuries.

According to stories of the accident, Alexander, who was riding with James A. Holman, also of Billerica, driver of the truck, reached out to make a feint to get off the truck to frighten away some boys who were attempting to get on the rear. In doing so he lost his balance and fell, being caught by the rear wheel and dragged several feet.

Someone in the neighborhood telephoned the fire department, which sent the combination truck to the scene, but Mr. Eugene Sullivan arrived at the same time and the injured man was taken to the hospital in his taxi.

Although Alexander was not run over by the truck, his injuries at once were considered of a grave nature. The truck, loaded with produce, was of five tons weight.

BOARD OF TRADE DINNER

Mr. Charles A. Lane has been appointed chairman of the dinner committee for the Board of Trade. This annual event will be held in connection with the annual election of officers and will take place on Tuesday evening April 6th. It is expected, but not yet decided, that it will be held at the Calumet Club. Arrangements have been made for a fine musical program and there will be a high class entertainment.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending March 25:—Diptheria 1, mumps 1, measles 1.

A Ford delivery car of the Mitchell Bakery, left standing on Loring avenue yesterday morning, started off while the driver was in a nearby house. Running down the street it failed to take the turn at the Swanton street end and went over the sand bank, turning two complete somersaults. Pies, bread and other articles of food were scattered in profusion over the neighborhood, and the car itself was badly wrecked.

If you want your little daughter to wear the daintiest and most unusual frocks see "ad" of Winchester Exchange in center of back page.

CALUMET CLUB NOTES

Activities at the Calumet Club during the next fortnight will be in full swing, the closing of the two bowling tournaments, with the consequent rolling of postponed games, final rolling to decide prize winners, bowling dinners and special tournaments, together with other important affairs.

This Saturday there will be special bowling tournaments in two divisions open for all members, special prizes being offered the winners. This event has been held weekly lately and is keenly entered into by the bowlers.

The finals between the three top teams in each of the two divisions in the mixed bowling tournament will be rolled on Tuesday evening, March 30th, and before this event can be staged two of the division B teams must hold a rolloff to decide which shall participate.

On Friday evening, April 2 the Old Belfry Club of Lexington will visit Calumet for an invitation tournament in bowling, billiards, pool and cards. The bowling on this evening will be by mixed teams composed of gentlemen and ladies, two teams from each club participating.

On April 10th, Saturday evening, the annual club dinner and election of officers will be held, and already over 100 tickets for the dinner have been taken. This event usually calls out an attendance of about 250, and it is anticipated that this number will be excelled this year. If so, it will tax the capacity of the hall at the club and it is possible that not all of those who wish to attend can be accommodated.

On Tuesday evening, April 13th, the usual dinner will be held for the mixed tournament bowlers, the event being staged by the twelve losing teams for the benefit of the twelve winners.

ORGAN RECITAL

An organ recital and musical service will be given at the Church of the Epiphany next Sunday afternoon March 28th at quarter after four. Mr. J. Albert Wilson the organist will be assisted by Mr. Gustave Heim first trumpet of the Boston Symphony Orchestra for many years and considered at the present time as the finest trumpet player in America. At the musical service following the recital Mr. Kenneth McLeod will sing "Palm Branches" by Fauve.

The program will be as follows:

Concerto — Handel
Cujus Animan — Rossini
Mr. Heim
Catabile — Widor
Fiat Lux — Dubois
Ave Maria — Shubert
Mr. Heim
March Pontificale — Widor

At the musical service following the recital the vested choir of forty men and boys will sing the following anthems:—

Magnificat and Nune Dimittis in D — Barnby
"Palm Branches" — Faure
"How Lowly is Thy Dwelling Place" — Brahms
"Souls of the Righteous" — Noble

Mr. Heim will also play at the service.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Sophomore girls of the College and General English class presented an interesting program in the Assembly Hall on Friday, the 19th. This consisted of several scenes from "As You Like It." Ruth Mathews announced the characters and gave a short outline of the scenes to be given. The wrestling match was of special interest to the school and the entire program held the interest of the audience. The troupe consisted of Kathryn Yeager, Audrey Goddu, Pearl Prime, Ruth McCarron, Marian Henderson.

The Girls' Debating Club has organized with the following officers:
President, Carolyn Breen
Vice President Carolyn Dow
Secretary, Rosamond Lefavour

The boys held a lively rally to arouse interest in the basket ball game to be played with a team from the Amesburt High School on March 26. The Russell, Emery, and Hight Trio provided the instrumental music and Evan Kibbe sang a solo from the operetta which is to be given in April.

WINCHESTER 132—WELLESLEY 6

Winchester High girls' basket-ball team, led by Lillian Gray, smashed all records for the season, Saturday afternoon, when they defeated the Wellesley High girls, 132 to 6.

Melrose High School held both the individual and team-scoring records prior to today, with 112.

Miss Gray who scored 76 beat the record of Miss Goss of Melrose, who held the individual top mark of 72.

Miss Gray, who is captain of the team, is in her senior year, and has been playing basket ball for two seasons.

Miss Esther Barnard scored 28 baskets from the floor in the game Miss Saunders was the only player to score for Wellesley, with three goals from the floor. The summary:

WINCHESTER GRANGE NOTES

Winchester Grange No. 343 P. of H. held its regular meeting Tuesday evening, March 23, and after a lively business meeting, the first and second degrees were conferred on a splendid class of candidates. The third and fourth degrees will be given to the same class at the April meeting, Tuesday the 13th.

At the meeting the 13th of April Deputy Ralph Forbes will inspect the working of the third degree by the new ladies' degree team of Winchester also the fourth degree by the regular officers.

Master, Bro. Leslie R. Smith states that it is decided that the National Grange will meet in Boston in Nov. This is the first time in 35 years the National Grange has met in Boston. The seventh degree will be given at that time, meantime those wishing to get the sixth degree at the State Grange meeting will be given an opportunity, the time and place to be announced later.

A letter from the State Master's Office at the State House tells us the Department of Agriculture is receiving a great many letters from people wishing to purchase farms in Massachusetts and a committee has been formed to keep a list of farms on hand and anyone who has a farm for sale may list it in that office. Mrs Burton C. Caldwell of Winchester Grange has been appointed a Committee of one to attend to any in Winchester.

The whist party committees are reporting progress.

The degree team is doing very nicely, putting in much time and practise with pleasing results.

A campaign for membership is on and Worthy Master, Marston will be pleased to confer degrees as fast as candidates appear.

MORE GAMES TO ROLL

Spring Bowling Tournament Not Yet Finished

Although the regular schedule for the Spring bowling tournament at the Calumet Club finished Wednesday night, six of the teams have still postponed matches to roll. This will not affect the winning team, however, for team B has such a lead that any further matches cannot affect its standing. Teams D and E, however standing in second and third places, may possibly be affected, and team A likewise has a chance to come in under certain conditions.

In Wednesday night's matches between teams B and E, team B won all four points. Gendron led the field with a total of 330 on a fine string of 132. Newman rolled 301 with 111, Parshley 112, Corey 108, Keepers and Sanford 105 each and Weed 102.

The scores:

Team B vs. E

Team B	1	2	3	Total

FOOD FAIR A SUCCESS

The opening of the new store of the Hutchinson Market in the centre Wednesday was made a great occasion among Winchester merchants, the event taking the form of a food fair. The new store was visited by thousands during the day and evening.

This market is the best equipped of its kind in town. The fixtures are all of the most improved sanitary type and a complete cold storage system connects with all parts of the store, insuring fresh meats and vegetables in the hotest season. In addition to meats, groceries and vegetables, a full line of fish is to be carried, as well as hot house fruits and berries.

During Wednesday's fair, there were demonstrations of all the new food lines, and all visitors were treated to appetizing dainties.

NEW CASHIER FOR WINCHESTER NATIONAL BANK

Edward R. Grosvenor, former cashier of the Blackstone National Bank of Uxbridge, has been appointed cashier of the Winchester National Bank to fill the vacancy made by Mr. Ball who has been elected to the board of directors. Mr. Grosvenor came to Uxbridge two years ago from the Third National Bank of Springfield to act as treasurer of the Uxbridge Savings Bank, where he remained six months until chosen cashier of the National Bank of that town.

Mr. Ball will continue to live in Winchester, but will be associated with the management of the Frank E. Davis Co. of Gloucester, Mass., and the Frank E. Davis Fisheries Ltd. of Yarmouth, N. S.

BABSON ON PROSPERITY

Notwithstanding the heavy snow storm, there was a good attendance at the meeting of the Congregational Men's Club last Saturday night to hear Roger W. Babson of Wellesley Hills speak on "The Fundamentals of Prosperity." Mr. Babson gave an interesting talk, summing up the root of all prosperity as the Church, which he termed as the loosest and poorest run business of today. His talk was eagerly and attentively received, and reducted to cold facts and figures his argument was unassailable, although no one present was inclined in the least to dispute him. This was the annual meeting of the organization. Following the talk refreshments were served.

MARY LYON TEA FOR MT HOLYOKE COLLEGE ENDOWMENT FUND

The Mary Lyon tea and Food Sale which took place this afternoon in the High School library is the first concerted effort put forth by the Winchester Alumnae of Mt. Holyoke college for their Endowment Fund. Winchester's part of the $3,000,000 Fund is $5,000 and the Winchester Alumnae committee though small is determined not to stay behind the other towns of Greater Boston, all of which are hard at work on this Fund.

The High School library, always pleasant, was made even more attractive by potted jonquils and the prettily arranged tables. Mrs. Henry Ordway, representing Mary Lyon and looking for all the world like that distinguished lady, even to her starched cap and flowing silk skirts, poured tea. The committee of alumnae who served as hostesses and those in charge of the various tables wore costumes of the Mary Lyon period, and added a picturesque touch to this quaint tea party.

Miss Elise Belcher chairman of the Winchester Committee, and also a member of the Boston Committee was in charge of arrangements. Assisting her were Misses Elsie Enman '06, and Ethel Lovering '06, Mrs. Harold Woodbury ex '03, Mrs. Elizabeth Kendall Abbott '07, and Mrs. L. D. Pushee '95. The tea table was in charge of Mrs. Charles E. Greene '12 assisted by Mrs. Louise Shaw Lester '05 and Mrs. James S. Allen '12.

Aside from the always popular food table, the most admired article for sale was the Mary Lyon rag doll which has become a very distinctive Endowment Fund feature. The dolls are so hygienic as to be entirely satisfactory to the grown-up mothers and so attractive as to be very alluring to the little mothers—an irresistable combination. The dolls have been in such demand that the originator of the happy idea—a dear old shut-in—has been obliged to call in helpers to fill her many orders.

NURSES GRADUATE

The graduating exercises of the Winchester Hospital Training School for Nurses, held Tuesday evening in the assembly hall at the High School were largely attended. Rev. A. B. Gifford of the Methodist Episcopal Church offered the prayer and the address was by Dr. Simpson of Lowell, of the State Board of Health.

The graduates were remembered by a profusion of beautiful flowers. Miss Marjorie Grant was marshall and the graduates, seven in number, included the following:

Miss Helen Johnson
Miss Ellen Johnson
Miss Gertrude Snow
Miss Margaret Reynolds
Miss Jessie Davis
Miss Elizabeth Rattray
Miss Louise Dempsey

The hospital pins were presented during the exercises and the diplomas were awarded by Mrs. James W. Russell, Jr., President of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association, under which auspices the School is conducted.

The nurses appeared in their uniforms, but later at the dance, held in the gymnasium from 9.30 to 11.30 they wore their "party clothes."

METHODISTS DINE

The Methodists in Winchester hold their annual parish dinner tonight in the vestry of their Church. Bishop E. H. Hughes L. L. D. is to be present and speak. As this society nears the time when important business transactions will take place, securing for the people a most attractive location for a new church edifice, the interest in all lines of parish work is quickened. The response given to requests for financial assistance to buy the new lot shows that the society is ready for its larger program. The Committee members in charge of the dinner are:—

Mrs. C. E. Hoey, Chairman, Mrs. J. E. Johnson, Mrs. H. E. Ray, Mrs. G. C. Ogden, Mrs. A. M. Dunning, Mrs. G. H. McMillan, Mrs. J. W. Moran, Mrs. Fred Wildberger.

The General Committee:— Messrs. R. W. Armstrong, T. E. Crawford, L. E. Crouch, C. A. Hennie, H. B. Seller.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING March 22, 1920

The Board met at 7.30 P. M., all present.

The records of the meetings of March 16 and 18 were read and approved.

Committees: By a vote of the Town at the March town meeting a special Town Hall committee has been appointed by the moderator to consist of the Board of Selectmen and three persons outside the Board. Action in regard to this matter was laid over for one week.

Jurors 1920 (General Subject): The Chief of Police appeared with a venire calling for two traverse jurors for the Superior Court to be holden at Lowell within and for the County of Middlesex on the first Monday of April next (April 5, 1920). Messrs. George Adams Woods, 6 Sheffield Road and Herbert S. Underwood, 9 Central St., were drawn.

Census: Notice was received from the Town Clerk that no Census Enumerator had yet called at the house of Luther M. Hersey of 46 Yale street. According to a letter of recent date the Board is to receive a report from John J. Sullivan, Supervisor of Census in regard to the census taking in Winchester. This complaint was therefore laid over pending this report.

Aberjona River: A copy of the report of the Commissioner of Health in regard to the pollution of the Aberjona River, and also a copy of an act to provide for additional sewers in the Aberjona water shed were ordered filed.

Committees: A letter was received from the Special Commission on the Necessaries of Life in regard to appointing a rent and housing committee should the Board feel that local conditions warranted the same. This matter was laid over until the next meeting.

Committees: A letter was received from the National Security League asking the Board to appoint a local committee to make arrangements for the celebration of a day known as "American Day" same to be held on May 1st., 1920.

Bacon Street Bridge: The matter in regard to taking preliminary steps for the purpose of obtaining borings, plans and specifications for a new bridge to replace the bridge on Bacon street over the Aberjona River was laid over for the present.

Highway Dept. (Unclassified): A letter was received from the Superintendent of Streets in regard to purchasing steel sidwalk forms. The letter was ordered filed.

Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co.: A letter was received from Mr. J. O. Ellis, Manager of the Bay State system of the Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co. thanking the Board for the assistance rendered in reopening the line between Winchester and Arlington on March 9th and 10th. The letter was ordered filed.

Lawson Road: A letter was received from Mr. William C. Newell calling the Board's attention to damage caused as he states by town men to the concrete sidewalk and grass border on the south side of Lawson Road abutting his property. This matter was laid over for future consideration.

The meeting adjourned at 11.40 P. M.

BERRY CREATES BOWLING RECORD

Mr. Marshall K. Berry created a new bowling record on the Calumet alleys last week when he rolled a total of 406 flat at Boston pins in a house tournament. This figure is 22 pins over the previous record, which was not rolled in a tournament, made several years ago. Berry started his big score with a string of 101. He increased his second string to 144 and finished with 161 for his third. While his high string has been beaten several times, no one has ever approached the total.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The Executive Committee held a meeting last Friday evening at which the following subjects were discussed and which they wish all ex-service men to know about.

The State Department has organized a Post Activities and Welfare Committee but in order to accomplish more, each Post is recommended to form their own Welfare Committee to act under a chairman appointed by the State Committee. It would be the duty of each of these district committees, and especially its chairman, to create district entertainment groups they to consist of debaters, monologuers, soloists, short sketches, mock trials, boxing, etc. The District Chairman would also make it his duty to see that each post has a list of entertainers which might be exchanged from post to post in his district. By this arrangement, each post will have a splendid entertainment furnished by a neighboring post at each of its meetings. Post dances and open smokers are also forms of creating interest.

We hope that the members of the Winchester Post have not forgotten that we have two of our members in hospitals and it was voted that their dues be paid for them until such time as they will recover and be able to return to their original status.

Memorial Day is coming when the Winchester boys can pay homage to their departed comrades by turning out and decorating the graves of those who died abroad. It has been suggested that we co-operate with the G. A. R. in making our plans for this day.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Education has sent out pamphlets extending to all ex-service men correspondence and Class Instruction Courses. Any information on this subject may be obtained from the chairman of the Welfare Committee.

Any ex-service man having lost baggage and wishing to claim same, may obtain information of the Welfare Committee.

Our post has a number of men who can play some musical instrument and we hope to be able to form an orchestra. Will anyone who can help us in this line, please communicate with Terrence Cullen, 37 Middlesex street.

There will be another Executive Committee meeting Friday evening, March 26th.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. Jacob Reebenacker of Brookside Road, who has been quite ill at the Winchester hospital was removed to his home on Sunday.

A movement is on foot in Woburn to form a Tent of the Daughters of Veterans of the Civil War. As there are many eligible in this town to join such a tent, the following invitation has been issued: Woburn ladies will be glad to have all eligible daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War attend a meeting Friday evening, March 26th, in G. A. R. Hall, Woburn Square, to form a local Tent.

Mr. Clinton S. Raynor of Highland Avenue has purchased the estate at 15 Maxwell Road owned by Mr. C. A. Bradshaw and intends to occupy the same next month. Mr. Lindsey E. Bird of Myrtle Terrace has purchased the house on Highland avenue occupied at present by Mr. Raynor. He also buys for occupancy.

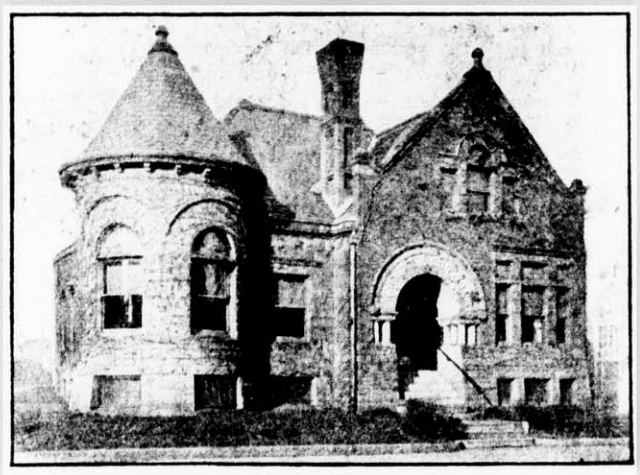

Miss Clara Stockenberg of the Winchester Exchange has returned after a three months' visit to Sweden.

The little four year old son of Mr. Franklin E. Gregory of Forest street, who broke his leg several weeks ago in a coasting accident, is still at the Winchester hospital. The child has a badly fractured bone and several operations have been performed, one last week, when a steel plate was inserted, a very delicate operation. He is quite a pet at the hospital for his loveable childish ways.

Rev. Elmer S. Forbes of Boston will preach in the Unitarian Church on Sunday morning, March 28th. Mr. Forbes is now Secretary of the Department of Community Service of the Unitarian Association. He is widely known as a writer on Sociological subjects and was for many years before coming to the Unitarian Association, minister of one of the largest Church in New York City. On Sunday morning his subject will be one appropriate to Palm Sunday.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Even now the effect of low salaries paid public school teachers has effected the teaching ranks to an extent that cannot be brought back to normal in less than five years, according to a Winchester gentleman who has made a close study of this matter. In his opinion, it is safe to say that it will take five years, if the salaries are made attractive before the tide can be changed. The salaries will have to be made high, sooner or later; it is merely a matter of deciding this year whether the public school system shall be seriously affected for the next five years or whether it shall be broken down for the next ten or fifteen years. Any man with ordinary common sense ought to be able to see at this time how slow and how serious is any work of reconstruction. Any man who has an idea that the reconstruction of a broken down public school system can be done in a few days or weeks or months—or even in a very few years—is sadly deficient in ordinary intelligence.

Teaching has been referred to as a "noble profession", and so it is; but it becomes ignoble, miserable and degrading when its chief exponents are compelled to dress more cheaply than waitresses, when its chief exponents have to live more carefully than manicurists, and when its chief exponents have to eke out a miserable existence as a result of the stingy ingratitude of taxpayers. Young women are no longer the idealists that they once were. They would rather work in an office at $30 or $40 a week, with a chance of going higher, than teach school for half that sum. Miserable pay for teaching school is enough to take the idealism out of anybody. The teachers may well be excused for losing their idealism, and they will not get much of it back until they can dress well, eat well and enjoy some of the minor luxuries which other people are accustomed to enjoy with reasonable frequency.

A Winchester man remarks that there is one admirable thing about the "making up" so much practiced by women—it takes in nobody, no matter how artfully it is done. The desire to be beautiful is born in every woman who has eyes to see with and if beauty is born in every woman who has eyes to see with, and if beauty lurks in the pink saucer, she is not to blame for going for the pink saucer and things thereto pertaining. Generally speaking, it is only a naturally pretty face that can be "improved" by outward applications, and the plain one with a bad skin only shows up the more.

So much is being written by experts on this phase of physical improvement, and facial cleanliness is so strenuously advocated, that it is probable the American complexion will grow better and better, even with the "make-up" addition. Washing the face, we are told, is really an art, often a lost one, if "artists in beauty" are to be believed. At all events, it can't harm the skin to lay on paint and powder, if it daily and nightly receives the careful attention advocated by some of the "beauty" doctors.

Whether rum or coffee is the more harmful to the human system seems to have been lately the subject of much debate. A woman physician in a city less than a dozen miles from Winchester declares that a little home-made wine for the stomach's sake should be in every home where there's a person over 50 years of age. Then a male doctor avers that as between alcohol and coffee he would cast a vote for John Barleycorn as less injurious. The question in this prohibitory age should be academic. Nobody, of course, seriously casts a ballot for or against alcohol at all, though we in Massachusetts were lately called upon to say whether 4 per cent. beer was wanted or not. Practically the alternative was no choice at all. The real problem, however, remains whether coffee is also such an enemy of human kind that it must eventually be banned by constitutional amendment.

When Dr. Wiley's poison squad was dosed with coffee, if The Spectator's recollection serves aright, the results were quite disappointing to the sensationalists who had urged coffee as one of the cardinal sins. Its evil effects appeared during the period of investigation to be nearly nil. Dr. Wiley was wise enough to state that he couldn't say what might happen if the stimulation were carried through a term of years; that is something for more extended research. More recently one of the medical gentlemen who give out wise counsel to newspaper readers by syndicate has devoted much attention to the effects, real and supposed, of caffein on the system. He holds it as a deleterious drug, but thinks that the person who limits himself to two cups of it a day won't suffer much therefrom. Others may doubtless be quoted with somewhat similarly personal views. If the doctors still disagree about coffee, and it dosen't disagree with you, perhaps the best plan is to keep right on.

The Spectator.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

COPLEY THEATRE

So great has been the success of "The Private Secretary" at the Copley Theatre that Henry Jewett has decided to keep this farce of Charles Hawtrey's on for a second week. All this past week not only have the regular patrons of this playhouse been flocking to see this very funny piece but it has attracted many who perhaps had never before been in this theatre but who recalled the one or more pleasant evenings spent in the presence of "The Private Secretary" in years gone by. Many of the parts are played by the same persons who played them when the farce was previously given here, notably E. E. Clive as Rev. Robert Spaulding with his frequent "Do you know," and his arms full of belongings, golloshes, bags and all. The other members of the company, Miss Roach, Miss Newcombe, Miss Wingard and Miss Ediss, and Messrs. Wingfield, Waram, Leslie, Craske, Watts, Matthews, Joy and Bradbury all contribute their full share toward making "The Private Secretary" one of the best entertainments seen at the Copley in a long time.

Curtains

A Few Hints on Curtains

Help your south window curtains all you can. Lower the heavy shades to protect draperies from the sun. (Sun burns the fibre so that it often times crumbles when washed.

Don't allow curtains to flap in the wind. (Curtains are often torn by weight of the applique flapping when winows are open).

Shake the dust from your draperies whenever possible. (Dust and sun light are possitive enemies of curtains).

CALUMET MIXED TOURNAMENT

Teams in Two Divisions Roll Off Tuesday Night

Scheduled games in the mixed bowling tournament at the Calumet Club, with the exception of the postponed match between teams 10 and 11, to be rolled this evening, have now finished, the final matches being rolled Tuesday night. The match tonight does not effect the winners, as neither 10 or 11 are in the first division of section A.

The roll-off next Tuesday night will be between the leaders in each of the divisions and will decide the prize winners. The annual dinner, to be given the winning teams by the losing teams, will take place later. The roll-off does not affect this part of the tournament.

The team standing in each division is as follows, the teams in the first section of each division participating in the coming roll-off.

The final matches Tuesday evening resulted in team 20 winning all three points from team 15, thereby going into first place, team 15 standing third. Team 16 went into fourth place by a win from 19, the tail-enders, and 17 got two points from 18, neither being affected by the match. Mrs. Soutter led the ladies, making 184 with 94, Mrs. William Kneeland got 170 with 88, Mrs. Paul Kneeland 170 with 85, Mrs. Towne 166 with 89, Mrs. Nash 164 with 84, Mrs. Goff 161 with 86 and Mrs. Corey 82. Mr. Corey led the gentlemen with 218 on a fine string of 121 and Mr. Soutter and Mr. Goddu each rolled singles of 103.

Oh, Those Darkies.

Upon being asked why he deserted, a negro replied: "Well suh, them scrapnell didn't scare me none, and I wasn't much afeared of them ginades, but when a white man says them is goin' to shoot a garage at me, ma feet just taken me away from there!"—Los Angeles Times.

MR. CRAUGHWELL REPLIES

Editor of the Star:

Hello, everybody! I presume I can still consider myself a member of this happy homogeneous group, namely the inhabitants of Winchester, though I haven't been seen in print for quite some time. But that doesn't say I haven't been a close observer of all the happenings of this municipality. I have been keeping my eyes and ears open right along. Anyway, I am here again, and that is all that matters.

I believe every student of municipal finance will readily agree with me when I assert that the town of Winchester at the present time is carrying, so to speak, a lot of unnecessary superfluous baggage. Now, Mr. Editer, the purpose of this communication is to launch a home garden campaign, in order that the inhabitants may be aroused to the urgent necessity of utilizing the vast number of fertile lots of land that are so noticeable in various towns in this Commonwealth.

Think of paying $1.25 for a peck of potatoes! Is it any wonder that the price of onions would make you cry? If there ever was a time that America should wake up, that time has now arrived. It seems to me that the statesmen and politicians at Washington, instead of playing ping pong with the peace treaty and articulating about Bolshevism, Soviet Russia, Moving Pictures, etc., should endeavor to instruct the various municipalities of the urgent necessity of appointing committees to further function the tilling of the soil. It is the only remedy that will foil the enemy, namely the high cost of living.

In my opinion it is the privilege of every man and woman to support and aid in the accomplishment of this beneficial movement with a minimum of trouble and expense. Of course we all know that as food goes up it still goes down.

Now listen and consider the rocky shore we are drifting to unless we persue another course. Extravagance and idleness cannot go on indefinitely together. We cannot continue to produce less goods than before the War and to buy more lavishly than ever. If we do we may expect prices to climb higher and still higher, until something happens to bring us to our senses. Yet in the face of that alarming fact we are producing less than we produced in 1918. We are doing less work than we were doing two years ago; less work with 3,000,000 more men released from war service. Was this country ever so heedless and careless?

Let us till the soil and eliminate the waste, and gather up the fragments and drive the grasping profiteers back to the farms where they belong. Fifty years ago the State of Massachusetts produced 3,026,363 bushels of fine potatoes, or more than two bushels per inhabitant, enough to go around and have some to export. In 1919 we expected to harvest around 2,000,000 bushels, a half-bushel of native spuds compared with two bushels for our grandfathers and fathers raised.

It seems to me that the farmer is weary from being called a profiteer when he is not, and of pulling the load that should be pulled by the shameless profiteer who seems to thrive with every government investigation of the high cost of living. The deep-seated disappointment of the masses of workers, who during the War were thrilled with political promises of a changed world, and who now find that things have become worse instead of better, with strikes, investigations, leaks in the Navy, etc., are apparent.

Now, Mr. Editor, were farm laborers to demand the wages paid at present to carpenters, bricklayers, painters and plumbers for 44 hours per week, there would not be loaves and fishes enough to feed this large American family. If a carpenter or a plumber can do as much work in eight hours as he can in ten, then a farmer or his hired man who plows three acres between 7 o'clock in the morning and 6 o'clock in the afternoon, can plow the three acres in two hours less.

In conclusion, it has been asserted that I came out flatfooted against moving pictures in Winchester. If that was the issue that sent me to the bottom of the list, I assure the author of the assertion that I am elated at my own defeat, when I think how my opponents received that chilly feeling in that spacious auditorium the Town Hall, on March 1st, when they all seemed to contract what some folks call cold feet. Come on, now, you advocates of moving pictures, and join in this home garden campaign and inform the inhabitants through the Columns of the STAR why we need home gardens to combat the high cost of living.

I unconditionally surrender this communication, Mr. Editor, for your careful consideration.

I remain, very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell.

METHODISTS TO USE MOVIES

Editor Star:

Will you kindly reprint this inclosed from the Boston Post over my name.

NEW YORK, March 12.—In the belief that "pictures in the pulpit mean more than people in the pews," the Methodist Episcopal church through its centenary conservation committee has decided to add motion pictures to its religious services, according to announcement tonight.

Three thousand Methodist pastors, in answer to a questionaire, requested that pictures be used to supplement the spoken word from the pulpit and the centenary committee has answered this appeal by announcing a "white" list of films suitable for church purposes. Other films deemed fit for the religious, educational and recreational needs of the church will be recommended later. Sermon outlines will also be suggested for themes which may be illustrated by many of the pictures listed.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

If a man marries for money its a safe bet that his wife fails to get her money's worth.

It takes most of us longer to make up our minds to do a thing than it does to do it.

He is a wise man who is able to conceal his importance.

Good luck and bad habits are seldom on speaking terms.

Tears of Joy and Sadness flow from the same tank.

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE HOME AS A SOCIAL FACTOR

To the Editor of the Star:—

Our young people and old ones, too—always seem to be going somewhere, or wanting to go or debating about where they shall go or what they shall do. Frequently the parents do not know where the children are, or what they are about. And a great many do not believe that this ignorance is in any way remarkable or reprehensible. Yet they are greatly surprised and shocked when tragedy in dreadful form enters the home. To many in Winchester and elsewhere the very idea of a family law to be enforced on the children is hateful. It is a bad sign when there is such eagerness to get away from the home, even to go to perfectly innocent places and to indulge in pleasure which, in moderation, ought not to be denied.

Not long ago a pacifist Englishman was heard to say: "The home is gone, thank God!" Probably he was thinking of the tyranny of the heads of some English families, but still his statement was sweeping. The home in this country seems to be going, but there are very few people who realize its importance as a social factor who will thank God that it is so. Just now there is a great deal of talk of educat on and Americanization, and both are needed. But we must think somewhat of the kind of education and Americanism that we shall impart. Here is the portait of the central figure of a home, drawn by Whitman:

"There is the wife of a mechanic, mother of two children, a woman of merely passable English education, but of fine wit with all her sex's grace and intuitions' who exhibits, indeed, such a noble female personality that I am fain to record it here. Never abrogating her own proper independence, but always genially preserving it, and what belongs to it cooking, washing, child-bearing, house-tending—she beams sunshine out of all these duties and makes them illustrious. Physiologically sweet and sound, loving work, practical, she yet knows that there are intervals, however few, devoted to recreation, music, leisure hospitality—and affords such intervals. Whatever she does, and wherever she is, that indescribable perfume of genuine womanhood attends her, goes with her, exhales from her, which belongs of right to all the sex, and is, or ought to be, the invariable atmosphere and common aureola of old as well as young."

There are not today many tributes to the homemaker. Perhaps the one quoted will not come amiss. There certainly is no nobler or more vitally social occupation.

EUGEUE BERTRAM WILLARD
Chelsea, Massachusetts.

Fifty disabled soldiers, many of whom had lost a leg in the war and wore an artificial one in its place, climbed 360 steps of the British House of Commons tower the other afternoon to study the mechanism of "Big Ben," the giant timepiece. The soldiers are being trained by the Ministry of Labor in watch and clock repairing. A guide told the party that the clock was designed by Lord Grimthrop, and was placed in the tower in 1859. It has been working for sixty years, and is still regarded as one of the best timekeepers in the world. The minute hand is 14 ft. long and weighs 224 lbs., and the pendulum, which requires two seconds to complete each swing, weighs 700 pounds. The bell which sounds the hour has a diameter of 9 feet and weighs 14 tons, the weight of the striking hammers being 166 pounds. An electric motor now winds the clock in twenty minutes. Formerly it took two men working three afternoons a week to complete the task.

BIG STRIDES IN WOOD CAMPAIGN

Support Coming From All Sections of the Country for His Presidential Nomination.

New York.—General Leonard Wood's campaign for the presidential nomination on the Republican ticket is gathering strength and momentum more rapidly than even his most ardent supporters believed would be possible this far in advance of the National Convention, June 8.

From an humble, informal beginning in the minds of a few of General Wood's friends and admirers a few months ago, the "Wood for President" movement has spread throughout the country and there is a nation-wide demand for him as the next occupant of the White House to pilot the country through the trying days of readjustment which lie ahead.

General Wood's campaign managers are daily in receipt of the most gratifying reports from the thirty-five or more states in which there are flourishing and constantly increasing Leonard Wood Leagues. The movement is spreading so rapidly that General Wood's managers are working night and day to keep up with it. Not only are the states in which there are Wood organizations bubbling with enthusiasm over his prospective nomination, but from the native states of favorite sons, who are opposing General Wood, there continue to come the strongest and most sincere assurances that he is the popular choice of a majority of the voters. All the indications are that the people throughout the nation intend commandeering him as their leader in the White House because of his remarkable record as an executive, his marvelous powers as an administrator, abundantly shown in Cuba, the Philippines and during the world war, and because of his frank and fearless stand on the paramount issues of the day.

Wood Against Field.

"It is a case of Wood against the field," said Congressman Norman J. Gould, eastern manager of General Wood's campaign. "General Wood has a commanding lead because of the great amount of personal, volunteer work done by his friends and admirers before the campaign committee came into existence. The support General Wood is receiving from voters all over the country clearly indicates that they will instruct their delegates to vote for him in the convention and that the number of delegates so instructed will be sufficient to give General Wood the nomination. There will be 984 votes in the convention. General Wood will have 300 pledged delegates when the convention opens, and will need only 183 more to get the nomination."

Following General Wood's victory in New Hampshire, the first state in the Union to hold a primary for the selection of delegates, Congressman W. W. Lufkin, who is directing Wood's campaign in Massachusetts, said a careful canvass of New England showed practically every state in that section would support the general by sending delegates to the convention pledged to his nomination. Governor Milliken of Maine personally assured General Wood in Boston, recently, that that state was solidly for him.

Mr. Hitchcock's affiliating himself actively with the Wood campaign has brought strong support from the South for the general. Mr. Hitchcock has a host of friends and admirers in the South and they have been writing him many letters of congratulation on joining Wood and assuring him that the general will have many, if not all, of the Southern delegations in the convention with him.

Announcement is made by the Wood managers that they will put up an active fight for delegates in Ohio against Senator Harding and in Illinois against Governor Lowden. William Cooper Procter, national campaign manager for General Wood, has issued an unqualified denial that either General Wood or anyone connected with his candidacy will attempt to unseat Will Hays as chairman of the Republican National Committee after the national convention. This statement is official and is made in reply to baseless stories circulated by General Wood's opponents for the obvious purpose of stirring up trouble between the chairman of the Republican National Committee and General Wood.

This week while arranging "Options of Settlement" for policies issued at different times by a number of companies, an official of one company said good naturedly, "You field men make lots of trouble for us."
Which remark is true.
Up to date Insurance Salesman make lots of trouble for themselves also, but they love it. They know from the diversified experiences of many they come in contact with, something of the distress, their work is warding off.
Please help us make trouble for curselves.

About twenty young friends of Miss Mildred Cummings of Medford, sister of Mrs. Hollis Riddle gathered at the Riddle home on Myrtle Terrace, last evening and gave her a novelty shower. Miss Cummings will be married on Saturday to Mr. Frederick Clark and make her home in Providence, R. I.

The C. E. Boys' Club at the Highlands is growing fast. Already over 20 boys have become members and no less than 16 attended Saturday's meeting, notwithstanding the storm. This Saturday evening at eight the boys will hold a musical entertainment at which local talent will take part. Following the musical there is to be a short play, with a cast selected from the society.

A committee from the woman's Auxiliary American Legion consisting of Mrs. Annie Bennett, Mrs. Lloyd and Mrs. Pierce, visited the Marine Hospital at Chelsea during the past week and carried jellies, fruits and comforts to the World War Veterans at the hospital. These were donated by members of the Auxiliary. Miss Margaret Cullen, a Winchester girl, who is a nurse at the hospital entertained the ladies while there. The Auxiliary has plans for a Whist Party to be held April 15th, and a Food and Fancy Work sale to be held the first week in May. A very well attended meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Bessie Foreman last evening.

Winchester residents have been treated to a variety of weather during the past week. On Saturday the usual snow storm as well up to the average experienced in the middle of winter, and Monday's weather was cold enough to suit everyone. Monday night there was one of the finest display of northern lights to be seen for several years, it starting early in the evening and affording everyone opportunity to see it. Tuesday was a balmy spring day, with the glass at 65 shortly afternoon, while Wednesday was the hottest 24th of March ever recorded by the weather bureau, the glass going up to 70. Yesterday was more seasonable and gave promise of a return to actual spring conditions.

TREMONT THEATRE

Next week will be the last of the engagement of "Dere Mable" at the Tremont Theatre, Boston. This big Marc Klaw musical production has been one of the season's most emphatic hits, mainly because of the delightful admixture of high-class comedy and a charming music score that elevates it to the high standard of entertainment which has made the Tremont Theatre one of Boston's most popular houses.

In its big cast of fanmakers, singers and dancers "Dere Mable" has that rare quality of having as near a perfect company as could be assembled. Louis Bennison plays Bill in masterly manner, and his Scot chum, Angus, is cleverly played by Robert Woolsey. Fern Rogers is charming as Mable, and others in the cast include Elizabeth Hines, Janet Horton, Sidney Reynolds, Frank Waizman and Edwin Forsberg. An all-beauty chorus of pretty girls provides the ensemble, and the production is mounted in lavish manner and good taste.

On Monday evening, April 5, there will come to the Tremont Theatre the most distinctive offering presented in Boston for many seasons when the Gilbert Miller great London production, "Monsieur Beaucaire," will begin a limited engagement. Seats will go on sale Tuesday, March 30, and mail orders will be accepted now.

Debt World Is Apt to Forget.

The growing good of the world is partly dependent on unhistoric acts; and that things are not so ill with you and me as they might have been, is half owing to the number who lived faithfully a hidden life, and rest in unvisited tombs.—George Eliot.

—Twenty years ago only 19 banks held resources of more than $25,000,000 each and 14 of these banks were located in New York city.

—Today 120 banks hold resources of over twenty-five million dollars each and only 30 of these are in New York.

—This shows a tendency toward decentralization.

—Widespread banking facilities are greatly to the advantage of the average man and woman.

SAVE MONEY ON MEAT.

Here is a real thrift recipe for a tasty, nutritious dish prepared from less costly meat. It is issued by the Division of Women's Activities, Department of Justice. Use this recipe and save money on meat.

POT ROAST WITH VEGETABLES

3 or 4 pounds of chuck roast
1 cup sliced carrots
1 cup sliced onions
1 cup celery cut in bits
1 cup sliced turnips
3 tablespoons fat (preferably from salt pork).

If the meat is not sold in a solid piece, skewer or tie it into shape, wipe it with damp cheesecloth, and roll in flour. Boil vegetables in salted water to barely cover until soft. Rub through a coarse strainer. Heat fat in a frying pan or Dutch oven. Put in the meat and brown on all sides. If the frying pan is used, transfer the meat, after it is brown, to a kettle, unless the pan is deep enough to hold the beef. Pour the vegetables and their liquid over the meat, together with any preferred seasoning. Cover tightly and let simmer slowly for four or five hours, turning twice. Thicken the gravy a little, and pour over the meat.

CHUCK STEAK WITH ONIONS

2 pounds of chuck steak
5 or 6 onions
salt, butter or butter substitute

Slice onions in water. Drain thoroughly. Place onions in a shallow saucepan, cover closely and cook over a slow fire for 15 or 20 minutes till tender. Use no water or fat, as the onions contain both moisture and richness. When the onions are done, uncover and brown slightly if preferred, but they are more digestible without browning. Heat a frying pan smoking hot, and brown the steak quickly on both sides; reduce the heat and turn the meat frequently until it is cooked through. Season the steak and salt the onions. Serve the meat on a platter with onions around it. Add butter if desired.

NEW ENGLAND BOILED DINNER

2 pounds corned beef
1 small head cabbage
6 small turnips
6 small carrots
6 small beets
Potatoes

Wipe the meat and tie securely in shape. Put in a kettle and cover with cold water, bring slowly to the boiling point, boil for a few minutes, remove scum and reduce heat. Finish cooking at a lower temperature. Remove to hot plater and cook the vegetables in the liguid from which the meat has been removed. If too salty add hot water. Too much salt will wilt the vegetables and spoil the flavor. The beets should be cooked separately or canned beets may be used.

To serve: Place the meat in the center of the platter and arrange arolund it a border of the various vegetables. Sprinkle with chopped parsley or garnish with sprigs of parsley. The head of cabbage should be cut in eighths after cooking.

New and Old Books.

In science, read, by preference, the newest works; in literature, the oldest. The classic literature is always modern. New books revive and redecorate old ideas; old books suggest and invigorate new ideas.—Bulwer Lytton.

CONTRIBUTED

Dear Mr. Wilson,
I'm convalescing from la grippe, but—
Spring am sho' a comin' fer I jus heah a robin;
No, not dat dam house-sparrow a twitterin' near.
But off dar in de distance don' yer hear dat tune a bobbin'?
Cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer-up, che-er—che-er, che-er!
So fergit dis hard, cold winter dat has seemed so mighty long,
And de miles an' miles you've walked thru' snow and slush, knee deep,
For—dat's him! bless his darlin' heart abustin' out in song—
Cheer-up!—no not dat dam house-sparrow with his cheep, cheep, cheep.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE

The seventh week of "Bab" with Helen Hayes begins Monday at the Hollis Street Theatre, thus stamping ing it as one of the most successful comedies ever produced at that historic playhouse in its career of over thirty years. This delightful comedy, written by Edward Childs Carpenter from Mary Roberts Rinehart's subdeb stories, has caught the popular fancy as has few other plays of recent years, while the youthful and effervescent star, Helen Hayes, has become a popular idol. There is something so wholesome about the entire atmosphere of "Bab" that playgoers have taken it to their hearts. Especially noticeable is the large attendance at all performances of school girls who follow the romantic adventures of their sister sub-deb with breathless interest. The cast supporting Miss Hayes includes Tom Powers, George Alison, Arthur Eldred, Grace Henderson, Katherine Alexander, Junius Matthews, Clariel Campbell, Raymond Griffith, James Kearney, Helen Gurney, and others.

THE PERFECT HOSTESS

"She came to meet me at the train,
And when I missed it, came again
With welcome all undimmed; for me
Fresh scenes appeared, fresh China tea.
She told me—tho' some years had ranged
Since last we met—I was unchanged.
The maid she sent to give me aid
Was not the abashing kind of maid;
No carbon, balls with winter store
Were lurking in the bottom drawer;
The linen breathed of lavender
The midnight biscuit-box was there;
Her choice of bed-time books was mine;
She sent my breakfast up at nine;
The bath was boiling hot, and fit
For Kings and things to cast in it.
She did not hunt me out to view
The Ruin or a cairn or two
Nor seem to entertain, yet still
I had no gaping hours to fill.
Her dinner frock was quite as bad
As mine, the only one I had;
Her food was NOT the homely food
That's best described as Plain but Good;
And when she said good-bye, I thought
She really meant it all; in short,
She made me feel, tho' Home is best,
It's GOOD to be a pampered guest."

ORIGIN OF AMERICAN MILITARY DECORATIONS

In view of the current discussion in Congress concerning the awards made by the American Government for distinguished services and acts of heroism during the World War, the National Geographic Society has issued the following bulletin giving the history of the three Army awards now bestowed and setting forth the circumstances under which they are given:

In nearly all the countries which are included under the term of Great Powers decorations for distinguished service rendered to the State take precedence over those awarded for acts of valor, this on the theory that the services of statesmen, generals, and other public men high in the councils of the nation are of more importance, and therefore deserve higher reward than do individual asts of gallantry on the battlefield, says the bulletin which is based on a communication to The Society by Col. Robert E. Wyllie, U. S. A.

The exceptions to this rule are Great Britain and the United States in both of which countries the primary valor decoraton takes precedence over all others, and it is worthy of note that the standards set for these two rewards are not only higher than in any other country, but they are also more rigorously applied.

Awards of the Victoria Cross (British) and of the Medal of Honor (American) are so rare and so jealously guarded that they are undoubtedly the two highest honors which can be bestowed for valor, and this may serve to explain why they are placed first in their respective countries, contrary to the custom of all others. An additional resemblance is that neither is ever bestowed on a foreignor. The Victoria Cross is limited to British subjects by royal decree; in the case of the Medal of Honor, there is no law prohibiting its award to a foreignor, but it has never been done and custom is sometimes more potent than acts of Congress.

The Medal of Honor was instituted by an act of Congress in 1861 and was the earliest American decoration. However, it applied at that time only to enlisted men of the Navy. In the following year enlisted men of the Army were included, and by an act approved March 3, 1863, its provisions were extended to include officers in the Army, but naval officers were not eligible for this decoration until 1915.

The conditions under which the Army Medal of Honor may be awarded have been changed from time to time. Today the law provides that:

The President is authorized to present, in the name of Congress, a Medal of Honor only to each person who, while an officer or enlisted man of the Army, shall hereafter, in acton involving actual conflict with an enemy, distinguish himself conspicuously by gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life, above and beyond the call of duty.

The Distinguished Service Medal, the American decoration which is second only to the Medal of Honor, can be awarded by the President to "any person who, while serving in any capacity with the Army of the United States, shall distinguish himself or herself by specially meritorious service to the government in a duty of great responsibility." The Distinguished Service Medal for the Navy is warded under exactly the same conditions as for the Army and was established by act of Congress in February, 1919.

It should be noted that the services to be rewarded with this decoration do not have to be rendered at the front, much less in action, the requirement of great responsibility being the governing factor. It was intended to be used in the same way as the Legion of Honor of France and other similar orders with which European countries reward the great leaders of their military and naval forces.

The institution of the Distinguished Service Medal in the Army of the United States was in recognition of the fact that in an army of modern times all the fighting is not done on the fighting front; but that those who served by way of preparing others and those whose services were specially necessary in association with military operations are equally serving in the cause.

The Distinguished Service Cross is purely an Army decoration and is bestowed as a reward for individual acts of "extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against an armed enemy" not warranting the award of the Medal of Honor.

It is indicative of the growing recognition of the important position of women in the modern state, that both the Distinguished Service Medal and the Distinguished Service Cross have been awarded to women.

CANNOT LOSE TOAD

Little Amphian Has Strong Homing Instinct

When I was a boy down on Cape Cod, writes a friend of the Companion, I remember my mother scraping the side of a toad with her hoe while working in the garden. The next day mother noticed there was a large scab in the toad's side. It made her nervous to look at it, and she asked me to put the toad in a box and carry it away. I carried the toad a distance of three miles into the woods and dropped him. He was back in our garden the very next day; and although I repeated the performance three times, it hopped back every time. Finally mother said not to bother him, for the scab was healing.

I never gave that a second thought until I happened to be studying under Professor Sharp at Boston university, when, to illustrate a point to the class, he said that toads, like carrier pigeons, possessed the homing instinct; then I thought of the toad that mother had asked me to carry away from our garden at Provincetown, 30 years before.

It happened next morning after Professor Sharp made the remark about the homing instinct of hop-toads that a freight conductor came into the signal tower where I am employed and showed me a hop-toad he had picked up on the lawn at the Saugus station and brought to Boston in his caboose; he said he intended to put the toad in his garden at Somerville to eat the bugs.

I told the conductor about the experience I had with a toad down on Cape Cod and that Professor Sharp had said that toads did really possess the homing instinct. Finally, we decided to tie a small tag to the toad's hind leg with the conductor's name and address written on it; and he was to turn the toad loose in his garden at Somerville that afternoon. When the conductor's train arrived at Saugus the next noon the toad with a tag on which his name was written was hopping around on the lawn at the Saugus station.

In order to prove still further that toads do really possess the homing instinct I took a toad from my garden at Wakefield, ten miles from Boston. Putting the toad in a box, I walked to the Wakefield station and took a train for Boston at half-past ten in the evening. When I arrived in Boston I transferred to the Elevated and rode to Charlestown, and at the corner of Perkins and Haverhill streets, Charlestown, one mile from Boston, near the signal tower where I work, I released the toad. The toad was tagged with my name and address.

As I walked into my driveway in Wakefield at half-past eight the next morning a dusty-looking toad with a small tag tied to his hind leg hopped across the lawn from the direction of the Metropolitan park reservation and placed himself under the sill cock, where the water dripped on him and bathed his dusty back.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Good weather favored the local union at its meeting last Friday and a large number came to the home of the president, Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton for the all day meeting planned for the purpose of completing the articles for the sale held at Headquarters, 541 Massachusets avenue, Boston, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. All the articles begun were finished and also a number of things for the Traveling Basket which has been started on its way.

At three o'clock was held the business meeting. Mrs. George Weld conducted the devotional exercises and Miss Elizabeth Richardson and Mrs. Maude Wolloff read papers on the results of prohibition in Main and Kansas, the pioneer dry states. The treasurer reported that the third hundred of the Jubilee quota has been raised and the remainder is in sight.

The Traveling Basket which is to make the rounds of the members contains a variety of articles and each one buys something and contributes something to be sold. The money raised is to be used for the general treasury of the local Union. Members are asked to take an interest in it.

The spring meeting of the County Executive will be held at West Newton, Thursday, March 25, Mrs. Hamlin presiding.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The regular meeting of The Fortnightly was held in the Town Hall, Monday afternoon, March 22, at 2.30. At the business meeting, it was voted that at the annual meeting April 12, the polls would be open from 1.30 to 3. It was also voted to have a Club luncheon at Hotel Vendome, in Boston, Monday, May 3, at 1 o'clock.

All club members wishing to attend should give their names, before Friday, April 30th, to one of the members of the committee on arrangements, Mrs. I. E. Gamage, telephone number 1152-W., Mrs. Geo. Heintz, 255, Mrs. E. A. Tutein, 580, Mrs. F. E. Hollins, 904 and Mrs. W. R. Moorhouse, 911-M.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Woodside, chairman of the Civics Committee, introduced Professor Dallas Lore Sharp of Boston University who gave a lecture on "Patrons of Democracy."

Professor Sharp made a plea for the public schools in which he said that no Democratic government can be better than it's educational system. He would have us put our best effort and interest into the public schools, teach our children that they must help as well as be helped and learn to realize that the welfare of one is the welfare of all. He would have every child attend school until he is sixteen and suggested that we have a course of education that can be completed in that time. At present, the majority of children have only a sixth grade education to fit them for the duties of citizenship.

A brief resume of a lecture so full of thought and suggestion is absolutely inadequate and those who are vitally interested in an education of our young people for the times and for Democracy should read Professor Sharp's article "Patrons of Democracy" in the Atlantic Monthly for November, 1919.

Attention is called to the fact that a period of three weeks elapses before the next meeting of The Fortnightly. This will be the Annual Meeting, April 12th. Before that time, every member of the Club is asked to consider seriously on what committee she would be glad to serve during the coming year. Opportunity will be given at the time of voting for her to indicate this choice. This will greatly aid chairmen of committees in their work of making up their committees.

FUND FOR TUBERCULAR FRENCH CHILDREN

It is estimated that about fifteen per cent of the French children living in the non-devastated regions are tubercular. One half of the children in the devastated region are a ready prey for the disease. All these children can be saved if placed under propitious surroundings and well fed. The French Heroes Lafayette Memorial Fund, Inc., has undertaken to bring back to a normal growth and development, the children whose constitutions, undermined by privations, can still be restored to health.

On the old Lafayette estate, at Chavaniac (Haute Loire) the French Heroes Lafayette Memorial Fund, Inc., has built a preventorium that accommodates fifty little patients. The building stands on the hillside protected from the sharp winds by wooded mountains, and overlooking a magnificent view.

It is a large house with big windows on all sides, a long shaded piazza, a sun parlor, bath rooms, and showers, and a steam-heating plant. The altitude, 1200 feet, is sufficient to act as a tonic and yet not enough to affect the hearts of the little patients. The air is scented with the smell of pine trees, and the water, filtered by the rocks of volcanic origin is absolutely pure. The winter climate is dry and sunny.

The preventorium is showing the province of Auvergne, until now deprived of knowledge in hygiene, the way to cure illness and insure health. The list of little patients waiting to enter the preventorium is tremendous. There is plenty of room on the Lafayette estate. We can easily increase the number of children if we have the money.

Everything possible must be done to check the spread of this disease in France. It is to our advantage to have the next generation sound in mind and body and ready to take up the economic burdens which they must carry for the benefit of all. No effort must be spared in the fight against France's enemy—tuberculosis.

Dollars will help us win!

Will you give them?

Checks should be made payable to James A. Blair, Jr., Treasurer, French Heroes Lafayette Memorial Fund, Inc., 2 West 45th Street, New York city.

MILK SURVEY

In July and August a Milk Survey was undertaken by the State Milk Inspection Department with the Massachusetts Agricultural College, Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station, Mass. Milk Inspectors' Association, Massachusetts Dairymen's Association, and the Food and Drug Division of the State Dept. of Health co-operating.

Five hundred and eighty-one samples were taken by agents of the Dairy Division and 571 of these examined by representatives of the co-operating organizations. By agreement of the Advisory Committee, samples were taken from one third of the Licensed milk peddlers in each of the cities and towns selected by the committee. Parties from whom samples were to be taken were kept in ignorance of the time and place so that all opportunity for extra preparation on their part was avoided.

Samples were taken from the following cities and towns, viz:—

Adams	Greenfield	Pittsfield
Attleboro	Haverhill	Quincy
Arlington	Holyoke	Salem
Beverly	Lawrence	Somerville
Boston	Leominster	Southbridge
Bridgewater	Lowell	Spencer
Brockton	Lynn	Springfield
Brookline	Malden	Taunton
Cambridge	Marlborough	Waltham
Chicopee	Middleborough	Watertown
Clinton	New Bedford	Webster
Danvers	Newburyport	Wellesley
Everett	Newton	Westfield
Fall River	North Adams	Winchendon
Fitchburg	Northampton	Winchester
Gardner	Peabody	Worcester

Examination of 571 milk samples showed the following results:

	per cubic centimeter
Bacteria	(average) 189,180
Total Milk Solids	" 12.16%
Milk Fat	" 3.63%

It will be noticed that this is a good showing inasmuch as the usual requirement for bacteria is 500,000 per cubic centimeter; the Massachusetts standard for milk solids 12%; and for milk fat 3.35%.

Cottons containing the sediment from each sample of milk were prepared for exhibit at the Union Meeting of Massachusetts Agricultural Organizations.

The record in meanness is well established by the lady who called at the local shop in a country village in England and gave a small—very small—order for goods, including a ha'p'orth of cat's meat. The shopkeeper was muttering angry words to himself half an hour later as he made up the order, when a flurried and breathless maid-servant dashed into the place. "H-h-have you sent off Mrs. Grableigh's things yet?" she gasped. "Just doing 'em," snapped the grocer, as he struggled with a sea of parcels. "Oh, thank goodness!" gasped the girl. "Then don't send the cat's meat. The cat's just caught a sparrow."

Ask us about our Club plan—Members receive appliances FREE.

Here's the biggest and best offer ever made in this town. You can have the remarkable electric Gainaday Washer and Wringer delivered to your own laundry and complete washing done by an experienced operator. Then you can try it yourself for two weeks, and it will not cost you a cent. Lots of time to see what the Gainaday will do—plenty of time to decide before you buy.

The Gainaday wash way is different—and better. From the pressing of the handy button that starts the motor, to the point when the clothes are wrung into the basket—clean, spotless, pure—the Gainaday way is convenient, economical, easy on the clothes, and good results are an absolute certainty.

Charles F. Dutch, who was made general solicitor of the Shipping Board by Mr. Payne just as he left office to become Secretary of the Interior, is a specialist in admiralty law, whose service to the board has been assiduous and able for several years while other heads of departments have come and gone. Harvard University is his alma mater and he has taught in her law school. His name hitherto with those of his staff who have ventured to be chummy has been "Admiral." Now Admiral Benson outclasses him. When he quits the government service he will be in demand, for he has come up against admiralty practitioners of the highest class, who, with their clients, know a good thing when they see it. —From "In the Limelight" Washington (D. C.) Herald, Mar. 18.

We wonder how many persons who read the amusing article published in the Boston papers last week concerning the breaking open of a barrel of glue made by the Union Paste Co., associated any of our Winchester friends with the incident. The Union Paste Co. makes a good article, as the STAR can attest, it having used this product for many years, and it is no wonder that when the barrel burst open in the slush it "stuck" electric cars, motor trucks, the fire apparatus called out to help, and last but not least, the feet of helpers themselves. It was very funny, especially as told by the space writers, and we have no doubt but what the Kelleys, Josh, Chester and Herbert, got several times the value of the lost merchandise in hearty laughs.

The Old Belfry Club of Lexington will visit the Calumet Club on the evening of Friday, April 2nd, when competition matches will be held in bowling, billiards, pool and cards. The bowling will be by mixed teams, two groups from each club competing. This visit will furnish the second meeting of the Clubs, Calumet having visited Old Belfry several weeks ago, when it came out victorious in the matches.

Winchester residents will be interested in the report by the Edward T. Harrington Co. of the sale to Mr. Robert B. Davis of this town of the "Parmenter Farm" on Great Pond, Wayland. The property is valued at $25,000. The sale at this time is the first for over 200 years it having been in the Parmenter family all this period. It is considered one of the best dairy farms in that section, there being 125 acres of land, 80 acres under a high state of cultivation. There is also a large fruit orchard. The buildings comprise a two-story, 14-room house, with improvements, six-room cottage, two-car garage, large barn with 50 tie-ups, with several other outbuildings. The title is given by Howard W. Parmenter, trustee.
